Bassett & Buggin To Be Fab Top Classic Equine/BRN4D Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

In just his fifth run on the clock, Buggin To Be Fab ("Cool Whip") clocked a 17.378 on a WPRA Standard Pattern to win the Slot Race at the Classic Equine / BRN4D Futurity in Buckeye, Ariz., for owners Jordan Bassett and Elaine Nevill. The victory, which was determined by the faster of their two runs in the qualifying rounds of the regular futurity, was worth $20,000.

"He was absolutely flawless in his turns," said Bassett, who rode the 4-year-old gelding. "Thank Goodness, because on the way home he got between the first and second barrel and he wanted to turn. He didn't know where to go, where to run to. He was stopping and scotching. I was like 'just a couple of more jumps. Get past the eye.' He scotched me pretty bad at the line, so when I looked up and saw he ran a .3, I couldn't believe it."

Bassett and Cool Whip, who won the C-N Futurity on their first two outings, also finished second in the Classic Equine Futurity average for additional earnings of $8,249, thanks to another run of 17.3.

"In the second round, he smoked the first, and I didn't ride him the best that I could," said Bassett, who won the 2014 Pac West Futurity on the Dash Ta Fame gelding Cocomo Jo. "The only thing that was on my mind was leaving them standing and stay in the average. He's very turny, loves to run barrels and he's trying really hard, and I knew he was going to turn that second barrel really hard. I was thinking just get him by it. I rode him really hard to the second and I didn't help him as much as I should have on the backside and he stepped off it pretty good. It put me a little out of position going to the third. I was thinking 'just leave one more standing!' We got around it pretty good and he ran home a lot better. He knew where to run to and where he was going."

Cool Whip is a gelded son of leading barrel horse sire Frenchmans Fabulous, who sired last year's Greg Olson Memorial Futurity Champion KN Fabs Gift Of Fame. He is out of East Moon, a daughter of former leading barrel horse sire Marthas Six Moons out of Saint Bugs, by Bugs Alive In 75. Cool Whip was bred by Kenny Nichols, but doesn't bear the KN initials due to being sold as weanling to Megan Lewis.

Lewis had trained Cool Whip until last April when he was sold to Kelsey Lutjen. Bassett bought him in September.

"When the opportunity came up for me to buy him, I knew I had to take it," said Bassett. "I had a good family friend who wanted to invest in an opportunity like this, so I called and told her about him. Together, Elaine Nevill and I made the purchase.

"She's a really good friend of mine. Our friendship is a huge blessing. I'm very thankful for her and all she's done for me."

Nevill, who lives in Iola, Texas, was on hand to see her horse win, noted Bassett, "You probably could have heard her and my mom

Brittany Pozzi's Rookie Champion Lances Ugly Boy Laid To Rest at 28

Lances Ugly Boy, the unassuming brown gelding that set Brittany Pozzi on the path to barrel racing stardom, passed away January 13 at the ripe old age of 28. In 2003, the gelding, affectionately known as "Leroy," made Pozzi the first and only Rookie Champion to head into the National Finals Rodeo in the No. 1 position in the World Standings.

"He made me the rider that I am today," said the two-time World Champion Barrel Racer. "He taught me how to ride a setty horse. He was tough. I carried a whip in both hands. I had ride my butt off to get him around the barrels. It was always in the back of my mind that if I didn't, he would duck."

Bred by David L. Hurst, Victoria, Texas, Leroy was by Double Victor out of Bar's Baby, by Some More Bars. After flunking out of Western pleasure training in David Lawrence's barn in Tomball, Texas, Leroy was purchased as a $2,500 barrel prospect by Marcheta Garrett, Hempstead, Texas.

"I had him a year-and-a-half," Garrett said. "I had taken him to some jackpots and won a bunch. He was really setty. As soon as he learned what he was doing, you had to send him as hard as you could from the North 40. You had to just drive him at a barrel. He had all the talent in the world, but he was just unbelievably setty. It took a special kind of person to get him by a barrel."

From Garrett's barn, Leroy went on the tough Texas youth rodeo circuit, running barrels, poles and straights (Figure 8 barrels). In the spring of 2000, the Pozzi family purchased Leroy, then 13, from the Causey family of Hallettsville, Texas, for their youngest daughter Brooke.

"The people we bought him from sold him because the girl wanted to go to the pro rodeos and didn't think he'd be enough," recalled Pozzi. "I think we paid $10- or $12,000 for him for Brooke. She couldn't get him by the barrels. He actually started ducking with her."

In 2001, Pozzi started riding Leroy when she was a high school junior.

"I won all 12 high school rodeos on him," she said, "and then my senior year I won every high school rodeo that I rode him at—I had another little mare that I rode at a few of them."

In 2002, Pozzi won the barrel racing championships at the Texas High School Finals Rodeo and National High School Finals Rodeo. That fall she headed to Texas A&M University. As a member of the rodeo team, she won first at half of her college rodeos, earning champion barrel racer honors in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's Southern Region.

Pozzi had purchased her WPRM permit in November 2002 and got her card in February 2003. That summer when Pozzi and her hauling partner Laura Jane Hyde showed up in Reno, Nevada, she had $2,500 won.

"I was going to school," Pozzi recalled. "I was having hell just filling my permit. Then we got outside and it was a different story. I ended up going to the Finals in No. 1 starting half way through the year."

Pozzi and Leroy won rodeos in Bay City and Beaumont, Texas, North Platte, Neb., and set an arena record at the Iowa Championship Rodeo in Sidney. They also placed at Reno, Ogden, Utah, and St. Paul, Ore.

"He was just incredible," said Pozzi, "and he was doing this all at 16 years old."

They were also in the running for new truck, thanks to the Dodge RAM truck rodeo series in existence at the time.

"I was at the rodeo in Oklahoma City and I was looking at a magazine," she laughed. "I said, 'Oh my God, I'm in the running for this truck! Kelly Kaminski was in first and I was in second. I need to go to these Ram Truck rodeos!' I went to these little rodeos—Starkville, Miss., Shreveport, La., At Shreveport, it was really dark at the second barrel and he ducked it and lost me the truck. I was thinking it was the end of the world, then I went and won Dallas."

The Pace Picante Challenge debuted at the American Airlines

Montgomery Finds Redemption in Buckeye, AZ

By Tanya Randall

A year ago Jolene Montgomery lay in the dirt at the third barrel at the Buckeye Equestrian Center wondering how in the world she was going to make her next runs on a broken ankle. This year, she made up for lost earnings, winning the Classic Equine / BRN4D Futurity and Derby.

Ironically, Montgomery's Futurity Champion Imafrenchmansprincess ("Baby Flash"), owned by Matt and Bendi Dunn of Bismarck, Mo., wasn't even entered in the futurity until the very last minute.

"I was standing there in the check-out line and they're like she's not entered," laughed the veteran futurity trainer from Dawson, Texas. "I didn't even think about it or look at the draw. I had forgotten months ago when Bendi did the entries that I had told her not to enter Baby Flash because it was a Standard Pattern. She's only 14.1 and didn't want to embarrass her."

Baby Flash posted a 17.524 in the first go and a 17.203 in the second to win the average and collect $8,199.

"They were pretty flawless for a coming 4-year-old," said Montgomery. "I couldn't ask her for anything better either day. She worked great the first go. I may have lost some time on just little things. For the second round, I didn't really do anything. I just warmed her up and sent her in there. She just got grittier. She ran about as fast as her little legs could on a Standard Pattern.

"I didn't know that Baby Flash could do what she does. I wasn't sure about her until three or four months ago. She's 14.1 so I didn't know how fast she was going to be. She was a little sluggish and didn't want to work. When I started asking her to really run, I noticed that she was breathing really hard. I had her scoped and she Arena in Dallas, Texas, in 2003. Although the rodeo got off to a slow start for the newly crowned WPRA Rookie of the Year, they came from behind to win and jumped from third to No. 1 in the World Standings.

Pozzi, who is approaching $2 million in WPRA earnings, and Leroy finished seventh in the world after the NFR with $89,003. Unfortunately, an injury in Las Vegas ended his career.

"I got him back for a couple of runs, but that was it," said Pozzi. "We had him to vets all over the country, and Dr. Marty Tanner was the one that found it. That's what started our relationship that's been ongoing since 2004."

Retired at 17, Leroy spent the last 11 years in the pasture at Pozzi's Victoria, Texas, home.

"The last few years he's been turned out with the broodmares," she said. "He ruled the roost. He has his own stall that he could Pozzi said Leroy was one of the toughest horses that she's ever owned.

"I didn't know what bute and banamine was," she said. "In 2003, he got a scoop of Omolene 200 and alfalfa hay, and that was it. I think I injected him maybe one time. He was just tough."

Leroy will always have a special place in Pozzi's heart. "Even after all the awesome years I've had on Duke (Yeah Hes Firen)," said Pozzi, "I will never forget 2003--the laughs Laura Jane and I had, just being able to go off on my own and rodeo, how much fun we had. If it wasn't for Leroy I might not be doing what I'm doing now. I may have an accounting degree. I may have finished college and graduated from Texas A&M. He was the one that started it all."

average on Baby Flash's full sister Ima French Kiss ("Squirrel"), also owned by the Dunns. Squirrel won $13,622.

Both 4-year-olds, Baby Flash and Squirrel are by A Sharp Frenchman out of Royalled Out, by Lowell D Royal. They are full siblings to the Dunns' late, great Imafrenchmanspistol.

"They were a double ovulation and they were born a few days apart," explained Bendi Dunn.

The sire and dam are owned by Robert Leonard, DVM, and his wife Rhonda Jones of White Plains, Mo. A Sharp Frenchman died in 2012, but they've been able to continue to get foals through frozen semen.

"They've been so good to us," said Dunn. "We've been lucky to get them all bought. (Baby Flash and Squirrel) are the first that we've had. I've got a 3-year-old gelding that's going to Troy (Crumrine) this coming year. I also have a yearling and two waiting to be born. We're pretty excited. We're going to horde them! Pistol was pretty special to us even though we didn't own him when he died. It's cool that we were able to get these and keep 'him' going."

Even though Baby Flash and Squirrel are full siblings, Montgomery said they're nothing alike.

"They're really not much alike," laughed the trainer. "Squirrel got her name for a reason. She was super, super jumpy, but super quick and feely. She's got plenty of run. She's taller and leaner. Baby Flash is more laid back, and doesn't want to be quite as quick and light, but she can be. She can be slightly stubborn. She's got way more confidence than Squirrel. She thinks she's a barrel racing machine, and Squirrel still waits on you and is a little scared. Squirrel can be quicker, but she's not as solid and confident.

"Now we're going to have to decide which one we're going to run in the slot race next week. I'm sure Matt and Bendi are going to try and make me decide, but I'm going to be like 'um um, it's your call!'"

KN Famous Czar continues his winning ways

Montgomery and KN Famous Czar, owned by Kimi Nichols, Brownwood, Texas, continued their winning ways into 2014 despite a month-long barrel racing hiatus since the BFA World Championships the first of December. The duo topped the Classic Equine / BRN4D Derby with a 17.166 on Friday for $1,694 and won the Open on Saturday for $1,458 with a 16.964.

"He'd been at the breeding farm since the BFA until I picked him up on the way here," noted Montgomery. "I guess he likes it. I told Kimi if he quits working he's going to have to go back to the breeding farm to put some more ambition in him!"

Montgomery chipped the rust of Czar in the Tuesday night jackpot. "He was really short and we annihilated the third barrel," she explained. "Instead of tuning him for it, I was just hoping that he would free up. I never took him back around the pattern until the Derby."

Unfortunately, their winning open run Saturday will be their last for a few weeks. Czar, a 5-year-old son of Dash Ta Fame out of Kcartessa, by Streakin Dash, overreached and cut his pastern

"I went back and watched the video; I think he did it at the first barrel," she said. "He was flying. I had to get a hold of him twice. He made the turn, but he never really set down and his feet got to flying. That's the only place I can see in the video that he may have done it."

Montgomery, who noted that the ground was the best she's ever seen in at Buckeye this year, said she was a little apprehensive about making that run on Saturday. She had flashback to breaking her ankle the year before, but luckily Czar took control of the situation.

"I was a little nervous because I broke my ankle at the third barrel last year," she explained. "Two girls before me, a horse fell down at the third barrel. I knew (Czar) was going to run hard because he was getting freer every run. He took off with me in the alley way and said 'We're going' and I was like 'Alright, we're going!'"

Montgomery enjoys the mind-games with the stallions.

"It's fun," she said. "When they decide they're going to do it, you just hold on. You have to have a lot of patience for a long time, and a patient owner that's willing to keep putting the money up until they come around. It's almost like the owner has to have more patience than the rider because they're the one putting up them money while they're being studs."

She did, however, note that Kimi Nichols had a lot to do with her decision not to tune on Czar after hitting the barrel on his first run, "She said, 'Why don't you just quit working him?' So I did. I haven't heard 'I told you so' yet, but I'm sure it's coming."

BRR: Take us through your runs through the weekend.

Lord: I made 3 runs, my first run was in the 11:00 performance and I won 2nd. He went in there like a champ and tried so hard, he slipped a couple times, we were 8th on the ground, but clocked really well.

That run qualified us for the short round at 8:00 where they took the fastest World time and the fastest CO time. We were 4th out and he handled the ground well this run, we were the fastest World time so we went on for a 3rd run against Mary Walker.

I had about 45 minutes to cool him out and let him catch his air, he has never had 3 runs in one day so I wanted to do the best I could to walk him out. Mary ran first and hit the 3rd barrel, so I knew I had to make a clean smooth run, which can add a lot of pressure too! I made sure he stayed round and worked very nice.

I was very happy with him, being the first time in the Denver Coliseum with the off set first barrel, and running against some tough competition!

BRR: What are your plans for you and your horse this year?

Lord: I entered Rapid City, then I will head to Texas (Ft Worth) for The American Semi Finals and some of the winter rodeos, I will see how they go and then go from there!

BRR: What do you think helps a horse handle the rodeo arena.

Lord: Horses have to be hauled and run on rodeo ground to learn how to handle it, it takes time for them to realize and learn it may not be the same as the barrel racing ground. Can Man seems to handle everything really well. The first rodeo I took him to this summer, he won a check, so I knew he was going to do well.

Tovar Sweeps Odessa; leads world standings

By Julie Mankin

Kelly Tovar didn't even ride BB French Fooledya ("Edwin") before she bought him two years ago. And the two have been through quite a bit since then. But by running the fastest time at the year's first big WPRA rodeo in Odessa, Texas (Jan. 2-10), they've cemented the best early season that Tovar has ever had.

"He's effortless," she said of Edwin. "He's goofy and bossy and everything no one would want – except for when he runs. He's a dreamboat. That's what I tell everybody."

Tovar, of Rockdale, Texas, ran in the middle of the week and clocked the only 15.20 in a slew of 15.3-second runs. One of those, a 15.30, was turned in by second-place Alexa Lake of Richmond. The win paid Tovar $5,082 and Lake earned $4,065 for second, putting the two cowgirls first and second in the world standings as of Jan. 13.

"He had an incredible second barrel," said Tovar of the run. "He can run so hard and his stride is just enormous. People think he does well in big pens, and he does, but he also ran a 13.77 at Shreveport. The size doesn't really matter to him; he's just an athlete." Tovar had made a splash last fall when she won four Texas rodeos and placed second in two others to rack up more than $7,000.

Edwin had more than a month off before Odessa, and in fact she didn't even make a jackpot run on him before hitting west Texas.

"I had gone and looked at the setup and thought my angle to my left-hand first barrel would be too straight," she said. "So I was thinking I'd hug the side of the alleyway. But when he walked up the alley he turned his head to the right and kicked his butt out. I tried to straighten him out and he just took off, so I kept bumping the outside rein to keep him running straight down the pen. He worked perfectly. It was one of those things like, 'Good grief, Mom, sit down and shut up and let me go; I got this.'"

Cindy Smack, Ph.D., of Pilot Point, Texas, had purchased the yellow horse as a colt from his breeder, Sally Box, who lives in the same area. Box made headlines when she bought Edwin's sire, now-19-year-old PC Frenchman for $200,000 when he was just a colt.

"Ann Thompson, who enters me, had warned me at Odessa that the third barrel sets way down there and that when I think I've ridden far enough, to kick two more times going to third," she said. "On the way to that barrel I thought about what she said and it worked."

Edwin will be 8 this year. He gets his palomino color from PC Frenchman (a full brother to the Potter family's stallion, Dinero). On the bottom, Edwin is out of Pebbles Kitty, by the First Down

Dash/Beduino stallion Dashing Cleat and out of a granddaughter of both Rocket Wrangler and Shawne Bug.

"I've always ridden and ran barrels and kind of always looked for that one horse," Tovar said. "Then Edwin came along."

While Smack had him, Edwin won the amateur division of the World Championship Derby in the BFA and had placed at pro rodeos in slack, but hadn't competed in a rodeo performance.

"When I found out he was for sale, I thought he was too big for me at 16.2 hands," said Tovar. "But my dad kept watching him and saying, 'Go look at that horse.' When I did get interested, there was practically a line of people waiting on him and I thought I missed the boat. So I decided, 'I'm going to buy that horse tonight.' I texted her an offer and she took it. And I bought that yellow beast."

"I ran him at slack at a little rodeo and he acted real nice, at least," she said. "I was tickled he wasn't a raging lunatic, walking on his hind feet or trying to buck me off."

Tovar won the Texas Finals in the NBHA, but then Edwin began dropping in at the third barrel. The big, strong gelding was pulling Tovar around, so she took her mom's advice and put a bigger Dave Elliot bit on him. It's worked ever since.

Still, it hasn't been Easy Street. Tovar had to lay Edwin off several months to heal a nagging injury, after which he ate beetle-infested hay and nearly died, requiring more time off. He was back to himself by early summer 2014. Then Tovar blew her truck's motor headed to Pecos and had to turn out of the first few rodeos of her summer run. Finally Edwin competed in his first performance at Greeley, Colo.

"Last summer he pulled checks here and there at places like Nampa and Vernal, but last fall is when he just sort of came alive," said Tovar. "I don't know what happened. I don't know what I did or what he did - I'm just glad it happened!"

Tovar's son, Tucker, is a senior in high school and playing his final tournaments in golf, so between Cindy and Tovar's family includ-

"I'm entered in Lafayette next week; Denver and Fort Worth," she said. "Cindy is hauling him to Denver for me. I'll go as much as he shows me he wants to. I don't really have a backup horse. The one I've had forever doesn't have the stuff to hang with those girls."

In fact, Tovar can't really have a backup because Edwin must be

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

“If Jesus is a stranger, check your circle of friends.”

That's a line from a Country Gospel song but it's also good advice.

We've all met people who try to impress you with their relationship with famous or important people. They're called "name dropers" and they try to get their value or worth from who they know. But, God isn't impressed by it because He sees the heart of man and the humble person who truly tries to know, love and serve Him will be exalted in due time.

Jesus is the one person who can guarantee us a glorious eternity when we die, He forgives our sins and heals our sickness. He gives us peace, hope and joy along with security and freedom from fear. What mortal man can do any of that?

We've entered a new year. Let's make it the year we get closer to God to hear His voice, His directions and His instructions. Read the Bible and pray about everything. If you listen, you'll hear Him speak to your spirit telling you things you need to know about living your life and serving Him.

What does the new year hold? If you've made Jesus your Lord and Savior, you don't have to fear. This songwriter says it best:

“Many things about tomorrow
I don't seem to understand
But I know who holds tomorrow
And I know who holds my hand.”

May the Good Lord bless all of you exceedingly in 2015!
