ImChocoJingleJangle & Desirae Wheeler Capture Greg Olson Memorial Futurity & Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

Desirae Wheeler and her family-raised 4-year-old gelding ImChocoJingleJangle ("Jangle") picked up $20,043 at the BRN4D hosted $25,000-added, 195-entry Greg Olson Memorial Futurity, presented by Roo Hide, held January 10-12 in Buckeye, Arizona.

Wheeler and Jangle topped the Futurity for $8,418 and won the slot race for $10,000. They picked up $1,635 in the open on carryovers.

"The BRN4D races are phenomenal," said the mother of three with husband Scott. "They have super-fast ground and they put on amazing races. They're my favorite producers. I love them, love them, love them."

Wheeler and Jangle turned in the fastest time of the futurity, a 16.856, to win the first round.

"I had to look at the clock a couple of times and ask myself is this real?" she laughed.

"He has a tendency to hunt that first barrel too soon. I had to really focus on keeping him straight. That day I had to really work at getting him up into that pocket on the first barrel. It was so scary and fun and exciting. It just all came together. It was really neat."

They turned in a solid run of 17.445, which finished three spots out of the money in the second round, but ultimately accomplished the average win and Wheeler's unexpected training goal for the day.

"I like to get my horses amped up before I run, but when I started to do that with him, I felt him kind of wanting to blow up and get too excited. He's kind of extreme. You can feel every move that he makes, so I had to talk to myself to stay calm. As soon as I started doing that he started relaxing. He came right into my hands. He let me place him right where I needed. He worked his butt off and tried. It was super neat because it was different than what I had planned on doing but it worked. Usually babies don't stay focused, but he stayed focused on me."

Their first round time, ultimately ended up winning the slot race, which was determined by the fastest of the two runs by eligible horses. They could have won the slot race in the MVP Futurity the prior weekend—they turned in a 17.103 to win the second round—but Wheeler wasn't ready to tempt fate just yet.

"My mom and I had a deal," she said. "I told her that I didn't want to have a lot of pressure the first time. I want it to be relaxing with no pressure. I don't do well with pressure on me. That's kind of my down fall. I didn't want that for our first run. We made a deal that if he won enough money to cover the slot race (at the Greg Bred by her father Merle Morgan, Jangle is by the family's stallion A Chocolate Fury, an son of late, leading barrel horse sire Furyofthewind.

"He raced on the track and I tried to run him afterwards," Wheeler said of A Chocolate Fury. "I don't know if I'm just not very good with racehorses or he just had a couple of injuries. He did pretty good in a couple of futurities, but we ended up just standing him as a stallion."

Jangle's dam is TMHot Flash, a daughter of The Goodbye Lane out of the Dash Ta Fame mare Ima Hot Flasher.

"My uncle actually owned The Goodbye Lane at the time and we stood him at our ranch and bred our mares," she explained. "That's how we got her. I had a lot of problems keeping her sound so I didn't really get a chance to get his mother proven on barrels. We own his grandmother and she's still alive and we're still getting colts out of her too. It's a long, line of family owned and raised horses. We're just kind of lucky to have all these wonderful horses that my family has raised."

The quirky gelding spent two months with Cody Hyde getting broke before returning to Wheeler briefly. When she didn't get the opportunity ride him much immediately she sent him for another month with Kyzer Stoddard.

"They both did a phenomenal job on him," she said. "He was super hard. It's just because he doesn't trust people. He doesn't buck. He doesn't rear. He doesn't kick. But, he is catty and will jump out from underneath you. It took him awhile to break him. The first three months I had other people getting him broke because I was just scared to death. He's just so fast. His mother was the same way. Once I figure them out, they're so easy and I don't know why I was so scared."

Wheeler said she had to change her training a little bit to fit Jangle's quirky nature.

"When he trusts you, he'll give you his whole heart," she said. "His full sister that I ran last year was the same way. It took me a lot of time to figure it out. I was actually scared of them. Once I figured it out it was super fun. My training was totally different than what I was used to, but as soon as I got past that I had a lot of confidence in him and just trusted that he would be a lot like her."

"They handle pressure very well. The harder you push them, the harder they turn. The sire, all of his colts are like that. They're turning machines. They're really fast, but they're kind of quirky. It took me a while to understand that, but when we both came together, it's been kind of unbelievable."

Wheeler want to thank her parents, in-laws and husband for all

Moore and Train Top Columbia River Circuit Finals

Hope Raley

The Columbia River Circuit celebrated another exciting and competitive rodeo season this past weekend when they hosted their circuit finals in Yakima, Washington. By the end of the weekend, the Finals & Year End Champions were crowned and punching their tickets to the Ram National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Florida this April.

WNFR veteran barrel racer Amberleigh Moore won the year end in the barrel racing while it was Olivia Train who won the average, and both will represent the Columbia River Circuit at the RNCFR. Moore jockeyed both her horses, CP Dark Moon and Blue Duck Down, to several wins and placings throughout the year to not only help her win the Columbia River Circuit for the second time, but also another trip to the WNFR in Las Vegas.

Moore's 2019 rodeo season started off a little rocky thanks to some bad weather and bad luck, but it turned around the Fourth of July. A win at St. Paul, Molalla and a few others got her pointed in the right direction and helped get her back to the WNFR and circuit finals.

Moore rode "Ducky" Blue Duck Down at the circuit finals and he excelled in the small set-up. Moore is grateful to have another RNCFR qualification to add to her resume and looks forward to returning to Florida to soak up the sun.

WPRA Rookie barrel racer Olivia Train bought her WPRA permit with the intentions of seasoning her mare at a few rodeos to see how she handled the crowds, loud music and the rodeo lifestyle. However, after what she describes as a 'dream come true', Train is headed to Florida for her first qualification to the RNCFR after winning the average in Yakima at the Columbia River Circuit Finals. After adjusting her goals for the year, Train found herself on the rodeo trail. Riding her 8-year-old mare Ought To Streak "Streaker", they not only qualified for their first circuit finals this year but they also won rookie of the year as well as the average- quite the feat! Besides winning the circuit finals, Train also says that winning Eagle, Idaho was also a very memorable win for her and "Streaker". "That was the turning point for us," said Train. "That's the moment that I realized that she had what it took to be a rodeo horse."

Train is extremely excited to make the trip to Florida and is looking forward to the entire experience. "It still hasn't sunk in what I even qualified to do," Train added. "I can't wait to be a part of such a prestigious rodeo and have the opportunity to compete against the best in the business!"

Wendy Chesnut & Sun Frost Merridoc Sweep First Frontier Circuit Titles

By Tanya Randall

Wendy Chesnut of Poultney, Vermont, and her talented mare Sun Frost Merridoc ("Lucky") swept the First Frontier Circuit titles. Chesnut and Lucky went into the First Frontier Circuit Finals, held January 9-11 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in second behind Christina Mulford of Franklinville, New Jersey, by $439.

She said the tight race didn't impact her game plan.

"I just go to make each individual run," she said. After placing in all three rounds en route to the Circuit Finals Championship, their $8,366 was able to claim the year-end championship as well. "She won the first go. She had a really nice run. She was a little close on the first barrel, but it stayed up. Our second and third go's, she was second."

It was the first round victory that bumped Chesnut to No. 1 in the year-end standings, but Mulford wasn't giving up easily. Mulford and PanamaCharlieHarly won the next two rounds to take second in the average.

The difference on the year-end championship was $1,392 between Chesnut's $18,887 and Mulford's $17,495.

This is the third year-end championship and second circuit finals title for Chesnut in the First Frontier Circuit. She also competes in the International Professional Rodeo Association and American Pro Rodeo Association, both of which co-sanction at the rodeos at the Painted Pony in Lake Luzerne, New York.

"We were there quite a bit," said Chesnut of her hauling schedule that primarily runs over the summer months. "We had about the same year as we've had in the past. We won some of the bigger shows and stayed consistent. She's just consistent wherever she goes."

Chesnut and Lucky will also be making their third appearance at the International Finals Rodeo at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma, this weekend. They're currently ranked 9th with $15,057 won the year.

A former business woman in the corporate world, Chesnut quit to focus more on her barrel racing. She and husband currently run a boarding facility and host races at their home in Poultney. Lucky's prowess on the pattern has allowed her to explore her barrel racing passion more.

Bred by Judy Gracey, Lucky is by RNJ HeckOfAFrenchman, a son of Frenchmans Guy out of Jae Bar Hilda, by Docs Cinch Bet, raised by Gracey and her husband Rod. RNJ HeckOfAFrenchman is also the sire to National Finals Rodeo and Canadian Finals Rodeo qualifier JIG French Truckle and CFR qualifier JG Hectors Pizzaz. Lucky's dam, RNJ Ellen, by the Merridoc son Corrad, was also raised by the Graceys.

"I got her from a local horse dealer, Pond Hill Ranch," Chesnut explained. "She was 3 and had 20 days on her. She was pretty much unbroke. I traded another horse to get her. I brought her on slow, got her broke and put on her the pattern. I started her out some local shows and then started the rodeo season with her and she flourished from there."

Chesnut, who is currently wintering in Florida, is debating on entering the pro rodeo at Fort Worth, Texas. With the new format, all circuit champions get a bye into the bracket-style rodeo.

"We're trying to decide if we're going to hit that or not," she explained. "We're going to be out here in Oklahoma for the IFR and that's not too long after that. Whether we go to Fort Worth or not, we'll head back to Florida for the rest of the winter before we head back to Vermont in April."

Chesnut wanted to thank her mentor Connie Combs, her veterinarian H.G. ("Bill") Barnes, her blacksmith Mark Schneider, and her husband Bob. She also wanted to commend First Frontier Circuit Director Eileen Lang for her efforts on behalf of the barrel racers, saying, "Our circuit director Eileen Lang is wonderful. She goes above and beyond for the girls. Our yearend awards were phenomenal."

Famous Lemon Drop & Dacota Monk Sweep Texas Ultimate Futurity & Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

On the way to Edna, Texas, for Wrap N 3's Texas Ultimate Barrel Classic, held January 9-12, Dacota Monk's wife Paula told him Famous Lemon Drop was going to win the slot race and sweep the futurity.

Never doubt your wife.

Famous Lemon Drop ("Barbie"), owned by Louis and Niki Saggione of LS Performance Horses in New Boston, Texas, did indeed win the $30,000-added, 121-entry Brazos Valley Equine Hospital Futurity and Slot Race. The clean sweep of the two races was worth $18,790.

"I've been training horses for the public myself for the past 11 years," said Monk, who trains in Emory, Texas. "I've had a lot of nice horses with potential and they either got hurt or pulled from me. There were a couple of times I thought I've got to find something else, that I just can't do this no more. After I'd go home and pout a little bit, I would just try again. So, this is really rewarding because it's not easy."

Having skipped the Texas Extreme the prior weekend, Monk and Barbie served notice on their first run in Edna, with a $6,500 slot race winning 14.749.

Famous Lemon Drop "Barbie" 14.3 hands, 1,000 lbs.

BIT: L&W with 1" gag with a twisted wire three-piece mouth with a copper roller, roper curb chain. "She's always been super light. I started her in O-rings and a junior cowhorse. During the week, I ride her in bosal because she gets so sensitive, I try to keep bits out of her mouth."

SADDLE: Circle Y treeless

SADDLE PAD: Wade pad

LEG GEAR: Legacy or Iconoclast

SHOEING: Rims on all four

FEED: Nutrena 12/8 pellet

HAY: Free choice alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: Wild Gold Omega 3 Camelina Oil

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Nebulizer treatments for the upper respiratory

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIME: "She's really fun to ride and easy to keep in shape. I mainly ride her outside. I might trot through the barrels once a well. She's just been so fun."

SPONSORS: JW Brooks Custom Hats, Steve Davis-The Rein Man

"That was our first slot race," he said. "I talked the owners into doing it. I was not really nervous about it, but I was trying to stay focused. She just went in there and did her normal pattern. That run was easy. It was fun. I was shocked!"

They turned right around and posted a 14.752 to win the first go of the BVEH Futurity the next morning.

"Her first round in the futurity, it felt faster and her turns were harder, but maybe the ground was slower," Monk said. "I don't know, but she did really good."

Knowing how close he was to doing exactly what his wife predicted, Monk worked hard to keep his nervousness away from Barbie before the second round.

"I tried to think about it as just a jackpot run," he said. "I knew if I just did my job she could do it. I tried to act like she was an open horse and not a futurity horse because she doesn't act like it at all. She never has. I think that might have helped. But truthfully, she's just that good. I want to take a lot of credit because I did train her but she has it. I'm not going to say I wasn't nervous, because I was. I just tried to keep it contained."

Their victorious 14.690 in the second round was the fastest run by any futurity horse at Edna this year. Monk described the run as

“scary.”

“It was really scary,” he chuckled. “I knew she could do it, obviously. She felt a lot stronger in this last run, wanting to get in there and turn a little hard. Usually if she turns really hard, she’ll get them on the backside. I was like ‘We cannot hit a barrel!’ I normally don’t have to worry about my third and she got down there and set really hard. I was like ‘No!’ I rode a little sloppy at the third, but we got by it.”

The sweep in the BVEH Futurity was worth $11,000 and the open race carryovers netted another $1,290. Combined with a round check in the BFA Juvenile and third-place finish in the OKC Rookie Futurity, Barbie has early career earnings of approximately $30,000.

“She’s got such heart and try as long as I don’t mess her up, she’s going to do her job,” said Monk. “It’s really, really fun.”

Bred by Shannon Akerstrom, Barbie is by First Down French out of the Dash Ta Fame mare A Famous Lady. The Saggiones purchased her off the Internet as a 2-year-old.

“The people that had her said she’s not for the faint of heart,” Monk noted. “I like them like that. All the horses that I have ridden that have been really good have something quirky about them. She’s not cocky, but she knows she’s good.”

Monk, who grew up running barrels alongside his mother Gina, worked within the cutting horse industry for several years. After a brief show career under the direction of cutting trainers Lee Francios and Pat Crawford, he decided to go back to barrel horses.

“I really wanted to do that (cutting) for a living, but it’s really hard getting started and I still had a passion for barrel horses,” he said. “The cutting was really fun, so I just followed what I needed to do at the time financially. They were really good to me, taught me a lot.”

Monk wanted to thank Paula and his daughter Alissa for always being there to support him as well as his sister Brittainy Hall, who works with him training, his veterinarian Don Lee of Double X Equine and his sponsors J W Brooks Custom Hats and The Rein Man. He also wanted to thank the Saggiones.

“They’re really good horse people and they understand the industry. They understand the training side of it; they do team penning and team sorting and they work for a lot of different owners too, so they know how it all works. It’s nice to get to ride for somebody like that.”

Kruse and Stimpson Montana Circuit Winners

By Hope Raley

The Montana Circuit Finals crowned each of their respected event champions this past weekend in Great Falls, Montana and even though the temperature outside was freezing cold, the competition in the arena was blazing hot!

When the dust had settled, the year-end title went to Lindsay Kruse while Tara Stimpson was crowned the circuit finals average champion for the second year in a row.

Lindsay Kruse describes her 2019 rodeo season as a “fun year”! Her only goal coming into the season was to qualify for the circuit finals since most of 2018 she and her main mount, Crown N Fame, didn’t compete much at all. Kruse was pregnant with her and her husband, Jesse, third child and that gave “Covergirl” a well-earned hiatus.

“My goal for the 2019 season was to play it by ear and take one run at a time,” said Kruse. “Covergirl showed me just how much she grew up after having that time off, and she was very consistent, either winning or placing at almost every rodeo that I entered.”

When asked what her most memorable win from the 2019 season was, Kruse explained that each run is special on “Covergirl”, but probably the most memorable part of the summer was the week before the Fourth of July through the Fourth where Kruse and “Covergirl” won over $10,000 in a week competing only at Montana circuit rodeos.

Kruse and “Covergirl” made consistent solid runs at the circuit finals while also figuring out a few things to work on before they Finals Rodeo this spring when she represents her circuit after winning the average at the Montana Circuit Finals in Great Falls, Montana.

Stimpson piloted her two horses throughout the 2019 season, 10-year-old mare SL Fire Up Cash and 8-year-old Painted Fling, and credits both to her very successful rodeo season.

When asked what her most memorable win during the 2019 rodeo season was, Stimpson explained that her third place run in Plains, Montana over Labor Day on SL Fire Up Cash, was just what she needed to boost her into the top 12 and clench another circuit finals berth.

Looking forward to another trip to sunny Florida, Stimpson is a lot more at ease this year as she knows what to expect and how everything works since she had made it last year.

"I will be a lot more relaxed knowing what to do this year after having ran there last year," said Stimpson. "The whole experience is wonderful, so I am just looking forward to being able to compete there again and hopefully do better than I did last year!"

Alley and Seis Caress Conquer the World

BRR: Tell your horses name & her size and structure

Alley: Seis Caress aka Saucy

16.2h tall - she's a huge mare- long and thick! No one realizes how big she is, until they see her in person.

BRR: Walk us through your runs at the Colo Vs. The World event.

Alley: She was super consistent all day. Her first run of 15.47 was good but a bit choppy as the ground was pretty hard. Our second run clocked the best at 15.31 and was nice n smooth- her typical run. Then in the championship round I had chosen to run first. She was really free, which I didn't expect, but it all worked out as she still clocked a 15.45. She seems to really like Denver!

BRR: What qualities does Saucy (Seis Caress) have that make her such a special horse?

Alley: What makes Saucy special is that she's so gritty! She never quits trying. If the ground is bad, she just bares down harder. She loves her job and tries 110% every time. She would run three legged if she had to. Thats what sets horses like her apart- she wants to win as bad as I do!

BRR: You said you made a shoeing change for the ground, can you tell us about that and what it did for her?

Alley: Right before the circuit finals, a week before Colo vs The World, I had changed her shoes to the Kahn Forge Concave shoes all the way around. She is so big and so strong, she slips a lot on the backside and leaving the barrels, especially in these indoor coliseums with the firm ground. I've tried several different shoes without success the past two years. So after a conversation with Lee Olsen and his recommendation, I changed em up. And she has not had ground trouble since (knock on wood, LOL). They seem to give her the traction she needs to keep her footing .

BRR: I know she is coming back from injury, what had happened and what was the rehab process?

Alley: Back on Memorial weekend she tore her right front suspensory up high. I injected it with RenoVo which is the main reason I believe she came back in half the time as it normally would for that type of injury. It is an amazing product! I also did physical therapy with her twice a day - which I was pretty aggressive about. I believe that helped keep the rest of her body strong and somewhat fit and also strengthen that suspensory. So that when I actually got back on her, it didn't take much to get her back to where she was before the injury. We also did some shockwave treatments, iced her leg twice a day, and was on these supplements: NRF2, Simply Equine structural boost, and Finish First Brazzwell Performance.

BRR: What are your rodeo plans moving forward?

Alley: I plan to keep entering the bigger rodeos as long as my horses stay healthy and I'm winning. I pay my own way, so if I ain't winning, I don't go. I will try to just enter the bigger, better paying rodeos. I can't go to a bunch of small rodeos all over the place, as I can't be gone all the time. I always have a barn full of horses in training, so I've gotta be home to ride and haul those horses as well.

WCRA Winter Timed Event Semi-Finals Send 8 Barrel Racers to $1 Million Royal City Roundup

This past week Jan 7-9 in Guthrie, OK at the Lazy E Arena, 8 barrel racers punched their tickets to the $1 Million Royal City Roundup in Kansas City, MO! At the end of the competition the Top 4 barrel racers from the Finals Pool A & Finals Pool B each qualified and will be joined by the number one from the WCRA Leaderboard in barrel racing for a total of 9 people running at the Royal City Roundup. We caught up with the winners of each Pool for a few questions about their respective wins....for more information on the WCRA Rodeos, go to www.WCRARodeo.com.

Ivy Conrado-Saebens & KN Fabs Gift Of Fame (J Lo)

BRR: Walk us through your runs with JLo at the WCRA Winter Semi-Finals.

Conrado-Saebens: The first run was sharp! I looked at the alleyway, the arena and the ground before I ran. It really reminded me of Cody PRCA/WPRA & JLo has always worked amazing there. I thought back to how I rode there & tried to replicate it.

I think it's a regulation standard? If so those two runs I made were the fastest we've been on standards. I ran a 16.99 at Cody in 2018 and a 16.9? At buckeye the first time I ran her. She was a 16.8 the first run. I figured running into the white wall the first run she would be a little tight but she freed right up for our second run. She honestly felt the best she ever has. She's funny like that, more runs the freer she gets. Most horses go the other way!

BRR: After your amazing NFR, what did you do to have her this sharp coming back in her first runs back?

Conrado-Saebens: I ran her at the slack in San Angelo and was .5 off! LOL! She's always in the 2D her first run back. Every. Single. Time. LOL! It takes her one run to get back in the groove. Sometimes it might take 2-5 after she's flushed. I hadn't ran her since Round 10, when I ran at the slack in San Angelo which was the day before the WCRA.

BRR: What are your plans for you and JLo for 2020? Will you have some younger horses you are running too?

Conrado-Saebens: I just feel it out every year! We shall see!

Wenda Johnson & Macgyver Moonflash (Mac)

BRR: Walk us through your runs with Macgyver Moonflash at the WCRA Semifinals.

Johnson: Mac was really looking forward to making a run. He was smooth and fun to ride, and hunts each barrel. As we finished he was quiet and happy, and I am really proud of our run.

BRR: What things in your runs on Macgyver Moonflash make him clock so well?

Johnson: He has a ton of speed, with smooth quick turns.

Kassie Mowry & Famous Ladies Man Earn Rodeo Houston Trip in Odessa

2019 Leading Futurity Rider Kassie Mowry of Dublin, Texas, kicked off 2020 not at a futurity, but at the Sandhills Stock Show & Rodeo in Odessa, Texas. She guided 2019 futurity standout Famous Ladies Man, now 5, to a $7,1k victory in a time of 13.94. The win gives Mowry an automatic bye into Rodeo Houston. For those following her amazing 2019, her current Equistat record shows she earned an amazing $589,695 running barrels in 2019!

BRR: Tell us about your decision to run Famous Ladies Man at Odessa.

Mowry: I feel like the first barrel comes up really quick there. You don't see it for very long before you get there. It's the one barrel that's not on a fence so I felt like he's my one that really hunts that first barrel.

In that pen, you have to turn your first barrel or you don't get lined up for your second. That's what throws most horses off there. He's been ran at a lot of futurities so he's not green to barrel racing. I think he really learned to focus at the futurities and be aggressive, so now he goes out there really looking for the barrels. He's a horse that loves his job and those horses go out there looking for it.

BRR: Take us through your run.

Mowry: Everything happened so fast. I knew that he had a good first barrel. He really crawled around it. I guess I just tried to ride pretty aggressive, just to keep him moving in his turns because it's such a tight pen. I remember he came around that second and rocked it pretty hard. He did skim it pretty good, but it did stay up. His was pretty tight on all his turns. I just focused on keeping him moving through all his turns because it was such a tight setup.

BRR: We know you have a barn full of futurity horses, so how do rodeos fit into your 2020?

Mowry: I've always gone to some of these early (rodeos) so it's really no different. They're close enough to where I can just run over and go.

This year I didn't know that I wasn't getting into Houston when I ran at Odessa. I didn't know that they had changed all that. When I won Houston they told me I had an invite for four years. That had always been the rules. Well, they changed it. I thought when I ran at Odessa I thought I was already getting into Houston with my exemption. Winning (Houston) in 2017, I thought I had this year and one more year.

Well, everybody started putting up (on social media) that I got my Houston email. I didn't get one. So I went back and looked at the rules, which just got put up a couple of weeks before the rodeo, it was changed. I had no idea.

I'm really excited to get into Houston. I broke my back two days before I was supposed to run at Houston. (She was kicked by horse fracturing four of her spinous process.) I was so excited to run I felt like Digger (Girls Dig Fame) was ready. I had to doctor release. I was sick about it.

I didn't get to go last year. That was the one thing that I asked my ER doctor. What can you do so I can run at Houston in three days? They were like nothing. I was heartbroken.

BRR: So, you did the rodeo, but neither of the big futurities in Edna, Texas, or Buckeye, Arizona.

Mowry: My one good futurity colt injured a suspensory. He did it right about BFA in the middle of November. That's really my strongest colt. He'll be back in business soon, but I'm just waiting.

I feel like most of my colts are two to three months behind this year. I broke my ankle in December last year and then I broke my back, so I was off of them for about two to three months. I just feel like I'm a little bit behind because of last year. You always pay for it sometime and that's where I feel like I'm at with my futurity colts.

I'm going to shoot for going up to Lance's (the LG International in Guthrie) and Elite (in Waco).

BRR: What's Famous Ladies Man's size and structure?

Mowry: He's little. He's probably 15.1. He's fat. He's an easy keeper. He's a plump little thing.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Emoji's. You can love them or hate them. My granddaughter loves the poop emoji and if I'm not on my toes, my friends could get one...or two. She thinks it's hilarious! Gram? Not so much.

How many of you use an emoji in a text? If you get one, is the meaning clear to you? I'm beginning to think that there should be a book on the appropriate emoji to use. Young people probably know all that.

We sure live in a time where communication can be tricky. But communicating with Jesus is simple. It's called prayer. Just talking with Him. You don't need to speak in 'thee's' and 'thou's'. Just talk. Like you are talking to your best friend. Because you ARE talking to your best friend.

He hears you, He answers you. Please read I John 5:14-15. I have you read this a lot so you can get it down into your heart and you aren't guessing if He's there for you. He says He is! Shoot. Just got a dentist appointment reminder. Think I'll respond with the poop emoji...
