Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi's Dynamic Futurity Duo Goes 1, 2 at BFA World Championships

By Tanya Randall

WPROA World Standings leader Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi concluded her 2023 aged event campaign by winning $115,000 at the BFA World Futurity Championships, held November 15-18 in the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

The Lampasas, Texas, barrel racer took eight horses to the E, won money on six and made the finals on five. She was the owner, breeder and rider on five, too. Her great mare Streakin Six Babe was the dam of two and the granddam of three with two out of Babe On the Chase ("Birdie") (by Chasin Firewater), and one out of the late Ima Famous Babe ("Katniss"), by Dash 'Ta Fame.

"This is what we're breeding for," said the two-time rodeo world champion. "We want every generation to get better, making each horse better than the one before. I feel like that plan is coming together. They're faster, stronger, easier to train, all the things, just a little bit better."

Tonozzi's superstar was BFA World Futurity Champion Tres Chasin Babe PZ ("Rosie"), owned by Teton Ridge. The daughter of Tres Seis out of Birdie was actually the result of an embryo, stud fee swap with Zerlotti Equine, who stands and manages Tres Seis.

Rosie, who won the Ruby Buckle Central and Pink Buckle futurities, was the richest futurity horse in the country going into the BFA and concluded her futurity career with unofficial earnings of $420,828, just $24,201 shy of Hello Stella's record of $445,029.

At the BFA, Rosie placed second in both rounds and turned in the fastest time of the Futurity, a 15.099 in the Finals, to win the aggregate, worth $44,495. The 4-year-old mare also won $5,615 in Future Fortunes, $3,750 in Tomorrow's Legends and $2,099 in Diamond Classic Futurity money.

Tonozzi said she never dreamed that Rosie would accomplish what she did this year.

"Rosie had such a late start, and when I got her back, I went rodeoing," she recalled. "I didn't get to ride her much over the summer and I kind of crammed her at the end of the year. I had no idea that she was going to be like this."

She also said it was a lot of pressure to try to win enough to justify her purchase price.

"She sold for $240,000 in the Pink Buckle Sale and I thought 'My God! I'm never going to win this back!' When you've got a horse that sells for that much, it's a lot of pressure," she said.

Including open money, Rosie has career earnings are in excess of $526,000.

Right on Rosie's heels was BFA Reserve World Champion ChitiChiti BangBang ("Maybelline"), the Royal Crown Futurity Champion and Pink Buckle Futurity Reserve Champion. The 4-year-old daughter of Tres Seis out of KissKiss BangBang, by Dash 'Ta Fame, was the horse Tonozzi was hoping to create when the embryo, stud fee swap was made.

Maybelline, who was also a pro rodeo money earner this year, won $34,539 at the BFA. Her unofficial earnings are now over $287,000.

The pleasant surprise of the BFA was Babe On The Prowl ("Raya"), a full sister to Tonozzi's great mare Katniss, whom she lost. The 4-year-old mare is a 2024 futurity horse and made her debut at the BFA against seasoned horses. Raya made the 50-head Finals and finished 17th in the aggregate, earning $3,925.

"I feel like Raya has been my saving grace, my redemption (for losing Katniss)," Tonozzi said. "She worked so well. It was just exciting to feel that feeling again and have that glimmer of hope."

A Guy With An Alibi, by her stallion A Guy With Proof out of Katniss's full sister Famous At Six, was her only 4-year-old not to make the Futurity Finals, having missed the Top 50 cut by mere 10ths of a second.

Tonozzi's two derby horses both made the Finals. She was 5th on Blazin Babe Olena ("Anna"), her 6-year-old daughter of Blazin Jetolena out of Streakin Six Babe. Anna, who also contributed to her record-breaking rodeo earnings this season, won $5,644 between the Derby and Future Fortunes and Diamond Classic.

Misty Eyed Over Jet, a 2023 5-year-old futurity horse, owned by Busby Quarter Horses, topped the 5-year-old Futurity sidepot for $2,964 and placed 10th in the Derby aggregate for $4,320. She also picked up $2,500 in Tomorrow's Legends and $500 in Diamond Classic incentives.

Tonozzi also had two horses in the Juvenile Futurity. I've Got Ur Six, her daughter of Tres Seis out of Katniss, made her debut, and Addicted Ta Success [Sic] won the Sale Graduate bonus and placed in the first round for $3,180.

All totaled, Tonozzi won in excess of $114,000 at the BFA World Championships and she pushed her 2023 pre-NFR earnings to nearly $1.3 million. Her top two futurity horses have nearly $800,000 of that total, an amazing feat when her aged event schedule was limited by rodeos.

"It's hard to do both," she said of training and campaigning futurity horses while trying to make the NFR. "If you are rodeoing it's hard to get next year's colts ready, especially if you're training for other people. They expect those horses to be trained and that's one of the reasons that I've never ridden for other people. If I was going to pick a rodeo or a futurity, it was going to be a rodeo. I always felt bad if I didn't get the horses trained or they were counting on me for something, and I had a rodeo come up and I couldn't make the futurity."

Luckily, her two outside owners have skin in both games. Teton Ridge is one of her rodeo sponsors and owns her great mare, Birdie. Busby Quarter Horses' homebred Jets Top Gun was Tonozzi's leading rodeo horse during the season with incredible wins at the Calgary Stampede and Days of '47 in Utah.

Tonozzi trains her young horses when she's home for lengthy stretches during the winter run and then they'll get a little break on her Colorado ranch during the summertime.

"We take everything to Colorado and turn them out," she explained of the training program that's made everything from Birdie to Katniss and now their offspring. "If I'm home for a little bit, I'll grab one up and go ride it. I try not to ride unless I have three days in a row. If I can ride three days in a row, I feel like I can get something accomplished. If I can't ride three days in a row, there's no point of me really riding. The first day is always what I call a Monday. The next day you can see your improvement and the third day you can quit them on a good note."

Early Monday afternoon after the BFA, Tonozzi was already back at it, preparing for the NFR. She had a run that morning at a jackpot in the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth to get some 13-second runs on her rodeo horses and then was headed to the vet. Her mini vacation is a trip to Colorado for Thanksgiving. She'll leave for the NFR on December 2.

With regular season record earnings of $270,563, Tonozzi is nearly $110,000 ahead of the field in her 17th campaign for her third gold buckle.

MJ Segers Fast Lane & Brandon Cullins Continue Derby Domination at BFA World

By Tanya Randall

Somewhere in Oklahoma that second barrel is still probably spinning like a top after the BFA World Championship Derby Finals.

Recently crowned Pink Buckle and Ruby Buckle East Derby Champion MJ Segers Fast Lane, ridden by Brandon Cullins for Grant and Rayel Little, were the second fast qualifiers, having won the first round of the $20,000-added Derby with a 15.098.

In the 20-head short round, from the top of the ground, Seger and Cullins threw down the fastest run of the entire event, a 14.946, to win the aggregate by more than 3/10ths against the some of the toughest 5- and 6-year-old horses in the country.

“She’s a freak. She really is,” said Cullins, a leading aged event trainer and rider from Clements, Maryland, now residing in Dublin, Texas. “She can run so hard and make moves. She has total control of her body.”

Bred by Mark and Linda Jarvis, Segar is by their $7 million-dollar sire The Goodbye Lane out of SKS Running Faucet, by Diamond Faucet. The Littles purchased the mare after asking the Jarvises for the opportunity to buy a prospect that might one day take her place in a broodmare band that once included the likes of Lady Perks, Rollin Vickie and Ms Shoo Bug.

Rayel Little, a Canadian champion and NFR qualifier, trained Seger and started her barrel racing career at the Arizona futurities as a 5-year-old. Marcie Wilson, who owns The Goodbye Lane along with her parents, rode the mare through the Pink Buckle Futurity last year while the Littles made the move from Canada to Brock, Texas. After meeting Cullins in a neighborly visit in July, the Little’s offered him the ride after Pink Buckle.

It took the new team a little time to adjust to each other. Cullins said the mare’s talent helped bring his level riding back to championship form.

“Honestly, she was tough at first, but she got us back in the groove,” he said. “Things come and go, but I think she got us going back the right direction. When you ride something good like that it helps you ride everything. You stop riding defensively. That’s probably why it took me a little while to get with her because I was riding some not so great horses that you had to ride more defensively. Not her, you go ride to win, and I think that helps everything in the long run.

“Even when we had the bad runs and few no times, I never felt like it was her being dirty. It was just her being so ungodly athletic. She’d get into spots that I couldn’t get out of. She’s trying to do right all the time. She just tries so damn hard.”

The duo has been on fire since late summer and have recently won three straight derby titles and four total since September.

“She’s getting a lot more forgiving,” said Cullins, who got every extra step he asked for around the barrels in their winning Finals’ run.

“She warmed up really well, really laid back and relaxed,” he recalled. “I almost thought about waking her up a little bit before I ran, but I figured she’d be fine. When I took off, she was ready. “She let me take her to (the first), and I thought I was a little tight on the backside of the first, so I picked her up a little to get around it and that kind of shot me downhill a little bit. It was kind of like the Pink Buckle run a little bit, where I had to chase her back up hill to get her over. She made that same tight move. She felt like she was right next to it and if I left her alone, she was going to come right back to it and drag it leaving it. I don’t know if I set it up that hard as much as I pushed her hips back out of the way.

“She was a little tight on the third coming in, but she let me pick her up and push her forward on the backside to get around it. She was running hard, and it felt really good.”

Cullins had prepared for the run by skipping the second round of the Derby.

“She can get tight on her second run, so I figured it was just better to leave and let her get ready for the finals,” he said. “I didn’t want to push my luck.”

He also did a little slow work for himself the afternoon before the Finals—his first since Pink Buckle in early October.

“I just school her in the field and work on body control,” he said of his weekly routine with Seger. “I thought, maybe I ought to go around them. I just went around them once. I just took her to her spots and loped easy around them. That’s all the slow work I’ve done since the Pink Buckle probably, and it was more for me than her.”

All totaled, Segar added $24,006 to her QData lifetime earnings of $236,504. The derby victory was worth $10,596. Segar and Cullins also topped the Future Fortunes derby bonus for $3,400 and pocketed $4,180 from the Diamond Classic sidepot. They also won the High Roller race with a carryover from the first round.

They have salt water spa owner Andrea Enzenauer to thank for that $5,829 check.

“We didn’t even know about that,” laughed Cullins. “We had Seger in the spa, and Andra was saying you could roll your Derby time to the High Roller. It was right before it started, so Emily (Efurd, his fiancé) ran up and entered us. I’m glad she said something because it worked out pretty good for us!”

Cullins wanted to thank the Littles for the opportunity to ride Seger.

“They’re so good to deal with,” he said. “They’ve been good for me too, to help me get back winning again. When things go wrong, Grant’s always the first to say, ‘Don’t forget who you are.’ That’s kind of hard in this business. Even when it’s bad, they’ll bring you back up. Rayel’s been competitive at that high level too, and she understands how hard it is. Having someone on your back telling you that you need to be better doesn’t help because you are trying.”

Elaina McKinney and TJR Malibu Eddie Win BFA Super Stakes For $100,000 Pay Day

By Britany Diaz

November 15th marked the start of 2024 futurity season, which kicked off at the BFA World Championships with the BFA Super Stakes in Guthrie, OK at the Lazy E Arena. Elaina McKinney and her 2020 palomino gelding, TJR Malibu Eddie, showed the barrel racing world they were ready by running the fastest time of the evening in 15.481 seconds, winning $100,000! Behind McKinney was Tricia Aldridge and her stallion, Adios Pantalones with a 15.504, winning $35,000. McKinney and TJR Malibu Eddie topped a field of 60 other horses that were also making their debut runs. McKinney leased her slot from Kortney Kizer.

TJR Malibu Eddie, known as Malibu, is a 3-year-old gelding, by Eddie Stinson out of Lil Miss Firewater, by Fire Water Flit. The 15.1 hand gelding and McKinney continued their winning ways all week by finishing 8th in the juvenile average with a combined time on two runs of 31.709 seconds, winning another $2,487.64. Malibu was purchased from Twisted J Ranch as a weanling and been with McKinney since. The young gelding is proving himself to be solid and ready for the upcoming year. McKinney also placed 23rd in the juvenile average on another colt.

McKinney, from Carbondale, IL, had only been to the BFA one time before and was a first time competitor in the SuperStakes this year. "We sold a bunch of the open horses I had been running past years and started from scratch. We do everything ourselves. We break and train them," shared McKinney. Her dad, Rick McKinney, her grandpa, Bob McKinney and Elaina do all the work. "I like the futurities better than running the open horses. It opened up a lot more time for me to work on my younger horses by selling the older ones. I have been hauling Malibu since he was two, just exhibiting him, as I have had a ton of time on him. I work at my family's western store and just ride all the time outside of that. Malibu has had a lot of hours on him. We buy them as babies, then start them their long yearling year and ride them for four to five months, then turn them out and let them grow up. After being turned out for a few months, we start back and start training and exhibiting them. It is fun to be with them through every stage and see the whole process. It makes it so rewarding."

"It was so nerve-racking starting out. Our second night there, I went to check on Malibu and there was blood all over his stall. He had cut his mouth so bad, we could not get a bit in his mouth until the day of the slot race. We had a ton of money on the line, it was the biggest entry fee I had ever paid," said McKinney. "God pulled through on that one. We prayed really hard because we did not know what to do. We believed that he would turn it around and he definitely did. We trusted him and waited to see what he had in store for us with this. I vet wrapped my bit to give him some relief and he didn't seem to be bothered that night. If it is God's timing, you cannot stop it."

McKinney said, "Malibu has been such an honest horse since day one. He always wants to work for you and has a sweet personality. He does have a few quirks, but we worked through them with all the hours we put into him. We worked and worked and he matured out. I haven't had one like him for so long. He is so much fun because you know he is going to go in and work and make his same run. For a 3-year-old that is so rare. I was more worried about keeping a barrel up or how hard he was going to run, but knew he would go make his same run. He is more push style. Having a horse like him gave me the confidence coming into the slot race. He gives 110% every run. I did not make him this way, it is just the horse he is. He is my grandpa's favorite too, so that makes this win all the sweeter."

If you have a horse that is working and you are excited for, it is an exciting journey and a great experience. Remember it is all about the experience and it is just one run. You have the whole year, so do not base your horses ability off of that one run."

Mission Ranch's DesignerLeapToHeaven & Brian Wheeler Top BFA Juvenile Futurity

By Tanya Randall

With more than $64,000 won in her debut at the Barrel Futurities of America's World Championships, Brian Wheeler may have finally forgiven DesignerLeapToHeaven ("Penny") from kicking him in the hand and being so difficult in the beginning of her training.

"The first time I put shoes on her she kicked me in the hand," said Wheeler, a farrier and aged event champion trainer and jockey from Hattiesburg, Mississippi. "She's been a wild one from the start, very opinionated, and you had to do a lot more loping around than you'd normally do. But once she got it...she's been a dream, as easy as can be. Now, she's all business."

The 3-year-old mare, owned by the Matthews family's Mission Ranch in Wynne, Arkansas, topped the $50,000-added Juvenile Futurity for $17,399.

"We're excited about her," said Kim Matthews. "I hope she has a really good year. I knew she had it in her, but I wasn't expecting it to peak that fast!"

Bred by Youree-Ward Barrel Horses, Penny was born on Leap Day, February 29, at 70 Ranch Performance Horses after her dam, NFR producer Designer Ruby, by Designer Red, was sold to CJ Lembke. The filly is by the Matthews' family stallion Heavenly Firewater, who carried both Matthews daughters Jaylie and Taycie to International Finals Rodeo Championships and helped Taycie qualify for the National Finals Rodeo this year.

When Penny was offered for sale on Facebook as a weanling, Kim Matthews took a keen interest in the well-bred offspring of her beloved stallion.

"I told my husband, I'm going to buy this baby," she chuckled. "I really think the Bud and Designer Red cross is going to be good. I know it's going to be gritty."

Matthews sent the filly to "Kindergarten" with noted colt starter Audra Masterson before going to Wheeler for barrel training in August of her second year.

"It was pretty hard in the beginning, surprisingly. She was very hardheaded. You had to ride her for a while and stay after her about some things. Around June, July, if she hadn't been Kim's I don't know that I would have kept her," he admitted.

"She was gritty," Matthews acknowledged.

The filly's three-quarter sister is NFR qualifier Hell On The Red, by Bud's sire JL Dash Ta Heaven. Reddy had a reputation of being "a little rough around the edges" as her jockey Kylie (Ward) West once stated during the mare's futurity year.

"I told Brian that I think all three (Ward) sisters rode Reddy at one point. He said, 'But I don't have a brother!'" Matthews chuckled.

"I just knew she would be gritty and have the talent. I was thinking rodeo horse in the future.

"That's always my goal—rodeo horse in the future. If they come out solid and ready to be top 1D at the end of their futurity year...I don't really care what they win their futurity year. It's nice to help pay the bills, but I want longevity. I'm looking for afterwards."

That process has served Matthews well, as Bud and his daughter Stoli My Firewater, another Wheeler trainee, are heading to Las Vegas for the NFR next week.

By summer's end, Penny came into her own, but Wheeler still wasn't sure if she had the top end speed to make a top juvenile horse.

"August, September and October, she's clocked when she's exhibited, but she hadn't clocked fast enough to be what I thought was a really competitive juvenile horse," he explained. "She was probably two- to three-tenths behind last year's group (of colts). I was always kind of worried if she had the top end speed to get there."

For their competitive debut in the Super Stakes, Wheeler just wanted a solid run, about a 15.8, which usually won decent money for 3-year-olds at the BFA.

"My game plan for the slot was just go make a nice run and get a check somewhere," he chuckled. "Obviously, 15.8s didn't get a whole lot of checks like it did in previous years. They were slamming .5s like it was nothing (in the slot race)."

They finished one hole out of the money with their 15.8 and came back the next day with a 15.871 in the first round of the Juvenile.

"Leading up to the juvenile, she'd been a very quiet horse, one that you needed to kick on and push," he explained. "At BFA, she was awake. She woke up all of a sudden. In the slot race, I thought she kept her head on pretty good. The second run (her first in the Juvenile), she was way too excited. She knew what she was there for. She ran everywhere. She missed her first barrel a little bit and kind of stepped off. I had to chase her over to get to the second barrel, which made it slower. She did turn her third good, but I think by then she was kind of out of breath because she was running so hard."

Thankfully, they had a day off between the first and second round, so Wheeler spent the day doing a lot of quiet miles.

"I put my O-ring and tiedown back on her and just went and rode," he said. "I walked all around Lazy E and rode her in that quiet outdoor pen, just brought her back down to Earth a little bit. The next day, she was calm and collected. She made a nice smooth run, which clocked faster."

Their second round winning 15.425 was the fastest run by any 3-year-old at the BFA.

In addition to winning the Juvenile, Penny and Wheeler also won the Future Fortunes Juvenile Sires' Slot, by having the fastest two-run aggregate of eligible horses, for a tidy $40,000. They also won the Diamond Classic sidepot for $3,097 and Tomorrow's Legend's for $3,750.

Future Fortunes Awards $60,000 in High Point Bonuses

The race for Future Fortunes' top open prize, a share of the $60,000 High Point Bonus, went down to the last race of the season.

--Courtesy of Future Fortunes

At Renea Bolling's Barrel Bash in Gifford, Illinois, four horse and rider teams faced off for a final shot to claim their share of the $60,000 Future Fortunes Open High Point Bonus. This was the first year the titles were determined by an equally distributed point system amongst the divisions, as opposed to total money won.

Ultimately, the 18-hour drive from Gillette, Wyoming, netted Maggie Polonic and Aint Seen Me Yet ("Puff") the $40,000 High Point Championship with 24 points collected at Future Fortunes events throughout the year. Teenager Nina Shirey and her 4-year-old futurity horse KF Famous Frenchman ("Maui") tied with Polonic and Puff with 24 points but claimed the $20,000 reserve championship bonus as the Wyoming team had the tie-break advantage of having attended more Future Fortunes events.

"The points make it a little more consistent and fairer," said Polonic, who won $4,350 in Future Fortunes bonuses throughout the season. "I love the format they have going. It makes everyone feel like they have a shot, whether you're riding a colt that's in the 3D or are a weekend warrior or riding a 1D horse, in the end everyone has a shot at that money. It's not just the horses that are six figures and running in the 1D all the time."

The points system also made the race come down to the wire.

"We kind of lucked out and were able to take her to this last one," said the dance instructor and professional barrel racer. "The points were really tight at the top and everyone was there. We were spaced out throughout the day, which kept people on their toes. Everyone was kind of watching. It came down to the very last ones. It was fun to meet everyone. It was really exciting."

Polonic got a later start to her points chase as Puff was coming off a yearlong layup from a fractured right hind cannon bone. She made a few runs on the 11-year-old daughter of Aint Seen Nothin Yet, out of Chad and Shannon Wade's RR Milk Bone Shorts mare Jumping Sugar, in March and April before missing the next few months at the breeding farm. It wasn't until August that Polonic knew about the Future Fortunes Open Bonus.

"My dad found out about it," she chuckled. "I don't know how because he's not on social media or anything. He said, 'Did you hear about this Future Fortunes deal, it's $60,000 and based on points? You're on the list, but you're kind of far down, but I think you should look into it.'"

"I had decided not to rodeo this year because we were too far behind and weren't going to make our circuit (rodeo) count. I was just going to concentrate on big barrel races, get her healthy and running good. It was a perfect opportunity for me to go to jackpots with good ground.

"We're really fortunate up here in the North in the summertime. We have a ton of added money races with Future Fortunes (bonuses), and that's what I focused on the rest of the year."

The switch from rodeo also allowed Polonic to enjoy her young horses and teaching dance.

"With rodeo you have to be gone all the time, and when you're home, you're gearing up to be gone again," she said. "It was nice to just settle down and enjoy my horses, ride my young horses at home and get back into teaching dance. There's so much incentive money and so many big jackpots and opens these days, you're not really missing out if you choose to stay closer to home. It was just what we needed. It was a refreshing year."

Polonic said she enjoys the Future Fortunes program because it's very affordable and has a wide range of stallions in the program.

"It's pennies and you get paid back," she said. "I've paid every horse I have into it. The extra $400-$500 you can win on a weekend can cover your entries at a jackpot. We easily make five figures, sometimes close to $10,000, with our Future Fortunes money. It's so worth it."

Reserve champions Shirey and Maui had an epic start to their points chase, setting an arena record at The Cash Grab in May. After the Virginia Barrel Classic, they collected another seven points to move to second in the national points standings. Another eight points at the Bucking Nightmare meant they were driving to Gifford to chase the championship.

"I was the second horse to run of the day," recalled Nina, a homeschooled seventh grader. "I was running to the first barrel and my breast collar broke. He kind of slipped behind third. I was proud of him for not being bugged by any of that!"

They needed just two points to take the championship, but as the day wore on, Nina and Maui held on to the very last spot to earn one point.

"It was a rollercoaster," said Nina's father Brad. "One minute we didn't think we had a chance and another we had a small chance. When it got down to 50 horses, no one else could outrun us or we were out. Right at the end, a gal tied with Nina, and we were calling and trying to look this horse up. Turns out he wasn't in Future Fortunes. It all worked out!"

Brad, a longtime futurity competitor before his daughters took over, said he was more nervous than his girls.

"We've been in a lot of finals—Sweepstakes, the BFA or Fort Smith—I think I was more nervous during this than all of them!" he said. "It's a heck of a deal. It really made it exciting."

The Shirey family purchased Maui from barrel racing legend John Read Foster of Scottsville, Kentucky. The Frenchmans Guy gelding, out of Gotta Go TaFame, by Dash Ta Fame, was bred by Mark Kendall. Nina and her father, Brad, did most of Maui's foundational training and multiple aged event champion Chris Coffey put the polish and seasoning on the gelding.

Patience, persistence and perspiration make an unbeatable combination for success.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Happy Thanksgiving dear friends! It goes without saying that our focus for Thanksgiving should be just that. Thanks. Giving. Oh, but we can get caught up in food prep, house prep, and mental prep!

You know, Uncle Mortimer Snerd is coming! (Names were changed to protect the guilty!). Though we all hope it will be great food and great fun, there are people who just rub us the wrong way. And we have to deal with them. None of us can choose our relatives.

This year, let's do something different...let's pretend that it is YOU AND I who are the problem. It never occurred to me that I may be the person that someone takes issue with until a week ago.

We encouraged the people at church to pray for 30 days for three people. One you love, one you struggle with and one you don't know. It has to be anonymous. I picked my three. The one I 'struggle' with was easy. For two days I tried praying that God would change them. On day three, God jerked the slack out of me, in love, that possibly I was the problem... I'm on day 14 now. Seems I'm praying more for me than them.

I'm thankful that God is changing me and growing me and helping me. So, if you have someone coming for dinner that has been a challenge, you have two days to pray and get ready. Don't dread them, pray for them. You may see something in them you've never seen before. Something positive, something good, something fun. And they may do the same for you.
