A new crown for Fallon Taylor's Flos Heiress

By Tanya Randall

Royally-bred Flos Heiress ("Baby Flo") was voted the AQHA/WPRA Barrel Horse of the Year by the Top 25 barrel racers in the WPRA World Standings. The pint-sized powerhouse bred and ridden by five-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier Fallon Taylor is currently fifth in the WPRA World Standing with $100,860 won prior to the Wrangler NFR in Las Vegas.

"It's just so cool to have Baby Flo named Horse of The Year," said Taylor, Whitesboro, Texas. "People have seen her succeed inside, outside, walk-in setup, run-to-a-closed gate, come-in crooked, deep ground, hard ground, bad ground; she's just excelled on it all. I think that's why she achieved such a high award."

Baby Flo is bred in the purple. Her sire is Dr Nick Bar, an NFR qualifier himself and WPRA World Champion Sire, thanks to Lindsey Sears' Sugar Moon Express. Her dam is NFR qualifier Flowers And Money ("Flo Jo"), by On The Money Red, an all-time leading sire of barrel horses.

"We'd saddle both Dr Nick Bar and Flo Jo at every rodeo," explained Taylor, "and I'd figure out which horse would like what better from the alley. I just ping-ponged back and forth on them."

Taylor started her professional rodeo career with Dr Nick Bar, a 1979 son of Flit Bar out of Este Tag, by Leo Tag. Her parents Shelton and Dian purchased the stallion from his breeders Michael and Susie Davidoff with the help of the late, great barrel horse trainer Larry Stevens.

"Dr Nick Bar was a present for my 9th birthday," said Taylor. "They made a major investment in him for me. He's the one I filled my permit on after I won my first rodeo in Lafayette, La. My parents had incredible foresight, for not being horse people, to purchase him and then mount me on a really great mare. That's where this whole thing started."

After Stevens passed, Rick Manucy took over guiding the Taylors, and it was on his recommendation that they purchased Flowers And Money, who was out of the Thoroughbred mare Floralie, by Kentucky Derby winner Majestic Prince.

"My trainer Rick Manucy told my parents there was a 2-year-old On The Money Red mare at the track that they needed to buy," said Taylor. "My mother likes a pretty horse and Flo Jo was anything but. I owe my entire career to that mare, but I could still say she probably wouldn't be your first pick if you walked through the barn. "My parents didn't buy her right away because they were afraid with her size and me being young that I would outgrow her and be too tall. She was 14 hands tall and about 800 pounds. She was tiny. When we went back to buy her they didn't want to sell her. They said we had to claim her if she ran second or worse; if she won, they were keeping her. She stumbled at the gates and won second by nose so we were able to take her home."

Manucy trained Flo Jo, but they put young Taylor on the mare for the 1994 Old Fort Days Futurity. That year Flo Jo and Taylor finished third behind the likes of The Key Grip and Boleta Jet.

"I ran her all the way to the fence at the first barrel on both runs because I was so afraid to hit barrels," said Taylor. "I hit a barrel to win at the pro rodeo there so we thought let's just enter some rodeos. We started hauling her and she just loved it. We made the National Finals and couldn't hardly believe it."

With Flo Jo doing the lion's share of the work, Taylor qualified for the NFR for four straight years, from 1995 to 1998.

"She had a real quirky personality," said Taylor of Flo Jo. "She's one-person, type horse. She and I bonded like crazy. There weren't many people that liked to be around that mare except for me. We had something really special. I just absolutely loved her."

"She was a little different. She was very anxious. In retrospect I would have done a lot of things different. I would have got on her at the last minute, but I was kid and I wanted to go walk and lope around. Now, Baby Flo doesn't get the same treatment because I'm older and I know better."

14-Year Old Sydney Surin Qualifies for The American

Last week (October 1, 2013 issue) in our article on the first qualifier for The American, we made a mistake, stating there were no Youth qualifiers, when in fact, 14 year old Sydney Surin qualified by placing 9th with a time of 16.409 riding Zans Baby Chic. We would like to wish her good luck in Mesquite!

Finalists Announced for PRCA Veterinarian of the Year Award

The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) is proud to announce the finalists chosen from an accomplished field of nominees for the 2013 Zoetis PRCA Veterinarian of the Year Award. The award was created in 2010 to recognize dedication to the health and welfare of rodeo livestock by veterinarians across the country.

"Zoetis is honored to partner with the PRCA to celebrate the dedication of veterinarians who spend countless hours ensuring the health and well-being of rodeo livestock," said J.P. Pollreis, DVM, Cattle and Equine Technical Services, Zoetis. "Commonalities amongst each of the nominees for Zoetis PRCA Veterinarian of the Year include a longstanding commitment and involvement in the sport of rodeo, innovation in providing solutions to issues, and service as ambassadors for the sport and their community." Nominations for Zoetis PRCA Veterinarian of the Year are submitted by PRCA members and PRCA Rodeo Committees. The selection committee examined specific contributions to the health and welfare of rodeo livestock, extent of involvement in the sport of rodeo and community involvement.

"I am very pleased the PRCA has chosen to recognize the hard work of veterinarians who contribute to the welfare of rodeo livestock," said Doug Corey, DVM, ProRodeo Hall of Famer and Chairman of the PRCA Animal Welfare Committee. "The sport of rodeo is lucky to have so many dedicated veterinary professionals to provide and advocate for the health and welfare of the livestock at PRCA rodeos."

The 2013 recipient will be announced in mid-October and will be honored at the PRCA Contract Personnel Banquet Dec. 4 in Las Vegas and during the 55th Wrangler National Finals Rodeo Dec. 6 at the Thomas & Mack Center.

The field of 17 outstanding nominees was narrowed down to five distinguished veterinarians. The finalists are:

Dr. Jerry Billquist, Billings, Mont. Nominated by the Montana ProRodeo Circuit.

Dr. John Boyington, Phillipsburg, Kan. Nominated by the Phillipsburg Rodeo Association.

Dr. Joseph Coli, Reno, Nev. Nominated by the Reno Rodeo and Bob Feist.

Dr. J. Fred Rule, Elk City, Okla. Nominated by PRCA member Larry Dawson, PRCA Stock Contractor Bennie Beutler and others.

modeling and acting goals, Taylor returned to the arena in the late 2000s, this time with the offspring of Dr Nick Bar and Flo Jo.

The true "chosen one" was supposed to be Nicks Huachuaca ("Chuck Taylor"), who had just started making a name for himself in early 2011 when he tragically pulled his hoof capsule from the soft tissue of his foot. Although his foot completely regrew and he lived for three years as opposed for the three months, veterinarians predicted, Chuck Taylor was put down just this September after he foundered.

"At that point he was in a little bit of pain, and we had made the decision as a family that if he ever were in pain we'd put him down," Taylor said.

Shortly after Chuck Taylor's initial injury, Taylor decided that Baby Flo, who was 5 at the time needed to be broke.

"I had broken my neck in 2009 when Baby Flo was 3 and just really didn't want to get back on colts," said Taylor. "It took me nearly two years before I was making 1D runs again. I was like Ricky Bobby—you know where after his accident he's rolling around the racetrack at 5 miles an hour—that was me running barrels. I thought I was hauling the mail but I was in the 4D!"

By the fall of 2011, just months after being started under saddle, Baby Flo was winning at the amateur rodeos.

"In the spring of 2012 I took her to her first set of pro rodeos," she said. "We had no clue we'd be that close to making the Finals. We had no intentions. I entered stupid and that really cost us the NFR. I would go for three weeks and come home for two. When you're on the road and you want to make the NFR, you absolutely cannot do that. It's a wonder we even got close."

Determined not to be a bubble baby again, Taylor and Baby Flo set out to qualify for the 2013 WNFR the first weekend of the season. They spend much of the early year leading the standings.

"She's probably more like her mom," said Taylor. "She's a bit of a forget-me-not. She likes me and my husband. She's very business-minded. She's really focused on her job. When you take her out she wants to go do something and then she wants to be put back up. We want to take her in the house and cuddle with her but she's just not that kind. We want to hug her and tell her how great she is and she just wants you to feed her and go on about your way."

Even though she looks and acts like her dam, Baby Flo is much like her father as well.

"What's funny about Baby Flo is half the time I run her in her father's old Loomis gag and the other half of the time I run her in her mom's 25-year-old hackamore," she said. "She's 100 percent half and half. She runs a lot like Dr Nick Bar inside and a lot like Flowers And Money outside."

Dr Nick Bar passed away at age 28 in 2007. Flowers And Money joined him just six months later. She was only 14.

Taylor still has three of their daughters—Baby Flo, Flos Nefertiti (Baby Flo's backup) and Flos Nicknack, who is foal to Traffic Guy.

"I knew she was the ratey-est one of them and wouldn't be taking her to the Thomas & Mack so I decided to let her have a baby this year," Taylor said of Nicknack. "After we wean that baby next spring, she'll go right back on the road. She's very similar to Baby Flo and I've won rodeos on her as well."

Taylor said she really has to thank her parents for their forethought that produced such a barrel racing dynasty.

"They didn't come from a barrel racing background yet they had the foresight to breed a really great stud to a really great mare. I think I was less of a trainer on Baby Flo and more of tour guide. I think this mare has such an elite pedigree that she just wanted to do it. I think all of her sisters are a testament to that.

"I think it says a lot for the breeders who are trying to enhance the sport. Pedigree matters. I used to be very anti-papers. If they had the heart to do it, I didn't care. I still believe that but we're getting to the point where you have so many powerful breeding programs and you can see where they're enhancing the sport. Baby Flo could outrun her mother and her father on any given Sunday. It's cool to watch the sport go forward."

The proof in the pudding—as famed photographer Kenneth Springer is fond of writing.

Slick By Design, a barrel-bred stallion by leading sire and champion barrel horse Designer Red, by On The Money Red, and out of Dreams Of Blue, a high school rodeo horse that shares lineage with Kelly Kaminski's two-time WPRA World Champion Rockem Sockem Go, was second in the horse-of-the-year voting.

Barrel-bred Perculatin, the defending WPRA World Champion, was third in the voting. By Dash For Perks, an all-time leading barrel horse sire, Perculatin is out of a third-generation proven barrel horse Curiosity Corners, by Silver Lucky Buck.

Taylor is anxious to see what the next generation out of her great mares has in store.

"You know those babies out of Baby Flo and by these great stallions are going to fly," she said. "I just don't know how much faster I want to go. I'm going to need Velcro."

Cervi & Dennison Earn Honors at the Turquoise Circuit Finals

By Tanya Randall

Three-time WPRA World Champion Sherry Cervi and her great mare MP Meter My Hay ("Stingray") earned another average championship at Turquoise Circuit Finals Rodeo, held Oct. 3-5 in Las Cruces, N.M., while 2011 Turquoise Circuit Rookie Champion Kassidy Dennison and her talented gelding Sierra Hall Of Fame ("Eagle") claimed year-end circuit championship. Both ladies will represent the circuit at the RAM National Circuit Finals in Oklahoma City next year.

Cervi, Marana, Ariz., wrapped up a stellar year that found her once again reach of another World Championship with the No. 1 position in the World going into her sixteenth Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. At the circuit finals, she placed second in the first two rounds and won the third en route to the $4,524 victory. While many of her fellow contestants are hard on the trail to qualify for 2014, Cervi is content to stay home and focus on her colts for next year's Arizona futurities. She also plans on keeping Stingray sharp in the buildings by running at the Texas Stampede in Allen, Texas, and Elite Extravaganza in Waco, Texas.

Dennison, on the other hand, is trying to get her horse power together for a 2014 run.

Her main mount is Eagle, an 8-year-old gelding by Dash Ta Fame out of the Thoroughbred mare La Granadora, by Pirates Bounty.

"I got him when he was just turning 5 years old," she said. "Dena Kirkpatrick had found Eagle for me. She picked up him from Chris Duke, his original owner, at the BFA Futurity. She kept him for a year-and-a-half and I would fly back and forth to work with him. We worked on keeping him calm and relaxed to make him into a rodeo horse. She knew he was something special."

Dennison, a multiple Indian National Finals Rodeo Champion Barrel Racer from Tohatchi, N.M., came close to making the finals in 2011 with Eagle, but untimely illnesses and abscess have stymied their efforts since.

"My rookie year I had my best shot at being in the Top 15, but he had gotten an abscess," said Dennison, 21. "Last year we went to Canada and he got sick with all the rain so I didn't get to rodeo at all over the fourth. He really didn't get to go again until this last winter."

They did well in the circuit, winning Window Rock and Scottsdale and place well at big rodeos like Tucson and Prescott. At the circuit finals, they finished second in the average.

"My first run, we had top of the ground and we won the first go," said Dennison, who pocketed $3,251. "The ground there is a little tricky so you never really know what you're going to get. In the next round, we were last on the ground and he really didn't handle it that great. The final round we were third on the ground and he handled it pretty good and ended up second."

"I'm going to rodeos in Texas this next week and I'm riding the other horses that I have lined up to see which ones are going to make it," said Dennison, who wanted to thank Sarah Keickhefer for her efforts on behalf of the circuit, her parents and the Lord. "Eagle is going to be staying home. From Texas, my mom will be meeting me in Albuquerque and we'll go up to Billings. Then I'm going to go to the Indian (National) Finals. Hopefully one of the horses that I'll take to Texas will be the one that I run there. Then I'll take (Eagle) with us to California."

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

What does the future hold? A Gospel songwriter said it best:
 "Many thing about tomorrow
 I don't seem to understand
 But I know who holds tomorrow
 And I know who holds my hand."

You don't have to worry about the dire news you hear on radio and TV or read in the newspaper. Not if you've made Jesus the Lord of your life and turned it all over to Him. The news changes daily and every day brings a new or at least a different set of concerns.

Jesus tells us in Matthew 19:26, "...with God all things are possible." He can turn an impossible situation around in ways you never imagined because He is a God of all love who wants the best for His children. He sent Jesus to suffer a horrible death to redeem us from our sins and give us the abundant life we now can have. He didn't say everything would come up roses; we'll still have trials and troubles. But, He said He'd be with us through it all and help us overcome and triumph.

Probably nearly everyone has heard the story of Corrie Ten Boom, the Dutch woman held in a concentration camp during World War II. She was slated to be put into the Nazi gas ovens but God worked a miracle instead and she was released. She spent the rest of her life witnessing for the Lord and getting thousands upon thousands saved. She said, "Never be afraid to trust an unknown future to a known God."

Get to know God. Talk to Him every day about everything. Read the Bible to see what He's telling you. Remember He made the universe and everything and nothing is too hard for Him. The universe is a complex thing. He controls the rotation of the earth, the gravity that keeps us from flying off and the proper mix of gases to sustain life. He controls the tides and the seasons and still He cares for the smallest detail of your life.

Don't limit God with doubt and unbelief or the negative words you speak. Find a Bible church, cultivate some good Christian friends and live the high life!

Mike Morrison and his wife Sherry are ordained ministers in their own nondenominational church in Gillette, WY. They also travel widely as circuit riders ministering over a large area of the western states.
