Dressed To Kill -- Michelle Alley & Lipstick N Stilletos Top Golden Buckle Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Michelle Alley had Lipstick N Stilletos in high style at the Golden Buckle, held January 11-14 in Waco, Texas. Alley and Stilleto collected $25,370—$13,507 for winning the 142-entry, $37,000-added Futurity, $8,303 for winning the Slot Race, and $3,560 for winning the Breeders Challenge Futurity Qualifier.

"It's a little bit of a fairy tale," Alley said of the win. The Madisonville, Texas, based trainer and professional barrel racer raised Stilleto, who is by white hot first year sire RR Mistakelly ("Mister") out of her great Tres Seis mare Seis Caress, who carried her into the WPRA's Top 25 numerous times.

"It's amazing how similar she is to her mother in so many ways," she added. "Her confidence, her style...you don't quite see the drop on the backside of the barrel with her like you do with Saucy, but I feel it. It feels like I'm riding Saucy."

"She pins her ears when you throw the saddle on her—they both do that. They both do this head nod when they see you coming back to the trailer or coming back to the stall. It's like she's a clone of her mom, which is really, really cool. It's going to be a fun year." They were seventh on their first run with a 16.131 but came back to

THE RUNDOWN w/ Michelle Alley

Lipstick N Stilletos, 16-16.1 "She's as big as her mom, but not as long backed. She's not as stout yet, but she's only 3."

BIT: Carolina short shank mullen mouth with a loose leather curb. "I chose the mullen because she comes back over the top of a barrel automatically, so I felt this kept her a little more balanced and a little bit stiff where I can get that extra couple of inches on the back side."

SADDLE: Trophy saddle Saucy won made by Green Custom Saddles of Greenville, Texas

SADDLE PAD: EcoGold Western Fortech

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine fronts this weekend, but also uses ACE Tack

SHOEING: SafeGrip Steel Rims on front, barefoot behind; shod by Alley

FEED: Nutrena Triumph 12-8 pellet

HAY: Alfalfa and coastal

SUPPLEMENTS: Simply Equine Structural Boost and respiratory support, Succeed Equine daily, Equine HempFlavin, and Zesterra when on the road.

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Chiropractic care from Kim Gillespie — "He adjusted her before the first go." HorseWell Equine Massage tool as needed, FlexiNeb with Silver Horse Care's colloidal silver/MSM mixture.

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: "She's turned out most of the time. She does not get worked on the barrel. She does get exercised a couple of times a week. If she does go through the barrels, I'll walk her through as my cool out. Even at the futurity, I did do my one exhibition, but she never went through the pattern in the warmup pen. I treat her like a rodeo horse."

SPONSORS: Nutrena Feed, Succeed Equine, Bill Fick Ford, RenoVô Amnion-Solutions, Simply Equine & K9, Kim Gillespie-KG Equine, D Bar D Equine Dentistry, Zesterra by Pro Earth Animal Health, Silver Horse Care, Equine Hemp Solutions, Lone Star Equine Sports Medicine, ACE Tack and Tee's, Performance Stall Mats, EcoGold — Equestrian Textile Engineering.

top the second round with a 15.978, even though Alley broke her pinky finger on her right hand while running another horse in the Open 4D.

"I had a great first barrel, and at the second, he kind of cheated me going into the barrel, so I was still two handed, holding him off," she explained. "When he dropped into the turn, he jerked my reins and hands forward, and I guess I hit the horn. I felt it happen and heard it crack, but I thought it had just jammed my knuckle. I went on with my run, but when I stopped at the gate after my run, I looked, and my pinky was pointing out perpendicular from my hand! It's the dumbest, saddest, freakiest thing!"

A quick x-ray from the on-site veterinarian confirmed a break. Her brother, JJ Alley, sent those images to members of the Justin Sports Medicine Team, and they set her up with an appointment with a hand specialist on Monday.

"My whole hand is not feeling very good," Alley admitted on Sunday. "JJ wrapped it and splinted it for my run. It was fine. I knew I had a great run, and running home I went to slap her on the neck once, like I did with Saucy. Right away, when I did that, I'm like, 'Oh, that was not a good idea!'"

She wanted to thank Stilletos' owners Heather Moeller and her husband Blake for all of their help, especially on Saturday.

"She doesn't like to stand still," Alley said. "For me to boot her up would have been impossible. They took care of all of that, and my only job was to jockey her across the timer."

Alley bred Stilleto by pure chance.

"I knew I always wanted to get babies out of Saucy," she said. "I knew she was in heat, and I hit a barrel (at the 2019 pro rodeo) in Austin. I didn't really have anything on the books for the next several weeks, so actually on my way home from Austin, I stopped and had her palpated. They said, 'she's ready to breed tomorrow.' So, I left her at Brazos Valley in Salado, and they bred her to Mister." COVID hit when Stilleto was born to a recipient mare. Although Alley never had plans to sell the filly, the uncertainty of the world during the pandemic forced her hand.

"I didn't want to sell her, but a lot of people had pulled their horses because nobody knew what was going on in the world," she explained. "I had some things that I wanted to pay off and I didn't know what was going to happen either. I listed her for sale online and didn't get any interest, and then my best friend and her dad called.

"They bought her with the agreement that she would stay with me. We've known each other for a long time. She and her family are amazing people. It's a good partnership."

While Alley and her brother usually break their own horses. When it came time to start Stilleto, Alley was off rodeoing and her brother was recovering from shoulder surgery. So, the filly went right down the road to Robbie Sharp in Richards, Texas.

"I know he does a good job, and I would be able to ride behind him," she said.

Three weeks after getting Stilleto home, Alley knew she had a natural on her hands.

"When I got home from rodeoing, I rode her for maybe three weeks," Alley recalled. "I just rode her for two weeks and then put her on barrels for three days. She could lope the pattern and be snappy by the third day and I just turned her out for the rest of the winter and spring. I knew she was going to be a natural."

Alley brought Stilleto back up late last spring, but it didn't take a lot of training or hauling to have her ready by November 15.

"I probably only exhibited her at 11 different places," she said. "She is just the most confident and mature colt I've ever swung a leg over. She's bratty. She's sassy. Has no patience whatsoever, but she knows her job. She's one of those that you show her once and you better show her correctly."

Their debut at the BFA World Championship was hampered by an abscess that finally blew the day after the event was over. After placing well at a few jackpots, they won the OKC Rookie Futurity Reserve Championship. Then before the Golden Buckle, they picked up their first rodeo check at the Colorado versus the World Rodeo at the National Western in Denver.

AWESOME SAUCE

Michelle Alley raised her Golden Buckle Champion out of her great rodeo mare Seis Caress, affectionately known as "Saucy" or "Awesome Saucy."

Alley found the daughter Tres Seis out of the stakes placed First Caress, Merridoc mare GW Money Talks for sale on BarrelHorseWorld.com. Although she tried to convince a few of her owners to buy the mare, she eventually purchased her sight unseen for herself.

"I think it was a God thing," said Alley. "She was meant to be mine."

Although Saucy battled injuries through her career, the mare still put Alley with the WPRA's Top 25 several times before her retirement last October after she placed at the Elder Dodge Shootout in Athens.

"Two days later, she was lame in the pasture," Alley explained. "She has a huge chip in the same knee that we had surgery on two years ago. No surgeon wants to touch it. They told me to keep her quiet and let it heal. Let her be a broodmare."

Just a few weeks later, her first colt Lipstick N Stilleto took her mother's place as the main breadwinner in Alley's barn.

"As soon as Saucy's door shut on competing," Alley noted, "her door opened, and it opened wide!"

Unfortunately, Stilleto is Saucy's only foal at the moment.

"I'm kicking myself for not breeding her the last couple of years," Alley said. "It's hard when you're rodeoing. With Stilleto, it was just dumb luck that it worked out."

Saucy will be having a few embryos flushed this year. Not surprisingly, Alley plans on going back to RR Mistakelly for a couple.

"We know that's a proven cross," Alley said. "Gosh, he's got several out there that are kicking butt! I'm excited for his future."

"She ran some of the fastest times," Alley noted. "Not many 3-year-olds can handle Denver and do what she did. Then wins the futurity!"

"I knew she was going to be great, but she's exceeding expectations. The last month or so has just been awesome."

This is an incredible opportunity to own some of our life's work. We have put a lot of blood sweat and tears into Roller And A Shaker. The buyer will own a stallion bred like nothing else in this entire world! He will cross on anything you breed to him. He has an impressive set of mares he has bred for many years here at 88 Ranch as well as clients horses. He's set up for long term success as a stallion. We have saved several nice mares out of him that we intend to ride, promote and breed.

Sue Smith & Diamond Center Hit a Home Run at San Diego Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Sue Smith hit a homerun at her hometown rodeo at the San Diego Rodeo, presented by the San Diego Padres, Outriders Presents and C5 Rodeo. She and her homebred gelding Diamond Center ("Heff") picked up $24,875 for the invitation rodeo win at Petco Stadium.

"Heff hit a home run at Padre Stadium!" said Smith, who grew up in San Diego before moving to Idaho for college. She now resides in Blackfoot.

"I don't know why I moved from the climate capital of the world to southern Idaho, but I did!" she chuckled. "I do love coming to San Diego because my family is from there and I have a lot of history there."

THE RUNDOWN w/ Sue Smith

Diamond Center "Heff" 15.1-2 h, 1,100+ lbs.

BIT: Dave Elliot Spur Up 03 with a twisted square three-piece, a copper roller mouthpiece (MPC24)

SADDLE: Custom Larry Coats "I was having a hard time fitting him. Larry is our next door neighbor in Arizona. He just came over and whipped a saddle out for him. I love it. It's working great. Heff didn't really need a wider saddle, but he needed a wider bar spread and less rock in the bars because he's got a flatter, wider back."

SADDLE PAD: 3S Custom Equine

LEG GEAR: Professional's Choice on all four

SHOEING: St Croix lite rims on all four. Smith shoes her own horses unless Chris Wilkins is available. "If I can get Chris to do them, that's who does them. If I have to shoe, if it's after Chris it's just so much better. He's great. He's amazing."

FEED: Purina Strategy Healthy Edge

HAY: Alfalfa hay plus Cubeit hay cubes with 30 percent grass, 70 percent alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: Equinety, MSM, Forco, Lubrisyn, Zesterra

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Ronda Melton's Performance Horse Depot "She's helped me so much. She got me to use a BEMER and Nebulizer. Everything that she's recommended has worked out for me. She's been a huge benefit for me. I'm so glad to have her in my corner."

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: "I don't do a lot except exercise. I do a lot to keep them from getting loaded on their front end. It just goes with the territory of going around the barrels. I do a lot riding on the outside (of the horse) to keep them more balanced, so they don't get to floating their belly and their rib or loading too much on their front end when I train on them because that's just the tendency that the pattern puts in them. I do a lot of reverse psychology on them. We're going to go turn the barrel to the inside, but I'm going to ride the outside. So, I'm going to do a lot of offsetting and getting them stood up and backed off. It doesn't necessarily have to be on the pattern itself, but it's just keeping my horses stood up and off their front end and off my hands."

SPONSORS: Elliot Bit & Spurs, Three Forks Saddlery, 3S Custom Equine, South Valley Equine Hospital, Equinety, Twin To Twin Racing, Busby Quarter Horses, Professional's Choice, Zesterra, Coats Saddlery and Rodeo Rigs.

THANKS: All my sponsors and all the people that support me. People say it takes a village and it really, really does. All my sponsors have been super helpful and very appreciated.

Smith also has a history of doing really well at San Diego country rodeos like Lakeside, Poway and now San Diego.

"I don't know if it's my hometown jam or what," she said, "but it's pretty cool."

Smith got the invite to the San Diego Rodeo last fall, and almost backed out due to commitments with her futurity horses. She has two for this season: Jets Pin Up, a daughter of Blazin Jetolena out of Dashes Centerfold—"I have high hopes for her. She won her first futurity she went to," and Fame On The Move, a Dash Ta Fame out of Sheza Blazin Move, by Blazin Jetolena, for Busby Quarter Horses. "They're both a little green, but they show a lot of promise."

But after visiting with Kathy Petska, she decided to take a chance on the unique event.

"Obviously, I don't regret it," she chuckled. "I didn't expect to do as well as I did there, but it was still even before that happened...I was hanging out with Kathy and Nellie (Miller) and we were all like, 'This is fun! This was a cool thing to be a part of.'"

She said it was truly a unique experience.

"The audience was incredible," she said. "I don't know if I've ever seen an audience so engaged. It says a lot about the producer, announcer, clown and all of that. It went well and it was fun. I was happy to be a part of it, especially since it went my way! I didn't expect that either! It was pretty exciting!"

Since her good mare Dash Centerfold went out with an injury, Smith turned to the mare's oldest foal Heff, by A Smooth Guy. The 8-year-old gelding finished up her third National Finals Rodeo qualification last year.

"Half of my earnings to get to the NFR were due to him, but I was picking and choosing slacks and little rodeos," she explained. "When she had her little incident, he got thrown into the fire, and he took it."

Heff also won a little money at the NFR too.

"I was surprised he handled the whole NFR as well as he did," she said. "We had a little timing issue. That blind first barrel is a little tough. I also think I sometimes overthink things too much instead of just going with it. He got it figured out finally.”

At San Diego, they spent the first two runs finding their bearings in the arena set up over a baseball diamond.

“It took a little bit for me and Heff to get our timing in there,” said Smith, who picked up a fourth-place check in the second performance. They went on to win the Round of 8, composed of the highest money earners, and the top four Shootout with the fastest run of the rodeo.

Smith, who finished 14th in the 2023 WPRA World Standings, has the upcoming winter rodeos in Texas but has no definitive plans to chase her fourth NFR qualification.

“I’m going to mix it up between the futurities and rodeos,” she said. “I’ve done it before. I’ll just see how things go. I want to go to those building rodeos because I worked hard to get in them—that’s what my goal was last year. I’m not going to get crazy and go really hard. I never do. There are too many other things.

“I just kind of go with the flow. If my rodeo horses are running good, I go that way. If my futurity horses are going, I’ll go there. If they’re both going good, I’ll mix it up.

Texas Two-Step For Katie Jo Halbert & Miz Milania, Win San Antonio Qualifier & Odessa

By Tanya Randall

After making an arena record run aboard Miz Milania to win the Sisters Rodeo in Oregon last June, Katie Jo Halbert said, "My goal is to have a horse at the end of the summer that we can roll on with next year."

She threw all expectations out the window, so her sole focus was seasoning the young daughter of Tres Seis, fresh off a stellar futurity career with Jodee Miller, to the rodeo world.

Now, early in the 2024 rodeo season, "her plan to have no plans" last year is paying off handsomely with a $5,956 victory at the Sandhills Stock Show & Rodeo in Odessa, Texas, and a $11,678 victory and an invite to the San Antonio Rodeo via the Qualifier in Uvalde, Texas.

"I think it has worked really well," said the Port Lavaca, Texas, barrel racer. "She's felt so confident and ready. She's just stepped up. 'I think it really helped her not pressuring her and letting her evolve and grow and learn what it's all about. What changed her recently was I decided, 'OK, it's time.' We have big goals for 2024. We're going to give it everything we have to try to go there. I think riding her a little bit more confidently has made her even more confident in her runs. It's incredible. I'm really, really proud of her for how well she's taken to it and stepped up."

Halbert and Milania, now 7, currently sit No. 1 in the WPRA World Standings with $18,381, thanks to their $17,634 week.

"I want to first and foremost thank God for the opportunity to be on a horse like this," said Halbert. "I never imagined in a million years that we would be able to have this conversion after the week that we've had. It's something dreamt about it. I always dreamt about having a big paying rodeo weekend."

"I want to thank my parents (Randy and Debra Boyd), they own Milania, and help support us. My husband and I both work for them and they allow us to take off work whenever we need to, to haul all over the country."

"I want to thank my husband Reid, he's always right there with me. He knows Milania just as well as I do, inside and out. He knows how to keep her happy and he helps me drive everywhere, which is the best!"

"Everyone that supported me and the kind words and support I've received—it really means a lot!"

She also wanted to thank the San Antonio Rodeo Committee for offering the Qualifier.

"I'm so grateful," she said. "It was a class act. Everything was top notch. Everyone was so friendly and accommodating. The stalls, the facility—everything about it was so incredible. I'm so grateful to be able to run for that kind of money and get invited into one of the biggest winter rodeos of the year!"

Halbert started January with an unexpected Lone Star Shootout Derby Championship and an arena record in Hamilton, Texas, the weekend prior to Odessa and the Qualifier. Their first round run was their first since winning an OKC Derby Championship at the first of December.

"She just kind of ran around the barrels," Halbert recalled. "She didn't do anything bad, but it wasn't anything special. She worked. Honestly, it was more me. I was a little rusty myself and just sat there. She did exactly what I asked her to."

When Halbert went to saddle the mare for the second round, Milania tried to kick her.

"She was coming into heat and was a little cranky," Halbert said. "I guess I brushed her a little too hard with my curry comb and she tried to kick me. She got in trouble and had to go be tied to the trailer by herself. She was not impressed being away from her friends. I was a little mad at her that morning! I knew we needed a little more 'Yes, ma'am' time."

Halbert was so far off the pace in the first round, the average

THE RUNDOWN w/Katie Halbert

Miz Milania, 15.2-15.3 h, 1,200 lbs.

BIT: Dave Elliot Spur Up 03 Short Shank with a four-piece twisted mouth at San Antonio; Stop & Turn at Odessa

SADDLE: Master. "It's Emily Beisel's first Master saddle that she rode to her first NFR. It's a pretty special saddle."

SADDLE PAD: 3S Custom Equine

LEG GEAR: Ortho Equine on front, polo wraps on rear

SHOEING: Regular steel rims; shod by J.O. Duke

FEED: Alfa Force

HAY: Coastal

SUPPLEMENTS: MVP In Sync, NeutraBac pH

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: PHT sheet and wraps, PEMF, Clouds, leg poultice

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: "Most of the time I just long trot and do some smaller circles. If I need to get her a little quicker on her feet, I'll do some rollbacks. Other than that, I ride four to five times a week. During rodeo season, we don't exercise as much because she is running more."

"The average wasn't even a thought in my mind," she said. "I said, 'We'll, we're just going to go run barrels.' I sent a SnapChat about it. My horse was the only one in the holding pen steaming. It was 30-something degrees, and she was steaming. 'Welp, I don't know if this is a good thing or a bad thing.' And she went out there and laid down a run! She let me pull on her and place her where she needed to be. She was like, 'Yes, ma'am!' She was fast. That's all we could ask her to do."

They set an arena record at the Circle T with a 15.038 and got the average win.

"That completely shocked me!" she exclaimed. "I had no idea!"

She didn't even ride Milania between her runs at Hamilton and her first run at Uvalde.

"She showed up and showed out there too," said Halbert. "I was quite surprised at that too. She was a lot nicer at Uvalde and I was quite concerned. I thought, 'Well, she might be slow. If she is, that will be fine, at least she's happy. Warming up the sassiness came out. She was shaking her head and prancing. She was 'I'm special and I want everyone to know!'"

They clocked a 15.10 to best the field of 178 in the progressive round on Tuesday. The top 20 of which got to make a second run in one of two performances later in the week.

"It was kind of a hard angle to the first barrel," Halbert recalled. "She let me hold her and she walked calmly up the alleyway. She let me place her and put her exactly where she needed to be. She made a really nice smooth run there. I didn't think it was anything super outrageously fast. She sure enough ran hard enough to make it fast!"

After a day off relaxing in the spacious cattle pens at their hunting lease at Uvalde, the Halberts hauled to Odessa for the Thursday night performance.

"Odessa is a hard pen," Halbert said. "I don't have any kind of expectations. I honestly changed what I ran her in. I ran her in a Stop & Turn because it was a smaller pen and thought she didn't use her hind end much at (the Qualifier), and that Stop & Turn gets her on her hind end and using it properly. I thought she could have made a nicer run at (the Qualifier) so I thought we were just going to make a tune up run for the second round."

Running mid-pack on the ground, Halbert and Milania clocked a 14.14 to win the rodeo by almost two-tenths.

"She honestly did that by herself because I was honestly falling off the entire run," she laughed. "I have a bruise on the inside of my thigh from holding on. I balanced on her face, and she just handled it. It was quite comical! That's a pretty small pattern. Everything comes up pretty quick!"

They had their second run in Uvalde on Saturday night, and they were first out. Halbert opted to switch back to the Dave Elliot short shank Spur Up 06 for the run.

"She had done so well the first round that I just needed another smooth run," she said. "I didn't need her to be super quick and strong. After I watched the round (on Friday), the ground seemed to have a little bit of shift and slide into it, so I didn't want to use anything that was quick action to where if I pulled on her, she was going to come. I didn't want to take a chance of her slipping into a barrel. At that point, my biggest goal was getting into San Antonio. I knew I needed to go out there and let my horse work."

Her goal was almost dashed at the first barrel.

"My first barrel was a little scary," she admitted. "I could feel her scramble a little bit on the back side. Running across to the second, I thought 'Don't touch her!' If you pull on her, she's going to listen and come. She wants to do the right thing. So, I just sat there at the second barrel. She stood up and ran around it, which is exactly what I needed her to do. And again, at the third, I felt her scrambling around and I didn't touch her so she wouldn't slip and fall into the barrel."

Halbert and Milania finished second in the round with a 15.22 and won the aggregate. The top 10 finishers in the aggregate all earned an invite to the San Antonio Rodeo.

"I didn't care how it ended up," she said. "My horse gave me everything she had, and we get to go to San Antonio. I gave her a hug and thanked her."

Halbert was also excited that Ashley Schafer qualified aboard French StreakOf Fame, a Streakin Boon Dox mare out of Famed French Kiss, that her family owns. Famed French Kiss is a full sister to NFR qualifier Freckles Ta Fame.

"We're super excited that mare's first baby gets to go to San Antonio," she said. "I ran (Famed French Kiss) at San Antonio a couple of years ago too."

Zachoda & Possibly Dynamite Light Up Vegas

American Contender Tournament — Western Region

This past weekend, Jan 11-13, in Las Vegas, NV at the South Point Hotel & Casino Event Center the American Contender Tournament West Regional Semi-Finals and Finals were held to determine the 5 people from each event to head to The American Contender Tournament Finals in Abilene, TX.

Possibly Dynamite & Lisa Zachoda topped the Finals at the Western Region of the American Contender Tournament. The Canadian pair won at the futurities and derbies before moving up to winning at the rodeos the past couple years. Now, this exciting pair is headed to The American Contender Tournament Finals after topping a tough bunch of barrel racers on their way to winning $14,353 in Vegas.

The Top 5 from the Regional Finals that are moving on are Lisa Zachoda, Kathy Grimes, Darian Raupers, Lakken Bice, and Kelly Yates.

Over the next couple weeks the Central Region Finals and East Region Finals will be held as well to determine the 15 headed to Abilene for The American Contender Tournament Finals. The Central Finals will be held January 18-20 in Oklahoma City, OK at Jim Norick Arena and the East Region Finals will be held Jan 25-27 in Lexington, KY at the Alltech Arena. The Top 5 Finishers in the Barrel Racing in the Finals at each of those Regional Finals will join the 5 from the West Regional 5 in Abilene.

The American Contender Tournament Finals will be held February 10, 2024 in Abilene, TX. The Top 5 from Abilene will then compete against the Top 5 in the World Standings from 2023 at The American Rodeo held at Globe Life Field in Arlington, TX on March 9, 2024.

Tayla Moeykens and Dash Of Blue Sky Clean Sweep The Montana Circuit Finals

By Britany Diaz

Tayla Moeykens dominated the Montana Circuit Finals held at the Four Seasons Arena in Great Falls, MT on January 11-13. Moeykens and her horse, Dash Of Blue Sky, better known as Blue, won Round 1 with a time of 12.86 seconds for $2,628. They ran a 13.02 in Round 2 for the win and another $2,628. The duo was the only team to run sub 13 second times and did it again in Round 3 with a 12.93 second run, adding another $2,628 to their earnings and clean sweeping their circuit finals. Moeykens finished three runs in 38.81 seconds to win the average and another $3,942. She was crowned both the Montana Circuit Year-End Champion and the Average Champion.

Moeykens rode three different horses in her quest to win the circuit title; JM PocketsDoubleDash, known as Lizard, KN Fames Best Yet, she calls Yeti and Dash Of Blue Sky. Although it was a team effort, she chose to run Blue, her 18-year-old mare, in the difficult set-up in Great Falls. "Blue had off most of the summer due to an injury. We were in Arizona, and of the three, she was running pretty strong. With the difficulty of the pen, we figured that with her age, Blue would handle it the best," said Moeykens about her decision on who to run. "The gate is on the right side of the arena, so we technically were running straight at our first barrel, making it hard to get that pocket. It is a crooked, small 12-13 second pattern. Blue is a push style horse and runs so hard between them. She really handled the situation great."

A tough pattern wasn't the only thing that made the circuit finals hard for the qualifiers. Temperatures plummeted to negative 40-50 degree windchills. "We had to keep the horses happy and warm. You had to watch them to make sure they kept eating and drinking. We took them in the barn to warm them up, but before we could take them back out, we had to make sure they were completely cooled off. We even had a heated blanket for Blue. Worrying about the run, was only at that moment," shared Moeykens.

Moeykens, the Three Forks, MT cowgirl is no stranger to the winners circle. The 21-year-old, has three circuit finals qualifications. Although this was her first Circuit Finals Champion Title, she was also the 2021 College National Finals Champion Barrel Racer aboard Blue. In 2023, she was the College Reserve National Champion on Yeti. She has so much confidence in her equine team and is so thankful for them.

Jaime Fowler and TR Blazin Ta Cash Shine at First Frontier Circuit Finals

by Hope Raley

Jaime Fowler and TR Blazin Ta Cash clenched the average at the 2023 First Frontier Circuit Finals held in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and punched their ticket to the NFR Open this upcoming summer. TR Blazin Ta Cash "Blaze" owned by Ricky and Summer Moomau is an 8-year-old gelding by Blazin Jetolena and out of TR Double Cash by Texas High Dasher- making him a maternal brother to NFR qualifier TR Dashing Badger aka Dolly.

Fowler jockeyed three horses this past rodeo season to help get her to her 7th circuit finals -TR Blazin Ta Cash, Heavenly Sight, and KN Corona With A Twist.

The barrel racers of the First Frontier Circuit Finals were met with a challenge at the start of the season when their most traveled and popular rodeo of the season, Cowtown, decided not to sanction the barrel racing with the Women's Professional Rodeo Association, which in turn dramatically affected barrel racers plans and rodeo circuit count. "Most people adjusted their schedules and made a point to go to the Painted Pony in New York more," explained Fowler. "We went about every other weekend, and we were met with great hospitality and great friendships-old and new."

A few of the rodeos that Fowler won to help her get to her seventh circuit finals included a few wins at Cowtown and Painted Pony-a win at Goshen, Connecticut, Fair Hill Rodeo and Kellettsville, Pennsylvania.

Fowler's goal going into the finals was to have safe and clean runs, but instead TR Blazin Ta Cash said 'hold my beer'! She and "Blaze" placed fourth in round one, won round two with the fastest time of the rodeo- and placed second in the third round. Their total time on three runs was 42.40- which secured them the average title ahead of Jodi Colton who ended up winning the year end title.

When asked what Fowler enjoys most about rodeoing in the FFC, her response was the "PEOPLE". "The contestants are so supportive, friendly, and fun. Our stock contractors have awesome

Hudson Bolton makes IPRA History while Thigpen claims title of IPRA's Winningest Cowboy

Hudson Bolton (Milan, Tennessee) etched his name in the IPRA (International Pro Rodeo Association) history books this afternoon in Guthrie, Oklahoma, completing a sweeping surge in the standings to win the 2023 IPRA World Championship.

The 17-year-old bull rider joins a short list of athletes to win the world title and Rookie of the Year honors in the same season. Bolton was the lone athlete in four days of competition to reach a perfect 4-for-4 atop his stock. He capped off his final performance in a tango with Ever Ready to be awarded 86.5 points behind Reid Arnold's (Henning, Tennessee) 87.25. He finished his season with more than $79,705 in earnings.

Tanner Phipps (Dalton, Georgia) stood atop the podium on finals night after keeping his reign as IPRA Bareback Riding World Champion courtesy of his $43,845 earnings. Despite Lane Elsenpeter (Fairland, Oklahoma) winning rounds one and two, Phipps locked in the win after a tightly contested world title race, which separated the No. 1 and No. 2 positions by less than $2,000 during round two. Phipps completed at 60 IPRA events in 2023 and held the No. 1 position throughout the IFR.

Justin Thigpen (Waycross, Georgia) continued to further his stronghold on the IPRA history books and overtook the top position on the all-around leaderboard after raking in $79,120 in earnings. The Georgia native grasped two more event titles, good for 25 record-breaking IPRA World Titles, making him the winningest cowboy in IPRA History.

In steer wrestling, the battle to the No. 1 spot never came down to a buzzer-beater moment as Thigpen and Traden Anderson (Hanna, Oklahoma) World Championship race unfurled in the final round. The top spot decision was down to the final round, as Anderson and Thigpen's earnings were only a narrow $2,400 apart going into the round. Ultimately, the now 25x IPRA World Champion Justin Thigpen captured the world title after he led the pack in round four with a 3.8-second time. Thigpen wrapped up his 2023 steer wrestling earnings with a total of $30,535.

Thigpen firmly locked in his sights of holding onto the title of reigning IPRA Steer Wrestling World Champion after a landslide steer wrestling win with $30,535 in IPRA Winnings. He placed fifth in the final round behind West Smith's (Emmet, Arkansas) 8.60.

Heath King (Leicester, North Carolina) and Stephen Britnell (Knoxville, Tennessee) ended the evening with the gold buckle, each finishing the event with over $45,000 in earnings. The pair broke the barrier in the final round, handing Wyatt Allen (Dadeville, Alabama) and Adam Plyler (Pageland, South Carolina) the victory on the fastest night of competition after they logged a 4.10. King/Britnell never relinquished the coveted top spot throughout the IFR, distancing their lead by more than $12,000 at one point.

Riding an incredible post-season wave of momentum, Joe Farren (Cottondale, Florida) capped a dominant season by winning the IFR54 to be crowned the 2023 IPRA World Champion in what was one of the most ferocious saddle bronc championship races in organizational history. As the IFR54 got underway, Farren delivered a 79.5 performance in Round 1 atop Crazy Alice and stayed consistent throughout the weekend, not placing lower than sixth. Despite being outscored by Kody Rinehart's (Rienzi, Mississippi) 82.5 in round four, Farren was untouchable in the standings and ended his IPRA season with $46,250 on championship Sunday.

Kyla Matthews (Athens, Tennessee) made waves in the breakaway roping as the reigning world champion twice tied the IFR arena record for the organization's 54-year history with a lightning-fast 1.9 seconds. The 9x IFR qualifier stopped the clock at the record-breaking time on Friday night and Sunday. She was once again crowned the IPRA World Champion in 2023; the impressive Tennessee native would become the first roper in history to claim the honor of a two-time consecutive Breakaway World Champion. She pocketed nearly $40,000 in the 2023 season.

Julie Plourde (Chicoutimi, QU) was crowned the 2023 Barrel Racing Champion. After logging her second IFR visit, she came into the event as the No. 1-ranked barrel racer, and her jaw-dropping 16.524 push through the Lazy E Arena on Night One solidified her world title. Even with Emily Stiles' 16.422 Round Four win, Plourde ran away with the title after extending her $58,000 coming into the event to $61,509.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Two of my friends bought me a vacuum for my birthday. One that goes all by itself! I named it Rosie after the Jetson's maid! When I pick her up, it's like picking up a turtle. Ya gotta watch out for the legs going so they don't scratch you!

She works really hard for me. I really appreciate her! It made me think about what the Bible says about the Holy Spirit being our helper. John 14:25-28. Now, He is our "helper", not our "doer". He will not do our praying for us. He will not do our giving for us. He will not be doing all the work. We cannot lay in a hammock and direct Him all over the place so we don't have to get our lazy selves up and get to work!

No. He comes alongside of us and assists us in what we set our hands to do. I was doing the dishes while Rosie was vacuuming and my job became so much easier.

God loves us and He doesn't want us toiling. His yoke is easy and His burden is light. Matt. 11:30. God is so good! He is the best help ever! I'm thankful for that.
