Hallie Hanssen & Tres Movidas Capture Inaugural $60,000 Women's Rodeo World Championship

By Tanya Randall

AT&T Stadium hasn't seen that dominating of a run since the retirement of pro football hall of fame running back Emmitt Smith.

Hallie Hanssen and Tres Movidas ("Vida") owned AT&T Stadium during the final round of the World Champion Rodeo Alliance's Women's Rodeo World Championship. Their Saturday night run of 14.735 during the Professional Bull Riders event was more than 6/10ths faster than their nearest challenger on the unique course between the bucking chutes.

The WRWC, held November 8-15 at Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth and AT&T in Arlington, featured a $750,000 payout split between barrel racing, breakaway roping and team roping. Hanssen's victorious last run was worth $60,000.

"I don't even know if I've fully wrapped my head around it," said Hanssen, who wanted to thank the WCRA for the opportunity and her husband Lee for pushing her to take it. "No matter if it's the futurities or with the rodeos like with the WCRA, everyone keeps trying to improve and put more money into it. You don't have to haul all the time and run the legs off your horse or wear your truck and trailer out to get to stage like that and showcase a horse that doesn't get to go to the NFR because their owner doesn't get to compete and travel that much. It's just amazing. It's amazing what these programs have done."

Hanssen and Vida are no strangers to the WCRA events, having competed at the Windy City Roundup in Chicago and the Komatsu Equipment Days of 47 in Salt Lake City.

"Even from the first one that I made on her in Chicago, she's so much more seasoned to rodeo now," she said. "That made a huge difference for her."

She said running at AT&T Stadium was "quite the experience."

"It was so loud in there and they have a lot of pyro during the bull riding and even with all that going on I could just tell she was zeroed in," she said. "She was so calm and focused. I could just tell she was ready. She was focused on her job."

Hanssen had also prepped the mare, who was bred and is owned by Tom Jacobs of Pritchett, Colorado, by making sure she could find her first barrel that morning during the AT&T practice session.

"Sometimes she's not as good on a short score to the first barrel," Hanssen explained. "I just really wanted to get her in there and make sure she found that first right out of that little alleyway. There was an electronic scoreboard right behind the first barrel and I knew she needed to be able to find the first with that going on behind it. She just felt very confident when I took her through there. I walked her through twice and then I loped a pattern on her and was done."

What happened afterward was simply surreal for Hanssen and her husband Lee. The Hermosa, South Dakota, couple went back to winter home-base in Weatherford, Texas, and worked colts before making the return trip to Arlington that night.

"Usually we have to travel a long way for something like that," she laughed. "It was kind of crazy because it was so close by. It was a weird experience that way. When I got back to the trailer—he had taken her back while I did a couple of interviews—and looked at each other were just like 'Wow!' It was just kind of crazy."

What's also crazy is how much Vida has won recently. The 8-year-old daughter of $2.4 million barrel horse sire Tres Seis, out “She’s making up for being off having a baby!” she laughed. After making a few runs earlier in the year, Hanssen discovered that an embryo had managed to defy the flushing process. Vida gave birth to a French Streakin Jess filly and returned to competition mid-summer.

Vida’s next task involves a new jockey. Multiple NFR qualifier Lisa Lockhart is taking the mare to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo at Globe Life Field next door to AT&T Stadium.

Decoding The WCRA’s WRWC Format

In their efforts to provide all rodeo athletes with several opportunities to reach the lucrative championship rounds, the WCRA’s qualification and event progression methods are slightly confusing. Here is a breakdown of the multiple opportunities provided by the WCRA that led to Hanssen’s $60,000 victory.

Hanssen came into the Women’s Rodeo World Championship as one of the top four contestants on the Leaderboard. Her personal secretary/assistant, also known as her husband Lee, paid a fee to WCRA to nominate the regular events—namely aged events—she attended.

“Normally I do the futurities because I’m running so many horses and it’s a better use of money. I did nominate the Pink Buckle because I was trying to make the Top 4 (in the Leaderboard Standings), so I wouldn’t have to make so many runs on her and I could just show up that Thursday and make a couple.”

When Hanssen placed in a paid position, the WCRA converted those dollars to points which determined the Leaderboard standings. It should be noted that the Leaderboard standings are done in segments leading up to premier WCRA events so they stay in flux throughout the year.

Going into the WRWC, Hanssen, Chenessa McGraw, Maggie Polonic and Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi had the top four positions on the Leaderboard. They automatically advanced to the Main Event—the final hurdle at Will Rogers in Fort Worth to make the Championship Round during the PBR at AT&T Stadium in Arlington.

Now back to multiple opportunities for everyone. The first available option was the Nominate, Win and Your In (NWI) Fast Track Round, which was open to at least 16 contestants who had competed in NWI events sanctioned by the WCRA. The top four in this one-run round—Randee Prindle, Danyelle Campbell, Becky Maass and Ari-Anna Flynn—advanced to the Main Event.

Those not advancing through the Fast Track Round joined the remaining points-ranked members (No. 5-64) in the Leaderboard Pool. The top 18 times from two rounds advanced to the Elite 18, a one-run round that advanced the top six fastest times to the Main Event, while the bottom 12 got one more shot through Progressive Round.

Meanwhile, those not ranked by points were battling their way toward the Main Event through the Open Pools, which were split between pros and challengers. The difference between the two pools was money won during the past three years. Challengers were riders who had won less than $30,000 in each of the past three years.

Like the Leaderboard Pool, the fastest times of the two rounds advanced. However, the number of times advancing were prorated per number of entries, so at the inaugural WRWC, the top 12 advanced to the Progressive Round.

For those Leaderboard contestants failing to make the Elite 18 and the non-winners in the Open Pools, one chance remained to make the Progressive Round. The number of contestants advancing out of the Redemption Round is capped at 10 and prorated on entries. With 17 contestants entering the Redemption Round, nine advanced to the Progressive Round.

The Progressive Round, consisting of the bottom 12 from the WCRA Elite 18, nine from the Redemption Round and 12 from each Open Pool (24 total from the Pro and Challenger pools), was a one-run chance at making the Main Event.

The Main Event, which determines who advances to the Championship Round, consists of the top 10 from the Progressive Round, the top six from the Elite 18, the top four from the Fast Track and top four from the Leaderboard standings. These top 24 all make one run with the top 12 times advancing to a second round. After making a second run, the top six on a two run aggregate advance to the Championship Round.

Multiple entries and rollover times will be saved for another day.

Arena Record For Kylee Scribner & Firewater Cartel at Elite & WPRA World Finals

By Tanya Randall

With the run of lifetime, Kylee Scribner and Firewaters Cartel ("BB") set an Arena Record on the WPRA Rodeo Pattern at the Extraco Events Center in Waco, Texas, during the WPRA World Finals and Elite Barrelnanza with a 15.345. With that run, the Azle, Texas, barrel racer and her 5-year-old gelding topped the $25,000-added TQHA Texas Bred Open for $5,082, won the second round of the WPRA Cardholder's and won the Elite Open for $2,308.

"I just went in there just hoping for a clean faster run," the 20-year-old trainer and broker said. "I made my run and was running out and thought 'That felt fast!' Sure enough, he broke the record. That was the least of our expectations going into Waco. We were just hoping to make clean, solid runs and add some consistency to him because he's not fully seasoned. He blew our expectations out of the water, to say the least!"

Scribner, who comes from a multi-generational rodeo family, purchased BB, which stands for Billy's brother, a year ago from his breeder Holly Pritchard of Springtown, Texas. BB is by Firewater Frost, the same sire as her former horse Billy, and out of DNA Awesome Chrystal, by SC Chiseled In Stone.

"I spent a few weeks over at Holly's house when they were halter breaking him and let me tell you, he was a handful!" Scribner recalled. "He was a mess to even get broke. She was actually going to keep him but ended up deciding that we would make a good team, so she called me. She asked if I would be interested in coming to look at him. I was like, 'I'm not really looking for a horse and I don't really have the money to buy a horse, but I guess so!' I rode him and we clicked."

Scribner started running BB in December and was clocking in the 1D by his fifth run.

“Holly is very, very good at patterning a horse,” she said. “He’d only been off her place a handful of times. She had never exhibited him or anything like that, but he was very solid on the pattern.”

Scribner, who is a 2021 WPRA Rookie having filled two permits in 2020 with BB, started off her week Thursday at the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas, for the slack of the Stockyard PRCA Rodeo. After kicking over the second barrel to place well, she headed to Waco for the first round of the Futurity that night. Unfortunately, she kicked over the second barrel again to place very well.

Thankfully, they got off to a better start on Friday, placing fourth in the second go of the Futurity, with a 16.063. While didn’t pick up a check in the Cardholder’s Race with the carryover time, it was good enough to give her a solid start for the average.

On Saturday, BB’s antics while warming up left Scribner doubtful of having a good run, but an arena record was waiting for them.

“He was absolutely terrible to warm up on Saturday,” she laughed. “I was like ‘We’re going to die. This run is going to be awful!’ I didn’t know what his problem was, but he went in there and made a run. I guess it was fine!”

That epic run left her sitting second in the average going into the Cardholder Short Go on Sunday behind eventual champions Kassie Mowry and Famous Ladies Man. Scribner and BB clocked a 15.868 to finish seventh in the round.

“The ground felt a little bit looser than it was the days before,” she said. “He’s not really experienced on different types of ground. It just felt like it was a little looser and he didn’t run near as hard on Sunday. He still ran .8 and ended up third in the average. He was running against World Champions and the best in the business so I have no complaints about that!”

THE RUNDOWN w/Kylee Scribner

Firewater Cartel, “BB” 15.1 hands, 1,100 lbs. “He is massive.”

BIT: Short shank, no gag – It was Dashing Dillon’s bit

HEADGEAR: Ed Wright Pretzel

SADDLE: Brazilian

SADDLE PAD: Impact Gel

LEG GEAR: Iconoclast on all four

SHOEING: Scott Burger, farrier; rims on all four

FEED: Brant Feed

HAY: Hay-Rite Mini Cubes

SUPPLEMENTS: OE Nutraceuticals

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Back On Track, PEMF machine, Equi-Resp and Flair Strips

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: “During the week we just work on keeping him in shape, long trotting, loping. It’s just daily exercise to make sure his winds up. Once a week, I’ll do maybe two slow work patterns on him just to make sure everything is correct. I don’t ever do any fast work at home. I try to save him for the bigger races so he’s not making a ton of runs all the time. We use Outlaw Equine with Josh Harvey in Decatur. I’ll take him up there every once in a while or once every other week to either put him in the water walker, swim him or put him in the ice chiller.”

SPONSORS: D Morrow Custom Bits, Delicious Horse Treats, NDJ Designs, JOH Photography, OE Nutraceuticals, Outlaw Equine, Hay-Rite and Western Rider Hats.

All totaled, Scribner won $13,477 in Waco.

“We’re just thankful to have this kind of horse in our lineup,” she said, “everybody who supports us and God, who has given us the opportunity to do this.”

Hello Houston -- Kassie Mowry & Famous Ladies Man Win WPRA Cardholder's Race

By Tanya Randall

Rodeo Houston has been good to Kassie Mowry. The two-time NFR qualifier has also had good luck qualifying for the lucrative rodeo in between her hectic schedule as one of the leading futurity trainers and riders in the country.

At the WPRA World Finals, held November 12-15 in conjunction with Elite's Barrelnanza at the Extraco Events Center in Waco, Texas, Mowry guided Famous Ladies Man, the 2019 WPRA World Finals Futurity Champion, to a $8,372 Cardholder's Championship and got her bye into the tentatively scheduled 2021 Rodeo Houston.

"He got demoted earlier in the week," laughed Mowry, who also competed at the World Champions Rodeo Alliances' Women's Rodeo World Championships in Fort Worth all the while prepping colts for the BFA World Championships this week. She had originally planned on running CP He Will Be Epic at the WPRA World Finals, while Emmitt ran at the WCRA. However, when Emmitt looked around on his first run in Fort Worth, Mowry switched horses.

"The gray horse was supposed to run at Waco because I had just ran him there at the rodeo and he did so well," she explained. "It was really tough because they had both done so well there (in Waco), but when Emmitt looked around that first round at WCRA I knew I needed the other one there. It worked out really well."

Emmitt, a 5-year-old gelding by Dash Ta Fame out of Busby Quarter Horses' champion performer and producer Lady Perks, by Dash For Perks, was solid in a very tough Cardholder's Race, taking third in the first round with a 15.783, third in the second with a 15.617 and winning the short with a 15.736 for the average win.

"He's a pretty tight running horse," she said. "He has a lot of set to him. He doesn't cheat, but he drops that little booty and sets. You can talk him out of it if you need to get a couple of steps. He doesn't blow up into the turns in tight pens like that as much as some of my other ones do. You have to ride him aggressive, which is really good for me to have around because I get in colt-mode so easily. When I get on him I really have to pay attention and ride him all the way."

Mowry and Emmitt also took second in the WPRA World Finals Derby for $3,374, and with carryovers into the Elite races and TQHA $25,000-added, picked up another $7,085. Their total Waco haul was $18,830.

Emmitt, who was one of the top futurity horses in the country in 2019, transitioned well to rodeo with wins at Odessa and Mesquite, Texas. He's also placed at bigger rodeos like Sikeston, Missouri, Lawton, Oklahoma, Filer, Idaho, and Mandan, South Dakota. "I haven't gone to very many but he's really taken to it," said Mowry. "He just loves it. He seems to love the rodeo atmosphere and the energy of it."

Mowry, herself, could use some energy too. The Dublin, Texas, trainer went to Memphis, Tennessee, for the Ruby Buckle the week before the WPRA Finals and the WRWC at the start of the week. She had little time to celebrate her WPRA win before making a mad dash to Guthrie, Oklahoma, for the BFA.

"I made four trips to Fort Worth and to Waco last week," she sighed. "Meanwhile, I was trying to get all these 3-year-olds ready to come to Guthrie. At one point at the WCRA, I had my trailer

Mowry wanted to thank the Waco crew for a well run race with great ground.

“I thought the ground was awesome,” she said. “I always appreciate when they go the extra mile and try to make it even for everybody. It was very well run. Elite does such a great job.”

Amber Moore & Blue Duck Down Top Historic Cowgirl Gathering Jackpot

By Tanya Randall

Amber Moore may go down in history as the winner of the largest one-day race in history with a $3,362 victory aboard Blue Duck Down (“Ducky”) at the $24,500-added Cowgirl Gathering Barrel Race, that began on November 15, at the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas.

With $20,000-added to the Open 5D with a $75 entry fee, the Cowgirl Gathering drew a staggering 1,112 entries.

“It was a blast!” said the multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier from Salem, Oregon.

Moore had come to Texas to partake in a very busy weekend in north central Texas with a pro rodeo at the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, the World Champions Rodeo Alliance’s Women’s Rodeo World Championships at Will Rogers in Fort Worth, the WPRA World Finals at the Extraco Center in Waco, Texas, and the Cowgirl Gathering back at Cowtown.

“It made a good week with everything—the WPRA Finals, Northside having that pro rodeo, the WCRA and then the Gathering,” she said. “It was huge!”

Since she has Paige and Ducky in the trailer, Moore split runs between her horses and entered up. She ran Paige in the first round of the WCRA, but the mare slipped. She got on Ducky for the second and pulled a barrel with her to run the fastest time of her set.

“They both had a shot at it, but it wasn’t in the cards,” she said.

Since she had never been to Waco, she ran both horses in the warmup race on Thursday to see which one was going to like the pen more.

“I figured whoever ran the fastest time was going to get to run in the Cardholder Race,” she explained. “Ducky outran Paige, so he got the call. They’re both running equal right now so it’s hard to know which one to jump on, especially when they haven’t been some place. Ducky made four solid runs in that arena.”

Moore had planned on entering the Cowgirl Gathering jackpot too but waited to enter because of the WPRA World Finals.

“It was on my list of things to do, but I didn’t realize it was going to be that big!” she said. “I didn’t enter for a couple of days because I was at the WPRA Finals. You always plan on making that short go so I didn’t want to get messed up entering up too early. I didn’t realize there was going to be 700 pre-entries in the first hour!”

Moore ended up running Ducky at 12:30 a.m. at draw 737 and Paige at 2 in the morning in draw 811. Coming from the west coast, the two hour time difference may have worked in her favor.

“It helped. It did. The two hours did help. With daylight saving time I had three hours on top of that!” she chuckled.

Ducky, a 10-year-old gelding by Blue Duck Okie out of Miss Quixote Dude by Mr Morgan Freeman, got the win, but Paige was coming for him.

“She had a pretty significant slip and still clocked,” said Moore. Paige was just one hole out of the 1D money with a 14.031. “She was finally trying to get it done in there. I don’t know where she thought she was at but she went in there thinking she was pretty neat stuff!”

With the stringent lockdowns on the West Coast, neither Paige nor Ducky had a lot of runs this summer. Moore went a little in July but decided it was too much driving, too much wear and tear on horses, who were used to spending a lot nights at home thanks to the closeness of the Northwest rodeos.

“It was an ok choice,” she said. “With our business, we were very busy and it was a good summer to be home. I’ve got babies and I’ve actually got a futurity horse for next year. It gave me time to get caught up.”

Moore commended event producer Tammy Kidd for a job well done.

“Tammy Kidd did an awesome job on the whole production,” she said. “It ran smoothly. It was just a well-run production.” Kidd, who as of Tuesday evening was still getting coffee at Starbucks to compensate for sleep deprivation, says the race was “just amazing.”

“It just hit me this morning how many we ran,” she said. “I can’t believe how much the barrel racing industry has grown since we started in 2013. People were coming from all over. I had one girl text me at 3 p.m. that she was coming from Missouri. I couldn’t believe it. They just kept entering and showing up. It never stopped. I can’t thank the contestants enough.”

With the BFA World Championships, WPRA World Finals and Elite all going on at the same time, Kidd never expected the race to be so big.

“They just kept rolling in,” she said. “Heck, at 5:30 a.m. we had 40 walk-ups. We left the books open until the last horse ran. I didn’t realize it was going to be this big to be honest.”

The brainchild of Stephen Hayes with the American Paint Horse Association, the Cowgirl Gathering featured an all-girl team roping on Friday, an all-girl breakaway on Saturday and the barrel race on Sunday.

Exhibitions started at 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and then the open started at noon. The last of the 1,112 entries ran at 7:40 a.m. on Monday.

Kidd credited her crew, whom she deeply appreciated for staying up 27-hours with her, for keeping the race rolling along and she said the contestants helped a lot by being ready.

Five Women Crowned Women's Rodeo World Champions in AT&T Stadium at Inaugural Event

In front of electrifying crowds inside AT&T Stadium, five women became the first in history to claim the coveted title of Women's Rodeo World Champion and took home a minimum of $60,000 each. The seven-day $750,000 equal money championship event dished out equal money to the 254 entered athletes, paying an average of $2400 per check.

As the first discipline of the championship round, team roping had fans inside the home of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys on the edge of their seat Friday night throughout the action-packed performance where challengers prevailed. After no qualified times in the first four runs of the performance, the team roping duo Rylie Smith (Whitsett, Texas) and Hope Thompson (Abilene, Texas) backed into the box calm and collected and logged the only qualified run of the night with a 13.66-second effort. With only one qualified run in the team roping, all athletes who did not record a qualified time were paid a $5,000 appearance fee, adding an additional $30,000 EACH in ground money to Smith and Thompson's payday. The Texas natives took home $90,000 individually, a Jesse Jaymes Silversmith's buckle and a Women's Rodeo World Champion Title.

As the championship round continued on Saturday evening, a hotly contested battle in the barrel racing began to unfurl. Fifteen-year-old Jada Trosper (Ponder, Texas) led the pack with a 15.582-second run edging out Ivy Saebens (Nowata, Oklahoma) and Randee Prindle (Gilman City, Montana). Four-time WCRA Major qualifier and No. 1 athlete on the WCRA W20 Leaderboard Hallie Hanssen (Hermosa, South Dakota) and mare Vida expertly navigated the course as her 14.735-second run was the quickest, distancing runner-up Jessie Telford (Caldwell, ID) who recorded a 15.339-second run. Hanssen earned a total of $60,000 in only three runs as she was seeded directly in the main event.

In Breakaway roping Sunday Night, 18-year-old Madison Outhier (Utopia, Texas) was the undeniable star of the discipline, delivering what would be the most groundbreaking performance of the event. As the quickest athlete to earn a qualified time, her 2.05-second effort elevated her to a $60,000 payday. For Outhier, the event marked her career first WCRA Championship, advancing to the main event through the Leaderboard Pool. Not only did Outhier emerge victorious, but did so by defeating WCRA Royal City Roundup Champion, Kelsie Chace (Dublin, Texas) who logged a 3.43 second time. Outhier also defeated Kanas State High School Breakaway Roping Champion Beau Peterson's (Council Grove, Kansas) 2.14-second time.

Legendary cowgirl Jackie Crawford (Stephenville, Texas) earned the first-ever Women's Rodeo World Champion All-Around Cowgirl title. She won a $20,000 bonus and a custom saddle donated by Coats Saddlery, after earning 1,520 points during the seven-day event along with nearly $15,000 in additional prize money. The 38-year-old cowgirl, who has over $135,000 in career-earnings with the WCRA, made history in Chicago during the WCRA Windy City Roundup becoming the first women breakaway roper to win $50,000 in prize money.

WCRA and PBR have announced the 2021 Women's Rodeo World Championship will take place in Las Vegas at South Point Arena alongside the PBR World Finals. Nominations for the November 2021 event (leaderboard W21) are underway.

World Champions Crowned at WPRO World Finals

World Titles were handed out over the weekend at the WPRO World Finals in Waco, Texas, in the roping division, futurity and derby division and junior division.

Taking home her fourth consecutive team roping heeling world title was Whitney DeSalvo. DeSalvo of Springfield, Arkansas, has become a force to be reckoned with on all levels in the team roping. She won the title with partner Hope Thompson, who collected her second team roping title to go with her previous breakaway title (2013) bringing her total to three WPRO World Titles. DeSalvo's first world title came in 2017 with Thompson, then the past two years in 2018 when Lari Dee Guy won the heading title and in 2019 Beverly Robbins claimed the heading title.

DeSalvo finished the year with $35,172 in earnings to reserve world champion Annette Stahl's $22,728. Thompson captured the title with $33,307 in earnings compared to reserve world champion Lari Dee Guy with $29,132.

Kelsie Chace and Jackie Crawford took home the WPRO World Finals Average Title stopping the clock in 22.7 seconds on three head.

The young roping phenom Gracie Gambino won back-to-back world titles in the tie-down roping. The 18-year old from Lindale, Texas, finished the year with $7,403 in earnings to reserve world champion Tanegai Zilverberg's $7,393. Gambino won the second round in a time of 15.1 seconds, was third in the third round in a time of 26.7 and was fourth in the average with a time of 141.8 seconds on three head. Zilverberg easily won the average title in a time of 55.3 seconds after placing in all three rounds.

With the evolution of the women's breakaway roping within the WPRO at ProRodeos and the fact that in 2020 breakaway earnings were calculate for ProRodeos only as well as co-approved events only the landscape of the world title also changed. Money won at the WPRO World Finals this year were added to the co-approved event standings like in years past but the member with the most money in those standings this year was honored with the National Champion title versus the normal World Champion status.

JJ Hampton, a 17-time WPRO World Champion, took home the title with $87,973 in earnings to reigning world champion's Kelsie Chace's $81,812. Hampton, who has qualified for the inaugural National Finals Breakaway Roping (NFBR), now has the opportunity to not only win a national championship in 2020 in breakaway but also a world title. What an historic year it would be if Hampton is able to accomplish this feat.

The WPRO Breakaway Roping World Champion starting in 2020 will be based on the ProRodeo only standings and will be crowned following the Wrangler National Finals Breakaway Roping similar to how the WPRO World Champion Barrel Racer is determined following the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

Rookie Rylie Smith of Whitsett, Texas, took home the breakaway average title at the WPRO World Finals with a three head time of 8.2 seconds.

While Chace will be unable to add another breakaway world title to her resume in 2020, as she didn't qualify for the NFBR, she did win her third all-around WPRO World Title outdistancing Gambino. Chace, who previously won the title in 2012 and 2017, finished the year with $7,870 in all-around earnings compared to Gambino's $7,699.

Futurity and Derby World Champions Named

The first WPRO World Title awarded over the weekend was in the Futurity Division.

Molly Otto and Teasin Dat Guy captured the WPRO Futurity 1D title after collecting a total of 412.5 points on the year. Otto of Grand Forks, N.D., outdistanced Margaret Jones and Smooth Operarider who finished with 367.5 points.

Bailey Webb-Olson and VR Jojo Wood Pay of Hugo, Minnesota, won the 2D World Championship title finishing the year with 145 points to Ashley Day and Driftn Little Lena's total of 95 points.

Although Margaret Jones missed out on the Futurity World Title she didn't go home empty handed as she and Shes Packin Dynamite took home the WPRO World Title in the Derby Division. Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi and Ima Famous Babe, a horse she plans to run next month at the Wrangler NFR in Arlington, took home the Derby World Finals Average Title in a time of 31.278 seconds on two runs. Kassie Mowry and Famous Ladies Man was a close second in a total time of 31.400.

Junior World Champion Named

London Gorham of Cotulla, Texas, captured her first WPRO Junior World Title with $31,365 in earnings for 2020. Casey Mathis of Washoe Valley, Nevada, finished as the reserve world champion with $16,874. Mathis aboard SH Stylish and Sly won the first round of the Junior race at the WPRO World Finals in a time of 15.981 seconds and would finish second in the second round in a time of 16.064 seconds.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I'm giving credit where credit is due here. A few Sundays ago, Pastor Elgin spoke about this and I think it's worth repeating.

He said, "We pick who represents us." Now in this very interesting, frustrating time, I needed to hear that. He continued with, "Current events don't determine my destiny.

Because... my representative in heaven is JESUS!" Woo Hoo! Now why didn't I think of that??? Well God did! Psl. 18:30 tells us, "AS FOR GOD, HIS WAY IS PERFECT.

The word of the Lord is proven; He is a shield to all who trust in Him." So, if we want to be shielded and protected, it would benefit us to keep our eyes in the Word. We can count on the truth written there. And obeying it is a must. If we get in our heads, we can get pretty confused. We don't want to be in our heads, we want to look into our HEARTS, where God lives inside of us.

Prov. 14:12 tells us, "There is a way that seems right to a man, but its end is the way of death." When you and I asked Jesus to be the Lord of our life (Romans 10:8-10), we secured our future.

We can count on God. He's not surprised or blindsided. He's our good shepherd and He will lead us out! Praise God!
