Lion's Share to Jackie Jatzlau and Good To Be The King at Greg Olson

By Tanya Randall

Jackie Jatzlau and Good To Be The King dominated the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity, held Jan. 10-13 in Buckeye, Ariz.

The duo from Giddings, Texas, swept the $15,000-added Futurity for $11,790 and their carry-over time from the first go, a 16.833, won the Slot Futurity for an additional $20,000. They also won Saturday's 1D with their carry-over time of 16.952 for another $1,566. Their total weekend earnings were an incredible $33,356!

"He's such an honest horse and tries hard every time," said the former Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifier and multiple aged event champion. "He's actually one of the first horses that I actually get nervous on because I worry about staying out of his way."

She had a right to be nervous before the first go. King spooked a little from the banners at the second barrel when cruising through his exhibition run.

"My focus during my run was really riding him across the pen really hard and driving him up into the hole, because if he's running really hard, he won't spook," she explained. "They had run some really fast times, so I just pitched him the reins and focused on going fast. You can't win anything going slow."

"He may have took a step off of the first so I was really concentrating on getting up in the hole on the second. He just did his deal. Had a really great second and third, maybe just rocked it a little going in. When he rocked it he kind of stepped away from it a little. He was having trouble finding the alley. I just threw him the reins and hit him on the shoulder and thought if we hit the panels at least we'll be going fast. He jumped over at the last second. He was running so fast it really didn't matter."

Although the clock was a few ticks slower on her second run, Jatzlau said it felt better than the first.

"I actually thought my second run was going to be faster," said the wife of Lane and mother of toddler Jagger. "He was smoother and turned his barrels really good, didn't step off. I told him before we ran if he could just give me an inch more room that would be wonderful. That was my game plan for my second run—ride him up into the hole and leave them standing."

Bred by Jud Little, King is the product of an embryo share out of Jatzlau's former rodeo horse Imanonstop Princess, by Letta Hank Do It. He is by Little's stallion Bugemforcash, a son of Cash Not Credit out of Flyin Hi Babe, by Bugs Alive In 75.

"Jud picked the stud," she said. "He just knew my mare from watching her run at the rodeos and Bugemforcash was the one that Jatzlau plans on breeding both of her Letta Hank Do It mares—Hanks Sweet Label and Hanks Nonstop Faith, a full sister to Imanonstop Princess—to Bugemforcash.

King was born on Little's ranch and his staff imprinted him at birth. Jatzlau picked him up in October.

"We didn't break him until February 27 of last year," she said. "He was a spooky colt and I wanted to take our time with him. That's how his mom was. She was spooky but she'd do anything in the world for you if she trusted you. She would look to you if she got herself in a bind. He was that way."

James Chervanik, who works for Jatzlau along with John Landrum, spent three months working with King in the round pen and rode the gelding four times before Jatzlau climbed aboard.

"Originally I was going to send him off to break and I shopped around trying to find someone that I trust," she said. "He's always been special since he was born; I know that sounds weird, but he just is. James finally said, 'Why don't you let me get on him; I know

Colorado Versus the World Showcases Rodeo Athletes at National Western

By Susan Kanode, For the National Western Stock Show

DENVER, Colo. --- With three action-packed performances and contestants vying for $100,000, fans at the National Western Stock Show Colorado versus the World on Saturday got their money's worth.

The second annual event started at the morning performance with contestants representing rodeos in Rapid City, S.D.; Austin, Texas; Houston, Texas; Calgary, Alberta; Dodge City, Kan.; Gypsum, Okla.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Fort Worth, Texas; San Angelo, Texas; and North Platte, Neb. Then the top four highest scored rides and fastest times from the World performance, advanced to Saturday night's rodeo.

Saturday's matinee featured the best from Colorado rodeos including the hosting National Western Stock Show here; Estes Park; Colorado Springs; Loveland; Greeley, Pueblo and Elizabeth. Again the best four advanced. Saturday night saw four contestants from Colorado against four contestants from the World category which was then narrowed to the top two.

When it was all said and done in the bareback riding, it was a champion named Champion that won. Richmon Champion, from The Woodlands, Texas, won representing the National Western and team Colorado. He had an 87-point effort that earned him a $10,000 check.

In steer wrestling, it was Luke Branquinho, also representing the National Western that had the fastest time at 4.5 seconds. Saddle bronc rider Tate Owens was born and raised in Colorado, but found himself on the World Team for the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo. Owens earned the championship with an 88 point ride. Also representing Fort Worth was Trevor Kastner from Ardmore, Okla., who won the bull riding with an 88-point effort.

The barrel racing saw Mary Walker have a clean sweep again. Walker, from Ennis, Texas, was on the World team for Cheyenne Frontier Days. She won the morning performance, the eight-man round and the finals. Her fastest time of the day was at the morning performance with a 15.09. She won the next round with a 15.27 and the finals with a 15.23. The final round was a winner take all $10,000 paycheck in each event. Walker was the big money winner of the day with a total of 12,400.

World Performance: 1 Mary Walker (Cheyenne) 15.09 seconds, $1,800 2 Nikki Steffes (Fort Worth) 15.59, $1,350. 3 Kara Large (Rapid City) 15.62, $900. 4 Randa Kellog, 15.64, $450

Colorado Performance: 1 Brittany Pozzi, (Denver) 15.36, $1,800. 2 Hayden Segelke, (Loveland) 15.39, $1,350. 3 C.J. Vondette, (Denver) 15.56, $900. 4 Kim Schulze, (Estes Park) 15.75, $450.

Showdown – Colorado Vs. The World -- Champions:

Fiscal Cliff Legislation Reinstates and Increases Investment Incentives for Horse Owners

The fiscal cliff tax legislation passed by Congress and signed by President Obama earlier this week reinstated an important business investment incentive and substantially increased another incentive program. Both incentive programs could have important implications for purchasers of horses, farm equipment and most other depreciable property in 2013.

As a result of the new legislation, bonus depreciation will be reinstated at 50%, just as it was in 2012. The expense allowance will be increased to $500,000 in 2013 and retroactively increased from $125,000 to $500,000 for property purchased in 2012.

Bonus depreciation applies only to new property whose original use begins with the taxpayer. All such property must be purchased and placed in service prior to January 1, 2014. A yearling can be an example of a "new" horse purchase.

The $500,000 expense allowance applies to new or used property purchased in 2012 or 2013 and can be used to reduce taxable income derived from the horse business or any other business from which the taxpayer has income. A broodmare is an example of a "used" horse.

Also, accelerated depreciation for young racehorses continues through 2013. This means that taxpayers can depreciate racehorses that are 24 months and younger when purchased and placed in service using a 3-year schedule rather than the previous 7-year schedule. Taxpayers may use this accelerated schedule on any remaining balance that is not written off when taking bonus depreciation and/or the expense allowance.

"The reinstatement of bonus depreciation and the increase in the expense allowance are good news for horse owners and breeders," said Alex Waldrop, President and CEO of the NTRA. "2013 will be a great year to purchase a Thoroughbred or farm equipment from a tax perspective. The NTRA legislative team will continue its efforts to extend these and other benefits even further to stimulate investment in the Thoroughbred industry."

The NTRA is a broad-based coalition of horse racing interests consisting of leading Thoroughbred racetracks, owners, breeders, trainers, horseplayers and affiliated horse racing associations, charged with increasing the popularity of horse racing and improving economic conditions for industry participants. The NTRA has offices in Lexington, Ky., and New York City. NTRA press releases appear on the NTRA web site, NTRA.com.

he's not going to buck.' The 8th time someone got him we rode him out of the round pen."

With potent barrel racing blood of Cash Not Credit, Bugs Alive In 75, Letta Hank Do It and Nonstop Jet, King took to barrels like he was born doing it.

"I didn't put him on barrels until May and by June I was already trying to find a slot for the slot race," said Jatzlau, who has the gelding entered in the slot races at the LG Pro Classic, BBR Finals and Pac West this weekend. "That's how fast he came on. He never did anything wrong. Never put his feet in the wrong place. Never acted like a baby. Took to training like a total champ."

Prior to the Greg Olson, King had already collected $37,096 at the BFA World Championship Futurity in Oklahoma City for taking reserve in the SuperStakes and placing in the Juvenile average. Jatzlau decided to forgo the Classic Equine BRN4D Futurity to better rest her colt.

"When it was time to make nominations, I just decided that three futurities in the same location in January was too much pressure on a horse and too long for me to be gone," she said. "Oklahoma City is such a hard week on a 3-year-old, so I turned him out for two-and-half weeks until after Christmas. I was able to give him more time off after Oklahoma City by choosing to come to the second futurity instead of the first one."

That time off also gave her the opportunity to spend quality with her support crew.

"I'm the one who gets to stand in the spotlight but it's always a team effort," she said. "My mom is here with me, taking care of the horses in the morning and taking care of Jagger. Lane is an extremely supportive husband. Dawn (Ringstaff, who flew out with Jatzlau's son) made it possible for Jagger to not have to ride in the truck for 20 hours. Kelli (Ringstaff) is helping me out here too. John and James are at home. John Landrum is riding outside horses while I'm gone and James is breaking the babies so we have more for next year."

Congratulations to Emily Efurd

for winning 2012 WPRA Rookie of the Year and finishing #23 in the world standings.

"I'm really liking Revitalize"! I've had my young horse out on the road with me on it and it's kept her from stressing so badly and going off her feed because of it. I know it works because almost every time I hauled her before, she would go off her feed. At the end of the season it even helped Fanny (Fantasia Fame) with this too.

I use the Cetyl M® Joint Action Cream for Horses on my horses' hocks, stifles, and pasterns every time before I run. I think it really helps to loosen them up if they've been standing around and are real tight or have been in the trailer for a long time. I also have my three main horses, including Fanny, on Cetyl M® granules for Horses and I think it has significantly reduced their maintenance." -Emily Efurd*

Hoovestal, Walter Repeat in Montana Circuit

By Julie Mankin

For about the past five years, Billings barrel horse trainer Theresa Walter has been harder to beat in Montana than a warm spring day. It was no different in 2012, when she led the field into her fifth Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo aboard her Dash Ta Fame/Shawne Bug mare, Fames Licorice Kiss.

The first round, held in Great Falls during a snow flurry and below-zero temperatures, saw a big shake-up, however, when Walter took a penalty and one of the only two girls who could catch her – Lindsay Kruse – won first. Third place, however, went to 21-year-old Chloe Hoovestal of Helena, aboard her 12-year-old bay gelding, Action For Cash RB (“Chuck”).

Hoovestal followed that up by placing second in the second round and fourth in the third to bring her rodeo-total to $4,987. Meanwhile, Walter was back to herself, dominating both the second and third rounds to earn $3,324 as the second-high money winner (in Round Three she smoked them by more than four-tenths with the fastest time of the rodeo).

“I didn’t go in expecting to win the average,” said Hoovestal. “I knew I couldn’t catch Theresa but I also knew that I had to try to win it for another shot at Oklahoma City.”

Last year, Walter won both the Finals average and Montana year-end titles, so Hoovestal went with her to the Ram National Circuit Finals Rodeo via Hoovestal’s reserve finish in the circuit. This year, she won the trip fair and square.

“One of my horse’s strengths is keeping the barrels up,” said Hoovestal, who was the only cowgirl to place in all three rounds in Great Falls. “He has a nice round turn and I can usually ride him pretty hard, especially in that little arena.”

Chuck is 12 this year and came from Rayna Rice about two years ago. According to Hoovestal, the horse was trained by Judy Myl-lymaki and finished by Rice, who won plenty on him in the circuit, as well.

“He’s fun to run,” said Hoovestal. “He makes the same pattern every time.”

Chuck is by Another Feature – on the top he’s a grandson of Truckle Feature crossed on a Jet Deck mare, and on the bottom he’s out of a half-thoroughbred grand-daughter of War Admiral.

Chuck's dam is First Down Canth – a granddaughter of First Down Dash on the bottom, and by a grandson of both Raise A Native and Jet Deck on the top side.

Hoovestal's mother, Jodee, had grown up on the racetrack and got Chloe into barrel racing as a young girl. While Chloe didn't compete in high school rodeo, she is a veteran of the Northern Rodeo Association.

"I plan on going to cosmetology school pretty soon," said Chloe, who will turn 22 in February.

In the meantime, her dad, Jon, bought Jodee and Chloe a house in Dublin, Texas, where they will spend the winter running barrels. Jon is a contractor who remodels government embassies overseas, while Jodee's family owns a bar and grill in Helena. Chloe also has a 24-year-old brother who doesn't ride.

While in Texas, Chloe hopes to hit some rodeos and a few jackpots on Chuck while she also seasons her 7-year-old and 8-year-old horses. She's looking forward to the short trip to Oklahoma City, where her strategy in April will be to "just have fun and keep the barrels up to go for the average money."

Montana Circuit Rookie of the Year honors went to Kava Huestis, who ran at Great Falls out of the money. She filled her permit in 2012 riding HW Who Got The Cash, then qualified for the Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo on Hesa Rare Runner, formerly owned by reserve circuit champion Lindsay Kruse.

SLS First Freckle ridden by Shelley Murphy and owned by Jerrie Dolan won the 2012 Montana-Bred WPRA/PRCA Circuit Finals Champion Horse. The 12 year old son of Missin Freckle ended up second in the overall average as well while earning a $3,117 paycheck.

Second Time's a Charm for Oberg in the First Frontier

By Tanya Randall

Jennifer Oberg, Pilesgrove, N.J., made the most of her second trip to the First Frontier Circuit Finals Rodeo, held Jan. 10-12 in Harrisburg, Pa. The 40-year-old riding instructor and her horse Boogie Man, 9, placed in all three rounds en route to the average championship and a berth to the Ram National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City, Okla.

"I think I'm still in shock to be honest," said Oberg, who collected $3,177 for the victory. "We had three very consistent, nice runs. My horse has come such a long way in such a short time. He just exceeds my expectations time and time again. He's a great little horse to work with and ride."

Oberg, who started barrel racing after watching her friends compete at nearby Cowtown Rodeo in Woodstown, N.J., purchased Boogie Man, a grade gelding, in the fall of 2009.

"He was four, coming five," she recalled. "He had never seen a barrel. I started riding and teaching him. I don't know anything about his background or breeding. A friend of mine thought he might have something that I could train for barrels. He brought me a couple over for me to try and Boogie Man was actually the last horse I rode. I was on him about five minutes, and said, 'Yep that's the one.'"

The duo learned together with the help of local barrel racers and friends. It was long after she got him that she bought her WPR A permit.

"I went to three or four NBHAs and my friends told me, 'Okay, now get your permit,'" she said. "I started him out in 2010, and by the end of the season, he'd won me one or two checks. In 2011, we went on to have an unbelievable year. He won Marshfield, Mass., and qualified me for my first circuit finals. I won rookie of the year for the First Frontier Circuit. It was definitely a dream year."

Oberg has a strong English background that gave her a "good foundation" for running barrels.

"I mostly did junior when I was younger and then I took about 10 years off from riding," she said. "When I came back I just did local stuff and gave lessons. We did some of the bigger A-rated USEF shows for the jumpers, but not for very long. When I was a kid I did it all the time and traveled up and down the East Coast going to USEF shows."

She's also had to let go of some of English training too. "With English I ride with a lot more contact, and the biggest thing that I had to overcome was my hands," she said. "Dropping my hands down a little bit was hard too. I was used to having my hands a little higher for that contact. Because I rode so many young horses, I was used to fixing and tweaking all the time and the competition arena is not the time to do that! I still find myself doing it from time to time, picking on him or placing him when I just need to let him work."

Oberg said she's both "very excited" and "very nervous" about her first trip to the RNCFR. It's the icing on the cake to an unbelievable journey that started barely four years ago.

"My horse and I pretty much learned together," she said. "It's been an unbelievable ride really. What he's accomplished in three years of running is unreal. It's definitely a dream come true."

Taylor Splits Odessa, Expands Lead

By Julie Mankin

Fallon Taylor didn't lick her wounds long after discovering on Sept. 30 that she finished the 2012 season just $930 out of making the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. Instead of moping, the Whitesboro, Texas cowgirl got busy.

"Baby Flo is a cool mare because she always gives 110 percent no matter what," said Taylor, whose real name for the mare is "Flo's Heiress" because Taylor competed at the NFR on the dam, Flowers And Money ("Flo"), in the 1990s. "On Oct. 1, I decided it was important that this dynamic horse get the recognition she's due. Sitting at home wasn't an option for 2013, although it did seem like a good plan for that first minute."

Before the first big rodeo of 2013, Taylor already had earned nearly double what second place in the world standings had claimed, and she iced that by splitting the win at the Sand Hills Stock Show & Rodeo in Odessa. For the first time, Odessa was just a one-header, instead of two runs and an average. Both Taylor and Kenna Squires, who clocked the exact same time to tie for the victory, like it that way.

"The less time we can spend there and the more money we can take out, the better," said Taylor. "It's really cold; we like to get in and out of there."

Taylor and Squires, for their matching runs of 14.14 seconds, earned $4,848 apiece, edging veteran Kay Blandford by just four-hundredths of a second. Last year, winner Paige Conrado took home $5,946 for placing in the first round and winning the second round and average.

"Odessa is always affected by weather, and we got lucky this year," said Squires. "It seems there's not quite enough stalls for everyone to hang around when it's two runs. I just wish the ground had been better for those guys in slack – I don't think they got a fair go at it."

The committee had the depth and slickness worked out soon, she added, and nearly 200 girls ran on good ground. Also, Odessa lets anybody in who wants to enter, which she prefers.

"Everyone is excited about Odessa every year," she said. "Everyone's had a break and their horses need runs, so it's always interesting. It turned out good this time for me."

Like Taylor, Squires had some disappointment in 2012, finishing 23rd in the standings on her two horses, Rambling For Fame ("Ramblor") and Dash To The Flame, both 10 this spring. But she rode neither of those horses to the win at Odessa, which put her third in the early WPRA World Standings.

She ran 8-year-old Dashing Trace. "Tracer" is by Dash Ta Fame and out of Darlene's Sugar – a granddaughter of Raise Your Glass and Ettabo, crossed respectively on a Jet Deck mare and a Moon Deck mare.

"I really didn't know who I was going to run until right before I left," said Squires. "I thought about taking Rambler, but I knew he'd be hard to get by the barrels, and something came up with my other horse at the same time."

Squires also had ridden Tracer at the Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo, and knew he'd be good in small pens like the one at Odessa.

"He's an odd little fella, but he does his job," she said. "He's difficult to deal with and I hate loping circles on him, but the horse will run barrels. He's the one who got me qualified to come to these winter rodeos last summer."

While Tracer is a larger horse than Baby Flo, the two cracked

Squires up with their similar styles.

"You know, they're a couple skinny-butted little horses with no extra weight, and they remind me of each other," she said.

Taylor agreed, calling them "little greyhounds," and said she was shocked to almost see a chubby belly on 7-year-old Baby Flo in December, after she raced to the early lead in the world standings.

Courtesy of her mare's efforts in the latter part of 2012, Taylor now leads the standings by nearly $10,000, and will run at the big winter rodeos for the first time in 15 years. Still, she said splitting Odessa relieved some pressure.

"At the same time, it means we can reach for higher goals that we may not have been expecting back in October," she said. "It will be an interesting season, with Calgary counting and Houston not counting, and the girls who didn't make it last year will be going twice as hard."

In between performances, Taylor will be home with the babies by Baby Flo's full brother, Chuck Taylor.

"We just started a bunch of 2-year-olds and have a 3-year-old we're having a blast with," said Taylor, who last October married 24-year-old Dallas Cowboys punter Delbert Alvarado.

Her new husband, a free agent for the coming NFL season, helps her ride her 2-year-olds and won his first 4D check at a race in Alvarado, Texas.

"He digs it," said Taylor. "He's my motivator. He's the one who told me to start Baby Flo in the first place."

Ganter Rides Four Head to CC5D Pay Window

Jackie Ganter had a barrel race to remember at the CC5D January Race at Lone Star Arena in Stephenville, TX. All told she placed on 4 different horses to grab a whopping total of $3,401. Her top 3 horses Bobbie Gene, A Special Colour and Frenchmans Jester all ran in the top 13 of the Main Race 1D. Bobbie Gene won the Main Race, Sunday Open payout, Derby Incentive, and she won the Youth on him. With A Special Colour she won 5th in the Sunday Open payout, 3rd in the Derby Incentive, and 5th in the Youth. Then on Frenchmans Jester she managed to win 4th in the Sunday Open payout and 4th in the Youth. Ganter has three great horses and this 16 year old is counting down to the exact day in 2014 when she can buy her WPRA card and hit the road! The Barrel Racing Report caught up with her after her big win to ask a few questions.

BRR: Tell us a little about your 3 horses you are running right now.
Ganter: Bobbie Gene- He has a hilarious personality. He's really hyper, we always joke that he looks like a Lipizzaner how he prances around until he gets to the alley, then his little ears perk up and he is all business. Bo Hill started him on barrels, then Lee Hanssen bought him and finished him and ran him the first half of his futurity year, then Schiller Ranch (Kristi Schiller) bought him and Latricia Duke finished him out in the futurities. A Special Colour (AKA Patrón) - He is very sweet, he wants to please you and he wants to be the best he can be. He is funny and likes to play with things like my phone! Jordon Briggs trained him and ran him at the futurities and derbies. She had fantastic success to a T, everything he does I know why and what he's doing. Jordan Briggs also trained him, she won the BFA Futurity on him in 2006 then went on to qualify for the WNFR in 2009. Then I've gone on to win the Texas State High School Barrel Racing Championship on him in 2012.

BRR: Tell us a little about your winning runs.

Ganter: Bobbie Gene - It was an amazing run. The day before we had quite a stumble on the first barrel so we sent the run to Latricia and she told me I ran him to first too hard so I held back and let him go his speed to first on Sunday. My leg scraped the barrel all the way around it, it was absolutely as perfect of a barrel as you could turn. After that I just kicked all the way into the pocket at 2nd and 3rd and he turns himself.

A Special Colour - I was happy with our run because of how much he helped me out; he has such a heart. I accidentally grabbed him too hard at the first barrel and he did everything to get around it which caused us to blow off of it but he still ran on and smoked 2nd and 3rd barrel to still have a great time.

Frenchmans Jester - He had a great run. Jester ran in there and turned all 3 barrels great and he ran hard. He's always gritty and wants to win. In almost all of our running home pictures he has his ears pinned all the way back against his head.

BRR: You have 3 top horses, but each horse has a little different style tell us a little about that and how you are able to adapt to that.

Ganter: All three of my horses are extremely different styles. Bobbie Gene you just run and kick. A Special Colour you ease to the 1st then after that just kick, and Frenchmans Jester you kick as far as you possibly can to all three barrels. They are all very different to even warm up before you run so as I'm loping around I just think of what I need to do on each individual horse. I take one horse at a time and never think about a horse I'm not sitting on. When I go

He is big and strong and can move. He will eat a barrel up. Natural rate, very gentle and quiet. You can do anything you want on him. Paul Greimsman is heading steers on him and he will make a rodeo horse. Doesn't hurt that he is flat gorgeous. He is also eligible for a pile of futurities and is paid in full to the Future Fortunes. Headin' For Home

by Shery Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Ah, a new year! Full of promise, hope and the good life! What?! You don't think so???? Well, what are you looking at?!

I recently bought some laser lights for my arena so my barrels would always be the same. Ya, I'm as opposed to change in the arena as I am in my very structured life! LOL! But my very good God keeps showing me things in the neatest ways!

My grandson, Cody, came over to ride shortly after we had them installed and he always helps me set the barrels. Those lights were cool! We set barrels one and two and then he sprinted to three to see the light. I grabbed the barrel off the wall and started over to set it up. Cody was down on his knees looking at that light. I watched. He very slowly tried to pour dirt over the light to try to cover it up.....but after a few seconds he figured it out! That light was coming from above and it wasn't going to BE covered up! And God said.....

"Sherry, that's how some of my children are. They think they can cover up my love for them. It can't be done. I love them all and I will never leave them or forsake them as I promised in Heb. 13:5.....and likewise some of them think they can cover their sin. It can't be done. The only way their sin will be covered or eliminated is to ask my forgiveness. I promised you in 1 Jn. 1:9 that if you ask Me, you'll be forgiven."

I stood there a minute watching Cody figure out something that was so simple. And I learned a valuable lesson of my own.....

We love you, bless you and pray that 2013 will be the best ever, because we are looking at HIM!
