Lockhart 'n Louie win fourth CFR and $64K

By Julie Mankin

Lisa Lockhart will tell you that it “just happened to be our week.” She won’t tell you that she and An Oakie With Cash (“Louie”) earned almost three times as much money as any other barrel racer at the 40th Canadian Finals Rodeo on Nov. 6-10. She won’t tell you she almost won every single round. And she wouldn’t dream of mentioning that she outran everybody by more than a full second to win her fourth Canadian championship in Edmonton, Alberta.

That’s just not Lisa. The Oelrichs, S.D., wife and mother of three will, however, talk about how tight a barrel race it was and how everyone was making great runs. And she will commend Louie as being “a model of consistency.”

The 10-year-old buckskin grandson of Judge Cash by a double-bred Doc Bar stallion won his second straight Canadian title – and $64,396 – while winning the average by well over a second on six runs. Lockhart edged Kirsty White, who earned $23,818 in Edmonton.

Brenda Mays had been leading Lockhart for the season championship heading into Edmonton, which annually invites the top 12 in the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association’s standings. But then Lockhart won the first, third, fourth and fifth rounds – and was second in the final round by two one-hundredths of a second. That brought her season earnings to $88,650, compared to the $37,605 earned by Kim Schulze.

It had been 11 years since someone won back-to-back Canadian championships – Carol Barr did it in 2001-02. Now, Lockhart joins Rayel Robinson with four titles apiece. Only Debby Guelly and Ruth McDougall have earned five titles, while Canadian queen Jerri Duce holds the record with nine championships. In fact, Americans have only been able to compete at the CFR since 2006, so Lockhart has won half the titles up for grabs since she was eligible to run there.

Lockhart, 48, trained horses for a living until winning her first CFR in 2006 on a teenaged gelding that she re-trained. She’s been to the Wrangler NFR and CFR every year since, mostly aboard 15-year-old Fast An Gold (“Chisum”) and Louie – both of which she trained.

Louie went on injured reserve in February when he strained a hind suspensory ligament. He only came back sparingly in July, and then scored some nice checks in August and September. But “Chisum was pulling through, so it was a no-brainer to give Louie time off,” Lockhart explained.

Chism is a grandson of both Beduino and Raise Your Glass and, like Louie, he has Easy Jet blood on the bottom. Chisum and Louie – along with a little help from IR Peppy’s Breeze and FCS Bugs Out Of Sight – have packed Lockhart to eight Badlands Circuit championships, eight CFRs, seven NFRs and well over a million dollars.

But first and foremost comes Lockhart’s family, so she changed her schedule this summer to be there more for her kids, who are “growing up way too fast.”

In fact, Lockhart entered just 52 WPRA-sanctioned rodeos this season – the fewest of any of the top 15 in the world. Considering she averages $85,000 per NFR, Lockhart could more than likely win a gold buckle with a full-time rodeo schedule. But her kids are more important.

In fact, despite the saddles, jewelry, truck vouchers and buckles

James Accepts Invite Into The American

Eleven-time World Champion, Charmayne James, has accepted an exemption invitation and will come out of retirement to compete in the barrel racing event during RFD-TV's THE AMERICAN, presented by Polaris RANGER, on March 2, 2014 at AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas.

James dominated the sport of barrel racing from 1984 – 2003. She started riding horses by the age of three and running barrels by the age of six. At 14, she won the title of World Champion Barrel Racer and held the title for the next 10 consecutive years. She qualified for Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (WNFR) every year of her decorated career, 19 consecutive years in total. In 1992, James was inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in Fort Worth, Texas. She retired from the sport in 2003.

After 10 years of retirement, James now runs barrel horse clinics around the country and designs saddles and riding gear. She is among one of the most decorated female equine athletes of all time, with titles including; All Time Leading Money Earner, Barrel Racing's First Million Dollar Cowgirl, First Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) member to earn the right to wear the number one on her back and is holder of more individual world championships than any other woman in professional sports when she retired.

"I've stayed active, but will definitely be starting to train even harder to be ready for the level of competition at THE AMERICAN," said 11-time world champion Charmayne James. "I'm honored to be a part of this historic event that spotlights the deserving cowboys and cowgirls that compete in rodeos."

James is the third athlete selected by THE AMERICAN's sanctioning bodies as one of the limited exemptions. Two-time PBR world champion Justin McBride was recently given the spot for bull riding and six-time world champion Dan Mortensen was awarded his in the saddle bronc competition. Additional exemptions will be announced leading up to March 2, 2014.

"Charmayne is a great choice for THE AMERICAN barrel racing exemption with her 11 gold buckles," said 3-time World Champion Barrel Racer, Sherry Cervi. "I hope to be able to compete against her, as it will be an event worth participating in and watching. The fans will not be disappointed."

New Breeders Incentive - Mare Power

A new and different kind of incentive is on the horizon. One that brings the power to the mare owner. Tyson and Rebecca Campidilli of Sunny C Ranch are very proud to introduce Mare Power LLC. Today's breeding industry is being dominated by great mares, Mare Power LLC is designed to reward those mares and their owners who invest their time, money, and pride in their Mare programs that are turning out great foals. It also adds a bonus for those mare owners with their own stallions in the already established and successful stallion programs as another way to be rewarded monetarily for

Mare Power LLC also boasts the unique feature of being a program designed to pay back an immediate return to the mare owners who want to nominate but are still in competition. By allowing mares to both nominate and pay themselves into the program the young mares in competition have a shot at an immediate return on their owners investment in Mare Power LLC while waiting on their breeding career to start or their embryo's to begin performing. Many of these mares are already nominated to the other breeders incentives focusing primarily on their sires making it one more way to get paid and in today's industry every little bit works in their favor.

Mare Power Bonus Money will consist of 80% of registration and nomination fees and will be distributed at select futurities and derby's. The 2014 season will kick off with a $5500 Mare Power Bonus being offered at the LG Pro Classic in Kinder LA. The futurity will retain $5000 of the prize money with $500 going to the derby side pot. Bonus reward money will be distributed as followed: 70% to MP owner of nominated foal (on registration papers) 20% to MP Dam owner (registered mare) 10% to MP foal Breeder (listed on the registration papers). Mare registration is a yearly minimal fee of $100 and the foals are a one time nomination of $150.

Mare Power LLC's creators designed this program over a need to see their own mares rewarded as the foals in their breeding program come of age. During the last year of planning the good news came that their breeding stallion Mr TT Pacific was accepted into Future Fortunes as well, increasing the odds of potential return on their own personal "Mare Power". For more information you can visit the website www.marepowerllc.com or catch Rebecca at the Mare Power LLC booth at the BFA in December to answer all your questions.

Winnie flooding leads to rodeo postponements

Due to torrential rain that flooded much of the southeast Texas region, the Oct. 31 Wrangler Champions Challenge, presented by Justin Boots, and the Nov. 1-2 Nutty Jerry's PRCA Rodeo in Winnie, Texas, were postponed indefinitely.

Both events will be rescheduled. Once the dates have been confirmed, they will be published on prorodeo.com and in the ProRodeo Sports News.

The administration of the PRCA, along with Jerry Nelson and his staff in Winnie, discussed the best plan of action on Wednesday before deciding to cancel the rodeo early Thursday morning.

"We all felt it was in the best interest of our cowboys and our animal athletes to cancel the rodeo until a later time," PRCA Director of Rodeo Administration Aaron Enget said.

The Winnie area received 11 inches of rain in 27 hours, which turned the rodeo arena into a lake. Jerry Nelson says that the incredible amount of rain in such a short time is rarely seen in Winnie.

she won in Edmonton, championships and trophies are always the last thing on Lockhart's mind. She's just out there to make the best living she can, and she never drives into Edmonton or Vegas with any strategy except to "go out and make the very best run I can possibly make every time. And if they pay you, they pay you." Still, the huge win is especially sweet heading into the NFR after Louie had so much time off this year.

"I'm definitely looking forward with a bigger smile than ever," Lockhart said.

Crowds always cheer loudly for this down-home trainer who's more out to provide for her family than get the gold. So if she never puts herself in prime position for a world title, what keeps driving her to do this for a living?

"The thrill of the competition," she said. "There's so much going on in Las Vegas, but it's to actually get down there and turn that corner and come down that alley ... to seize that moment."

California Barrel Race Pays Out Larger Than Ever

What began as the desire to produce quality barrel races for the Central Coast of California, quickly grew into the large productions known as the Spurr Ranch Barrel Races in the quiet, little town of Shandon, California. This past weekend proved to be nothing short of amazing as 444 rider and horse combinations came together to participate in the $10,000 added 2013 Spurr Ranch Barrel Challenge presented by Nutrena SafeChoice paying out a total of $48,257.50. In conjunction with the Barrel Challenge, Spurr Ranch was host to the 2013 California Circuit Divisional Finals for the top twelve card holders, permit holders and juniors for the second consecutive year.

Friday evening, as the sun set and the temperature dropped, the competition heated up as 288 contestants raced against the clock in the $500 added open warm up race. When the dust settled well into the wee hours of Saturday morning, atop the 1D leader board was Bailey Nahrgang riding her 11 year-old mare Shes A Brisco, better known as Angel. Angel is an own daughter of Brisco County Junior and out of a daughter of Roll The Cash. Nahrgang's time of 16.591 earned her $819 for their efforts. The pair has been teamed up since 2010 when Bailey bought the mare from trainer/competitor Carrie Thompson of Mississippi. Bailey would like to thank her dedicated sponsors Formula 1 Noni, Western Dove Tack & Jewelry and J.B. Dewar Fueling Services for providing their unbelievable support.

Saturday's Barrel Challenge drew 419 competitors and began at a rapid pace as Angie Hardin of Cottonwood, California and her horse, Smartys Real Rock, also known as "Cajun", clocked a smoking 16.387 and held tightly to the lead for nearly ten hours. However, when Kris Gadbois and her 7-year-old gelding CRCS Regaldash aka Snoop stepped into the arena, things were about to change.

Kris jockeyed the gelding to the fastest time of the weekend with a 16.326, and earned the top 1D check in the amount of $1,915.

"Snoop took a step past the 1st, but the rest of the run felt spot on I wasn't sure how the 1st barrel was going to affect our time," said Gadbois. She had set a goal before her run to clock a 16.5, but Snoop obviously had a different plan in mind. Snoop was originally purchased from the Casner Ranch in Southern California by Danyelle Campbell Bassett. Campbell-Bassett trained the gelding with proven success in the futurity world. Kris purchased Snoop from Danyelle in January of 2012 and she has high hopes of roding in the WPRCA California Circuit this year on her permit and making a move towards the 2014 Rookie of the Year title.

The team's first time to the Spurr Ranch proved to be one to remember. "I want to thank Spurr Ranch for the efficiency and professionalism of their races, along with the phenomenal ground they consistently provided throughout the day," said Kris, "The 600 mile round trip from home in Escondido, CA was worth every minute and I cannot wait to return to the same arena for future races."

Gadbois's time was also carried into the WPRCA Finals, which she too won, taking home another hefty check and trophy saddle certificate compliments of the WPRCA California Circuit and its great Director Marguerite Happy.

Kris would like to thank Danyelle Campbell-Bassett for the opportunity to own a great horse like Snoop and the continued support she has shown for them both along the way. She has continued

Rios Wins American Race in Alvarado on 4-year-old

By Julie Mankin

There's nothing like the carrot of a million dollars to draw 152 of the toughest barrel horses in Texas together for one run. It happened in Alvarado at the BBR Regional Finals, where a whopping 15 riders put up $500 each for a chance to go to The American Semifinals, Feb. 22-23 in Mesquite, Texas – and from there to a rodeo in March that could pay the winner $1 million.

Nobody in Texas is hotter right now than Callie Rios and Blazin Baby J.

On Nov. 9, Rios' 16.879 not only won the Open for $1,253, but also the BBR Members' Sidepot for $1,438 and the American sidepot for $3,375. In all three races, Jolene Montgomery on Jud Little's 4-year-old Martha's Sixshooter and Andrea Cline on 5-year-old Stitch's Streaknfame edged the likes of Sherry Cervi on Stingray to finish second and third with rolled times.

Montgomery banked $4,471 on her run and Cline made $3,600. When the dust cleared, Christine Laughlin placed two horses in the top 10 sealing up her second qualification (she earned one in Loveland, Colo., and one in Alvarado). Since you can only qualify twice, 11th-place finisher Katelyn McLeod on Kellies Chick slid in for the last ticket to Mesquite.

"Baby J" is a former racehorse by Dash Ta Fame and out of a Chicks Beduino/On A High/Easy Jet mare.

"He's just one of those extraordinary horses," Rios said. "He loves it. He absolutely loves it. When you warm him up, he's so excited you can't hardly warm him up because he's kicking up and throwing a fit. Then he runs so good for being 4 and when he's done, he walks out with his head down like, 'That's my job; I'm done. I know what I'm doing.' I don't exhibition him; I haven't since March. He's just one of those extraordinary horses."

The 28-year-old cowgirl from El Paso claimed Baby J off the racetrack for $6,500 and trained him herself.

"It's hard to find a Dash Ta Fame for $6,500 anywhere," she said. "I am lucky that my dad has an 'in' to where they call him if they know a Dash Ta Fame will be running in a claiming race, and I had people to investigate and make sure he was sound and all that."

When Baby J became a 4-year-old barn-burner in August, she got a purchase offer she couldn't refuse from Angela Ganter, who is assembling an intimidating herd of young rodeo horses for her daughter Jackie's 2015 rookie WPRA rodeo season.

But then Ganters decided to keep Rios on Blazin Baby J through the colt's futurity season and into 2014 as a derby and rodeo horse – which included a run in the American sidepot in Alvarado.

"I had always planned on entering the two American qualifiers closest to El Paso," said Rios. "And then after I sold him, I thought, 'There goes that plan.' But after he did so well at the WPRA Finals, they decided they wanted me to run him."

Rios will be more than happy to accept a percentage of a million dollars come March. And she's excited about his future with Jackie Ganter.

"I didn't want to sell him, but I don't want to go to rodeos; it's just not one of my things," Rios said. "I really enjoy riding the colts. Plus, I know he'll be going to a really good home and he and Jackie will do something really big. That's what I want; is for my horses to go to good homes and be ridden by the best. I want them to win."

Rios was working full-time as an accountant, having earned her degree while college rodeoing for New Mexico State University. But she missed having time to ride. So her father bought her a couple of colts and she quit her job to work part-time at her parents' sale barn so she could train.

In April, she claimed another 2-year-old Dash Ta Fame gelding off the track, and owns just that colt and one other 2-year-old, both of which she plans to campaign at the 2015 futurities. The young trainer credits friends and family with helpful mentorship.

"I learned a whole lot from my cousin Nikki [Folmer], and my dad can watch one run and tell me exactly what I'm doing wrong," she said. "And there are two ladies around El Paso I look up to, Jana Bean and Judy Reed, who train their own horses and were a lot of help."

Rios' Cinderella story on Baby J has drawn her further north lately, but her parents were happy to replace her at Rio Grande Classic Livestock. In the meantime, she's looking for a home around Stephenville as a better base for her new career.

Tickets are on sale now for The American Semifinals in Mesquite and can be purchased at the Mesquite Arena's box office or online at www.theamericanrodeo.com. Tickets for RFD-TV's The American Presented by Polaris Ranger on March 2, 2014, range from $20 to $150 and are available at the AT&T Stadium Box Office, all Ticketmaster locations and at www.theamericanrodeo.com.

Massey Wins AQHA Junior World Championship

By Julie Mankin

Almost exactly 10 years after Janae Ward Massey became a first-time world champion in the WPRA, she's claimed another world championship – this time in the AQHA.

Riding a 5-year-old sorrel mare named Famous Rhythm, Massey topped 50 contenders over two runs in the Junior Barrels at the AQHA World Show in Oklahoma City Nov. 8-9, winning a custom trophy, buckle, jacket, blanket plus thousands of dollars for Jud Little.

On Little's 5-year-old sorrel mare, Famous Rhythm, Massey placed fifth in the preliminary round with a 16.4. Pete Oen won the round with a 16.1 on 5-year-old Famous Pawn Star, bred by Bo Hill and campaigned by Danyelle Campbell before being purchased by Guy Rodrigues Jr. of Texas.

Then in the finals, Massey turned up the heat with her own 16.1 on "Rhythm." When Oen hit a barrel during another smoking run on Famous Pawn Star, Massey claimed the average – and world – title by just four hundredths of a second. Remarkably, Oen still won both second and third in the average on Lynn Cicman's two 4-year-old stallions.

He won the reserve world championship on Strait Dallas Fuel, by Dallas Fuel and out of a Strait Silver/Gay Bar King/Hollywood Gold mare. And Oen nailed third place on Willie B. Firewater, an own son of Firewater Flit out of a First Down Dash/Special Effort/Streakin Six mare.

"It was a very tough barrel race," said Massey. "A downed barrel for Pete is all that cost him winning the world. He showed up with four very salty junior horses."

Massey is pretty salty herself, having won the WPRA world championship a decade ago on another mare owned by Little named Dynas Plain Special ("Dee Dee"). This time her world champion was Rhythm, by Famous Jr – a stallion formerly owned by John Reed Foster out of Kentucky. Obviously a son of Dash Ta Fame (hence the name), Famous Jr is out of the result of an Azure Te daughter bred to Easily Smashed. And on the bottom, Rhythm's dam is a granddaughter of Special Effort and Bugs Alive In 75 both crossed on Easy Jet mares.

Massey of Comanche, Okla., has ridden Rhythm since March of her 4-year-old year and really began putting runs together this season at derbies, pulling checks at Diamonds and Dirt, Old Fort Days and the LG Pro Classic.

Remarkably, considering all the years she's ridden for Little,

Massey had never competed at the AQHA World Show.

"I qualified Dee Dee for it one year, but she got hurt before the World Show and I didn't get to run her," said Massey, who will return to Oklahoma City with Rhythm for the BFA World Championship Derby.

But the 5-year-old mare won't be the only promising young barrel horse in her trailer come December. As Massey's daughter, Chazli, has gotten older, Massey has acquired more and more colts to ride. She's currently training 11 head at her house now, all owned by the Jud Little Ranch.

Meanwhile, Chazli is 4 and attends pre-school. With the help of Massey's grandparents, Dale and Florence Youree, and her husband Ty, a fuel specialist for Oklahoma Corporation Commission, Massey has time to be a mom and horse trainer full-time.

She's excited about more of Little's prospects, including a 3-year-old by Clayton that is entered in the juvenile futurity at the BFA World Championships in December.

"He's ornery, like a 3-year-old little boy," said Massey of the gelding by Scamper's clone. "He's not afraid of anything. He had my

Until the next time she hits Oklahoma City, Little will take the AQHA trophy back to Ardmore, but Massey will get to put one more world championship on her resume.

"Jud and I had just been talking that day and he said, 'You know, Janae, it's been 10 years since you won a world title; you better kick it in gear.' And after I won it I said, 'I'll tell you, Jud, I hope it's not another 10 years before I win another one!'"

Crider Wins AQHA Senior World Championship

By Julie Mankin

AQHA president Johnne Dobbs of Illinois has done much for barrel racing in the Quarter Horse industry during her tenure, in large part because her 9-year-old granddaughter, Dylan Dobbs, is nuts about it.

Ironically, it was Dylan's 13-year-old mare, Bar's Sweet Legacy, that bested nearly 50 horses – including a handful of NFR horses – to win the Senior Barrels under Chad Crider at the AQHA World Show in Oklahoma City, Nov. 8-9.

In a field that included Michele McLeod aboard Slick By Design and Benette Little's two NFR stallions, plus horses ridden by NFR greats Kelly Yates, Tammy Fischer and PJ Burger, Crider broke Yates' old AQHA World Show arena record with a blistering 15.857 in the finals.

He had clocked a 16.4 in the preliminary round, which was won by McLeod's 16.2 on 11-year-old Moss Me Moe. But Crider's smoking time in the finals gave him the average title and world championship by more than a tenth of a second over Mattie Little Jackson on her father Jud's 7-year-old Flit To Kill broodmare.

Dylan Dobbs' mother, Johnna (pronounced Yawna) Dobbs, purchased Bar's Sweet Legacy ("Tink") this summer from Tina Wilson of Alabama.

"You know how long that alley is at the Jim Norick Coliseum?" asked Johnna, who later hit a barrel on the mare in the Amateur Barrels. "She literally walks down that alley just happy to be there and when you tell her it's time to go she's like, 'Okay, let's go.' It's really cool. That's why I like her for my daughter; she's so calm and she really tries to please."

Tink is by Rare Bar (Jet Deck/Tiny Charger/Go Man Go) and out of Sheeza Cash Legacy – an Easy Jet granddaughter on the bottom by a grandson of the famed racehorse Secretariat.

"We've always had geldings," Johnna said of Tink, who at 13 was the oldest horse in the Senior Barrels. "To me, it's just amazing the difference in how hard she tries all the time for you. She gives her whole heart every time."

It was Tink's first trip to the coliseum in Oklahoma City, but that definitely can't be said for her new family. Johnna (Strickland) grew up in Jonesboro, Ark., showing in Quarter Horse shows. Her family concentrated on Western pleasure and hunt seat while she mainly showed barrel horses. She met Travis Dobbs, who shows calf roping horses, when her family sent his father a halter horse to train.

AQHA Seniors Continued From Page 31

"What we like about the Quarter Horse shows is that we can all be together," said Johnna. "My son can show halter and my husband can calf rope and my daughter and I can barrel race."

While Johnna will likely run Tink occasionally, Dylan has already had success on the mare, running the fourth-fastest time at the All American Youth race in just her second trip on Tink. In 2014 she's going for the AQHA's Rookie of the Year award in the 11-and-under category. Along the way, mother and daughter will try to compete at the BFA World Championships in December.

It's a busy time for Johnna, who works for her family's lamp manufacturing company. She designs table lamps, shades and home décor out of Arkansas with an office in Hong Kong and customers like Wal-Mart, Target and Hobby Lobby.

"I work hard so I can play hard with the horses," said Johnna, who will fly to the NFR (her mother-in-law presents the Horse of the Year awards) and also try to fly to the BFA World Championships while somehow meeting clients such as Target and Bass Pro Shops that week.

Dobbs met Crider of Huntington, Tenn., when she bought her good horse, 13-year-old Rio's Pickanick, from him, and today Crider trains horses being raised by Dobbs. Crider, 36, had won youth world championships in the AQHA in the 1990s, but this was his first Open win.

He was no doubt glad to see Johnna Dobbs become the second woman ever elected AQHA President. Her father had a Jet Deck stallion and she's served in multiple capacities for the AQHA over the years while raising her family. Dobbs remains very family-oriented, which means youth initiatives have taken priority under her leadership and exciting incentives are being added to barrel racing at Quarter Horse shows.

"She wants to make it worth your while to go, so she's reaching out to barrel racers," said Johnna. "That means more money incentives and a priority being placed on good ground."

For instance, Crider's win paid a cool $5,500, and both the Senior and Junior barrels offered a new Intermediate category with awards going to the top three finishers new to the AQHA who have never placed in the top 10. Massey, a World Show rookie, won the category in Junior Barrels and Mattie Little Jackson took that honor in Seniors.

In Amateur Barrels (which drew 42 entries), Kim Ferguson won the first round on 9-year-old Three Smashed Bugs, by Three Bugs Alive and out of an Easily Smashed daughter, with a smoking 16.090. Then in the top-15 finals, Jennifer Arnold of Smyrna, Texas, followed up her 16.2 from the first round with a smoking 16.008 on her palomino mare Paris Firewater to edge Jayme Harvey of Tulsa, Okla., by a scant one-hundredth of a second for the world championship and first in the Intermediate category. An own daughter of Fire Water Flit, the 10-year-old Paris Firewater is double-bred Slash J Harletta (the dam of Fire Water Flit) through her Sugar Bars/Shawnee Bug mama.

Rookie 40-percents Southeastern Circuit Finals

By Julie Mankin

Kelley Carrington-French had it in the bag. The 51-year-old cowgirl from Georgia was in the lead by a healthy margin to win her first Southeastern Circuit championship, and she was riding the Southeastern Circuit Horse of the Year. She's no stranger to competition – she and her monster-truck-driving husband, Rob French, competed on CBS' The Amazing Race last year. Plus, she had a fantastic weekend Nov. 7-9 at the Ram Southeastern Circuit Finals Rodeo in Davie, Fla., earning another $3,605. Because of that, somebody would have to win every dollar possible in Davie to beat her. Winning every round, or doing what old-timers call "40-percenting" the rodeo, is virtually impossible. However, nobody told that to rookie Victoria Williams, fresh off a big $12,000 win at the All American Rodeo.

In Davie, the 19-year-old Mississippian won the first round by an unheard-of six tenths of a second. Then she won the second and third rounds by two tenths each to win the average by a blistering second and a half over Carrington-French. More importantly, the win paid Williams $6,178, which gave her the year-end circuit championship over Carrington-French by just $350.

"Honestly, I had gone to Davie earlier this season for the pro rodeo and my mare did not like that pen," said Williams. "I didn't expect anything; I was just hoping for some smooth, clean patterns. And I thought there was no chance of me catching Kelley. I'm still in shock about that first round!"

Her 7-year-old gray mare, Three Jets Olena, was running freakishly hard and normally likes deep ground. But Davie featured a faster track that didn't encourage "Jets" to set much for her barrels, all three of which she actually ran past.

"She has a first barrel problem sometimes, but usually I'm falling off trying to get her past the other two," Williams said. "At Davie she just wanted to run past everything."

Jets runs in a wire tie-down (wrapped in electrical tape) because "the first barrel used to be a little scary," said Williams, who at only five feet tall and 90 pounds wasn't able to rate the big mare down enough. "The tie-down made a complete difference."

And when the circuit finals came down to the wire, Williams ignored the people who reminded her she had a chance to win.

"My mentality is never to try to win anything – I just try the best I can every time and let the pieces fall," Williams said. "I thought if Kelley came in and made a good third run, she still had it won. And she had a very good run. When they told me they needed me in the arena, I was blown away. It took so long to actually hit me."

Carrington-French's 11-year-old Horse of the Year, Jacobs Hi, is by a quarter-thoroughbred son of Merridoc on the top side and out of a Sugar Bars great-granddaughter whose sire was the late Dash For Cash/Go Man Go stallion By Yawl (speed index 96).

As for Williams, she had never ridden a horse until the seventh grade, when she got interested because a friend was doing some jumping. That discipline wasn't fast enough for Williams, however, so she got into barrel racing, cutting her teeth with big wins at NBHA Super Shows on a mare named Dallas Oklawaha. That mare came from Bill Williamson of South Carolina, and in the fall of 2011, he also sent Williams Three Jets Olena, trained by himself and David Jenkins.

"They just wanted me to ride her but I fell in love with her and we bought her," said Williams, whose parents own a restaurant and some video poker parlors in Jacksonville, Fla.

Williams bought her WPRA permit in January 2012, filled it in February and then entered the 2013 rodeos on her rookie card. She finished as the reserve Rookie of the Year in the WPRA with roughly $40,000, which should get her into the 2014 winter rodeos. Jets is by Blazin Jetolena – a grandson of Doc O'Lena out of a half-thoroughbred Jet Of Honor daughter. But the mare gets her gray color from her dam Maggie Quick Dash – a daughter of Royal Quick Dash (by First Down Dash out of a daughter of Beduino) on the top side and a great-granddaughter of Magnolia Bar on the bottom.

Williams, who will turn 20 in December, is enrolled at a local community college as a journalism major, but is taking the classes online, which she also used to do as a home-schooled high school junior and senior.

The flexible schedule will help her on the road during the 2014 season, in which Williams has already been to 10 rodeos and is ranked fourth in the world.

"I'm so excited to see if I can go to the winter rodeos; I want to do my best to prove that I can run with those kinds of girls," said Williams. "And of course, everyone wants to make the NFR."

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

If you have an outstanding horse, you expect great things from him. It's exciting to use him in competitions or just ranch work because you know you can always count on him and he won't let you down.

If we can have so much faith, confidence and joy from a horse, how much more so should we have in our Creator who made the world and everything in it including our gifted horse. The horse only does what he has been trained to do. Our Lord acts out of love for us and the good plan He has for our lives.

Joyce Meyer, well known Bible teacher, said not to forget the power and might of our big God. She said not to be afraid to ask big things of Him. She said she'd rather ask some big things from our great God and get half of them than ask for nothing and get all of it!

There are good Scriptures to reinforce your faith in a loving Father. Mark 11:24 says, "What things so ever you desire, when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you shall have them." Matthew 21:22 says, "whatsoever you shall ask in prayer, believing, you shall receive." Read John 14, 15 and 16 to see other comforting Scriptures and there are many others.

With our human emotions, it's hard for us to comprehend the boundless love our God has for us. God wants us to have an abundant life. The Bible says He stands at the door knocking, just waiting for you to let Him in. So talk to Him and study what He has promised in the Bible.

So enjoy your outstanding horse but thank God that He has blessed you with that gift. Know that God takes pleasure in your happiness and He loves your horse, too!!
