Sherry Cervi & MP Meter My Hay Sweep Turquoise Circuit

By Tanya Randall

Four-time WPRA World Champion Sherry Cervi earned her 12th trip to the National Circuit Finals Rodeo with a clean sweep of the Turquoise Circuit, winning both the yearend and circuit finals rodeo titles.

Cervi, who calls Marana, Ariz., home, rode her world champion mount MP Meter My Hay ("Stingray"). Bred and raised by her father Mel Potter, who was recently named the 2015 Legend of Pro Rodeo, Stingray, a 13-year-old mare, is by PC Frenchmans Hayday out of Miss Meter Jet, by Bar Tonto Jet.

"She worked good all three runs," said Cervi. They won the opening round and placed third in the third go to win the average. "I had taken a young horse and thought about getting some runs on him, but yearend was pretty close and I knew I had to place, plus it's hard to get off the solid one. The ground was really good, so I just stayed on her."

Making the win extra sweet was her husband Cory Petska, winning the Turquoise Circuit Heeling title with Erich Rogers. Cervi is looking forward to going to the Ram National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Kissimmee, Fla.

"I've never been to Florida for a rodeo, so going into it I was like 'Okay, we've both got to do good,' she said. "He was going into it winning, but still needed to do good. I really thought it would be really cool if we could both win and go to a rodeo in Florida together. I'm sure I'll be questioning that when we go to drive home, and it's 36 hours."

In the meanwhile, Cervi is enjoying being home for a little while.

"I'm in Wisconsin right now," she said. "We're getting ready to ship cattle, so I'm playing cowgirl. Then I'll go home, ride colts and stay home for a little while. I'm looking forward to that."

With that in mind, Cervi was happy to have a great circuit finals rodeo close to home.

"It's not too far of a drive and this time of year I'm really happy to be home and not have to drive very far," she said. "Our circuit director, April Deny, did a great job. We got a lot of great gifts and prizes. The barrel racers were the only ones that got an average saddle, so I got an average saddle and a yearend saddle. That was pretty cool. Las Cruces does a great job."

Sarah Kieckhefer, who will be joining Cervi at the RNCFR, echoed those sentiments.

"The fair board and circuit board have done an incredible job promoting it down there," said the former Turquoise Circuit Director. "They sell out every night and have standing room only. It's really cool. It's neat that there's that much effort is put into our circuit finals. I can't thank them enough for all their effort."

Circuit Standings thanks to a second-place finish at the circuit finals rodeo. Her husband, Rick, who placed second in the steer roping, earned a RNCFR berth as well.

After her good horse Cruisen Okey Dokey was injured over the Fourth of July at her hometown rodeo, Kieckhefer was afoot most of the summer. For the circuit finals rodeo, she was able to borrow Jana Bean's talented 6-year-old stallion UR One Famous Rebel, a son of Dash Ta Fame out of the Lanes Leinster mare Denas Dividend.

"I was frantically looking for something to borrow and I wasn't having any luck in Arizona," Kieckhefer explained. "I text Jana because I knew she was only an hour from Las Cruces and was like 'Hey do you know of any horses I could jump on?' She was like 'Yeah, Jump on my stud.'"

At about 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Kieckhefer jumped on "Rico" for the first time. She rode him about 20 minutes and loped him through the pattern. The first performance was that night at 7. They ended up placing second in the first round and fourth in the third.

"He did really good," she said. "I didn't ride very good the second round. Jana said he'll get a little strong at the first and go by if you don't bump him. In that covered arena, I thought he'd be fine

AQHA Horses of the Year Announced

Five first-time winners were chosen for the AQHA Horses of the Year, which were announced today.

Three horses were named in each of the six categories, with the lone repeat champion being team roping heeling horse Rey Shines On Top (Rey), owned by Brady Minor.

Aboard Rey, Minor was able to move from 19th to 14th in the world standings in the final week of the regular season to qualify for his seventh Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

"This horse has been 90 percent of my success the past three seasons," Minor said. "Great horses are hard to come by these days, and you can't really just go out and buy one. I rodeoed on him at 70 of the 75 rodeos I went to this season, and he makes my job a lot easier.

"There are so many good horses on the list, and they only let you vote three times, but there are several horses worthy of votes. Rey is 11, and he's right in the prime of his career and is going to be at his best in the next couple of years."

While the horse on the heeling side is entering his prime, the horse that won the award for top team roping heading horse has been at it for many years.

Clay Tryan's Dew the Dash (Dew) is 16 years old and has never been named the top horse in his event - until now. The horse has helped Tryan and heeling partner Jade Corkill to the last two team roping world championships, with the duo in good position to make it a three-peat at the 2015 WNFR after finishing first in the regular season.

"You can't be dominant in this sport - and be in the lead a lot - without riding one of the best horses around, and I think Dew is one of the best horses there has ever been," Tryan said. "I'm glad he won it now, because he was getting to the age where I didn't think he'd ever win it. He's been good since the first day I cracked him out six years ago."

Ty Erickson's steer wrestling horse KR Montana Shake Em (Shakem) is tops in the event. Erickson - who heads into the WNFR third in the world - and traveling partner Clayton Hass - the world standings leader - both had great success on Shakem this season. The horse is co-owned by Erickson and the Kyler Ranch in Cascade, Mont.

The tie-down roping winner is the horse that carried Marcos Costa to his first WNFR qualification this season. The horse, Sweet As Time (Flea) is owned by Brazilian businessman Renato Antunes, and is also ridden at times by 2008 World Champion Tie-down Roper Stran Smith, Costa's mentor.

Troy Tillard's steer roping horse, Weavers Diamond Bar (Rowdy), was third in the voting last year, and picks up his first win in 2015. The horse is owned by Troy's father, Tim Tillard, and carried Troy to his second consecutive Clem McSpadden National Finals Steer Roping (Nov. 6-7) qualification, and third overall.

and I didn't bump him and he ran past it a little bit and it cost me the 2/10ths. He was good the other two rounds."

With Okey still recovering from soft tissue damage around his sacrum and a stress fracture in his tibia, Kieckhefer's unsure who she'll be riding come time for the RNCFR next March. She said Bean graciously offered her Rico again if it comes to that. In the meanwhile, an injured rodeo horse has meant a head start on her futurity horses.

"I've already been exhibiting my colts," she laughed, "and normally I don't start them on the pattern until October!"

Richardson Wins Kissimmee Champions Challenge

By Hope Sickler

Pampa, Texas cowgirl and 2015 National Finals Qualifier Carley Richardson is starting out the 2016 season strong winning the Champions Challenge held last weekend in Kissimmee, Florida. The win was the first Champions Challenge that the talented barrel racer has won, but you can guarantee that it won't be her last.

Richardson was riding one of her trusty steeds, Fashionable Boy, whom she affectionately calls "Boy" to the win in Florida. "Boy" is a thirteen-year-old sorrel gelding by Nonstop Firewater and out of Fashionable Pay by Jets Pay Day.

"Winning Kissimmee meant a lot to me. Not only because it was the first Champions Challenge that I have won but also because we made a clean run. We have been hitting a lot of barrels the past month including hitting all three barrels in Omaha so making a clean run and then winning the rodeo was icing on the cake," said Richardson.

Richardson will take the next couple of months to prepare herself and her horses for their first trip to Vegas.

"I am taking both my geldings to Vegas. Radio has been on a break since August so I am starting to get him back in shape and make a few runs on him. Boy has been going hard since the end of July so he will get some down time and I will just pony him to keep him in shape. I will go to North Side in Fort Worth to run in a building similar to Vegas a few times but for the most part I'm just trying to make sure both of my horses are as sharp as they can be and feeling the best they can."

Richardson said that although the road got long and hard at times, she wouldn't have been able to keep going if it wasn't for her incredible support system that stood behind her 150% throughout the journey.

"It hasn't really set in yet and everyone keeps telling me that it won't set in until I get there. I feel so blessed and can't hardly believe that this dream has now become a reality. I've always believed that these two horses deserved to go to the NFR and I am so glad that we got it done this year. I couldn't have done it without the help and support of my parents, Sterling Coomer who helped me drive this summer and take care of my horses, Kelly Garrison and my sister Kaily, who helped ride colts at home while I was gone and all my other friends and family who have stood by my side and never gave up on us. Also huge thanks to my vet Dr. Scott Martin."

White Wins Cinch Pro Rodeo Canada Series Final

By Hope Sickler

Big Valley, Alberta cowgirl Kirsty White made this rodeo season count and she wasn't going to stop making it count until the very end. She wrapped up the 2015 Canadian Pro Rodeo season winning the last rodeo of the year in Calgary, Alberta.

White and her home raised and trained 9-year-old mare "Racey" made two solid runs in Calgary that put her in the number one spot in the average when the race was over.

"This year has been pretty good to me. "Racey" has really evolved over the last couple of years and gotten more consistent and confident running barrels. We started out the season with a bang winning three out of the first four rodeos that we went to. We had a couple bumps in the road but other than that, our season was good," explained White.

"Racey", who is by Plain Special by Special Effort and out of cutting bred mare that goes back to Cutter Bill and Major Bonanza, was trained and futurity by White before she got a taste of the rodeo road.

"She is a small mare, only 14.3, but she is a brick-house. She is extremely quick and has really taught me how to live in the moment when I am running her. If I am not prepared, I get behind her. She is very literal but I am so grateful to be the one who gets to pilot her. She has so much heart and try and she doesn't know that she is small."

In the first round at the Cinch Pro Rodeo Series in Calgary, White and "Racey" stopped the clock in 15.914-seconds which took the win and held for the fastest time of the rodeo.

"I was actually shocked when I heard my time after our first run. We had a bobble on the first barrel which I thought cost us some time but she has such a phenomenal second and third barrel that it apparently didn't matter," White noted.

With another clean and solid run in round two, White and "Racey" ran a time of 16.138. With a total time on two of 32.052, White took home the championship along with nearly $4,000 in winnings!

"She ("Racey") is not a horse for everyone. She is tricky but she is all heart and she absolutely loves her job. I hope to hit some bigger rodeos down south next season to see what we can do. I am looking forward to the finals (CFR) and hope that we can make it count but most importantly have fun and be grateful that we are there doing what we love."

Potter named 2015 Legend of ProRodeo

Back in 1951, at the age of 16, Mel Potter began his journey in the Rodeo Cowboys Association, now known as the PRCA.

Fast-forward 64 seasons, and Potter, 80, is still competing as a team roping header.

At his peak, back in 1959, Potter competed in the inaugural National Finals Rodeo in Dallas as a tie-down roper, finishing 14th in the final standings. He is now the only original NFR competitor still active in the PRCA.

As recently as 2010, he qualified for the RAM Great Lakes Circuit Finals Rodeo as a team roper, and on July 17, 2013, Potter and partner Garrison Dixon won the Green County Fair ProRodeo in Monroe, Wis. He also won a team roping check at a Great Lakes Circuit event this year.

Combine Potter's longevity as a competitor with his decade of success (1964-73) as a stock contractor with Rodeos Inc., and his time served on the PRCA Board of Directors, and it adds up to his being selected Oct. 5 by the ProRodeo Hall of Fame as the 2015 Legend of ProRodeo.

"I was very surprised to get this honor," said Potter, who also is a highly successful businessman. "Being involved with rodeo was one of the neatest things of my life because all of the great people I've gotten to know and be good, good friends with all over the country. We also put together a heck of a string of livestock (at Rodeos Inc.) and we treated the cowboys as good as any stock contractor there was. I'm also going to keep competing in rodeos as long as I can stay on a horse when he runs out of the barrier."

Potter is the 10th man to be honored with the award, following Jake Barnes, Jim Shoulders, Clem McSpadden, Harry Vold, Larry Mahan, Shawn Davis, Dean Oliver, Donnie Gay and Benny Binion. "Since joining the PRCA in 1951, Mel Potter's career has been one of longevity and consistency. He has competed for an amazing 65 seasons and has gone from an NFR qualification in 1959 to earning a check this year at a Great Lakes Circuit event at the age of 80," said Kent Sturman, director of the ProRodeo Hall of Fame. "Mel has also given back to the sport in many ways and he cares deeply for the PRCA and its success. His talents, experience and knowledge of the sport helped raise a four-time world champion barrel racer, his daughter Sherry Potter Cervi. Mel has done a lot for the professional rodeo industry and we are honored to have him as this year's Pro Rodeo Legend."

In addition to qualifying for the first NFR, Potter also won some big rodeos in his prime in tie-down roping, including the Calgary Stampede (1962), National Western Stock Show Rodeo in Denver (1959), SandHills Stock Show & Rodeo in Odessa, Texas (1958), Helldorado Days Rodeo in Las Vegas (1957-58), and the Klamath Falls (Ore.) Great Northwest Rodeo (1957).

Potter has competed in tie-down roping, steer wrestling and team roping during his PRCA career. As a team roper, he has paired with cowboys like Bum Post, Bob Padilla, Eddie Schell and Dale Smith. Although Potter had some solid success in his early years as a PRCA member, he knew he had to have a back-up plan for work. His family had been cranberry farmers since his grandfather started the family business in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., in 1880. The Potters are one of the largest producers for the Ocean Spray co-operative of growers.

Potter and his wife of 59 years, Wendy, also operate the Potter Ranch in Marana, Ariz., with their middle daughter, Jo Lynn, and her husband, George Alexander. The ranch has produced some of the sport's top timed-event horses since 1973. Wendy competed in the NFR in barrel racing in 1970 and '72.

"I've had an interesting life, and it has been like an 80-year vacation," said Potter, who was an airplane pilot for 50 years before he stopped flying in 2011.

"Everything I've done I have enjoyed doing, and I have just had fun. I have a great family, and I've gotten to know so many great people. To me, the best thing in my whole life is all the people who I've met and become friends with. It's hard to believe it has happened this way for me." --Courtesy of www.prorodeo.com

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I want to tell you a story about answered prayer. Several years ago, when we still had church here on our property, we had something happen that was totally a miracle. If you were raised in the country, you will agree.

There are a lot of 'city' folks that come to the Barn. And there were lots of critters here at our house and they are magnetic. I had a great big red rooster. The kids so wanted to go see him because when they got here for church, he was generally strutting around in all his glory. He'd crow and flap and the kids wanted to touch him. So I gave in and told them that after church it would be dark and he'd roost and we'd go look at him. Word travels fast and before I knew it, ALL the kids wanted to see him!

Since I have lots of horses, mostly colts, I enlisted the help of my friend Rich to help corral the kids up to the barn. Rich in the lead, me in the rear, we looked like the Piped Piper! The kids were just chattering like magpies. When we got up there and turned on the light, Rich said "Uh oh....". There was the rooster, swimming in the horse tank.....how many of you know that chickens don't swim. Rich looked at me. I looked at Rich. He reached in and pulled him out of the water. The kids were absolutely beside themselves with excitement! The rooster was still alive....barely.... but the kids didn't know that.

Grasping at straws (oh woman of great faith), I said, "Kids, the rooster isn't feeling good tonight so let's pray." Every little head bowed and we prayed healing for the rooster. His head was listing to the left....then the right....then the left. It was pitiful and I had NO FAITH that he would make it till we got the kids out of that barn! Rich set him on the ground and propped his head up on a piece of wood. He was making these sad little clucking sounds. We turned the light out and ushered these little faith filled kids back down to the church.

The next morning when I went up to feed.....you got it.....he was clucking around, crowing and flapping!

Taught me a good lesson. Just because my life experience told me he wouldn't make it, childlike faith in our very good God saw him through. God is faithful to us in the little things and the big things. If you are facing something that your life experience says is impossible, think about my rooster.....
