Hitting The Bullseye – Janna Brown & SH Ima Bullionaire Top OKC Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

Veteran trainer Janna Brown hit the bullseye in the OKC Slot Race with a victorious 15.636 aboard SR Ima Bullionaire, affectionately known as “Timmie”—as in Tiny Tim.

“He’s a little bitty package of dynamite!” said Brown, who accepted a check for $95,000 which she split with slot owner Ryann Pedone.

Brown had purchased Timmie as a yearling in the spring of 2021 after she lost her favorite futurity horse for the year Mae B So, by Bullseye Bullion.

“She’s the reason I bought Timmie,” said Brown. “She was the first one that I rode. I ran her at the (BFA) slot race and just loved her. She was really easy to train. They’re good minded and have really good bone. You can just give them a job and they take it pretty well.”

Brown lost the mare that January to cancer.

“I was just scrolling through Facebook and saw that he was by Bullseye Bullion,” recalled Brown. “That caught my eye because I had just put that mare to sleep. I looked at the videos and pondered on it for a couple of weeks. I thought if I don’t do something, someone is going to buy that horse. I never got a chance to go look at him, but just decided I was going to buy him.

When her friend delivered the gelding, out of Shantell Hayes’ mare Last Honor Ta Fame, by Una Frio Cerveza, Brown was shocked at how small he was.

“I was like, ‘Oh my gosh! He’s tiny!’ I still loved him. He was adorable to look at,” she said.

Due to his diminutive size and the fact that he belonged to her and not a client, Timmie wasn’t sent to colt starter Brice Manning until he was 3. Once he was home, Timmie made a barrel horse in spite of simmering on the back burner since client horses got Brown’s full attention.

“Mine—they might get ridden twice a week if they’re lucky, might go for two months and not get ridden,” she said. “Every time I rode him, he just got a little better and a little better. I kept telling my husband—‘This horse isn’t very big, but he’s really fast, really, really fast.’”

In September, Timmie topped a futurity showcase—a set of exhibitions set up like a barrel race for aspiring futurity horses. Brown was so proud of his run that she posted his video on Facebook in spite of the chance of jinxing herself or the colt.

“I thought, ‘Man, I wish he was a 3-year-old so I could put him in a Slot (Race),’” she recalled. “I just blew it off because they’ve never let 4-year-olds in that slot before this year. It was no big deal. I was just going to enter him in the Rookie and go with it.”

After the Ruby Buckle in Memphis, Tennessee, she crossed paths with fellow trainer Ryann Pedone, who asked if Timmie was entered in any slot races. Brown told her that he had not since he was 4-year-old, coming 5. Pedone told her that the Slot was Open to 4-year-olds this year and she had a slot available but didn’t have a horse for it.

Brown was going to visit with her husband Jody about it before agreeing. Once Pedone told her that she didn’t want to sell the slot and would just let her have it for half of what she might win, Brown accepted.

“I didn’t have to pay any entry fee,” Brown recalled. “There was no risk in it, so I said, ‘Ok, I’ll do it.’ We agreed that I’d take her slot, pay no money and whatever he won, we’d split. “I’m not really a big gambler. I like to go win big money, but I’m not really good at gambling with money of my own.”

The week before the Slot Race, Brown got one run in on Timmie at a 300-head jackpot in Marshall, Texas. He was fourth in the 2D on his first competitive run through the gate. Her goal at OKC was to make nice runs and keep Timmie solid.

“I didn’t go there trying to win first,” said Brown. “I’ve entered Slots with my own money, thinking I can win that thing, and then I go there, and they fall completely apart. I’ve learned over the years to train your horse and just go there and try to run barrels. That’s all you can do well.”

It also helped knowing that she didn’t have her own $5,000 on the line for the run—although after the win her husband Jody wished she had.

“It was less pressure because I didn’t have anything invested but my time,” she said. “I would have never known if (Ryann) hadn’t said anything, and I still have $47,500 more than I started with, so I’m not going to complain!”

Timmie finished a few spots out of the aggregate in the Rookie Futurity with two 15.9s.

“I was 35th and they paid 30,” Brown said. “My second barrel was really ugly both runs. It wasn’t even perfect in the Slot Race. He would turn the first so good that he would beat himself across the pen. He learned to run, of course, at Oklahoma City. He’s really fast, like super-fast. I always thought he was quick, but I didn’t realize he was that fast! He made really bad mistakes in the two Rookie rounds and still clocked .9s.”

Brown’s not too worried about Timmie’s mistakes.

“I will say this, he hammered the first barrel. He turned the first barrel perfect every time. He handled that fine, but he would turn it and haul butt across the pen and then he got a little scattered.

“I need a little different approach to the second, maybe a little different head gear, and just teach him to throttle back a little better. I’m not too worried about it. He’ll be fine. I was actually impressed he ran .9s because they were ugly second barrels. We lost a lot of time. What I did learn there is, if he makes a bobble he doesn’t quit. He’s got enough gas.”

Brown, who has more than $2 million in EquiStat earnings, said she plans on focusing on the incentive races with Timmie.

“I might pick a couple to go to a month, but I want to focus on the bigger money,” she said. “I don’t like to overrun my futurity (horses), especially if they’re trying to make the right runs.”

The philosophy has served her horses well. She had two of her program graduates qualify riders to the National Finals Rodeo with Jets Top Gun (“Benny”) helping Brittany Tonozzi to a practically insurmountable lead and Fame Fire Rocks (“Poppy”) earning AQHA Horse of the Year honors for Taycie Matthews before being sidelined due to a late season injury. Both horses won more than $100,000 on the rodeo circuit prior to the NFR.

Crowning The King – Marne Loosenort & Kingor Top OKC Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Multiple futurity champion Marne Loosenort has a good history in the Jim Norick Coliseum at the Oklahoma State Fair Park in Oklahoma City. She's won the $100,000 Super Stakes and the Barrel Futurities of America's World Championship Derby in the historic arena.

This year, she topped $50,000-added OKC Futurity with the 5-year-old gelding Kingor, that she co-owns with longtime client and dear friend Danny Kingins.

"I'm super tickled that I ended the year on a good note with him," said Loosenort, one of the all-time leading aged event riders with more than $2 million in career earnings. The victory was worth $30,565. "He's had a lot of little issues. Hopefully, I've got him through them and he's finally running good."

Bred in New Mexico by Jose Espinosa, Kingor is by 1.7 million dollar barrel horse sire First Moonflash out of Final Form, by Rare Form, broodmare sire of multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier and Horse of the Year High Valor. Final Form is a half-sister to Holland Ease—sire of Corona Cartel, noted barrel horse sire Brisco County Jr, and Las Alamitos, dam of Old Fort Days Futurity Champion Red Carpet Zoom.

Fellow barrel racer Derek Hixon purchased Kingor for $7,500 at the 2020 Fall Mixed Sale at Heritage Place in El Reno, Oklahoma, and brought him home to Kenny Kingins.

"They brought him to me to get started on barrels," Loosenort explained. "I rode him for Danny's cousin Kenny for a couple of months, and he got EPM pretty bad. We had to turn him out and treat him with Marquis for five or six months. The second time he brought him back, Danny and I decided we had to have him. I wanted to buy him the first time, but the EPM concerned me. We really liked him.”

Loosenort was impressed by Kingor’s ability to clock early on in his training.

“He’s a lot on the lazy side, but he’s really quick footed and pretty willing to do his job,” she said. “I put him on the clock a few times locally and he just surprised me with how well he could clock with no more than what he was doing. Some of those horses are deceiving and just have the ability to clock. He’s got a big stride to him and he’s really smooth.”

The EPM-forced training delay made Loosenort hold the gelding until his fifth year. He started his career at the first of the year futurities in Buckeye, Arizona.

“He did pretty decent,” Loosenort recalled. “We didn’t win a bunch on him. He was a little green on the (WPRA) standard pattern out there.”

In February, Kingor had another setback when surgery was required to remove a chip in his ankle. He made his return to the arena at the Old Fort Days Derby, where he tipped a barrel to make the Finals.

“In the summertime, he was hit or miss,” Loosenort said. “He’d run a good time, or he wouldn’t. We took him to the Texas Show-down in Texarkana this fall, and I won second in the futurity on him there, and he won about $10,000. When I don’t get in his way, he really does good.”

During the week, Loosenort focuses more on keeping the gelding soft in the bridle than working the barrels.

“You have to keep him bridled up during the week,” she said. “I ride him in some martingales and put draw reins on him because just doing it free-handed, he is brace. It took him a while to learn to face up, break at the poll and learn his laterals, counter arcs. I’ve had to do quite a bit of that to keep his shoulders picked up. He does need quite a bit of that. The good thing about him is you can do that, and it actually shows up in the arena. I’ve had horses that you work on constantly and when you take all that off of them, they still don’t give in.”

At OKC, Loosenort and Kingor won the opening round with a 15.307, which was the second fastest qualifying time. They sat out the second round and came back with the fastest time in the Finals, a 15.251, to win the two-run aggregate.

“Basically, if you get the first barrel on him, he’s usually pretty easy,” she said. “He’ll get by the first barrel with me sometimes. He had a nice first and second. I didn’t have a very good third in the round or the Finals, but he’s really fast and that helped make it up. He’s a pretty easy horse to ride. I probably make him look harder than he is. He’s pretty honest and easy. He needs me to stay out of his way and I’ve really struggled with that this year.”

The multiple Great Lakes Circuit Finals qualifier said Kingor will be pointed toward this next year’s derbies and will get his introduction to rodeo, most likely amateur ones as the pro rodeos require long hauls away from the successful training business she and her farrier husband Bob operate in Hazel, Kentucky.

“We enjoy hauling the young horses and we’re going to do it as long as we have the horses to do it with,” she said. “We got home at 2 o’clock this morning (from Oklahoma City), and we’re back at it again, riding. We’ve done this for so many years, it’s just a part of life. I can’t imagine doing anything different. People always ask me when I’m going to retire, and I always say probably when I physically can’t do it anymore. I do love it.”

Good Things Comin For Brandon Cullins at OKC Rookie Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Brandon Cullins has won more than $1.5 million in his barrel racing career and a large chunk of that change has come from the Jim Norick Coliseum at the Oklahoma State Fair Park in Oklahoma City. He added another $17,786 to that total with a victory in the $35,000-added Rookie at the OKC Futurity, held December 5-10, aboard the talented 3-year-old stallion Good Things Comin (“Nahko”).

“I love Oklahoma City,” said Cullins. “That building has been nothing but good to me. It took me a while to get it figured out but it’s my favorite place to go. They also put on a great show. They go above and beyond to make sure everything is as good as possible. I just love that futurity.”

He’s also won a lot on Nahko’s half-siblings there with two BFA World Championship Derby titles on VQ Sucker Punch (“Rocco”) and a BFA Futurity Championship on Folsom Prisoner. Nahko, by The Goodbye Lane, is out of the great producing mare Honor This Nonstop, by Mr Honor Bound.

Cullins purchased Nahko as an unborn foal from his breeder Jeff Varner. When he was born a colt, Cullins made the decision to keep him intact as a potential stallion prospect.

“I’ve been cautiously optimistic for four years, maybe even more, ever since I had that recip mare,” he said. “When he was born a stud, I thought about maybe leaving him a stud, it was scary to think about the big picture. I just wanted him to be a good horse first.”

The colt spent two months with Roger Daly before Cullins undertook his barrel training. Other than a small spell where the colt got to acting too much like a stallion, Nahko was easy to train and was his pick for the BFA Super Stakes.

Although they failed to draw a check on their first competitive pass through the gate—Cullins surmised he had him over-bridled, which Kelly Conrado later confirmed—they placed 7th in the BFA Juvenile and won two Future Fortunes Bonus checks for earnings $11,784.

“Kelly Conrado was watching him at the BFA,” Cullins said. “I was running him in an Ed Wright medium shank in the (Super Stakes). He kind of tucked his chin and his shoulders got a little tight. Kelly just texted me and said, ‘I think you should try that horse in a ring bit.’ I don’t run in a ring bit a ton, but I trust Kelly so I’m doing it. I didn’t have one with me, so I just used a Clover (leaf bit) and hooked (the reins) high. He ran two .7s. When I got back (home), I put the ring big on him and I think that really helped me get out of his way. I think that’s what really helped him change.”

At Oklahoma City, Nahko was one out of the money with his first run of 15.775.

“The first go, he was just smooth and easy,” Cullins said. “I picked up a little early on him at the second—just a ‘hey, make sure you see this,' and he started his turn a little early, which kicked us out into a big pocket going to the third. He could have cut me off, or bailed out there, but he found it and pulled his way through. That's one thing that I appreciate, a horse that will let you make a mistake and still find a way to get in there."

On their day off between runs, Cullins and his fiancé Emily Efurud had help from their friends Ceri Ward and Cayla Small getting all their horses rode before going out to dinner. Ward, who was riding Nahko, said she felt the stallion could do a better job of turning to the left.

"We all ride together a good bit, trade horses sometimes, to let the other one see what the other is feeling," Cullins explained. "She was saying to the left, he needs his ribs to come a little bit more. She rode him around a little bit and then I jumped on him and I could feel what she was talking about."

When Cullins warmed Nahko up for his second run rather than working on driving the colt through the turns, he let him come to a point and come through himself, like on the back side of a barrel. The tweak paid off handsomely with a 15.271 in the second round.

"I was thinking in my mind, my fantasy mind, that he could run a .4 or a .5," he chuckled. "I was thinking that would be really awesome, but I would have been happy with another .7 or .6. He ran in there like he knew what he was doing. He's so light and easy. I just try to stay out of his way. He had a really good first. His second, I almost picked up on him a little bit early again, but he was still quicker. When he left, he kind of left almost the way he did the first round, but we had a little bit straighter line to the third. His third, he was in and out really quick.

"That horse is just so fast. That was the closest I've ever come to fist pumping. I was just half shocked that he ran that!"

Nahko's career earnings are now $29,570 from just two futurities. "I've been cautiously optimistic about him for a while because I really just liked him and enjoyed him. In my mind, he's the kind you

SIBLING SIMILARITIES

Multiple aged event champion Brandon Cullins of Dublin, Texas, has had great success with the talented daughter of The Goodbye Lane, MJ Segers Fast Lane, as well as the talented offspring of the great mare aged event and NFR producing mare Honor This Nonstop, by Mr Honor Bound. Now he has a combination of those bloodlines in his OKC Rookie Futurity Champion Good Things Comin ("Nahko").

Like Seger, Nahko has that extreme speed.

"I feel like he can absolutely fly. He's got a huge motor. That's why I'm scared to ask him too much because I don't want him to know what's all there yet!

"He's different from Seger in that he has a little more pull and she's a little more hind end. Both of them are super smooth in their turns."

VQ Sucker Punch, by Dash Ta Fame, out of Honor This Nonstop, had that same front end pull.

"He reminds me a lot of Rocco," Cullins said. "They're super willing and have super soft faces. They're so light. Their style — they really want to change directions fast. They're so trainable. The first time I ever stepped on Rocco, and I touched the reins, I said, 'I've never felt that before and I'm pretty sure that's right.' That's how this colt is. I think they get that from the mother. They just want to do it."

want but until you go, you never know. We still really don't know. He still needs to finish the year and be a good one.

"Now that I know he's capable, I just want to keep doing what's best for him so he can show off what he is. I really think he's kind of special."

NOTES: A R Dash Ta Flame & Sissy Winn ran a quick 13.71 to win the 1st Round of the NFR and get their hands on a record $30,706 check for their round win. Her win jumped her from #11 to #6 in the World. Jets Top Gun & #1 in the World Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi made their presence known running a 13.75 to win second and add to their astounding 2023 total. That pushed Tonozzi over the $300k mark to $304,831 on the year. The All Time Leading Earning Barrel Racer Kassie Mowry rode her giant grey to a third place win that pushed her from #6 in the World to #4. The #2 Cowgirl in the World, Jordon Briggs placed as well to keep herself in the mix. The 1st Performance was moved from Thursday to Friday due to the tragic shooting on the UNLV campus where the NFR is held. The ground was loose and a little deep (leading to more tipped barrel; 7 barrel racers tipped) but was safe from top to bottom. Round winner Winn was #11 on the ground.

NOTES: Sand In My Socks & Stevi Hillman ran a very quick 13.62 to win the round. The experience that Hillman & Sand In My Socks had at the 2022 NFR served them well as the super quick footed fast sorrel got the Round win. Hillman was 10th on the ground. Kosel & Firewaterfrenchfame showed everyone that hadn't been watching the rodeos closely why they qualified to the 2023 NFR; winning 2nd in the round just a mere hundredth behind Hillman. In 3rd place in Round 2; it looks like Promise Me Fame Guys & Lisa Lockhart are back to the form that won them $168k at the 2022 NFR running just 5 hundredths back of Hillman. Emily Beisel switched to her young superstar Ivory On Fire from Namgis D 33 who she rode in Round 1 and placed 4th on the night. Routier & Fiery Miss West showed they are in prime form winning a check in both the first two round & Tonozzi is just marching forward towards records gathering up more checks. The ground was good all the way through, so good that every barrel racer ran in the 13s.

Round 3

NOTES: Promise Me Fame Guys & Lisa Lockhart are back to prime form at the NFR; they took the top of the ground ran a 13.51 to capture Round 3. The win pushed Lockhart to the #2 spot in the world. Still a $130k behind Tonozzi but with the NFR payouts ($30k per Round Win & $78k to win average) they are within striking distance. Mowry smoked a 13.56 to capture second. Her giant grey (he's close to 17 hands!) is loving the Thomas & Mack in 2023. Sue Smith & her homegrown & trained superstar Diamond Center had a great run to end up 3rd in the round running a 13.66. Tonozzi & Jets Top Gun just kept getting checks winning 4th with Routier & Fiery Miss West right behind them. Both teams had won checks in all 3 rounds so far. Tonozzi is now only about $26k away from setting the year end earnings record just 3 Rounds into the NFR! The ground was again great with 14 people running 13s. Tonozzi leads the average & 7 people have clean runs through 3 Rounds.

NOTES: A R Dash Ta Flame & Sissy Winn smoked a 13.50 to run the fastest time of the NFR so far while winning Round 4. The pair also won Round 1. That puts Winn's NFR earnings already at $71,413 through 4 rounds! Tonozzi & Jets Top Gun blasted through the Thomas & Mack to win 2nd with a quick 13.52. That win put Tonozzi in the $1 Million NFR Earner status. The only other barrel racers to earn a $1 Million at the NFR are Sherry Cervi, Lisa Lockhart & Hailey Kinsel. Tonozzi is also only $2,285 from breaking Hailey Kinsel's 2018 season earnings record of $350,700! Tonozzi has already earned $77,851 at the 2023 NFR. 2021 World Champions Famous Lil Jet & Jordon Briggs put on the afterburners and ran a 13.53, just a hundredth behind Tonozzi to keep themselves in world title contention. They sit #4 just $4k behind #2 Lisa Lockhart in the world standings. Ivory On Fire proved just how fast she is for Emily Beisel, running a 13.64 and picking up a 4th place check. This mare has been on fire from the beginning of September on! Fiery Miss West & Jessica Routier kept getting checks. Routier & Tonozzi are the only 2 barrel racers to pick up checks in all the first 4 rounds. Promise Me Fame Guys & Lisa Lockhart won another check which put Lockhart just $15,837 from becoming the All-Time WPRC Career Earnings Leader. Sherry Cervi has $3,388,790 and Lockhart sits at $3,372,954 (info from Ann Bleiker, WPRC Release). Tonozzi also leads the average after 4 round with a 54.69.

NOTES: Firewaterfrenchfame & Summer Kosel used the top of the ground to run the fastest time of the NFR, a 13.42, on their way to the Round 5 win. It is this team's first NFR Round win at their first NFR. For anyone watching the rodeos through the summer, it was no surprise to see this team at the top. Jets Top Gun & Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi cruised to a 13.58 which landed them 2nd in the Round and pushed Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi to an new All Time Season Earnings Record of $372,683 for 2023! This is the only pair to place in all 5 rounds already and they have already earned $102,119 at the NFR alone. A R Dash Ta Flame & Sissy Winn continued to run fast times. Running a 13.59 to capture third and push their 2023 NFR earnings to just a shade under $90! Jones, Briggs, & Beisel all ran fast, clean runs of 13.60 to split 4th in a very tough round of barrel racing. 1st-6th checks were separated by only .18 of a second!

The barrel race consisted of one long go, over four days during which each horse had the option to make 2 runs. Contestants made their first run in Section 1 which took place Wednesday and Thursday, and their second run in Section 2 which took place Friday and Saturday. Each day offered a 10am perf and 2pm perf so that contestants competing elsewhere in Las Vegas were able to make both events without any run time conflicts.

The Grand Finale consisted of Pre-Qualified Fast Pass recipients (those who won a D at one of the Patriot 2023 season qualifiers), Invitees (those who earned money in any division of the open competition at a season qualifier) and Buy In contestants (open to the world). Fast Pass and Invitee participants were able to take advantage of a $1500 entry fee, while Buy In contestants paid a $2000 entry fee.

A total of 168 of the 216 entries made the cut from the 4 days of long go competition to advance into the Sunday Grand Finale.

Wells & Blazin Ta Betty Win $20K at All In

One of the many big money events happening in Las Vegas during the NFR is the All In Barrel Race. Winning the Showdown of Race 1 paid out a whopping $20k so we caught up with the winner Kylie Wells to talk to her about her win and her cool barrel horse, Blazin Ta Betty. Blazin Ta Betty is the younger full sister to Famous Lil Jet who carried Jordan Briggs to the 2021 World Championship and is currently running down the alley at the 2023 NFR down the street from the All In Barrel Race. Wells & Blazin Ta Betty won a total of $21,560 at the All In Barrel Race 1. The All In Barrel Race runs Race 2 this coming weekend December 14-17. Here is the Q & A from Kylie Wells on her big win....

BRR: Can you walk us through your winning Showdown run at the All In Race 1 in Las Vegas?

Wells: I honestly didn't think we could win it. I knew if we kept the barrels up we could get a check. I just went in thinking I had to do everything in my power to get her by the barrels. I sent her in the pen pretty hard to first. She's the type of horse, the harder you send her, the harder she tries. In the 1st round, we knocked the 2nd, so I tried to ride her to the fence in the Showdown round. She spun that sucker so fast, I'm just as surprised as everyone else when I was still in the buggy on my way to the third. At that point, I knew I had to get her to her spot and we'd be golden. Everyone has asked me how I stayed on, and my response is that I have my Dad as a guardian angel who held me in the saddle.

BRR: What is it like running at the All In Race while the NFR and all the other stuff going on in Las Vegas right now?

THE RUNDOWN w/Kylie Wells

Blazin Ta Betty, "Sasha" owned by McCoLee Land and Livestock
Right about 15 hands, probably 1,000 lbs.

BIT: smooth oring snaffle with split reins

SADDLE: Martin Stingray

SADDLE PAD: SaddleRight

LEG GEAR: Josh Andrews Dura Boots and Rubber bells with regular bell boots underneath

SHOEING: she's shod all around, by our farrier, Nate Pace

FEED: Purina 200

HAY: Alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: HorseLogic Joint 6 in 1, Omega Fields Shine, & Neutrabac pH by Equi-Boss during any times of stress. Pre-run she gets Breathe 02 and Gastro-Plex paste by MVP.

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Sasha loves her muscle scraping from PE Cryo, and the cold salt spa at the ranch CONDITIONING/TRAINING: I ride or swim her 4-6 days week. I work on keeping her soft and supple, freed up, and moving forward.

SPONSORS: McCoLee Land and Livestock, The Air Conditioned Shirt, Black Mountain Drilling, and Barrel Racing Babes

THANKS: Keith Nellesen and Lance Robinson with McCoLee Land and Livestock for allowing me to jockey such an incredible mare, AJ Schnoes, my fiance, for always supporting and believing in me, and all my friends and family who cheer me on from afar.

Rider: Kylie Wells; Owner: McCoLee Land & Livestock; Breeder: Busby Quarter Horses

Wells: It really is one of the coolest races you can go to. If your runs are spaced right, you can still have the NFR Vegas experience while also getting to do what you love. It's like taking a vacation, but your horses get to go with you. A lot of my friends and family from across the country are usually in the town for NFR, so I get to see all of them as well.

BRR: Can you share with us about your mare; where your mare came from and her career up to now?

Wells: So, I have a cool little story behind getting her. The summer of 2023, I was hurt, so I hopped in the truck with Jimmie Smith to help her drive on her summer run. We got to talking about the different horses we have been watching and following and I made a comment that I'd love to have that Blazin Ta Betty that my good friend Kelsey Trehame trained and had been doing well on in the futurities. Long story short, Jimmie mentioned it to my boss Keith Nellesen (President of McCoLee Land and Livestock), and low and behold, she ended up in my string. I can't recall all of her accomplishments under Kelsey, but I do know that she won the long go of the Ft Smith Futurity on her as a 4yr old. She has won me a handful of WPRA rodeo checks, and qualified me for the Rocky Mountain Pro Rodeo Association Finals this year.

BRR: What are a few things you did with her to have her at her best for the All In Barrel Race?

Wells: She's not typically an indoor horse. She excels outside. But, that's all I have to run during the winter, so I made it my mission to try to get us better inside. I took her to local indoor jackpots that I normally wouldn't. She's better the more runs she makes. So I just tried to haul her and have her dialed in, ready to fire.

BRR: Can you tell us a little about how you started barrel racing and your barrel racing career up to now?

Wells: I started at a 4H level back in Ohio, did the whole high school rodeo deal, and stepped away from competing while trying to figure out where I was going in life. Years later, I went and interned with Kelsey Treharne down in Texas for a year and a half. While I was there, I networked and met so many amazing people in the barrel futurity world I fell in love with the process and that part of the industry. It was through that internship that I met Sarai Angelle, who ended up telling me about the job opening with McCollee Land and Livestock. I moved to Utah and started riding for them. And now, I get to live the life I have dreamt about since I was a little girl.

BRR: What are your future plans for you and your horse through the rest of this week and over the winter?

Wells: I took Sasha home after the Showdown round to rest and enjoy her big stall and run. The next big race I have my eye on is the Royal Crown in Buckeye, AZ. So, she'll get a few days off for some R & R and we'll get right back at it.

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for big runs like that prior to entering the arena?

Wells: I'm a big visualizer. I like to go through my perfect run in my head and then clear my head. If I get too anxious or nervous, I'll start to think about how grateful I am for the opportunity to be there, because science has shown that you can not be anxious and grateful at the same time. I have this thing I tell myself that "if it's meant to be, nothing can stop us." If it's not, we'll just go back to the practice pen and try again next time.

BRR: So you're in Vegas; what's a place to eat there everyone needs to go to?

Wells: We just ate at this really cool place in the Park MGM called the Nomad Library Restaurant. Definitely worth checking out!

BRR: What are three things (other than truck, trailer, horses and such) that you can't travel without?

Wells: My beagle named Koozie, my favorite podcasts downloaded, and Neutrabac pH by Equi-Boss

The Horse Education Company Announces Partnership with Champion Barrel Racer Brittany Pozzi-Tonozzi

The Horse Education Company, a pioneer in equine training tools and the creator of the revolutionary Hybrid Halter®, is thrilled to announce a new partnership with world-renowned barrel racer Brittany Pozzi-Tonozzi. This collaboration is set to elevate the performance of equine athletes through The Horse Education Company's innovative products, which are known for their class, effectiveness, and durability.

"I'm excited about partnering with Horse Education. These are my absolute favorite halters because they are classy but effective. I love having the rope nose—these barrel horses can get to be a little bit much sometimes. So, it's nice to have the extra control. But then you have the beautiful nameplate, the classy leather that makes it so eye-appealing," Brittany said. She continued, "My second favorite thing is the lead ropes. The lead ropes are amazing because they last forever and seem to be indestructible. I have been using these halters for about six years now. I had one on Katniss and I've had one on a lot of horses throughout the years. I'm excited to have all my horses outfitted in Horse Education."

The Horse Education Company's commitment to quality and excellence mirrors Brittany's dedication to the sport of barrel racing. With numerous championships under her belt, Brittany's eye for performance-enhancing equipment makes her endorsement an honor for the company.

Sara Johnson, founder of The Horse Education Company, expressed her enthusiasm for the partnership, "Working with an athlete of Brittany's caliber is an extraordinary opportunity for us. Our products are designed to meet the highest standards of performance and safety, and there's no better endorsement than seeing them used by a well-rounded horsewoman like Brittany."

This partnership is a testament to The Horse Education Company's mission to provide trainers and riders with superior tools that bring out the best in their horses. Both the Horse Education Company and Brittany look forward to a fruitful collaboration that will continue to push the boundaries of innovation and excellence in the equine industry.

The Cowboy Channel to Broadcast Live Double-Header NFR

Special NFR Go Round Scheduled as Matinee Rodeo Performance After Tragic Events On UNLV Campus Last Week

The Cowboy Channel, the official network of ProRodeo and Home of the National Finals Rodeo, will broadcast live a special matinee rodeo performance on Wednesday, December 13th at 1pm ET/12pm CT/11am MT/10am PT of the Wrangler NFR. This special Go Round of the Wrangler NFR, initially scheduled for Thursday, December 7th, was canceled due to the tragic events that occurred on the UNLV Campus on Wednesday, December 6th. The original $11.5 million purse will remain the same and be paid out in full over the 10 rounds and now nine days of competition versus the original 10 days of competition previously scheduled. According to the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association Board of Directors and Las Vegas Events Board of Trustees, there will be no public access to this round, so the only way to watch the competition is to tune in to The Cowboy Channel and PRCA on Cowboy Channel+. It's important to note that due to the timing of this special Wednesday matinee of the Wrangler NFR Go Round, the performance will not broadcast live on RFD-TV and will broadcast exclusively only on The Cowboy Channel and be available for live stream on PRCA on Cowboy Channel+. Viewers are encouraged to tune in for the special Wrangler NFR Go Round broadcast at 1pm ET, or if unable to watch live, to hit record on their cable/satellite DVR. Then, at 8:45pm ET, the Wrangler NFR Round 7 will air as originally scheduled, and the broadcast schedule for the Wrangler National Finals Rounds on The Cowboy Channel and RFD-TV will continue as planned, broadcasting every day between now and Saturday, December 16th.

The Cowboy Channel is in its 4th consecutive year as the official media partner of the PRCA and Home of the NFR. Broadcasting on The Cowboy Channel for the surrounding events around the 2023 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo started on Tuesday, December 5th, with the PRCA Back Number Ceremony followed by the PRCA Awards Banquet on Wednesday, December 6th. Although the Wrangler NFR Round 1 did not air as originally planned, The Cowboy Channel started broadcasting live on Thursday, December 7th, from The Cowboy Channel Cowboy Christmas at the Las Vegas Convention Center with its original shoulder programming line-up featuring all things happening around Las Vegas around the 10 days of the National Finals Rodeo.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

It's the Christmas season! I remember when I was little, Christmas usually started after Thanksgiving. It now starts several months earlier. And that's great, IF, it's about Him!

Truly, we should have the Christmas celebration every day of the year! After all, Jesus was born to be our Lord and Savior and deliver us from our sinful selves and from hell. That's worth celebrating every day!

And giving? We should be givers every day! We should give our time, our finances, and every other good thing on a continual basis! When we give, God is giving it back to us MULTIPLIED. This is such a win win deal!

Although things have changed over the years, Jesus has not changed and He will not change. Hebrews 13:8 tells us that He's the same yesterday, today and forever!

That's consistency. Don't see much of that these days.

But as His children, we are the light in this dark world. Let that light shine out of you now, after the new year's resolutions have faded, and clear through 2024! Blessings!
