No Passing MJ Segers Fast Lane & Brandon Cullins at Ruby Buckle East

By Tanya Randall

Segers Fast Lane, ridden by Brandon Cullins for Grant and Rayel Little, took top honors in the $600,000 Open and $85,000 Derby at the Ruby Buckle East, held October 24-28 at the Agricenter Showplace Arena in Memphis, Tennessee.

The recently crowned Pink Buckle Derby Champion added another $41,064 to her lifetime earnings with the dual victories in Memphis. The Derby Championship was worth $19,126, while the Open victory netted $21,938.

Cullins and the talented 6-year-old mare almost had the derby aggregate by 2/10ths after finishing fourth in the first round with a 15.037 and taking second in the next with a 14.768.

"I didn't take an exhibition or anything," said Cullins, a leading rider and trainer who now calls Dublin, Texas, home. "The first run I think she's still kind of waiting and the second run she gets more aggressive."

The Littles paired Seger and Cullins together a year ago and the partnership has made for some jaw-dropping runs.

"We got so lucky," said Rayel Little, who trained the mare. "To be blessed to find someone like that who could jump on her and find figure her out... It took them a little while to get some consistency, but he had her figured out right away."

MJ Segers Fast Lane ("Seger") 15.0 h, 1,100 lbs. "She's pretty blocky. She looks like a little calf horse almost."

BIT: Sharin Hall SH 01 Short Shank with a twist mouth and copper roller; warmup in a medium shank Schoneberg with square mouth with three links of chain in the middle.

SADDLE: Shiloh

SADDLE PAD: Classic Equine

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine just front

SHOEING: Rims on front, plains on back

FEED: Bluebonnet

HAY: Durio Brothers Cubes

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: WD Feeds Cold Water Spa before each run at Pink Buckle

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIME: "I don't ride her a ton during the week. The girl that works for us, Reese, I'll have her jump on her and just long jog her out in the field. I probably ride her out in the field more than anything. I hardly ever show her the barrels. Rayel trained her and she's trained right. I don't need to encourage her to turn more. She's a little tighter on the right side when you're just riding around so I just ride her a lot to keep her opening up and reaching that front foot out; keeping her picked up and moving out. I lope straight lines up into a corner and I'll put two dots out there in my mind for the two backside corners on my barrels. That's the only way I really tune on her. She's going to turn and she's going to be fast, so I just try to keep her legged up and happy."

Cullins' timing with Seger peaked at the right time. He knows when to help and when to leave the mare on her honor.

"If you run enough, you feel where their legs are, if they're paying attention," said Cullins. "I can tell with her if she's hunkered down and locked on or if she's looking up the pen. I think the biggest thing is before when I touched her, she was all in, and now when I touch her, she's a little more forward and I can help her. Now when I touch the reins, she'll gather and stay moving forward instead of planting that front foot and slinging back."

Bred by Mark and Linda Jarvis, who, along with their children, own The Goodbye Lane, raised Seger out of SKS Running Faucet, by Diamond Faucet. Ironically, the reason the now have the $6.8 million sire is because of SKS Running Faucet. The Jarvises had called to get a breeding to The Goodbye Lane and ended up purchasing the stallion.

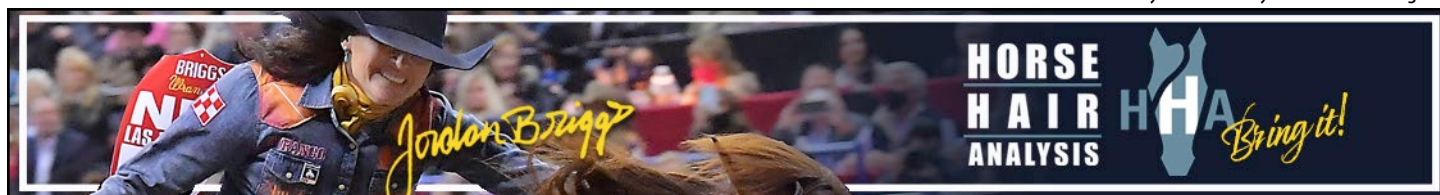

The Littles bred to The Goodbye Lane shortly after the Jarvises made the purchase and froze the embryos. In the process, they became friends.

With his boutique band of designer broodmares diminishing, Little made the comment to Mark Jarvis that if he had any potential replacements, he'd like to buy it.

"I said to him a couple of years ago, if there's ever a horse that checked off all the boxes, we'd love the opportunity to buy," said Grant, who owned the great producer Lady Perks through her performance career and raised both GL Famous First Lady—dam of rodeo sensation Jets Top Gun, and Blazin Black Betty, dam of 2021 World Champion Famous Lil Jet.

Seger had about 60 days of riding before Rayel started training her for barrels.

"She was incredibly easy," said Rayel, a multiple aged event champion, two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier and four-time Canadian Champion Barrel Racer. "You only had to show her something once and she had it. As far as pattern-wise, she probably had the least amount of pattern work that any of my horses ever had. She just took to it so quickly.

"She was the lightest, quickest moving horse. I usually put all my horses through the pole pattern too, and in two or three days she could lope through the poles. For her to be able to control her body and be able to go through the poles like that...I said to Grant, 'I don't know if I had many horses that could catch on this quick to the pole bending.' She was just naturally talented. She's built really well underneath herself and she has a strong stop and turn around. If anything, you were always trying to loosen that up because she'd be so extreme when you wanted her to stop and turn around."

The only thing Seger really had to work on was getting used to seeing the sights.

"We just spent a lot of time riding her out and getting her used to things," Rayel explained. "She was pretty watchy, so you had to get her used to the sights and haul her around that way. That was more problematic than the actual pattern."

Rayel started Seger's career at the Arizona futurities in January 2022.

"I was pretty hit and miss, but I won a bit of money," Rayel recalled. "We were there (in Arizona), but we were right in the middle of moving down here (to Texas from Canada). We had packed up our furniture in Alberta that October, and we had a shop full of furniture waiting for us in Texas to unpack in April."

They sent Seger home with the Jarvises' daughter Marcie Wilson, who ran the mare through Pink Buckle last October.

"Then Grant and I looked at each other and said, 'Now what are we going to do with this horse?' Are we going to haul all over the countryside? We just didn't think that was going to be us."

She continued, "In order to win in barrel racing at this point, you've got to be all in. You can't do it half way and think you're going to show up and outrun those girls or guys. There was a time when I was all in, but I don't think that's me now. We're not wanting to eat, sleep and breathe by the calendar and know that they have to be ready at a certain time."

The Littles had met Brandon and his fiancé Emily Efurd in July 2022. The couple had gone with their client Brad Lieblong, who wanted to finally meet the Littles, whom he had purchased horses from, in person.

"We just really thought a lot of them when we were visiting," said Rayel. "Grant said, 'Well, I'll ask Brandon if he'd consider taking her.'"

The Littles hauled Seger 30-minutes down the road to Cullins' new place in Dublin.

"He rode her around for maybe 20 minutes and said that she feels nice, and it might work," Rayel said. "We told him to keep her a couple of weeks, and if he didn't like her, we'd come pick her up."

The fit as Rayel said has been "amazing."

"When he set the arena record at Pink Buckle (a 16.521 on a Standard Pattern), Marcie Wilson and I were sitting right there," she remembered. "Neither one of us could have done that. There's just no way. It was just incredible. What he's capable of doing is just incredible. He's got the timing. He has everything you want in a jockey."

Grant said Cullins and Efurd are just "great people."

"Those guys have been so great. All that hard work—discipline, character and integrity—people throw those kinds of works around a lot and there's not a lot of people that have that in their work ethic. Discipline is doing stuff that you don't want to do but you still go and do it. Character is when no one else is around, what are you doing? Integrity...honestly...you either have it or you don't."

Grant continued, "(Brandon) said to me one time, 'I don't know why you took a chance on me, but I was at the bottom of the roller coaster.' I said, 'I guess we all take chances, but I don't think this is taking that big of a chance. You also have to take a chance on us as well.'"

Before this weekend, MJ Segers Fast Lane stood at $193,890 according to QData and with her $41,064 win at Ruby Buckle East she now sits at $234,954 LTE.

Ever Ready -- Ever Eddie & Jamey Hunt Top Ruby Buckle East Futurity For $38,378

By Tanya Randall

To say Jamey Hunt was a little bothered about leaving $70,000 worth of barrels on the ground at Pink Buckle is extremely understated.

He took both Ever Eddie and Hurricane Halley to the Good Times Barrel Race in Jacksonville, Florida, to make sure he could get clean passes on both geldings prior to the Ruby Buckle East, held October 24-28 in AgriCenter Showplace Arena in Memphis, Tennessee.

Now, four clean runs later, both horses left the Volunteer State with increased earnings.

Ever, owned by Edwin Cameron and Tiana Schuster, was the star of the five horses Hunt ran in Memphis. The 5-year-old gelding added $38,378 to his previous lifetime earnings of $81,732 for winning the $200,000 Futurity and placing seventh in the $600,000 Open.

Hal, a 5-year-old gelding owned by Gay Wynn, finished 12th in the Futurity and picked up Open 1D money for $8,725.

"I like building those horses," said the McAlpin, Florida, based trainer and farrier. "I want them to win all they can, not just for me, but for them. It bothers me when I do something like (hitting barrels) that keeps them from being big time money earners."

The late season futurity was extremely tight at the top with just .019 separating first through third in the aggregate.

Hunt initially thought the draw had Ever beat before the futurity ever started, since he last on the ground at the start of the event. They were 11th with a15.215 in the first round but came back with a 14.908 to win the second round from the top of the ground.

"He made a good run the first day, but he was 10th out and a fifth on the ground, and that ground was super deep," Hunt explained. "He came and did what he needed to."

Bred by Danny Ray's Victory Farms, Ever is by $7.4 million dollar sire Eddie Stinson and out of WPRA World Champion Producer Curiosity Corners, by Silver Lucky Buck. A barrel racing money earner herself, Curiosity Corners is the dam of 2012 WPRA World Champion and million dollar earner Perculatin, by Dash For Perks, and 2020 Old Fort Days Futurity Champion VF Cream Rises ($176,101 QData) and 2021 Greg Olson Futurity Champion VF NFL Draft ($123,049 QData), both by Eddie Stinson.

Multiple aged event champion Cody Bauserman was riding Ever when Schuster and Cameron made the purchase. He advised them to take their time with the fractious gelding. Knowing he needed a special hand, Schuster sent Ever to Hunt in June of 2022.

"He was fractious as Hell when I first got him," Hunt said. "He didn't know how to handle pressure and he'd get really hot and really silly. Tiana just wanted him to be in a smaller program with someone that didn't take a lot of extra horses, so they could spend a lot of time with him. We spent a lot of time just riding out and doing things with him, and over time, he's actually got to where he's really quiet."

In the arena, Ever has been all business.

"He's a machine," Hunt said. "He runs super confident. If he's caught barrels, it was because I made a mistake. It wasn't him. I either got him in the wrong spot or picked him up a little too quick. It was just a little something. But, every time I crack the alleyway, he's trying to go win something."

Ever won the inaugural running of the Old Fort Days 5-Year-Old Futurity and was a finalist at the Golden Buckle Futurity and Ruby Buckle Central Futurity. He placed in rounds at several other futurities like the Royal Crown in Oklahoma City, Elite in Waco and Pink Buckle.

"That horse has made the same run since the first of the year, and the only problem is a couple of times I'd move my hand or something like that," Hunt admitted. "Like at Waco, he was second in the first round, and I came back drug the first barrel over. At Kinder, he was third in the first round, came back and was making a super, super run and I hung my hand in his mane going to the third and hit it to win the futurity and slot race. It was just bad luck here and there. At three big futurities, he caught a barrel to place. He's done good everywhere he's been, but I've caught barrels to keep him from probably being one of the top three horses this year in earnings."

Ever's career earnings now stand at $120,100.

Hunt only has a few more big runs on Ever—the NBHA Open World Finals this week in Perry, Georgia, and the OKC Futurity in Oklahoma City in December. Afterward, Ever will join Schuster's string.

$1.3 Million Canadian Finals Rodeo Begins This Week

This week marks the conclusion of the 2023 rodeo season in Canada. The $1.3 Million Canadian Finals Rodeo (CFR) is happening this week, November 1-5, in Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. This year you can follow all the coverage on the Cowboy Channel and their app! The action kicks off Wednesday at 6 pm (MDT). The CFR is six rounds of intense action and with it paying so well any of the Top 12 that make the finals could go home Champion! Lynette Brodoway carries a nearly $20k in lead in the barrel racing going into the CFR. Her awesome year at the Canadian rodeo led to her being back number #1 at the CFR as the highest money earner over all events at the Canadian rodeos this year. With each of the 6 rounds paying $8,402 and the aggregate paying $12,604 any of the Top 12 could catch up with her to be the 2023 Canadian Professional Rodeo Association Barrel Racing Champion! Good luck to all 12 ladies this week! Keep up with all the results at www.RodeoCanada.com

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

How about another Thad story. Remember he is 8 years old. At church this week, he brought his Bible up to the podium and told me he had something to say. He opened it up, took the microphone and said, "If there's anyone here that isn't born again, raise your hand!" Well, no one raised their hand. Mike asked those who were born again to raise their hands. Every hand in the room went up. Thad took his Bible and went toward his seat and said, "This won't do any good." He fully intended to lead someone to the Lord!

I thought, I wonder if I could stand up in my favorite breakfast diner and say, "If anyone in here isn't born again, raise your hand." I've never done that... have you? He humbled me. Last week he led his friend to the Lord on the bus.

It's time, my friends, to tell someone about Jesus. Just looking around, it would appear that there are a lot of people who don't know Him. A lot of people who need all the good He has to offer.

As Christians we are so blessed. Isn't it time to share that blessing?

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
