Langdon Lands AQHA World Championship

By Hope Sickler

Taylor Langdon didn't grow up running barrels. Instead, she grew up showing cutting horses and didn't start running barrels until the summer going into her junior year of high school. However once she started, she was hooked on the cloverleaf pattern. Now, almost a decade later, Langdon can add the very prestigious title of AQHA Senior World Champion Barrel Racer to her already very impressive resume.

Langdon rode Vegas Firefighter to the AQHA Senior Barrel Racing championship this past weekend at the Jim Norick Coliseum in Oklahoma City. The young, talented daughter of Ima Firefighter was given to Langdon as a Christmas present when the 6-year-old mare was just a weanling.

"Vegas is a very special mare and she knows it. She was given to me as a Christmas present and it turned out to be the best gift that I could've ever asked for," explained Langdon.

Langdon describes the buckskin mare as very personable horse with a ton of personality which makes her fun to be around.

"Everyone loves her and she knows it. She is a quirky little mare which keeps us on our toes but she loves her job and thrives in the rodeo atmosphere."

Langdon only went to one AQHA qualifying show and with just

The 2016 National Finals Rodeo is Just Around the Corner

When everyone sits down with family and friends to give thanks on Thursday, rodeo fans are thankful that the NFR kicks off December 1! Isn't this just the best time of year? Thanksgiving, NFR & Christmas all about the same time!

This year's group of 15 NFR barrel racers fought hard through the year down to the final days to make this year's edition. In fact it took a record breaking $79,068 just to make the NFR this year, that's $20k more than in 2015, and $9k more than the previous high in 2014.

This is the second year of the huge increase in prize money at the NFR. This year's NFR again has a total purse of $10 million compared to $6.375 million in 2014, so the NFR is going to be life changing for the contestants. In fact, last year, 5 barrel racers won over $100k at the NFR and 8 barrel racers won over $80k.

In the 2016 barrel racing each go round pays $26,231 for 1st (compared to $19,002 in 2014), $20,731 for 2nd, $15,654 for 3rd, $11,000 for 4th, $6,769 for 5th and $4,231 for 6th.

The 2016 Average pays out $67,269 for 1st (compared to $48,732 in 2014), $54,577 for 2nd, $43,154 for 3rd, $31,731 for 4th, $22,846 for 5th, $16,500 for 6th, $11,423 for 7th, $6,346 for 8th.

This year's bunch of NFR barrel racers has 6 first time qualifiers, along with several veterans. Sherry Cervi is making her 19th trip to the NFR and Mary Burger, who is the oldest barrel racer to qualify to the NFR, is making her 3rd trip. Sherry Cervi is also tied with Charymayne James for the Most All-Time NFR qualifications by a WPRA barrel racer!

There is an interesting mix of horses set to compete this year; from former futurity champions to old battle tested rodeo horses. This intriguing boiling pot of talent will surely lead to a heated battle for the 2016 world title.

Here are the first NFR Qualifier Q&A's with more to follow next week. We used some of the WPRA's excellent information to save the contestants from answering the same questions over again.

If you just can't get enough information about the NFR, the WPRA has a wealth of information at www.WPRA.com, just click on NFR 2016 in the upper left hand corner for on camera interviews and more.

World all-around race is wide open

High-stakes drama is waiting to unfold in Las Vegas for the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

The upcoming $10 million Wrangler National Finals Rodeo presented by Polaris RANGER - rodeo's Super Bowl - takes place Dec. 1-10 at the Thomas & Mack Center, beginning at 6:45 p.m. (PT) each night.

Cowboys will be competing for gold buckles in bareback riding, steer wrestling, team roping heading, team roping heeling, saddle bronc riding, tie-down roping, barrel racing, bull riding - and of course the battle for the prestigious all-around cowboy title. There are several tight races to watch at the Wrangler NFR with the chase for that all-around gold buckle leading the way.

Team roping heeler Junior Nogueira arrives in Las Vegas as the all-around leader with $122,342 in the WEATHER GUARD® PRCA World Standings. Nogueira and his team roping partner, header Kaleb Driggers, are also atop their respective standings.

"I want to do my job and rope really well, because these are the top ropers in the world, and the guys competing for the all-around are all very talented," Nogueira said. "Whoever has the best Finals will win the all-around title."

Nogueira is correct.

Steer wrestler Josh Peek ($116,603) and team roping header Dustin Bird ($109,694) round out the top three in the all-around standings, followed by team roping header Clay Smith ($104,809), team roping heeler Russell Cardoza ($100,233) - Bird's partner - steer wrestler Clayton Hass ($97,319), Caleb Smidt, the reigning tie-down roping world champion ($89,969) and tie-down roper Ryan Jarrett ($85,127).

Cardoza is the only one of the group who can't claim the gold buckle because he starts the rodeo $9,000 behind his partner, Bird. Peek's best career finish in the all-around standings was second in 2007 and 2009.

The all-around standings leader could easily change during the 10-round rodeo since first place in a round pays $26,231, and first place in the average pays $67,269.

Of the contenders for the all-around gold buckle who will be at the 2016 WNFR, only Jarrett has won the title in the past (2005).

New Barrel Stallion Incentive

Jane Moede, founder of Cowboy State Productions, the new producer of the Red Desert Classic that is held each year in Rock Springs, Wyoming is excited to announce the changes and additions to the RDC and the Cowboy State Stallion Incentive, previously known as the Red Desert Classic Stallion Incentive. Ms. Moede was raised in Wyoming and has always had a passion for marketing, business, horses, especially barrel racing and brings a natural entrepreneur mentality, industry knowledge, education and a great team to aid in this program's growth and success.

The stallion incentive program was completely revised with the takeover. The incentive is now not only being offered to stallion owners and eligible progeny at the Red Desert Classic, June 1-3, 2017 (date change) but also at the other two major barrel futurities in Wyoming; Kohr Quarter Horses Futurity and the Fizz Bomb Classic. "Our mission is to support and promote all major Wyoming Futurities and bring more barrel racing to Wyoming, the Cowboy State. Lynn (Kohr) and Stacey (Thar) have been more than helpful with this expansion and I am looking forward to working with them both," she says. This incentive program will increase the earning power and value of eligible progeny and in turn encourage stallion owners to get involved from around the United States and Canada. In conjunction with the CSSI they are also introducing the Cowboy State Triple Crown which will start with the Kohr Quarter Horses Futurity in May and finish with the Fizz Bomb Classic in September. Eligible progeny in the futurity and derby will be required to compete at all three races in order to qualify for the Triple Crown.

They also added the optional stallion service auction, where stallion owners can donate a breeding/service to be auctioned off, instead of just paying the nomination fee. This auction will take place online at www.reddesertfuturity.com December 19, 2016 - January 30, 2017, a full 6 weeks long. Stallion owners can still nominate their stallion even if they do not want to donate a breeding by paying the nomination fee which is half of the 2017 stud fee (min $400 and max $1,000). With that, they increased the payout to stallion owners at the three races to a total of 30% of all money raised and in turn, giving stallion owners a chance to play!

Jane wanted to specify that "We are different than other programs because all of the money raised stays exclusively in the incentive program by being distributed throughout the futurity and derby at those events to eligible progeny only," and added that, "We do not want stallion owners to be paying the added money in the other events because I do not think that is the point of having a stallion incentive. I think the goal is to give back to stallion owners and those eligible progeny and aid in building and growing their breeding programs."

If you are interested in enrolling your stallion in the Cowboy State Stallion Incentive, which is open to stallion in the United States and Canada, please don't hesitate to contact Jane directly at (307) 760-0789 or reddesertfuturity@gmail.com. Please note that the deadline to enroll in the auction is December 5, 2016.

Embrace the Struggle arrives at ProRodeo Hall of Fame

A 38-piece exhibit of sculptures by the noted Western artist Chris Navarro has opened at the ProRodeo Hall of Fame, featuring maquettes of some of Navarro's most iconic pieces. Embrace the Struggle will remain in the PRHOF's 101 Gallery through Feb. 19, 2017.

A former bull and saddle bronc rider who still team ropes, Navarro's work often pays tribute to the Western world, including the 15-foot bronze of World Champion Bull Rider Lane Frost at Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Park, the 15-foot sculpture of a saddle bronc rider (entitled When Champions Meet) at the Greeley (Colo.) Independence Stampede grounds, and a 16-foot depiction of the famous bucking horse Steamboat for the University of Wyoming. Navarro recently finished sculpting a life-size T-Rex for the Tate Museum in Casper Wyo. That, and other pieces of his art, can be seen at www.chrisnavarro.com.

one run, she was qualified to the World Show.

"I went to qualifier in Glen Rose, Texas and was fortunate to win it and get her qualified right there," Langdon explained.

Although Langdon has won reserve champion three times in the past aboard another one of her horses, BB Frenchgirl, this was her first World Championship win.

"It feels amazing to have gotten this win. I have been blessed in the past to have won reserve three times on Frenchy, so to actually win the World Championship was incredible. It was also very memorable for me to have won it on Vegas, since we have had her since she was a weanling."

In their first run at the World Show, Langdon and Vegas ran a 16.102 to win the round.

"I was so proud of her since we had come off a long hard year of rodeoing. She had gotten a much deserved break and never missed a beat. I could not fault her one step."

Going into the finals, Langdon knew that she needed to make her best run because the competition was fierce and everyone was going to bring their A-game.

"I knew that if I were to do my job, she would give me her all. I just focused on being smooth and clean and she took care of the rest. We ran a 16.104 and won the finals," said Langdon.

Langdon explained that she enjoyed every moment of the World Show and loved the opportunity to run at such a prestigious title against such tough company.

"The World Show was very well ran and I thought the ground was great and everyone was so kind and uplifting. It is so nice to be around such kind people. I think my favorite part about the experience was watching Vegas after we received our trophy. She was so intrigued by it; almost as if she knew she had won it. She was very proud!"

Oen Making Dreams a Reality

By Hope Sickler

Pete Oen is one of the leading barrel horse futurity trainers of our time and he credits his success to never giving up and believing that anything is possible if you put your mind to it. With that mind frame, it is no surprise that he was crowned the AQHA Junior Barrel Racing Champion this past weekend at the AQHA World Show in Oklahoma City.

Oen rode Shoppa Ranches Holdinalltheseises to the championship, a 4-year-old gelding by the infamous Tres Seis and out of Bountiful Bootie by Spanish Boot.

Oen found his way to the driver's seat of the talented gelding after longtime friend Ryann Pedone offered him the opportunity to take the gelding and sell.

"Ryann called me and asked if I would be interested in taking "Rolex" in on consignment because she just wasn't getting along with him. I told her I would be happy to help and after about a week of getting to know the horse, I called Ryann and told her that I genuinely liked him and thought that I could get along with him," explained Oen.

After that, instead of taking the horse in to sell, Oen started riding the horse for the Shoppa Ranch and the rest, as they say, is history. Oen went on to place at some of the top futurities on "Rolex" and was crowned the Josey Reunion Champion this spring on him.

“When I got him last fall, nothing ever went backwards with him. He just kept getting better and better. I have had success on him from a small tiny arena to a wide open arena, it truly doesn’t matter.”

Going into the AQHA World Show, Oen’s plan was to make a smooth, clean runs on his horses so that he could get back for the finals.

“I won the pre-lims on my other horse “Blondy” and ended up 4th on “Rolex”. Both horses worked great and I was excited to have made both of them back to the finals,” Oen said.

Coming back to the finals, Oen drew 11th and 15th, both in the last drag; he knew it was going to be a challenge but didn’t let the pressure phase him.

“I had a lot of people asking me how I was going to get it done and I told them I was just happy that I made it back on both of them, that I was going to make the best that I could out of it and roll with the tide.”

After Oen made his run on “Blondy”, he quickly switched the bridle over to “Rolex”, switched his reins and then, hoped for the best.

“I didn’t really have a whole lot of time to even think about being that close together. When I was headed down the alley to make my run on “Rolex”, my game plan was to run straighter to the first barrel then I had in the pre-lims. “Rolex” is the type of horse where you can roll to the first barrel as fast as you can and know that he was going to drop the anchor and melt around the barrel.”

When Oen blazed the brown gelding through the eye, the clock read 16.284-seconds and his fate was sealed. He let the talented gelding do what he does best and outran the other 14 horses in the finals to seal the deal.

“I was ecstatic. I knew that he could get it done and I just went for it. I couldn’t be more proud of him and I also couldn’t be more thankful for the people that believed in me and my training to allow me to ride this talented athlete. It was definitely a ride I will never forget,” Oen concluded.

1050 lbs, LTE $1.6 million

WPRA: 2016 Highlights

Cervi: Becoming the first WPRA member to cross the $3 million mark in career earnings and doing it in Houston aboard Stingray. Second highlight was finishing second in Cheyenne.

WPRA: Describe your 2016 season.

Cervi: Slow start, then spent a month in Wisconsin which was really fun and good. Summer was busy as I had a lot of catching up to do and I rode Arson. He came through and I am thankful I got to ride him for the year and he got me to the finals.

BRR: Favorite Motivational Quote.

Cervi: I love quotes so it is hard to pick just one but this is still one of my favorites- "Go the extra mile; it's never crowded."

WPRA: Describe your horse's style.

Cervi: Stingray has obviously done very well there. Last year, Arson and I turned in the fastest time of the 2015 NFR in the final round so hoping to duplicate that again. I have great confidence in all my horses in that pen.

BRR: Music on your iphone/ipod?

Cervi: I listen to a lot of hip-hop, and listen to lots of different music, when Corey is in the truck he likes to listen to old country so then we listen to old country but that about the only country music I like.

BRR: Favorite bit?

Cervi: My two go to bits are the Sherry Cervi Classic Equine long shank three piece and a Paul Petska chain gag bit.

BRR: What Celebrity would your horse be?

Cervi: Dash Ta Diamonds would be Conor McGregor (UFC Champion). He's very confident and can back it up!

Are YOU Prepared To Win?

by Ty Hillman
PrepareToWin.tv

Why don't the best athletes always win? How can someone compete at the best of their ability all day and then fall apart moments before they clench the victory? Why do some people execute the fundamentals flawlessly when practicing, but are unable to execute during the game or competition? These are questions that have fascinated me for several years, as a competitor myself, as well as a coach. I have studied continuously to gain a better understanding of all the factors that effect human performance and to answer the questions posed above.

Obviously, there are numerous factors that affect our behavior and performance, but according to a study done by Professor of Psychology, C.R. Snyder, the author of "The Psychology of Hope", there are two major predictors of success in any endeavor. After analyzing numerous variables including personality, physical traits, attitude, and IQ, Snyder concluded that goal orientation and mental toughness were the two most important predictors of success. If individuals have a clear focus of what they want to achieve and they have adopted the attitude that nothing will stop them from achieving it, Snyder concluded that those people have the greatest probability to be successful.

By now, most people know how to set "SMART" goals; specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, and time bound (goals accomplished by a specific time). If your goal lacks in any one of these areas, it will be difficult to achieve or to know if you have achieved it.

Assuming everyone has a clear vision of what they want to accomplish and has set "SMART" goals, let's move on to one of my favorite topics; mental toughness.

Mental toughness is synonymous with emotional mastery. Mentally tough individuals control their emotions, think disciplined thoughts under pressure, are emotionally resilient after a setback, and can control their state of mind on command. These are the people who compete ferociously when all of the chips are down. They do not back away when the stakes are high, but instead, they attack as if they couldn't lose. They bounce back after a disappointing loss. They do not waste any time worrying about the past, but rather learn from it so they can improve their game. They relax and let their talent out on game day rather than being tense, anxious, and nervous. They love pressure because it is an opportunity for them to see how good they can be. Most importantly, they have the confidence that they can do anything, not because they have done it before, but because they know they are capable.

Mental toughness has to be developed as it is not a trait we pick up at birth. Much like a building a muscle, building mental toughness, takes intentional focus and practice. In future articles, I will be discussing many aspects of mental toughness, as well as, providing steps to help readers condition themselves to become stronger mentally. My goal for readers to become tougher is not only so they can compete to the best of their ability, but to also take what they learn into every part of their life. There is no doubt that someone who can control their emotions and state of mind regardless of the circumstances surrounding them make better spouses, parents, children, employees, leaders, competitors, team mates and the list goes on and on. I look forward to meeting with you again soon.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

HAPPY THANKSGIVING! We, at Mike Morrison Ministries, would love to meet those of you who read this article! We are thankful because we know it is God you are seeking/serving. That makes us brothers and sisters in the Lord and we consider ourselves in VERY good company. It makes us family, all different, all wonderful, all with unique gifts. But most of all, if you have asked Him to be, that Jesus is Lord in our lives. And when He is Lord, we know that heaven is our home and we will never experience hell, because He already did that for us. SO.....MUCH.....TO.....BE.....THANKFUL.....FOR!

Ps. 107:1-2 "O give thanks to the Lord, for He is good! For His mercy endures forever."

I Cor. 15:57 "But thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

I Thess. 5:18 "In everything give thanks, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you."
