One For The Record Books -- Jordon Briggs & Famous Lil Jet Win WPRA World Championship

By Tanya Randall

The Texas winter wasn't kind this year.

Jordon Briggs spent those gloomy days recovering from a broken ankle. At jackpot on January 25, she had a barrel roll her foot back, tearing ligaments and cracking a few bones in the process.

The veteran barrel horse trainer and aged event competitor had been contemplating a return trip to the National Finals Rodeo. As a child, she'd watch her mother Kristie Peterson win four world titles on her great horse French Flash Hawk ("Bozo"). Now, she had her own special horse, Famous Lil Jet ("Rollo"), a royally-bred and talented gelding that already had her in the Top 15 for the 2021 season after a great fall.

Having been to the NFR herself in 2009 with Frenchmans Jester, another horse she'd brought up through the futurity ranks, Briggs wondered if being on the road was the best for her and husband Justin's daughter Bexley.

She priced Rollo, not once, but twice.

The first person thought the asking price was too much. Briggs doubled down on the second, but to her surprise, a vet check was scheduled.

"I was going into physical therapy to learn to walk again, and I called my husband crying in the waiting room because I couldn't do it," recalled Briggs. "He was actually shoeing him at that moment to get him ready for the vet check because he'd been out in the pasture for two months. He was emotional also. He said, 'No. We don't have to do it. We're not going to do it.'"

That was just one of the defining moments in Briggs's road to a record-breaking Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, presented by Teton Ridge, where she set a new average record en route to the NFR Championship and the WPRA World title.

Road To The NFR

Briggs had purchased Rollo as a yearling from his breeders Jeff and Andrea Busby. The Brock, Texas, couple raised the Dash Ta Fame gelding out of Blazin Black Beauty, a daughter of Blazin Jetolena out of the Canadian Champion Barrel Horse Lady Perks, by Dash For Perks.

Unfortunately, her plans to run Rollo as a 4-year-old were put on hold due to Bexley's arrival. In the meantime, Rollo went with Justin to the roping arena and competed in a few team roping futurities. As a 5-year-old, Rollo won the BBR Select Stallion Stakes Futurity and Glen Wood Memorial. He won more than $100,000 that year.

He got his first introduction to rodeos as a 6-year-old derby horse. Although he was “a little looky” at first, by the Kansas run late summer, Rollo was clocking with the NFR horses. They went into the 2021 season having won three pro rodeos in the fall.

Briggs was looking forward to the winter rodeos when she broke her ankle. She was out nearly three months but was able to return in time for San Angelo, Texas, which had been delayed from February until April due to COVID.

In May, Briggs and Rollo hit their stride, tying for the win with Hailey Kinsel and DM Sissy Hayday in Guymon, Oklahoma, and winning the Old Fort Days Rodeo in Fort Smith, Arkansas. Yet, she was still unsure on just how hard she would haul to make the NFR. She and Justin had sold their place in Chilton, Texas, and were relocating to clear ground in Tolar. With Briggs on the road that meant Justin was home tending horses, building fences and being supervised by a toddler.

Briggs didn't even enter Reno.

She won Red Lodge over the Fourth of July and placed at Sheridan and Casper, Wyoming. But it was during the Nebraska, Kansas run, where Rollo had first found his inner rodeo horse the summer before, that Briggs sealed up her NFR qualification after winning Dodge City.

Ready to come home, her husband made the call that would ultimately put her in a world title chase.

“My husband is the one that pushed me to go to the Northwest,” she explained. “After I won Dodge City I was pretty much set. I've got the NFR made and I'm seven hours from home, but I had entered the Northwest rodeos just in case. I was like I want to come home but I had already booked Justin a ticket. He was sick of the heat and busting his butt moving us. He was like, ‘Let's just go as a family and have fun.’ I was a nervous wreck. I had the NFR made and I didn't want to go out there and hurt my horse. I felt like I was pushing my luck a little bit. I think I won $25-$30,000 in the Northwest. If I hadn't gone out there I wouldn't have been able to win the world.”

Ten Runs To The Title

Pedigrees mean something in horses so they surely do in people. When it comes to clean runs at the NFR, no one has a better pedigree than Briggs. Her mother Bozo won five straight NFRs and at one point they had 22 straight round checks—it would have been 32 if not for the opening round in 1998 when they finished out of the money.

Initially, Briggs was worried that she didn't have enough horsepower for the NFR since Rollo was her only mount for all of her big wins.

“You see all these girls that take four or five (tough) horses with them,” she said. “The one I would have liked to have taken out there as a backup was One First Class Lady, and

I sold her. Stoli (Frenchmans Future) is phenomenal outdoors but she gets a little tight indoors. I knew I could get by her a couple of rounds, but if something would have happened to Rollo early on I would have been having a miserable week.”

Her mother told her not to stress about it.

“She said, ‘I only took Bozo out there. I borrowed a flag horse. I had a horse lined up that someone would drive to me if I needed it, but I only took Bozo.’ She said, ‘Rollo is as sound as could be, he's as solid as could be, he runs like he won't hurt himself so don't stress about it,’” Briggs recalled.

Once in Vegas, Briggs was a little nervous because Rollo hadn't been able to run in the loud indoor rodeos earlier that year and thought that the bright lights and wall of sound at the NFR might be a little intimidating.

“That first night, when the flag girls came through and the stagecoach—all horses hate wagons, I was like, ‘Holy Crap! Let's just keep our eggs in the basket tonight Rollo. I know you're still young and this was a lot.’ His ears were up and eyes were bugged out of his head. I was just so proud of how he handled it.”

The trickiest part was actually the first barrel, which was rectified by a little practice and a headgear change.

“That first barrel was harder than I anticipated. I wanted to start off in the hackamore because I'd always ridden him in one indoors. With that blind first barrel from that funny angle, because he's so honest, I have to drop to one hand and pull him to that barrel. In that hackamore it was dumping him on his front end. He kept getting more and more strung out. I think it was the fourth round I didn't place and my husband had told me two rounds before that to put the bit on him and I didn't listen," she laughed.

"That port on that Hemi when you drop to one hand and have to pull to it, that port will still square his shoulders up and keep his neck up and poll bent to where he would drag that inside hind leg better for me to start turning that first barrel better."

Briggs also tuned on Rollo in practice the morning of Round 5.

"I got one of Justin's roping bits out of the trailer and Rollo loped up to that barrel and stopped. I squared him up and backed him up. Just him thinking about getting on his hind end instead of his front end," she said.

After the seventh round, Briggs and Rollo were the only team out of the 15 barrels racers with all clean runs, and they had placed in all but the fourth round.

The morning of the eighth round, Briggs's mother had arrived with Bexley. That night she got her first round win.

"They were my good luck charms," she said. "Those last few nights, she would text me—'It's just you and Rollo. That's it. You and Rollo. Just go make your run.' That gold buckle is great but that average pays $70,000. I had my eye on the average win, for sure." After splitting the win in Round 9, Briggs had to stay the course to win the world. Hailey Kinsel had to win more money in the tenth round to offset the difference between first and second in the average payout. Briggs heard the disappointment from the crowd when Kinsel tipped the first barrel.

"It was a knife fight going into the last round," said Briggs. "I just kept telling Justin, 'I'm not worried about the gold buckle; I'm worried about the average.' All I had to do was not hit a barrel which is sometimes not the easiest part ever! I just kept two hands on the reins a little longer than I normally would and made a nice solid run."

Briggs said what made the NFR so exciting this year was that so many barrel racers had a chance at the title.

"There were several of us that had a chance," she said. "Going into the sixth round, Brittany (Pozzi Tonozzi) could have won the world, Dona Kay (Rule) could have won it at one point. I think it's because there weren't big rodeos like Calgary counting, so we were all on a level playing field going in. All the events were."

Briggs' Bozo

Rollo was a model of consistency, setting a new NFR average record.

"That's how Bozo was—solid and consistent," said Briggs, who actually ran her mom's great gelding before he retired (P.S. He was also a wicked pole bender.) "Bozo hardly ever hit a barrel either. They just know where to put their feet. They don't try to out-think you and always try their best. Just the fact that Rollo gets stronger and stronger with every run, not many horses do that and Bozo did that. That's one of my favorite things about him. I can always count on Rollo to keep getting better and better."

Emotionally, the horses aren't alike at all.

"Bozo didn't want anything to do with you," she laughed. "He wanted you to feed him and run barrels. That was it. Rollo loves attention. If you're petting another horse he gets mad and will dang near bite you! He just has a really cool personality. He's very personable. My mom said you can just look at him and know exactly what he's thinking. You can read him like a book. He's a really neat horse with a really neat personality."

One of the more emotional moments of the NFR was the night Bexley fed Rollo treats before his run. Thanks to that horse, Bexley is getting to experience the same life that shaped her mother.

"I loved the life I lived," said Briggs. "I loved the people I got to be around. My parents spoiled me rotten. They took me out of school to go with them. We went and saw all the scenic stuff all the time and did fun things. I remembered that part of it. I'm still so close to my parents. I can't live more than three miles away from them. It's still a couple of years before Bexley has to go to school so we might as well do it now while it's still pretty easy on us."

"She loves going to the rodeos. She's Miss Social Butterfly. She's all about finding friends and hanging out. There's no better people for her to be around."

How long this ride lasts is up to Rollo. "You never know with barrel horses how long they're going to last so we're just going to enjoy this time as family while we can," said Briggs.

After a little break, Rollo has the Texas Circuit Finals over New Year's.

"He's got a week, a week-and-a-half off and then he's got to go to the circuit finals," she said. "Now that the national circuit finals are in Colorado Springs in the middle of summer that could set you off to where you could go home early if you did well."

Briggs is also looking forward to the winter rodeos that she missed out on last year, except Denver.

"I didn't enter Denver," she laughed. "I didn't want to do that to him or me. I remember how the weather can be. I still have '09 Denver in my head of us beating an ice storm all the way back to Texas."

She's also excited to compete at The American.

"I'm also really excited that I get to go directly to the American," she said. "Northside has been a little of a nemesis for me. I've made it back to the parks twice and I didn't get to go this last year because of my broken ankle. I'm excited I get to by-pass Northside and go directly to Arlington this year."

Thank You

Briggs wanted to thank the NFR committee for the stalling accommodations as she was one of the few barrel racers to keep her horses on the grounds.

"The PRCA had amazing people who guarded the gate and checked on our horses four times a night," she said. "They'd tell when they check on them if they were laying down or standing up. We had free shaving, free hay. It sucks that my horse had to be in a stall for two weeks, but the accommodations that the PRCA lined up were amazing."

She also wanted to thank her helper Cayla Cory, who she brought in to tend her horses while she was busy with signings and Justin was roping.

"We didn't know how exhausted we were until she showed up," she said. "She ended up staying the rest of the time. She changed her flights and stayed the rest of the time. I would go out there for barrel practice and ride. The other days she'd get them out of the stalls, walk them around, let them roll, ride them in the afternoon, give them baths. This is only the second time in my life that I had someone else help me take care of my horses. I was a little nervous about it, but by the end, I was so exhausted I couldn't physically do it."

She also wanted to acknowledge the efforts of the ground crew. "They were at every practice watching us, and they drug during the barrel practice. All of the committee people, the stall people, the WPRA and PRCA treated us like celebrities out there and we really appreciate it."

Briggs also wanted to thank her sponsors Horse Hair Analysis, Classic Equine, Shiloh Saddlery, Rock N Roll Cowgirl, Rodeo Rigs, PHI, Durango Boots and American Hats.

Most important to Briggs, outside of Rollo, were her family, "Special thank you to my husband—he made it fun and was my rock, my family and friends and Facebook land – I couldn't believe the number of people cheering for us. It was just awesome to have that many people behind us. The 15 girls that made the NFR ... they were so nice and friendly. We were all cheering each other on. It was just a great experience."

NOTES: Rollo & Briggs along with Lemon Drop & Hillman both ran 13.48 to tie for the Round 9 win... this round is the first round with repeat winners... Hillman won Round 3 and Briggs won Round 8... it took a rapid 13.66 to just get a check in Round 9... Briggs closed the gap between her and Kinsel to $12,870... if the NFR ended after Round 9 — with Briggs #1 in the Average paying $69,234 and Kinsels #2 Average position paying $56,171, Briggs would win the World Title by less than $200... so whoever finished higher in Round 10 will be the World Champion!!!

NOTES: High Valor & Rule won their second round of the NFR (also won Round 2)... but the main story was Kinsel hitting a barrel that allowed Briggs (who ran directly after Kinsel) to cruise to a 13.72 to win the WNFR Average & World Title!!!... Her WNFR Average time of 136.83 broke the previous record set of 137.32 set by Nellie Miller in 2017... Briggs with her mother Kristie Peterson became the first mother/daughter duo to both win World Titles... Rollo & Briggs did not hit a single barrel for all of the 2021 rodeo season!!!... 6 girls earned more than $100k at the WNFR — Briggs, Kinsel, Beisel, Morgan, Rule, & Hillman...

Pete Oen Wins Second OKC Futurity Slot Race With Monica McClung's Triple Fame To Go

By Tanya Randall

Pete Oen pulled off the rare feat of placing two horses in a 3-year-old slot race at the OKC Futurity, held December 7-12 in the Oklahoma capital. The leading futurity rider from Maysville, Oklahoma, topped the Slot Race aboard Triple Fame To Go ("Gangster"), owned by Monica McClung, for a cool $55,000. He also placed third aboard Hip Happy Hayday ("Sophie"), owned by Sharon Comer, for an additional $12,500.

"Winning first and third was really cool," said Oen, who rode four horses to earnings of $77,775 without any breeder incentive money included.

With 21 entries in the Slot Race and just 16 head running after scratches, it was a tight turnaround for Oen and Marne Loosenort, who each ran two horses. When it came time to draw for their position those two went first to ensure their draws were the required distance of 10 head apart.

Oen drew first and got position No. 1 for Sophie, and after a series of redraws finally picked out position No. 20 for Gangster.

I was actually happy that I drew that far apart. The only thing better would have been for me to be first and last. There was just one horse after me, Kelsey Treharne (and Blue Version). First out of the gate, Sophie clocked a 16.016, which led until Cody Bauserman and Tres Borrachos ran a 15.934.

"She was a little lost but that was OK," Oen said. "She was going kind of fast. It was good, not great. Leading up to when I ran Gangster, I was still sitting second going into the last drag, which was Marne again, me and Kelsey. I thought that mare, at worst, was going to be one out because there were three left."

However, when it was his turn to run Gangster, Oen already knew he had a check with Sophie.

"He put a little over 3/10ths on the field," said Oen. "I looked up and was like, 'Holy crap! This 3-year-old just ran a 15.5!' He doesn't need a whole lot of encouragement to go fast. I mean leaning forward is just like stomping on the gas pedal for him. I sat on him to the first. I may have squeezed or bumped him a couple of times across the pen...same thing to the third. Obviously, I asked him to go as fast as he could out of the arena."

After winning the slot race, Oen and McClung discussed running him back in the first round of the Rookie Futurity. He was concerned how the free-running gelding would come back after being chased out of the arena the night before as he hadn't really used his over-and-under on him until then.

"I thought maybe I had rattled his chain a little bit," he admitted, "but Monica said he doesn't seem to be getting nervous about anything and to go ahead and run him. He came back in the first run of Rookie and ran a 15.525. He actually went faster in the first round of Rookie, which I thought was really impressive."

Gangster was a 15.875 in the second round to finish fifth in the Rookie aggregate and add another $6,353 to his earnings. Oen said Gangster is "pretty true and honest" in his turning style. He also added that Gangster has a very similar feel to his half-sister VC GoGo Fling, an A Streak of Fling daughter out of Go Go Fame, by Dash Ta Fame.

"He's very, very similar to VC GoGo Fling," he added. "They have a similar body and running style. Go Go Fame has definitely marked them well with their physique and way of going around the barrels. She's been very dominant with her characteristics coming through to her foals."

Go Go Fame is also the dam of Sharin Hall's Hello Stella, the newly crowned all-time leading futurity horse. Ironically Oen had the opportunity to buy Gangster when he was a 2-year-old.

"Sharin Hall raised him," Oen said. "I had purchased VC GoGo Fling as a yearling at Heritage Place. I rode her and liked her so well that I asked Sharin if there was a sibling somewhere."

Oen had his heart set on then 3-year-old Stella because she was by The Goodbye Lane and didn't think about the Triple Vodka gelding until McClung called him.

"She asked me what I thought about the Triple Vodka that Sharin was wanting to sell," he said. "She said, 'I think I'm going to buy him.' She bought him at Fort Smith without even riding him. I saw her with him a week or two later at Sevi (Tuturo)'s jackpot. She exhibited him and told me, 'Pete, I think this one has got a little bit of THAT feeling.'"

Not long afterward, McClung knew her busy schedule would keep her from taking Gangster to his fullest potential so she called Oen. They had successfully campaigned horses together in the past like Perks Of Being Famous and Fearless Fame.

"I've had him about four months," Oen noted. "The first place I took him and kind of sped him up in the exhibitions was The Breeders Challenge. We were excited in how he clocked and how he worked. It didn't seem like it was very hard for him. I kept hauling and just asking him to clock a little bit faster."

Yet, right before the BFA in November, Gangster wasn't riding quite right.

"The week leading up to the BFA and the week off after BFA, he wasn't riding quite like himself," Oen explained. "I was like, 'Oh my gosh! What is wrong!' On a whim, I called Darryl Elliot, the chiropractor. I said, 'I've got a horse that I think needs to see you. He was doing so good and all of a sudden he's not wanting to be that sweet, easy-going horse. We worked on him not that long ago so I don't think it's leg work that he needs.' I took him down there and he said his whole neck and atlas was a mess. He worked on him once and told me that I needed to bring him back one more time. So, I took him down the Friday before I left for Oklahoma City and he was very happy with how the adjustments had held."

Oen also placed in the $50,000-added Futurity on Trump Cardd, a Frenchmansaceofspades gelding, owned by Rosemary Harrison, that will run as a 5-year-old in 2022, and picked up a check on Famous Boss, owned by McClung. Sophie also won the OKC Sale Graduate Incentive to add another $15,000 to her earnings.

Like Gangster, Oen also had personal ties to Sophie's maternal line. The daughter of PC Frenchmans Hayday is out of the Firewaterontherocks mare Hip Swinging Gypsy. Oen had won $106,000 on the mare before selling her to Gilmar Garcia of Brazil.

Sophie had gone through the OKC Sale in 2019 when Oen won the Slot Race on FC Strait Ruffian. The filly didn't sell and was taken home, broke to ride and sent to Oen for training. She sold to longtime friend and client Sharon Comer at the January 2020 Triangle Sale, where she was the high-selling barrel horse at $36,500.

"I can't say that I don't believe in mare power," said Oen, who is sponsored by Outlaw Equine and Rehab Center, Equi-Resp, MVP, Bluebonnet Feeds, B-Free of Flies, Best Ever Pads, Iconoclast Sports Boots, Burns Saddlery, Hay-Rite, Fulton Ranch, Shorty's Caboy Hattery. "It's kind of cool that I'm riding colts out of mares that I've had some connection to."

Danyelle Campbell & Return Of The Mac Capitalize on Missing Half of 2021- Win OKC Futurity

By Hope Raley

The popular saying goes, “The comeback is always greater than the setback”, and that couldn’t be any truer than for Danyelle Campbell and Return Of The Mac. After suffering an injury that sidelined the young gelding for almost 6-months, Return Of The Mac and Campbell claimed their second big win in less than a month winning the OKC Futurity!

The dynamic duo won the second round of the futurity with a 15.153 (the fastest time of the whole event), and with their run of 15.391 in the finals, and a total time on two of 30.544, they were crowned the futurity champions pocketing over $30,000 and bringing Return Of The Mac’s LTE to $236,000!

Campbell knew that Return Of The Mac “Creed” was special from the start. The Weatherford, Texas trainer and Three-Time NFR Qualifier explained that Creed immediately took to the clover-leaf pattern and showed signs of brilliance from the start. Creed” is owned by former NFR qualifier Felicia Taylor and is by A Smooth Guy and out of Mackilts by Dash Ta Fame, who Taylor bought as a 2-year-old.

“The last couple of months have been surreal and a dream come true,” Campbell said. “I knew that he was a great horse and capable of running with the best horses in the country, but to have him deliver at two big futurities back-to-back is inexplicable. He is truly an incredible athlete and I am grateful to be a part of his journey.” Winning the BFA the month prior at the Lazy E and then winning the OKC Futurity a few weeks later at what used to be the home of the BFA- The Jim Norick Arena- was extra special to Campbell and definitely a cherry on top of a very interesting year.

Campbell describes the gelding as having a quirky personality with an odd mixture of cocky and insecurity.

“At home Creed lives with two of my mares, Relected and Remade In The Shade, and they keep him in line if he gets too arrogant. They run the show but if I’m around he starts picking on them, like he knows that I will protect him, yet he is taking the opportunity to show the girls that he is king. It is quite funny!”

Campbell and Creed have built quite the bond over the course of their time together, and the injury last spring definitely brought them closer together. “Creed used to get scared and do his own thing but now he is learning to look for guidance whenever he gets nervous or scared. For me, that says a lot about our trust in one another.”

“Creed is naturally very talented, and then when you mix in some speed and light and quick feet you get yourself quite the horse.” Campbell explains that Creed is also very smart with his feet and will stand up and get himself out of a bind when needed, which is a winning trait of a rodeo horse. Perhaps Creed’s next calling is the rodeos, and if that’s the case Campbell and Taylor’s idea is one in the same- keep it fair for Creed.”

“I think that he has all the ingredients to be a rodeo horse and to someday maybe qualify to the NFR, but he is still young and while we are still uncertain as to what his immediate future will hold, right now the tentative plan is to run him at the American Semi-Finals and some of the bigger derbies, then hopefully start the rodeo seasoning process.”

Regardless of what Campbell and Taylor decide, they agree that no matter what, they want to keep Creed in situations where he can excel and their main priority will always be keeping him healthy- both physically and mentally.

In between winning some of the biggest futurities throughout the season, Campbell has also stayed busy with her ever popular bit line with Kerry Kelley.

“It has been amazing and a wonderful experience,” said Campbell. “I had an idea about a bit line years ago and spoke to a few bit makers, but it just never felt right. Ironically, Denise Adams (former NFR qualifier and former Kerry Kelley employee) reached out to me about starting a line of barrel racing bits, and as they say the rest is history!”

Campbell admits that making bits is similar to trying to reinvent the wheel, there are only so many things that you can do to try to be different and still have the bit function properly, so they have modified some of her past favorite bits to have a more balanced feel and better weight to them as well as introducing some bits that are completely new to the scene.

“I make sure that before we release a bit, it works and will appeal to the masses,” added Campbell.

Lastly, Campbell wanted to give a special shout-out to those that have helped along the way this year, especially Dr. Reese Hand and Dr. Chad Marsh.

“I am grateful for my owners, not just FC Ranch, but all of them! We are all a team and they support me no matter what horse I am doing well on. I have great people beside me between my vets, farriers, colt starters, friends, family, sponsors- the list goes on. I am very lucky!”

Mowry & Force The Goodbye Dominate OKC Rookie Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Leading aged event rider and trainer Kassie Mowry had an exceptional OKC Futurity, winning the $30,000-added Rookie Futurity with Force The Goodbye (“Jarvis”), taking reserve with KL Touch Of Heaven (“Dove”) and taking reserve in the $50,000-added Futurity with Sand In My Socks (“Sandi”). All totaled, Mowry’s horses won $55,031.

“I only took four horses and it all worked out for the best,” said Mowry, who was recovering from a bout with the global virus that left her unable to enjoy the flavors of Thanksgiving. “I didn’t know how I was going to get through it. I was so exhausted I had to take a nap every day! I’m just now getting my strength back.”

Mowry is big on preparation and with her illness, her horses had very little from the end of the BFA Futurity until right before she left for the OKC Futurity, held December 7-12.

“I didn’t feel very prepared,” said Mowry. “He was super prepared when I went to BFA, so I had a pretty good idea how he would work but being sick from BFA until OKC and not going through the barrels, I wasn’t sure. I was like, ‘This is going to be a real test.’”

Bred by Jason and Janelle Blubaugh, Jarvis is by The Goodbye Lane out of the Burrs First Down mare VF Forcit First. Mowry and Michael Boone purchased the gelding as a weanling.

“We had bought a Dash Ta Fame from them that was out of that mare,” Mowry explained. “Unfortunately, he didn’t work out. They said they also had a Goodbye Lane out of that mare and wanted to know if we were interested.”

Jarvis was priced very reasonably because he needed hernia surgery.

“Within 24 hours of getting to Texas he had to go in for colic surgery because of the hernia. It made him full price after that,” Mowry laughed, “but he was worth it.”

he was eligible for the bonus money.

It was a lucrative decision. In his debut in the BFA Super Stakes, Jarvis was the reserve champion earning $35,000. He came back and won the first go of the Juvenile in route to a fourth-place finish in the aggregate for another $11,540. Jarvis was the Future Fortunes bonus winner, claiming $6,930 for his owner, breeder and sire, and was the Future Fortunes Juvenile Sires' Slot Reserve Champion for $13,500. All totaled, Jarvis won $66,979.

In the Rookie at OKC, Jarvis dominated winning both rounds—15.340 and 15.417 respectively.

"I kind of let him pick his pace the first run and his pace was fast!" she said. "He went in there and smoked the first barrel and I knew he was locked on and I let him roll. He's pretty incredible. He's very mature for his age.

"The second round I felt like I just needed to leave the barrels up and be a little bit more safe. I felt like he had such a good time (in the first round) so I didn't send him in there to win it. I'm not that kind of rider for the most part. I just want them to have a run that I feel like they can come back and do again and again and not really scare them. I'm really proud of him for being consistent, especially with me riding him two different ways. He's just a neat colt and has so many great qualities about him."

Jarvis is the first futurity horse she's trained by The Goodbye Lane.

"He's not perfect, but he tries hard," she said. "I can do lots with one that tries hard. When he makes a mistake it's because he's trying. He's the kindest colt. He just wants your attention. He's fun, he fits me and his personality is how I like him. He's been a really enjoyable horse."

The OKC Rookie Champion awarded Mowry $22,092 to bump Jarvis' career earnings to $89,072 in his first two events.

Mowry took reserve on the last foal Karma Loftin raised out of her blue hen mare Junior Country Girl, by Deep Note Jr. Dove, who is by JL Dash Ta Heaven, was for sale as a stallion prospect as a yearling but when bidders failed to appreciate him, Loftin put him with Mowry to make him a winner.

"She believed in him and I believed in him," said Mowry. "I was surprised he didn't go. I thought, 'Well, we'll take the long route. The cream always rises.' He always looked the part. He was just a beautiful colt."

Unfortunately, Dove didn't get to stay a stallion.

"I really wanted that for her," said Mowry, "but his temperament didn't allow that. I tried really hard, but I'm out here by myself most of the time and I do what I can to not get myself in situations where I might get hurt. I even told her, 'I know he's talented and deserves to be a stud. We'll exhaust every effort and I don't mind sending him to someone else if you think they'll fit him a little better.'"

Loftin chose to geld the colt so he had a chance at greatness in the arena.

"It really changed him," said Mowry. "He started coming back around within a month. The first ride back on him he was already doing things that he had struggled with before. He was well endowed and I think it hurt him and that's why he would act out some. He always knew what I wanted him to do but it was physically hard or hurt him to do it.

"I hated that we had to do it, but it just goes to show what a great mare that was—to have babies by so many different studs and make winners out of everyone of them. That's a huge compliment to that mare and what a great producer she is."

Dove's career earnings from placing fourth in the first round, third in the second and second in the aggregate totaled $11,715.

Mowry's Futurity Reserve Champion Sandi, owned and bred by Isabella Quarter Horses, added $21,223 to her career that started last year with a $100,000 BFA Super Stakes Championship. The daughter of BHR Frenchies Socks, out of the Tres Seis mare, JC Pick Six, has career earnings of nearly $260,000.

Scamper Cole and Ima Epic Hustler Bank $13,837 at OKC Derby & 4D

This past weekend at the $140k Added OKC Futurity in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Ima Epic Hustler & Scamper Cole placed high in both rounds of the Derby to win the Average title with a 30.897. Their Derby Title along with checks in the Umbrella 4D netted them $13,837 for the week. Ima Epic Hustler & Cole have been winning along throughout the center of the country for the past year so we caught up with them to get to know a little more about this pair!

BRR: You had an amazing weekend; placing in both rounds and winning the Derby Championship. Walk us through your two runs...

Cole: Bottom of the ground can be tricky in that pen, so going into the First round, being bottom of the ground I really tried to run him in the inside of the tracks so he didn't get hung up around the barrels. I feel like that's a special attribute about him, he can get SUPER close to the barrels without hitting them. I had to lift my leg at the first to get around it but he just kept moving and inhaled his barrels. I was super pleased with his first run being in that ground position, so going into the 2nd Round I knew he was going to fire and be right there unless something happened. In the 2nd round, he took off hard, inhaled his first barrel, and when he went to turn the 2nd, he fell almost completely down because the ground gave. He stood back up and just kept going. I can't believe he still clocked like he did with all that happening, he's just a freak and he was out for blood, lol. It's like it made him mad and he just bared down harder!

BRR: Together you and Ima Epic Hustler seem to win all the time together. What are the keys to your success & consistency as a team?

Cole: I just try to keep him fit and enjoying his job. I don't work him on the barrels hardly at all and the main thing about me is I don't pick on one a lot. I'll let him sling his head around and show off in the warm up pen, I know he's going to work and do his job when he gets in the arena so I like when he's feeling good and excited to run.

BRR: What qualities make him such a special horse?

Cole: He's pretty stoic at home, but he's always been really solid, even as a 3 year old. He runs almost dead at a barrel and can run to it wide open, get super close, and leave hard. He doesn't waste any time turning a barrel at all and has no cheat in him.

BRR: Do you prepare your horses any different for the bigger events like this different than during the rest of they year? Basically, are you peaking them here or what is your strategy?

Cole: It's really important to me for my horses to have a solid foundation so that they will last past their Futurity year and so that they are easy for other people to ride. I've always had really good luck with people being able to ride easily behind me. I never try to peak them for just one event or run because I feel like you're setting yourself up for things to fall apart later on. I want these colts to last forever and have a long lasting successful career.

BRR: What are your plans for yourself and Ima Epic Hustler moving forward?

Cole: Basically I'm planning on taking him to all of the big incentive Derbys and events this coming year, such as Pink Buckle, Ruby Buckle, Breeders Challenge, etc. I would also like to get him qualified to The American possibly.

BRR: How have the big incentive races changed your training program?

SPONSORS: Thank you to my family and my best friend Aubrey Hollifield who is always there with me with my daughter, Dashyn, and who keeps Hustler's ridiculously long mane and tail braided and taken care of. Thank you to my awesome sponsors, Brazos Valley Equine, Dr. Charlie Buchanan, Med Vet Pharma, Kahm, Delicious Horse Treats, Rock and Roll Cowgirl

Cole: I think the big incentives are changing our industry for the better. This kind of money was previously unheard of and it was really difficult to make enough money on a colt to justify just hauling 1 or 2, but now people can go and make enough money at these big events without having to haul the legs off the colts, it's fantastic!

BRR: What are 3 non horse related things you must have when you head to a barrel race or rodeo?

Cole: I always have my Yeti cup with me, a pair of sunglasses, and my purse!

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Do you have all your decorations up? Shopping done? All your gifts wrapped? Parties planned? Cookies made? As you read that, did the pressure mount?? LOL! Push reset on your brain.

The greatest gift ever given was Jesus. As children of God, we know that. Deep inside us there is peace. And hope. And freedom. And joy. We have it made.

Well...if you are ready for Jesus, could you make it possible for people who don't know Him to be ready? I heard a pastor say that those who don't know Him are on death row. What a word picture. They don't know that Jesus was born, that He died and took their sins on Himself so they don't have to pay that price themselves. And now He ever lives to make intercession for us?

Do you have a friend, a family member, a co-worker that may not know Him? Could you take the time to tell them about Jesus?

Could all of us double the kingdom of God by one person each this week? Yes. Yes, we can. And God will help us. Jesus was our greatest gift. Let's give Him first this year! 1 Pet. 2:24. Matt. 2:1-12. Luke 23:26-43. Heb. 7:25. Romans 10:8-13.
