Hailey Kinsel-Lockwood & DM Sissy Hayday Capture 2nd Straight WPRA World Championship

By Tanya Randall

The race for the 2019 WPRA World Championship came down to the final round of the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, held December 5-14 in the Thomas & Mack at Las Vegas. Going into the 10th Round, first-time NFR qualifier Emily Miller had a chance to overtake defending World Champion Hailey Kinsel-Lockwood.

In a surprising turn, both ladies tipped a Coors can. Miller, a dental hygienist from Weatherford, Oklahoma, and her two-round winner Namgis D 33 ("Chongo") caught the first, which bumped them down to in the average. Even though, Kinsel-Lockwood and DM Sissy Hayday ("Sis" or "Sister") caught the second barrel their solid week in Las Vegas was enough to give them their second straight WPRA World Championship.

Kinsel-Lockwood, who married PBR World Champion Jess Lockwood this past October, said this world title was quite different from her first.

"The first one you have a lot of emotions," she said. "You think it's going to be cool, but you don't really know how it feels. This one leading up to it, I knew exactly what it feels like and I wanted to do it again!"

The Cotulla, Texas, cowgirl burst onto the national rodeo scene in 2017 after winning RFD-TV's The American aboard Sis, a daughter of four-time

WPRA World Champion Sire PC Frenchmans Hayday out of Royal Sissy Irish, by Royal Shake Em. As a challenger, she and her then 6-year-old mare won a record purse for a barrel racer $433,333 after splitting the $1 million bonus with two cowboys. They later won the College National Finals Rodeo, picked up $50,000 at the Days Of '47 after coming through its qualifiers and completely put the barrel racing world on notice with their performance at the 2017 WNFR.

At the WNFR's conclusion that year, Kinsel-Lockhart had set an NFR earnings record of $189,385, set a seemingly insurmountable arena record at 13.11 and became the WPRA Reserve World Champion with $288,092.

In 2018, Kinsel-Lockhart and Sis built off a strong winter, winning her hometown rodeo of San Antonio and placing second at both Fort Worth and Houston, won the Calgary Stampede, went into the NFR ranked No. 1 in the World and never relinquished it. At the NFR's conclusion they had set a WPRA Seasons Earning Record with their $350,700 World Championship.

It was her previous Las Vegas experience that helped her persevere through the 2019 NFR.

She said you can't read too much into the significance of the event.

"It's just a bunch of barrel runs," she said. "Being there that long, you have to remind yourself it's a marathon not a sprint. I learned that from my first year. When she was younger I needed to make some runs on her leading up to it, so she was super, super sharp when we started and we broke the arena record in Round 3, won another in Round 6, but hit barrels in Round 7 and 8. I felt like she was getting a little bit strong. When they get tired they tend to put a little more weight on their front end, so the last two years I focused on not letting that happen. I wanted her to be a little fresher at the beginning of the week to where she tightens up as the week goes on, and that's a good thing not a bad thing. That's worked well for me the last two years where she's kind of peaked a little later on.

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: During the NFR, Sis had basic therapies, massage, icing her legs, daily riding and turnout. "Mom would ride her every day just to walk and stay soft," said Kinsel-Lockwood. "She doesn't like being messed with at all. I'd love to use all the therapies on her, even just to try it, but she can't stand it. I have a Pulse machine and I love it. I have two other horses that I use it on and they really like it. I love it on myself. I can't get her used to the clicking noise. It starts clicking she runs away. She's just too weird to like being handled a lot. Thankfully, she's not the type to get too sore. We both do acupressure type massage on her on areas we know that she tends to get a little sore."

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: "She gets ridden every day. I tend to alternate heavy and light days so that she's not working heavily every day. On the light days, it's a lot of long muscle stretching with walking and trotting. More often than not, it's pasture riding. I'll work barrels occasionally."

Kinsel-Lockwood said the strategy would be different if she were running anywhere but the Thomas & Mack.

"If it was an outdoor thing it would be totally different," she said, "but because we're running into walls, they're going to get a little tight. It's just natural. I wanted her to start out a little bit loose, placing and tighten up a little bit later on, just so we don't hit as many barrels."

A change to NFR management and ground put a kink in Kinsel-Lockwood's plan to keep the barrels up first run down the alley, when they tipped the first barrel.

"She went to the exact same spot I did the last two years, but they dumped a bunch of sand in there and she got caught up in it," she said. "It took her a little while after that to get used to the feel of it. It was shifty sand and it just moved out from underneath her and she was just a little too perfect."

Kinsel-Lockwood and Sis came back the next night and took second, running second to last on the ground. Running to bottom of the ground in the third round, they were out of the money as Sis was still figuring out the ground. As the rounds progress and they moved up the order, they placed better, from sixth in the fourth round to third in the sixth round.

Going into the seventh round, Kinsel-Lockwood had taken the lead in the World Standings. She and Sis padded that lead with back-to-back victories in Round 7 and 8. They won Round 8 with a 13.54, the second fastest time of the rodeo, and took second to Stevi Hillman and MCM ImaSharpGuy's 13.53 in Round 9.

When the dust settled, Kinsel-Lockwood had collected $141,154 and won the World Championship with $290,020. She is the first barrel racer to win back-to-back World Championships since Kelly Kaminski and Rockem Sockem Go's in 2004 and 2005.

The newly crowned champion was able to celebrate her victory with family and friends, most of whom were in attendance.

Her mom, Leslie, who co-owns Sis and helped train the mare, was in charge of taking care of the horses during the week.

"She's with the horses all day long," Kinsel-Lockwood said. "She doesn't get to go shop or hang out with her friends. It's a lot of work. We took four head out there and she was with them all the time. I had to be gone so she was cleaning stalls, riding and doing therapy for Sis.

"My dad was out there just being support where he was needed. My brother and his wife were out there. It was kind of a vacation for them, but it was nice to have them out there. They went to the rodeo every night with us.

"My husband was with me the whole time. He was the main reason I got anywhere I needed to go. He, Mom and I went together to every single practice at the crack of dawn. "My vet, David Dutton, stayed home but he was in close contact with us the whole time. My farrier Bob Hodges flew out for the last weekend in case we needed anything and also just to support. I also had other family and friends fly in during the week for support."

Kinsel-Lockwood has barely three weeks to enjoy her second world championship before her title defense begins. Sis is likely getting a small vacation, while Kinsel-Lockwood focuses on seasoning her young horses.

"I'm entered in Denver, but I don't know if I'll take her," she said. "It depends on how she bounces back from this. She seems pretty good. They changed the format there and Fort Worth, adding a run at both of them. I hate making more runs, so I wouldn't be surprised if I decided she can sit home and rest until Fort Worth since there's an additional run there and its closer."

Ivy Conrado-Saebens & KN Fabs Gift Of Fame Unwrap WNFR Championship

By Tanya Randall

In 2017, Ivy Conrado-Saebens and KN Fabs Gift Of Fame (“J Lo”) came within less than a tenth of an NFR Championship. Now two years later, they walked away with the 2019 NFR Championship as the only horse and rider duo to make 10 clean trips through the pattern in the Thomas & Mack in Las Vegas.

“She’s always been capable of winning something like this,” said Saebens of her 10-year-old palomino partner. “It was just a matter of getting my mindset mature enough and sharp enough to do it. It takes a lot of focus to do that every night. It took me four years to get control of my mind for 10 runs in a row.”

Saebens went to her first NFR in 2016 aboard her family-raised

HAY: Alfalfa and some orchard grass

SUPPLEMENTS: Platinum Performance and Standard Process

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: During the NFR, Dr. Marty Tanner checked over her daily. Mandy Hagler with Equine Balance Work massaged her the first few days. J Lo also had laser and PEMF therapy and a lot of stretching. She was also nebulized daily and used a Flair Strip each run. Cody O’Donnell was charged with J Lo’s daily care.

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: “She’s kills my back to ride her,” Conrado said. “She’s rough. I just pony her for the most part. One or two days before the rodeo, I’ll get on her and tune her up. She just gets lots of exercise. I’ll long trot 10 minutes each direction, walk 10 minutes and then lope each direction 10 minutes, walk 10 minutes in between. I’ll always set a timer so I make sure we’re getting in the time we need to. Basically, she gets ponied for an hour and half each day.”

AQHA/WPRA Horse of the Year Cfour Tibbie Stinson. However, the long holding lane and alley in the Thomas & Mack proved to be her undoing. Ironically, her dismal finals was a key factor in placing her and J Lo together.

RFD-TV’s The American had made some changes to their invited competitors due to Elite Rodeo Athletes that season, which forced Saebens to earn a spot through a Qualifier. On her way to Arizona for one of the last remaining qualification events, Kenny Nichols called and offered J Lo, a mare by his stallion Frenchmans Fabulous out of the great Dash Ta Fame mare Mistys Dash Of Fame, that he co-owns with Dale Barron.

“Kenny called me and offered J Lo to me, kind of as a cushion thing, because I had a pretty bad NFR,” she recalled. “..... She ran a 16.9 the first time I’d ever ran her, on a standard pattern. I went ahead ran her at the American Qualifier. I ran a 17.1 and kind of got by the third barrel. I was a couple out of making the Semi-finals on her, but I did get back on Tibbie. I just jump rode her and that was it.”

Saebens started out 2017 on Tibbie and then climbed on Fames To Blame (“Famey”), who recently won the Canadian Pro Rodeo and Maple Leaf Circuit championships with Brooke Wills, when Tibbie got hurt.

“Famey was really good to me,” said Saebens. “I won $30,000 on her in three months and then she got hurt. I was 15th in world right before Nampa (Idaho, during mid-July) and I didn’t have a horse. I called Kenny because I hadn’t seen J Lo anywhere. I said, ‘I don’t know what you guys are doing with her, but I’m sitting 15th in the world and I don’t have a horse, I got along with her really well and I was wondering if you’d let me take her to help me get qualified for the NFR.’”

J Lo has been her main ride ever since. They had an incredible 2017 NFR but found 2018’s to be a learning experience.

“I went out there with a big plan to win the average and it just didn’t work out,” she said. “I didn’t ride sharp and I wasn’t thinking sharp. This year, I learned not to go in with a big plan. Every night is a new rodeo. They only way to get around the barrels is to ride sharp every night. Really my goal wasn’t even to win the average, it was just to ride consistent and make the same run. It worked out pretty good. Probably around Round 9, I was thinking it would probably be good to go a little wider because we had a good chance to win it.”

Saebens, who grew up an accomplished horsewoman surrounded by the best in the business, not only upped her game mentally but she took her horsemanship game to the next level. She credits her dad Kelly Conrado for giving her the right start and her husband Billy Jack Saebens for helping polish her and J Lo.

“Billy is above and beyond on horsemanship,” she said. “He’s just taken me to another level. I still don’t even knock on the door of what those reined cowhorse guys do, but I’ve learned so much from watching them. The amount of riding they do. How much they use their feet. So much of it is body positioning and getting them soft. They’re bred to do what we want them to do and we just kind of give them a path.”

The polished handle helped keep J Lo focused and honest throughout the season and especially during the NFR, where they placed in eight of the 10 rounds and made all but one run under 14 seconds.

“The stuff that Billy has taught me as a far how to get them pushed up into the bridle and breaking them loose in the rib cage...it’s stuff that you can’t even put into words,” she said. “He rode J Lo a lot for me last year. She was pretty strong in the face. I just didn’t quite understand how to get a horse that was as strong as her broke loose, and Billy spent a lot of time on her. We finally got her to a spot where she doesn’t need tuned up. Keeping her body soft is the biggest thing for her.”

Saebens effort parleyed itself into a $264,673 WPRA Reserve World Championship. The NFR was responsible for $171,404 of her earnings. J Lo carried her to every penny, and for that, she’s forever grateful to Nichols and Barron.

“I’m really proud of J Lo,” she said. “She’s something else. She absolutely has changed our lives. It’s amazing that horse can do something like that. We are so thankful for her and the only reason that happened is because Kenny and Dale let me take her.”

J Lo stays with Saebens except during breeding season. Via embryo transfer, J Lo has foals by Tres Seis, Epic Leader, A Streak Of Fling, French Streak To Vegas, Feel The Sting and Ivory James.

Saebens’ superstar will get a little break from the road as the 2020 season kicks off. She plans on running Positively Streakin (“Salty”), the 5-year-old Streakin Boon Dox mare out of Freckles Ta Fame’s granddam, Positively A Coyote, at Odessa, Texas, and San Angelo. J Lo will get to run closer to home at the World Championship Rodeo Alliance events a couple of hours from Saebens’ home in Nowata, Oklahoma.

“I’ll be sure to ride J Lo at those because, man, they’re such a big paycheck,” she said, adding her season with J Lo will likely be the same but she’ll do more with her youngsters. “My rodeo count is probably going to be higher this year with the new pro rodeo tour—you have to go to 35 of those—and circuit finals are back to counting and I’ve got some young horses that need to be seasoned. I’m going to be pretty busy going to get them fully seasoned. We start back here again in a couple of weeks.”

NOTES: Cp Dark Moon & Amberleigh Moore won Round 3 with a 13.62. The same team won this Round with a 13.59 in 2018 & in 2017 Dm Sissy Hayday & Kinsel-Lockwood set the arena record of 13.11. From our figures, this puts Cp Dark Moon & Moore at 8 round wins in their 4 NFR appearances. Moore was 8th on the ground. With her 2nd place finish in Round 3, Miller has now won $72,615 already while placing in all 3 rounds (including the $10,000 for competing at the NFR) at their first NFR & also now leads the average. It took a 13.90 to place in Round 3; a 13.74 in 2018 & a 13.67 in 2017. 8 mares, 5 geldings & 2 studs were used in Round 3. Tonozzi switched horses & got on Babe On The Chase and placed 4th. Hillman switched horses & rode Dtf Mellowdoc. Wimberley switched horses & rode Streakin Images. Nelson hit the first barrel.

NOTES: Namgis D 33 & Miller again won Round 4 with another fast time of 13.64. In 2018, Famous Cool Whip & Telford won it with a 13.49; in 2017 Cp Dark Moon & Moore won it with a 13.56. This was Miller's second round win and 4th night of placing in a row. She continues to lead the average (by close to a second) and has now won $98,846 and is the leader for the Ram Top Gun Standings (the high money earner in one event of the NFR). After the 4th Round Moore is the second leading earner in barrel racing with $67,962. Miller was 1st out of the ground. It took a 13.88 to place in Round 4; in 2018 & 2017 a 13.76 was the last check. 12 different ladies have now earned checks. 8 mares, 5 geldings & 2 studs were rode again in Round 4. Wimberley switched horses & rode Kn Fabs Mist Of Fame. Rule hit the 2nd barrel; Wimberley hit the 1st & 2nd; Hillman hit the 3rd barrel.

NOTES: Prime Diamond & Lisa Lockhart won Round 10 with a time of 13.71 last out on the ground. In 2018 Hell On The Red & Kylie Weast won the round with a 13.37 & in 2017 Dm Sissy Hayday & Hailey Kinsel-Lockwood won with a 13.17. that run put Lockhart 3rd in the Average and pushed her to $104,346 of earnings in a seemingly quiet NFR. Conrado-Saebens placed yet again to win the average (the only barrel racer with 10 clean runs) and place in 8 out of 10 rounds, winning an NFR high for barrel racers of $171,404. although Kinsel hit a barrel her cushion going into Round 10 pushed her to her 2nd World Title in a row, she placed in 7 out of 10 Rounds to NFR earnings of $141,153. even with a hit barrel in Round 10, E. Miller was the reserve average champion and ended up earning $157,654 at her first NFR. it took a 13.85 to place; in 2018 13.79 & in 2017 a 13.76. Tonozzi switched to Babe On The Chase, Moore switched to Blue Duck Down, Nelson switched to Goodfrenchmanfriday, Lockhart switched to Prime Diamond. Hillman hit 2nd & 3rd, E. Miller hit 1st, Moore hit 3rd, Sharp hit 3rd, Kinsel hit 2nd.

Pete Oen & FC Strait Ruffian Capture $100,000 at Inaugural OKC Futurity Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

When Pete Oen named FC Strait Ruffian as his horse for the OKC Futurity Slot Race, he expected the 3-year-old to make a nice, solid run, but he had put his hopes on her paternal half-brother FC Strait Silk Pants, the star of his fall exhibitions. Yet, it was Ruffian who went to the winner's circle for the $100,000 first-place check.

"I really didn't expect her to win the slot race," said Oen, who wanted to thank the BBR crew for keeping a futurity in Oklahoma City and his parents for all their support. "Nobody expects to win it, but I really didn't think she was my best chance of the two."

Even once Ruffian took the lead with a 15.727 at draw 16, he expected she'd place, but put his chances of winning on the stallion.

"She made a pretty smooth, nice, solid run," he said. "They announced that she was winning it and I thought maybe she'll hang in there for a top three spot."

"As I was walking back to the stalls to get the stud, I thought, 'If she ran a .7, he can run a .5.' That's what I told myself because he was consistently outrunning her, and he ran a 16.5! I thought, 'Oh man, that didn't go how it was supposed to.' I was so mad at myself. I knew I was going to get beat!"

The million dollar futurity rider and trainer sat at his stalls awaiting the outcome. Even though his phone was going off with notifications, he sat silent and only dared one glance at Facebook. "I talked to no one," he chuckled. "When I was winning Diamonds & Dirt on Guys Dashing Jet, I paced the aisle that day. Here, I sat in a chair and literally picked at my fingers the entire time."

THE RUNDOWN w/Pete Oen

FC Strait Ruffian "Ruffian" 15.1 hands, 900-1000 lbs.

"She's not a very big filly."

BIT: Maheu twisted-wire O-ring; warmup in a Pozzi short shank. During the summer, Ruffian had nearly severed her tongue after stepping on the bridle reins when she got away from her handler. She was off two weeks and other than being a little sensitive in the face when she first went back to work after the injury, Oen said you would never know it happened.

HEADGEAR: None "If you see me with a tiedown or bonnet on a horse, I'm struggling," Oen laughed. "Or the horse came with it and I just can't take it off! I try to take them off if I can. I don't think I adjust them properly. I try to do all my horses training free headed. I don't even ride with a martingale or German martingale. Very seldom will I break out a pair of draw reins."

SADDLE: Ammerman - SADDLE PAD: Best Ever Pad - LEG GEAR: Iconoclast SHOEING: Rims on all four. "She has a big dig and push behind the barrels and she's been slipping a little in the backend," said Oen. "Most of my horses are rims on the front and slicks (regular) on the back. I took her to Alvarado to exhibition and she slipped again and I was like 'Dang it! I was going to have rims put on her back feet and I totally forgot!' I called my farrier, Clint Sherlin to see if he had time to change her shoes for me. That Saturday before Oklahoma City, he put rims on her."

FEED: Bluebonnet

HAY: Hay Rite Alfalfa Cubes

SUPPLEMENTS: MVP products, EquiPulmin

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Equi-Resp

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: "I slacked off of them a little already. We went to the BFA and she stayed home and got put out on the walker and turned out. She literally did nothing. For the two weeks from the BFA to OKC, she's probably been ridden five times."

SPONSORS: Outlaw Equine, MVP, EquiResp, Best Ever Pads, Iconoclast, B-Free Of Flies, Ammerman Saddles, Bluebonnet Feeds

a stud that Oen rode to more than $70,000 in earnings. Her dam is the Grade 1 stakes finalist Mira Vista Miracle, by Dean Miracle. Cicman had sent both Ruffian and FC Strait Silk Pants, who is also by Strait Dallas Fuel out of the champion barrel mare and producer Famous Silk Panties, by Dash Ta Fame, to Oen. He'd had the filly since spring and started her on the barrels in April.

"She had a little bit later start than all the rest of them," said Oen. "I liked the filly but I didn't think she'd be ready until the spring futurities at that time. She's never really gone backward in her training. Some of those colts can be a bit of a rollercoaster, but this filly never did. She was just always behind the rest of the herd."

Cicman had told Oen that she had wanted to sell Ruffian, but between the market and the Facebook horse sale crackdown at the time, she hadn't moved. After talking it over with his biggest supporters—his parents Steve and Cathy—Oen decided to buy the filly almost three months ago.

When Oen made the purchase, he was still expecting the filly to be ready for the 2020 spring futurities rather than the first of the season. Her unentered status is largely what made her his pick for the OKC Slot Race.

"Everything I had that was ready was entered in the BFA (held in mid-November) and to be eligible for the slot in Oklahoma City, they couldn't run at BFA," he explained. "The Cicmans had a slot (at OKC) and wanted to run the stud, and I had a slot, so I could run two, and the only other horse I had was my personal horse (Ruffian). I really didn't really feel confident enough to ask anyone else to cough up that $5000. I basically told myself I'm going to eat it. I'll name my own personal horse and whatever happens, happens."

After making his winning run, Oen decided to turn out his first run of the Rookie Futurity.

"It was one of those random things that Tyler (Rivette) and I had talked about," he said.

"Everyone runs those horses back (typically the next day) and they don't do very good. It happens a lot. We had both decided if we ever had a horse that won the slot race, we'd let it sit out (the first go of the next futurity)."

Oen did run her in the second round of the Rookie, and Ruffian turned in a 15.788, which was a handful of spots out of the money in 17th.

"She made another smooth, consistent run," he said. "I had little bit more ground trouble, but she ran another .7."

Although she wasn't the fastest of Oen's 2020 futurity colts, Ruffian was one of the most confident and consistent ones. She never even made her first exhibition run until October.

"She's really chill to ride around," he said. "She's really easy going. She would walk up and shake hands with the Devil. She's not afraid of anything. The cool thing about her is that she doesn't seem to get wound up and off target. She's not the kind that you have to keep your thumb on the whole time. I think that's why she caught the other colts so fast."

Jolene Montgomery & Busby Quarter Horses' Jet Fuel Only Top OKC Rookie Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Veteran trainer Jolene Montgomery has a pretty good record for winning 3-year-old futurities on Oklahoma City dirt, so it should come as no surprise that she claimed the inaugural Rookie Championship at the OKC Futurity, held December 10-15 at Jim Norick Arena in Oklahoma City.

Montgomery and Busby Quarter Horse's homebred Jet Fuel Only ("Axle") collected $13,377 for winning $30,000-added Rookie Futurity for 3-year-olds.

Axle started his futurity career at the BFA SuperStakes in Oklahoma City, where he finished third, earning $23,000. They caught a barrel in a round of the BFA Juvenile Futurity, which kept them out of that average.

Between the BFA and OKC futurities, Montgomery was able to make a couple of jackpots and gain more confidence in the gelding.

"I had figured out some little things," she noted.

In the Rookie at OKC, Montgomery and Axle were sixth in the first go with a 15.656 and second in the second with a 15.485 for a winning average of 31.131.

"The first run I let him go and pick his speed," she explained. "He had maybe a tiny hang up at the first, but other than that the second two felt really good. I didn't feel anything about to come-apart or anything. The second round I didn't send him harder, but I knew he'd run harder. He ran hard. He got a tick by the first, but he was running so hard, I was like 'it's okay; you can make the other two quick.' There's just no substitute for speed. I like it when they can make up for a little mistake especially when they're that young."

Axle is by the Busby's leading barrel horse stallion Blazin Jetolena and out of the Dash Ta Fame mare KR Famous Pearls, a full sister to multiple futurity finalist and Brazilian export, KR The Black Pearl.

Like the previous Busby horses in Montgomery's barn, Axle was started by Brice Manning. After riding the colt, Manning knew that he was probably going to be Montgomery's pick of the 2-year-olds.

"They know I usually like the racier, feely-er colts better," Montgomery noted. "I just went to Brice's house and rode him and the one that Ashley Schafer is riding for them. I liked both of them but I liked this colt more. I only rode them both for 20 minutes. Brice knows what I like and thought I would like him better."

Montgomery took over Axle's training in the early fall of 2018. The gelding trained so well that he got sent home for breaks. She said he's probably been the easiest one she's had to train for the Busbys.

"He's just been really easy," she said. "He's not as ornery as Prince

Another Epic Win for Kassie Mowry and Epic Guy

By Hope Raley

Kassie Mowry and Epic Guy are the posterchild for the 2019 futurity season. They won futurity after futurity and can now add one more win to that incredibly impressive resume. Mowry and the fierce, beautiful son of Epic Leader topped the charts at the OKC Futurity held in Oklahoma City, their final futurity.

Kristen Williams from Louisiana is the proud owner of Epic Guy “King” and she has relished every single victory and run that Mowry and “King” have made this past year.

Williams married her high school sweetheart Clayton Williams and together they share a beautiful daughter Kate who is 5. With a profession as an accountant, Williams real passion is family and her love for horses!

“One summer, my mom bought me a horse, that did not know the barrel pattern, and she dropped me off at the Josey Ranch 7-day summer camp,” said Williams. “I have been riding horses and barrel racing since I was 12.”

Williams admits that she has never tried to quit learning from that moment forward and what a journey it has been!

Williams rode “King’s” maternal granddam Shesa Drifters Kid all through high school and some in college. “She was one of the fastest, most free running horses that I have ever ridden. She was also ridiculously honest and had a huge heart!”

Christmas 2005, Clayton bought his wife a Christmas gift that all barrel racers would kill for- a breeding to Frenchmans Guy. That breeding to her mare Shesa Drifters Kid produced Frenchilicious-the dam to Epic Guy.

“Frenchy had all the same traits as her mother, but she had more ability to really get up under herself and turn,” Williams explained. “As she grew up and became competition age, our family moved, started a new business and decided to have a baby of our own. She was run very sparingly due to these reasons but was/is a very nice 1D mare!”

Circa 2012, Kassie Mowry explodes in the futurity world aboard a steel grey beautiful stallion by the name of Epic Leader. Williams would try to tune in via webcast every time she knew they were running.

“I was in love with Epic Leader and it was the perfect time to breed Frenchy. I had found the perfect match!”

Williams describes “King” as very docile and an old soul from the moment he was brought into this world. “He never got scared, even in situations that you would expect him to. He always wanted to be around you and he loved attention. I guess you never really know if you have a standout until they prove themselves, but we knew that he had the mind and there really wasn’t any reason that he shouldn’t have the physical ability.”

She laughs thinking about when “King” was just a baby, loping around the pasture when her other colts were running like wild indians, wondering if he had any speed. However, Williams explained that it didn’t take long for him to show them that he would have all the speed that he would need to be a barrel horse. Today, “King” is the same old soul who still craves attention but is quite a bit more confident and fuller of himself!

When asked about “King’s” futurity year, Williams explains that it has been nothing short of a fairytale. She explains that she has been taken back, time and time again, at how solid he has been all year.

“To start out winning the first round of the juvenile at the BFA in his very first competition run and then ending his futurity year with the BFA Futurity Championship along with the OKC Futurity Championship is so very special and surreal.”

When asked how champion futurity trainer Kassie Mowry came into the picture, Williams admitted that when she bred Frenchy to Epic Leader, it was her dream all along that Mowry would ride the resulting offspring. Although Williams wasn’t sure how she was going to make that happen, she was going to do everything in her power to make that dream come to fruition.

“I had been in contact with both Kassie and Karma Loftin throughout the breeding process and just tried to keep that communication avenue open,” said Williams. “When Kassie agreed to start King, I knew it was a huge opportunity for my horse! I have watched Kassie run barrels for a long time and always admired her incredible timing and ability to communicate with horses. What I did not see until King was in her program was her unmatched work ethic which gave me an even greater appreciation and understanding of all of Kassie’s success.”

As far as the future goes, “King” will start preparing to run at The American Semi Finals with Mowry and he will also enter some derby’s and hopefully some rodeos. At some point, “King” will come home to Williams, but with a young daughter and a full-time job, Williams biggest joy right now is being “King’s” and Mowry’s biggest cheerleaders.

When asked if she could tell “King” one thing that he could understand, Williams quickly answered “THANK YOU”.

“Thank you for making my dreams come true, thank you for the people that he has introduced me to, thank you for taking me on this amazing journey and thank you for making this past year a year I will never forget!”

Victory for Kelsey Lutjen-Treharne and VF Chasin Cars

By Hope Raley

Collinsville, Texas trainer Kelsey Lutjen-Treharne had a week she will most likely never forget. Not only did the talented trainer jockey VF Chasin Cars, owned by Kaycie Kayser, to the OKC Futurity Derby Championship, but one of her most decorated past futurity colts KN Fabs Gift Of Fame and jockey Ivy Conrado-Saebens were crowned the 2019 WPRA Reserve World Champions and 2019 WNFR Average Champions. A week like that is something that every trainer dreams about but few see come to fruition.

Treharne jockeyed the 5-year-old Eddie Stinson daughter out of Chase This Ivory by Ivory James to the tune of $7,877 for their efforts while in Oklahoma City.

"[VF Chasin Cars] is an extremely nice mare," said Lutjen. "She has a very aggressive attitude which is what makes her a winner, in my opinion. She is also a go-getter and puts all of her heart and grit into running barrels."

Bred by Danny Ray of Victory Farms and trained and ran for half the year by Emma Abbott, Lutjen-Treharne added the gritty little mare to her string after Ft. Smith. VF Chasin Cars "Cuddles" lifetime earnings now exceeds $125,000.

"The Eddie's are all so gifted and possess so much natural talent. They are born barrel horses."

Lutjen says their natural go-getter attitude along with their aggressiveness fits her style of horses, "They really seem to fit me, and I seem to fit them! It has been fun for sure."

Lutjen-Treharne and "Cuddles" placed second in the qualifying round of the OKC Futurity Derby with a smokin' fast time of 15.372 good enough for $1,400 and a spot in the finals.

Bettering their time in the finals by over a tenth-of-a-second, Lutjen and "Cuddles" came out on top and won the average with their total time on two runs of 30.611 worth $6,477.

"I am very thankful for the opportunity to jockey such a talented mare," explained Lutjen. "And although it was the first year for the OKC Futurity, everything was smoothly run and very organized. I will definitely be back next year!"

When asked about the special mare that jumpstarted her very successful futurity training career, KN Fabs Gift Of Fame "J-Lo's" most recent success with jockey Ivy Conrado-Saebens, Lutjen-Treharne explained that the great mare has been a natural talent since the very start. "Wow is all I can say," said Treharne. "It is so cool to see. J-Lo has always had a ton of try and she is as honest as the

Aint Seen Me Yet and Poloncic Win over $16K at All In

The Barrel Racing Report caught up with the winner of the Race 2 of the All In Barrel Race happening in Las Vegas, during the NFR. Aint Seen Me Yet & Maggie Poloncic won just over $16k in Race 2 while winning the Showdown Round and have been winning at rodeo and barrel races all year long.

Poloncic: The first round I wanted to just make a nice smooth run since she has been on vacation since October. She qualified me back on that run placing 3rd in the round. The second round I tried too hard to be a bit faster and we took a barrel down. In the final round my only goal was to get her set up going to the first barrel a bit better and then just stay out of her way! She's very automatic so as long as I do my part getting her set up to first, I'm no longer a part of the equation...she does it all.

BRR: What makes Aint Seen Me Yet so special and makes her clock such fast times?

Poloncic: Puff's acceleration is unreal! It feels like this mare can go from standing still to a full run in about 1 stride. She's also extremely efficient in her foot placement. She rarely takes any more steps than she has to, unless I get in her way. She is also very, very serious about her job. Everything is a competition to her and she has taken running barrels very seriously from day one.

BRR: Tell us about little about Aint Seen Me Yet and what are some of her big wins in her lifetime so far?

Poloncic: She is so special to us! We have had her since she was a yearling and we knew she was special then. She's absolutely an alpha mare and knows what she likes, what she doesn't and no one will convince her otherwise. She doesn't connect with other people very easily; She's very much a "one-person" horse and I feel extremely lucky to be that one person.

She was started by Brian Welch. He worked cows and night calved on her up in Montana the winter of her 3 year old year. It made her so mentally tough! We held her out of the futurities to let her mature a bit more and I'm so glad we did! She started competing when she was 6. Since then she is a 100% 1D/ProRodeo money earner. She won a silver medal at the Days of 47 Cowboy Games this year just behind Hailey and Sister which was like a fairytale to me. She won several Montana ProRodeo Circuit rodeos this year and qualified me for my first circuit finals.

She's still so young but shows up for me in every set up. She gives me so much confidence, my only hope is she knows how special she is to me!

BRR: How do you typically prepare for your runs on her mentally and warm up wise?

Poloncic: The way I prepare on the ground as far as saddling and wrapping never changes. I do it in the same order every single time. It's my way of getting "in the zone". I'm constantly watching her as I get her ready to make sure she's not telling me that she's sore somewhere or not feeling good. I do a bit of massage before I saddle to relax her. I also feel like putting my hands on her helps us connect as a team. Once I get on her our warm up varies. Depending on how hyped up she gets or what the warm up set up looks like I may just walk that day. At most, we trot figure eights and reverse arch's. Either way I try to keep her off by herself so she stays calm; being around a bunch of other horses makes her nervous.

BRR: What was it like running there in Vegas during the NFR in that environment?

Poloncic: Being in Vegas during the NFR is crazy! There is so much energy everywhere you go! How those 15 girls that make the Finals aren't just so exhausted by the end is a mystery to me! They have got to be super women!

BRR: What are your barrel racing plans for 2020 for you and your horse?

THE RUNDOWN w/Maggie Poloncic

Aint Seen Me Yet "Puff" 14.3 hands, 1100 lbs.

BIT: Dave Elliot Myllymaki long shank gag

SADDLE: Master Lightweight

SADDLE PAD: 3/4" 5 Star

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine Legacy2 and Bells on the front, polos on the back

FEED: Bluebonnet Omega Force

HAY: Free choice grass 24/7, alfalfa morning and night

SUPPLEMENTS: Equine Omega Gold, MVP InSync, OxyGen Mag 44, Zesterra, Equine Natural Care Herbs, and Summit Joint

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Flexineb, Pulse PEMF, PHT Magnetics, Back On Track, RevitaVet redlight system, Draw It Out and Lamé Away lineaments and muds, Cloud boots. Puff stays barefoot on the front and back.

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIME: A LOT of long trotting next to the 4 wheeler (I feel like she really reaches and stretches when I'm off her back), I rarely work the pattern but may set up a couple barrels and lope or trot different patterns on them to keep myself sharp.

THANK YOU'S: First of all my mom, dad, brother and boyfriend for their willingness to drop everything they are doing to help me. My vets: Dr. Ted Vlahos and Dr. Scott Lindford for always being a text or call away. My natural hoof care specialist: Rick Kranz and his wife Jan. Lisa and Tut Miladinovich who own Aint Seen Nothin Yet.

SPONSORS: Master Saddles, Equine Omega Gold, Rodeo Buddy, RevitaVet and Equus CBD

Poloncic: For 2020 we are going to enter some bigger rodeos and try to go down the road a little more. Rodeo is so hard and if I had my way I'd just go to big barrel races. But Puff has so much talent I'd feel like I'm doing her a disservice if I didn't haul her down the rodeo road and let her show the world how awesome she is.

Choate and Miss JB 1214 Hit the Jackpot in Vegas

Miss JB 1214 and Bayleigh Choate are no stranger to being in the top of the results wherever they go; and their trip to Las Vegas for the All In Barrel Race was no different. This lightning fast team won the Showdown Round for Race 3 by almost 2 tenths and took the $15k check home. The Barrel Racing Report caught up with her for a few questions about her win and horse.

BRR: Can you walk us through your runs at the All In Barrel Race 3?

Choate: In the very first All In Race this year, Side Chick and I set a new arena record the first race. It was very exciting! Then in Race 3, we came back to break that arena record again with a 14.172, but we drug over the second barrel. I was bummed, but I knew that we had one more shot at it! We ran a 14.164 and ended up second in the 1D behind another amazing run made by Annaliese Allshouse who was a 14.057. Going into the finals, I was kind of nervous because I had been dragging over the second barrel all week. I remember telling myself to focus on making my run and the rest would take care of itself. Side Chick went in and turned the first great, and then going to the second barrel she was making me work to keep it up. She turned the third and we stopped the clock at a 14.194 which ended up winning the Showdown Round.

BRR: What makes Miss JB 1214 so special and makes her clock such fast times?

Choate: Side Chick has a big heart and that is what makes her so special. She always tries. Another reason that she is so special is because I truly believe that Side Chick chose me as her person. We got her from Patricia Aldridge, and she was meant to be a broodmare because she kept bucking everyone who tried to ride her off. Her and I just 'click' and understand one another.

BRR: Tell us about little about Miss JB 1214 and what are some of her big wins in her lifetime so far?

Choate: Some of our big wins include winning the WBRL World Finals, Youth World Finals, All In Barrel Race, Battle in the Saddle in Tunica, Mississippi, and several more wins. I would say that one of the most memorable weekends on Side Chick was at the IFYR Finals where we ended up 69th in the first round, 2nd in the second round and 4th in the average. No other horse overcame what she did that weekend, coming from as far back as we did to end up 4th overall.

BRR: How do you typically prepare for your runs on her mentally and warm up wise?

Choate: I just remind myself that we know one another and that no matter where we are competing, it is just three barrels and dirt. For our warmup routine, I don't overdo it on Side Chick. I do a lot of long trotting and getting her to move off my legs. Then a couple drags before I run, I get off and stretch her and put her boots on.

BRR: What was it like running there Vegas during the NFR in that environment?

Rider/Owner: Bayleigh Choate; Breeder: Joe & Dee Lynn Braman

Choate: It was a lot of fun running in that environment, against previous NFR qualifiers and other great barrel racers. But like I said, I don't try to over analyze any run and just remember that it's three barrels. The All In has given barrel racers a great opportunity and it was an experience that I will never forget!

BRR: What are your barrel racing plans for 2020 for you and your horse?

Choate: We qualified for The American Semi Finals and my goal is to make it to AT&T. I would also like to redeem myself at the Jr. World Finals and I also plan to go back to Youth Finals. Of course, someday I would like to try and qualify to the NFR! If Side Chick is happy and still doing what she loves, we will give it a try!

THE RUNDOWN w/Bayleigh Choate

Miss JB 1214 "Side Chick" 15-15. 1 hands, 1000 lbs.
BIT: L&W Jim Warner with a chain mouthpiece and a very loose leather tie-down
SADDLE: Double J Saddlery
SADDLE PAD: Five Star Saddle Pads and Best Ever Saddle Pads
LEG GEAR: Brand X Boots
FEED: Purina Ultium and Renew Gold
HAY: Alfalfa
SUPPLEMENTS: Redmond Daily Gold Stress Relief, OE Game Changer, OE Ultra Oil, OE Joint Juice
ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Side Chick gets time on the TheraPlate, Equi Resp treatments, and Magna Wave treatments
CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIME: Most of the time, Side Chick goes on the walker. If I ride her and must do any dry work, I walk her around the barrels making sure that we are staying wide.
THANK YOUS & SPONSORS: I need to thank my parents, my trainer Nicole Monroe, and Patricia Aldridge. Those four people are why we are where we are today! I also would like to thank my sponsors Equi-Resp, Redmond Equine, Outlaw Equine, Brand X and Dazzle Rock Tack.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Christmas brings out the best in most people! I notice people smiling more, greeting strangers they normally wouldn't speak to, and generally having a spirit of good will.

People standing in line at the post office begin talking with each other. It's nice! It's like on Dec. 1 we change for the better.

Then on Dec. 26, we're exhausted from being nice, and we revert back. LOL! Why can't we sustain that good will? Because we need to practice it for more than just 30 days or it won't become a habit.

Jesus is the same...yesterday, today and forever. Heb. 13:8.

If we want our life to go well, we imitate Him, right? I want to cultivate good habits in my life. I want to be more Christ like, each and every day of the year. I think I'll sing more..."Grandma got ran over by a reindeer!" LOL! Blessings on you!
