Flying With An Angels Wings - Mary Walker Wins The World

By Tanya Randall

When Mary Walker left her Ennis, Texas, home more than two weeks ago, headed to Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, she burst into tears.

Everything was ready, but her son Reagon wasn't in the truck. It was one of those bad moments that she's experienced ever since losing her son in a car accident on April 23, 2011.

She pulled herself together knowing Reagon was with her in spirit. He is with her, always.

"I feel him," said the newly crowned 2012 WPRA World Champion Barrel Racer. "I felt him this whole year. You have your bad days and your good days, but he always made me smile at the end of the day. I actually spent 21 years with him and enjoyed every minute of it. I'm so glad to have had those 21 years. I know he is in Heaven, and I know he is protecting us. I couldn't have done it without him."

Aboard the fleet-footed, big, brown barrel-racing machine Perculatin, Walker jumped from third in the World to first with $274,233 in earnings. She broke Sherry Cervi's NFR earnings record and captured the RAM Top Gun Award—a new truck for having the money won at this year's Finals—with an impressive $146,941.

"After I won the pickup, they drove me around the arena and every one stood up for a standing ovation, Man, I was in tears," said Walker, 53.

Walker started her WNFR experience with a bang, making three straight trips to the South Point Hotel & Casino for a go-round buckle. She made another trip for winning Round 7. She had one "oops" the entire WNFR in Round 4 when she got the second barrel.

"All year long I've made four or five runs and I'd hit a barrel," she said. "My goal at the NFR was to make 10 clean runs. Well, the fourth round, I failed at that. It was my fault. I should have never hit that barrel. I thought if I could do six runs in a row without hitting a barrel, Bryon will finally get off my back!"

As she moved up in the standings and average, the pressure to make clean runs grew.

"In Round 8, I knew I had to place," she said. "I knew I had to go in and make a solid run. When Round 9 was over, I pretty much knew I had it won. I knew in Round 10, I just had to make a smooth run and make him do right. The 10th run, I safetied up a whole lot. I tried to get him to all his spots. It wasn't the prettiest run in the world, but it worked. Then they told me that I won the Top Gun award; I could not believe that!"

She said Round 10 was her most emotional night of the WNFR.

"I thought that I would be emotional the first Grand Entry and the first round, but the 10th was the emotional one," she explained. Her son's best friend and rodeo buddy, Tuff Copper, told her since she had her world title that he was going to have to win his too. Growing up, Copper and Reagon hoped to win dual world championships as their fathers had. In 1981, Roy Cooper won the Calf Roping World Championship and Bryon Walker won the Steer Wrestling title. The two took a picture and each had a copy in their house. When the younger Cooper and Walker won their respective events at the Texas High School Finals Rodeo, they too took a picture to memorialize the event. Their plan was to duplicate the feats of their fathers at the WNFR one day.

Reagon Walker Foundation Calendars Available

Gold-buckle couple Byron and Mary Walker are selling calendars to raise money for the Reagon Walker Foundation in honor of their late son. The goal of the foundation is to provide college scholarships to high school rodeo athletes.

The 2013 Calendars feature the WPRA's Top 15. Each barrel racer donated a photo from their biggest win from the season. "I'm July since I won Calgary," said Mary Walker. "Nikki Steffes is January for winning Fort Worth. They're not all barrel pictures either. Benette Little's is from Jackson, Miss. She's running home asking her horse for his life."

The calendars available now will autographed by the newly crowned WPRA World Champion Mary Walker. The cost is $20. Checks can be made payable to and be sent to the Reagon Walker Foundation, 1401 Crisp Rd., Ennis, TX 75519.

Corkill's final-night comeback highlights dramatic WNFR

LAS VEGAS – Team ropers split the world championship. The outcome simply wasn't the one that appeared most likely. The possibility of a heeler from one team winning the world championship with a heeler from another partnership became more and more real as the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo wore on, but in a final-round stunner, heeler Jade Corkill came from behind to capture his first gold buckle along with Chad Masters, who won a world championship for the second time.

If the NFR had ended after nine rounds, a split championship would have occurred between Masters and Patrick Smith. However, Driggers and Corkill put together a 4.0-second run that put the pressure on Masters and Clay O'Brien Cooper and Trevor Brazile and Smith.

Masters and Cooper roped their final-round steer in 5.2 seconds, good enough to place fifth in the round, and Driggers and Corkill's round-winning run held up when Brazile and Smith posted a time of 10.0 seconds.

The result? Masters, thanks to a first-place result in the average, finished with $196,099, topping Driggers by $1,211. And Corkill put $34,159 in his pocket on the final night of the NFR to finish with $190,797, topping Cooper by $1,131.

While the team roping was tight, no race was closer than the saddle bronc riding.

Cody DeMoss was the only cowboy to ride all 10 horses. He won the 10th round with an 86-point trip aboard Smith, Harper & Morgan Rodeo's Painted Feather, winning the average with 798.5 points on 10.

But Milford, Utah, cowboy Jesse Wright tied for fourth in the round and finished sixth in average, hanging on to win his first gold buckle by just $796.93.

Three of ProRodeo's world champions from 2011 pulled off a repeat just one year later as steer wrestler Luke Branquinho won his fourth gold buckle and bareback rider Kaycee Feild and tie-down Tuf Cooper each backed up their first.

Branquinho had a steer fall on him in the week leading up to the NFR, then couldn't get down from his horse, taking a no-time in the very first round.

None of it mattered in the end as the Los Alamos, Calif., cowboy cashed in seven of the final nine rounds, including a Round 4 victory, to win the world by $13,898 over Casey Martin.

Branquinho became the first bulldogger to successfully defend his world championship since Ote Berry in 1990-91 and joined Berry and Jim Bynum in second place all-time with four steer wrestling world titles.

His hazer and friend Les Shepperson won the average with a total of 48.6 seconds on 10 head, rising from 11th to third over the course of 10 days.

No cowboy in any event was more dominant in Las Vegas than Feild. The Payson, Utah, bareback rider placed in eight of 10 rounds, won at least a share of a first-place check in three and finished with $276,850 in season earnings – topping Will Lowe by more than $56,000.

Bobby Mote, who finished third in the average and the world standings this year, was the last bareback rider to win back-to-back world championships in 2009-10. Feild's father, Lewis, also accomplished the feat in 1985-86.

Cooper joined his father in the club of cowboys who have successfully defended world titles, as well. Roy Cooper won six gold buckles in tie-down roping, including everyone from 1980-1984. After Justin Maass posted a 13.2-second run, Cooper knew a workmanlike run would help him capture another title, and his 7.9-second effort took second in the round and moved him to second in the average.

Cooper finished with $232,885 in 2012, topping Maass by more than $35,000.

Bull rider Cody Teel came to his first NFR atop the world standings and he left in the same fashion, though he had to fight tooth and nail, while losing hold of that lead, to get there.

Teel battled with three-time World Champion J.W. Harris over the entire 10 days, with the two of them combining to ride seven bulls. Neither made the eight-second whistle in Round 10, but Teel's sixth-place finish – Harris finished seventh – in the average made the difference.

Teel edged Harris by $1,056.

Team roper and tie-down roper Trevor Brazile clinched his 17th career gold buckle earlier in the week when he wrapped up his 10th all-around championship. He set a record by winning his seventh straight all-around gold buckle. He finished with $298,626, topping Bobby Mote by more than $88,000. --Courtesy of www.prorodeo.com

"Tuff and I have a very close relationship. Tuff was a pallbearer at Reagon's funeral. Before the Grand Entry, Tuff came up to me and we probably cried for six-seven minutes and just hugged each other. It was pretty emotional. After we both won our Championships, we cried and hugged again."

Big Brown Machine

Walker's earthbound wings were found on the long, smooth stride of "Latte."

The 8-year-old bay, gelding by two-time WNFR sire and longtime leading barrel horse sire Dash For Perks was bred for greatness. Bred by barrel racer Reijan Pickens, Kiowa, Okla., Latte was out of a third-generation barrel horse Curiosity Corners, by Silver Lucky Buck.

Cheri Cogburn had asked Walker to season Latte. In the beginning, Walker wondered if the big, gelding would ever "run." He has since proved to her that yes, he can run.

"I actually placed on him a little in the fall of 2010," recalled Walker. "I placed on him at Liberty and Seguin, some of those small Texas rodeos. In 2011, I placed a lot in the spring."

At the pro rodeo in Crosby, Texas, just weeks after burying her son, Latte fell on top of Walker, shattering her pelvis, breaking her hip in two places, fracturing two vertebrae and two toes. She was in a wheelchair for nearly four months.

Unbeknownst to Walker, her husband purchased Latte shortly after the accident, hoping the horse would heal her wounded soul and give a reason to mend her broken body.

By Odessa in January, Latte was "packing" Mary through the pattern. By Guymon in May, the duo were firing full force and steadily marched up the standings with win after win.

Latte was chosen as the AQHA/WPRA Barrel Horse of the Year by Walker's peers.

After 10 runs at the WNFR, Latte seems ready to go again.

Something About Mary

While her grandfather raised horses, Walker grew up in town. When she and her older sister started riding and competing in play-days they boarded their horses at a nearby stable.

In high school, Walker started to rodeo, winning the barrel racing in the Lone Star High School Rodeo Association. She later joined the forerunner to the UPRA, an open-amateur rodeo association based in East Texas, and won three barrel racing titles in the late 1970s.

Walker met her husband in 1983, her rookie year in the WPRA. "Actually, he saw me at Houston, but we didn't meet until Beaumont, Texas, in April," she recalled. "We were married in June of '83. We didn't know each other very long. It will be 30 years in June. "We've helped each other out a lot. He gives and I give. We've always had a great relationship. We've always kind of done our own thing. I went to the barrel races and he did what he enjoyed doing. We've always got along. Since Reagon and my accident, he's been like glued to me. That's kind of unusual. Maybe he'll let go a little now, but I doubt it."

Walker qualified for her first Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo that year as well. She qualified again in 1994.

Her husband continued to rodeo professionally for much of the 1980s, but retired in 1988 before returning to the arena in the late 1990s. Bryon retired completely in 2001.

"He stayed home and had an insurance business that we worked at," Mary Walker explained. "We just did stuff with Reagon—baseball games, pee wee football, junior rodeo. We had a lot of fun staying home and doing that with him."

Walker barrel raced when she could and Reagon often joked that she was the queen of the 17D.

"It was a joke between us. 17 was his favorite number, it was his football number in high school," she said. "When we got to Vegas, our hotel number was D17."

Angel's Wings

The WNFR was a Cinderella Story for the ages with family, faith and love at the forefront.

Walker said one of the profound moments of the WNFR was during the contestants' meeting before the event started.

"One of the requests from all the contestants was that we wanted a prayer before the rodeo introduction," she said. "We had heard it had been taken out last year but no one really realized it. We asked for it and they did it, and we all were very, very thankful."

Walker was also thankful from the support of her fellow competitors, fans and her "support staff."

"I've had a great crew," she said. "It took a lot to keep me going. I have to say thank you to Brenda Barnes (an NFR qualifier herself back in the 1980s). She came out here and spent a week away from her husband and family to take care of me. She kept me going and kept me in line. She helped me with Latte and took care of him every night after I ran. She always made sure he had his ice boots and was cooled down properly. I couldn't have done without her. I felt so bad that she had to leave Saturday night because they had their barrel race Sunday in Groesbeck. She didn't get to be in the pictures with me and see my saddle, but she's going to get to when I get home."

Her horseshoer Charlie Thompson flew in as scheduled on Tuesday. It was perfect timing because Latte had thrown a shoe on Monday night.

Walker also had her “boy toys” – Justin Ament and Clayton Hass—to keep her on schedule and help take care of Latte as well. Her countless fans may just have a chance to relive Walker’s magical WNFR experience. Walker had a camera crew with her through the duration of the WNFR.

“They’re doing a documentary on me,” laughed Walker. “It was depending on how I did at the Finals if they did the documentary or I’d have a bunch of great home movies.”

The project is a joint venture between Walker’s husband and Barry Tubb (Jasper Faint of Lonesome Dove fame).

“They are doing a three-minute pilot to show a couple of people and Patrick Wayne is doing the voice over,” noted Byron.

Walker said after a good night’s sleep on Sunday she was ready to take on another WNFR.

“It really hit me last night,” she said on Monday. “I went to bed at 7 last night and woke up at 6 this morning and thought I’d do this again and again if I get the chance.

“I enjoyed every minute of it. I was so lucky to get to go the South Point four times and get my family and friends up on stage with me. I’m so blessed.

“It was the most amazing time of life. I’ve worked so hard my whole life to become a great barrel racer. It’s been a lot of fun. I hope it doesn’t end today because I still have a lot left and Latte does too.”

They ended up second in the WNFR Average. They wrapped up the WNFR with earnings of $146,941 breaking the WNFR Earnings record set by Sherry Cervi and Mp Meter My Hay back in 2009 of $146,100. Those winnings pushed her season earnings to $274,233. Her WNFR earnings were the most of any contestant in any event at the WNFR so that netted her the Top Gun Award which is a Ram Truck. On top of all that, she also won the Jerry Ann Taylor award for the best dressed and received another $5000.

Carlee Pierce and Rare Dillion smoked another fast run of 13.57 to win Round 10. They ran the two fastest time of the WNFR (13.57 in Rd 10 and 13.51 in Rd 6).

Brenda Mays ran a solid 14.12 to clinch their WNFR Average Championship and push their earnings at the WNFR to $55,950. They were the only team to keep all 30 barrels upright.

Lisa Lockhart and An Oakie With Cash placed second in the round to finish up a solid WNFR. Their solid week also netted them 3rd in the Average. In fact they were the second high money earning team of the barrel racing, earning a whopping $107,875.

Merry Christmas from the Barrel Racing Report!

Facts and Figures from the 2012 NFR

- Mary Walker won the World with her total year end earnings of $274,233.

- Mary Walker with her mount Perculatin won a record setting $146,941 at the 2012 WNFR breaking the previous record of $146,100 held by Sherry Cervi and Mp Meter My Hay in 2009.

- Mary Walker won 4 Rounds (Rounds 1, 2, 3 and 7) and placed in a total of 8 rounds. Lisa Lockhart also placed in 8 rounds, only she did it in 8 straight, Rounds 3-10.

- Mary Walker, who is married to 1981 World Champion Steer Wrestler Byron Walker, became the 4th barrel racer to be part of a World Champion husband/wife team. She joined Sherry Combs Johnson (1962) who was married to Benny Combs, the 1955 Steer Wrestling World Champion; Jimmie Gibbs Munroe (1975), married to 1986 Saddle Bronc World Champion Bud Monroe; and Connie Combs Kirby (1976), married to 1978 Bull Riding World Champion Butch Kirby.

- Brenda Mays on Judge Buy Cash were the only team to keep all 30 barrels up and were the 2012 WNFR Average Champion.

- To put the level of competition in perspective, we figured up the number of 13 second runs in recent times. This year, 2012, there were 52 total clean runs in the 13 second range. The only year in recent times with more 13 second runs was 2010, that year there was 65. In 2011, there were 39, in 2009 also 39, in 2008 there were 36 and in 2007 again 39.

- The 6 NFR Rookies (Mary Walker, Kaley Bass, Lee Ann Rust, Trula Churchill, Nikkie Steffes, and Christy Loffin) earned a total of $323,476.56 while the 9 returning NFR competitors (Lisa Lockhart, Carlee Pierce, Brenda Mays, Lindsay Sears, Kelli Tolbert, Sherry Cervi, Benette Barrington-Little, Brittany Pozzi, and Christina Richman) earned a total of $442,148.41. That makes the average earnings for the rookies $53,912.76 and the average earnings for returning competitors $49,127.01.

- This was the 15th NFR for Sherry Cervi second only to the 19 NFRs of Charmayne James.

- This year's NFR participants owned 7 world titles going into it, Sherry Cervi (3) and Lindsay Sears and Brittany Pozzi with 2 each.

- Each of the 5 clean runs Carlee Pierce and Rare Dillion had at the WNFR netted them 1st or 2nd in the round on their way to a $79,801.69 payday. They won Rounds 6 & 10 and were second in Rounds 4, 7, and 8.

Congratulations to Emily Efurd for winning 2012 WPRA Rookie of the Year and finishing #23 in the world standings.

RESPONSE products™

"I'm really liking Revitalize™! I've had my young horse out on the road with me on it and it's kept her from stressing so badly and going off her feed because of it. I know it works because almost every time I hauled her before, she would go off her feed. At the end of the season it even helped Fanny (Fantasia Fame) with this too.

I use the Cetyl M® Joint Action Cream for Horses on my horses' hocks, stifles, and pasterns every time before I run. I think it really helps to loosen them up if they've been standing around and are real tight or have been in the trailer for a long time. I also have my three main horses, including Fanny, on Cetyl M® granules for Horses and I think it has significantly reduced their maintenance." -Emily Efurd*

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison

Amidst all the glitter and frenzied activities, let's not forget the meaning of Christmas. It's about Jesus.

The secular word and the devil try to obscure Jesus by bombarding us with scenes and songs about Santa Claus, reindeer and a famous snowman. The stores use every advertising gimmick to get sales. Some non-Christians use their influence to get Nativity scenes removed. Countless Christmas parties are given by people who don't acknowledge Jesus.

Stop and think about the real meaning of the birth of Jesus. Read in Luke Chapter 2 verses 8 through 15 where an angel appeared to shepherders to announce the Divine birth. This is important.

The angel said, "Don't be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be for all people. For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord." I emphasize the word SAVIOR. That's why Jesus came. He's not just a cuddly little baby. He's alive today, having risen from the dead after suffering a horrible death by crucifixion. He came to give us salvation. He was born to die for our sins so that we might have eternal life after death and also so that we can enjoy life abundantly today.

Enjoy the Christmas season but don't forget to spend some quiet time talking to God. The world is trying very hard to take God out of everything so we, as Christians, need to keep Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior, in the forefront. He IS the reason for the season. Merry Christmas!!
