Julie Thomas & The Cool Zippy Zevi Capture Second Straight IPRA Championship

By Tanya Randall

Julie Thomas of Ranger, Georgia, and her great gelding The Cool Zippy Zevi ("Amos") won their second straight International Professional Rodeo Association Barrel Racing World Championship at the 52nd Annual International Finals Rodeo, held January 13-15 at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma. They collected $33,676 to win the title.

"It's a great association," said Thomas, an assistant principal at Calhoun Primary School. "They have a great Finals. It's just a lot of fun."

Thomas first bought her IPRA card four years ago when she noticed that most of her local open, amateur rodeos were co-sanctioned with the association. She's made the IFR the past three years.

"We just have so many rodeos around here that co-sanction that I don't have to travel very far," she said. "I think the farthest I traveled was like four hours."

Thomas, a four-time Southeastern Circuit Finals qualifier in the WPRFA and the 2019 Circuit Finals Champion, said being able to rodeo close to home is really important.

"I'm an assistant principal and with a pandemic going on it's really hard to take off work," she explained. "Our work is double with the pandemic. I'll still go to some Southeastern Circuit Rodeos but I'll definitely make these (the IPRA sanctioned) because I can make them on Friday evenings. I can get there and not be killing myself getting everywhere. Maybe one day I can change what I'm doing but right now what I'm doing really works with my job."

Thomas and Amos went into the IFR leading the standings with $27,453 won during the season and added $6,222 from an IFR Reserve Championship.

They won the opening round with a 17.377 from the top of the ground.

"The first run I wasn't super confident," she admitted. "I hadn't run him in about a month and the last run I had made on him was on a 12-second pattern. That's obviously not a 12-second pattern! I was a little nervous about it. Being the first out, you just don't know. Last year we ran high 16s and low 17s, so when I came out of the pen with a 17.3, I thought, 'Gosh, I wonder where I lost all my time?' Well, then I realized they changed the pattern a little bit and I ended up winning the round! I was a little happier then! He was just really super solid and consistent. He doesn't like to hit barrels."

THE RUNDOWN w/Julie Thomas

The Cool Zippy Zevi, "Amos", 15.1, 1,100 lbs.

BIT: Sherry Cervi short shank gag with a twisted wire mouthpiece

SADDLE: Coats

SADDLE PAD: Relentless 1" with the fleece

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine on front. "He doesn't really like back boots, and we just try to make him happy."

SHOEING: Plain shoes

FEED: Purina Strategy with ReNew Gold

HAY: Homegrown grass hay with a little bit of alfalfa. "He gets very little alfalfa. He doesn't tend to handle it very well."

SUPPLEMENTS: Equinity

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Back On Tack when hauling.

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: "Through the week, I long trot and lope in the pasture 20 minutes a day. I don't ever work him. He doesn't require that anymore. If we've been off for a while, I will slow work him, but really he's to the point where I have to exercise him throughout the week."

THANK YOU'S: "My family, my boys Tate and Logan, my work family and my biological family. I have been flooded with texts and calls of support over the last couple of weeks and you just can't do this without it."

In the second round, they dropped to 11th on the ground and turned in a third-place time of 17.546.

"The second run he just went in there and made the same little run,” she said. “We might have got by our barrels a little bit, but like I said, he was just super honest.”

Their third run, a 17.621 from sixth on the ground, was their slowest run.

“I might have messed him up a little bit trying to help him at the first,” she said. “We about got the first going into it, which threw me behind. I finally caught back up with him by the third barrel! Again, he took care of me.”

Even though she didn’t place in the third round, Thomas knew she was likely to clinch her second championship with a clean run in the fourth and final round. They finished third in the round with a 17.337.

“The last round I was really worried about being the last one out,” she said. “It’s not always ideal to be last on the ground, but he really fired and worked hard. We ended up having our fastest time of the weekend, so it all worked out for the best.”

Amos, a 16-year-old gray gelding, carried Thomas to every penny of her IPRA earnings. The gelding bred by late WPRA member Linda Gail Stewart, Amos is by Zippy Zevi Dasher out of her 1992 AQHA Senior Barrel Racing World Champion The Cool Shadow, by Cool Dott.

Thomas and her dad, Handley Driver, purchased the gelding as a 7-year-old with the intention of flipping the gelding. However, once Thomas and Amos started clicking at the rodeos all intentions of selling him vanished.

“I’ve had him 7 and ½ years now,” she explained. “I bought him right after he turned 7. We spent about a year going to barrel races working on a little gate issue and getting our confidence built up. I started taking him to rodeos and he really seemed to take to that. He loved that even more than barrel races, so I’ve pretty much rodeoed on him since then. He loves the crowd, the energy, the excitement. You take him to a barrel race and he’s like ho-hum and doesn’t fire as hard.

“Amos is a unique horse. He truly loves his job and gives me 100 percent every time. I’m very thankful to have him. I hope the next one coming up has as much heart and try.”

Thomas said she plans to continue with the IPRA rodeos in 2022.

“I’m going to try to go to some circuit rodeos, but our circuit is so huge that I’m going to try to pick and choose,” she said. “He’ll turn 16 this year. I’m not going to limit his hauling but I’m going to be more mindful of how many miles we put on the trailer.”

Wendy Chestnut & Sun Frost Merridoc Capture International Finals Rodeo Championship

By Tanya Randall

Wendy Chestnut of Poultney, Vermont, and her talented 12-year-old mare Sun Frost Merridoc (“Lucky”) bested the field of 15 to win the Barrel Racing Championship at the 52nd International Finals Rodeo, held January 13-16 at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma. The victory was worth $7,556.

“It was just a really fun, enjoyable IFR this year,” said Chestnut, a four-time IFR qualifier. “I had a really good time and met a lot of great people.”

Chestnut and Lucky placed in every round en route to the aggregate championship. They were second in the first and fourth rounds, placed fourth in the second and third in the third with times of 17.490, 17.553, 17.349 and 17.334, respectively.

“She’s pretty good in big pens or little pens,” said Chestnut, a former corporate businesswoman. “That’s a pretty big pen. The first barrel is nearly halfway down the arena from the chute (alley) and the chute’s pretty long too. She handled it all very well. She stayed consistent and focused the whole time. She just did her thing like she normally does. It was pretty cool.”

Chestnut found Lucky in a pen of young horses at Pond Hill Ranch. The local horse dealer, and rodeo producer, had brought them in from Nebraska. Bred by Judy Gracey, Lucky was by the Frenchmans Guy son RNJ HeckOfAFrenchman, a National Finals Rodeo and Canadian Finals Rodeo sire, out of RNJ Ellen, a granddaughter of Merridoc through his son Corrad.

“Knock on wood, she’s been pretty consistent and strong from the time we hit the rodeo circuit five or six years ago,” said Chestnut, who wanted to thank her sponsors for their continued support.

Together, she and Lucky also have multiple qualifications to the First Frontier Circuit Finals Rodeo and won both the FFCFR and year-end titles twice, in 2016 and 2019. They've represented the First Frontier at the National Circuit Finals Rodeo four times.

Unfortunately, the IFR and FFCFR overlapped this year. "That was tough," said Chestnut. "We didn't know until the end of the rodeo season that the IFR overlapped the First Frontier. I knew the IFR was—they had their dates out early, but the First Frontier didn't post theirs until almost the end of the rodeo season. If I had known First Frontier was going to overlap, I would have focused more on the IPRA."

Chestnut finished third in the IPRA Standing with $24,760 won on the year. Thanks to co-sanctioning, she doesn't have to travel very far to get qualified for the IFR. In fact, she went to less than 10 rodeos outside of her normal circuit American Pro Rodeo Association circuit of the Painted Pony Rodeos in Lake Luzerne, New York, and Pond Hill Rodeos in Rutland, Vermont.

In 2022, Chestnut said she'll likely focus more on the IPRA rodeos.

"It's hard for me because I usually run three rodeo circuits (IPRA, APRA and WPRA)," she explained. "Up north where we are, the American Pro Rodeo Association co-sanctions with the International Pro Rodeo. That's not a big deal because I can hit one rodeo and hit both associations. I also usually run the First Frontier Circuit for the WPRA. I think I'm going to travel a bit more for IPRA rather than First Frontier. I think it will be a little bit easier on both of us to focus on one thing rather than a bunch."

In the meantime, Chestnut will be wintering in Florida. She's got her adult children coming in this week for a family vacation, and she also plans on seasoning a young horse at the jackpots while Lucky gets a little break.

Back-To-Back Wins In Buckeye For Bugni and JL Roc Lost A Sock

By Britany Diaz

Mark Bugni and JL Roc Lost A Sock, owned and raised by Jill Lane Quarter Horses, are no strangers to the winners circle at the South Buckeye Equestrian Center in Arizona. The duo secured the championship title at the $25,000 added Greg Olson Memorial 2D Futurity on January 14-16, just one week after claiming that same title from the $25,000 added MVP Futurity. This win is even sweeter for Bugni, as it is his second consecutive win at the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity, winning it in 2021 aboard VF NFL Draft, owned by Fulton and Trina Murray.

Bugni and JL Roc Lost A Sock won the first-go of the Greg Olson Futurity with a blazing 17.193 and placed second in the second-go running a 17.221, which finished them in the top spot in the average. The duo also won the Tomorrows Legends sidepot worth $3,750, the Triple Crown incentive worth $1,374, $4,000 in the slot race and $825 in Future Fortunes for placing 4th in the open 1D, making their accumulative total close to $20,000 for the weekend. This team has added a total of $38,629 to their career earnings in just a little over a week at the South Buckeye Equestrian Center, putting JL Roc Lost A Sock at $56,041 in life-time earnings just a couple months into the 2022 futurity season.

It takes hard work and recognition of talent to develop a winning team. Bugni and Lane, both Montana natives, have been friends for years. They first knew each other as competitors and have developed a lot of respect for each other. Lane got Bugni to come to Arizona for the first-time, not only in his barrel racing career, but in his lifetime, in 2021. It was in Arizona that Bugni and JL Roc Lost

A Sock 'Mo' would meet and start their winning journey together.

"His dam, Reddy To Rebound, is a full Thoroughbred by Red out of a daughter of Snowbound. I trained her to futurity, then sent her to Rachel Myllymaki to compete on her," says Lane. "I sent the mare to the racetrack at the age of two and she started to bow a tendon, so we brought her home, gave her six months off, then I started her on the pattern. She went to the juvenile that year, as she caught on to everything so fast. The mare and Rachel had quite a bit of success the fall of their futurity year." Jill remembers that the mare was very annoying when she cycled, so she bred her to her stallion, JL Sirocco by Dash Ta Fame. "She was obviously pregnant the fall of her futurity year, but still made the finals in Gillette and some others. She ran a sub 17.1 second run while in foal with JL Roc Lost A Sock, therefore; he was running barrels literally before he was born. The biggest thing is that this mare was so tough and wanted to do so well, that I swear she could have been crippled and two-legged and she would still go out there and try her guts out. She was just honest. She had a big heart, was so gritty and tried so hard. She was going to give it her all every time she competed, I could feel that", says Lane.

JL Roc Lost A Sock showed promising signs of greatness at an early age. Lane said, "When he was born, the way he moved, he was basically all leg and so correct. The way his back legs swung up underneath him, I knew he was a special colt. When he started to fill out, he was very mature for his age and just had a presence about him. Mo was hard to halter break, as he was so big and strong, but he figured it all out fast." Bill Fischer, the same colt starter that started the infamous, Louie of Lisa Lockhart's, started Mo. When Lane started Mo on the pattern, the two started to clash in a few areas. Bugni, who was staying with Lane, saw how frustrated Lane was with the gelding, and decided to get on him to see what he could feel. He rode him a few times and by the last day, before he handed Lane the reins, Bugni told her, "this colt needs to be in my barn." This was relieving for Jill as she knew he had it, but didn't know what she was going to do with him.

Bugni saw the same ability in Mo. Bugni knew he could excel in the big arenas as he had already exhibited a 17.1 on a standard in Oklahoma. "I knew he was capable of it, as he had already done it and at that time wasn't running at full speed. I didn't know he was capable of a 16.7 (the duo's time in the second round of the MVP Futurity), laughed Bugni, "but I knew he could hang with the best of them."

"It's kind of one of those feelings that doesn't sink in for awhile," Bugni said about his back-to-back wins at the MVP Futurity and the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity. "I think in a month or two, I'm going to be amazed that I actually did that. It feels really good to actually come out here and be making money, rather than spending it. It's one of those things where it gives me more excitement about what the rest of our year is going to be like, more than just this individual moment. It's always good competition here. Amazing horsewoman from up in the Utah and Idaho area and from all over do not make it easy on you. If you're not on your game, they are going to outrun you. It makes me proud to be able to run with them.

Running Mo two weekends in a row in the same arena did not seem to affect the geldings performance. Bugni acknowledges, "You get to that point with colts when they start to get anxiety, but I honestly did not feel a difference with him. You expect them to start anticipating and start to worry about the run. The only difference I felt on him was the second weekend he was a little hesitant when I started to make my round into the alleyway to start his run, but it didn't carry over into his runs." He described the geldings actual competition runs as rock solid and calm and feels like they came out of the two weekends with a more confident horse. "He seems like an old horse. He does not act like a rattled futurity colt. Solid as a rock in every way, shape and form."

Not only did Bugni win back-to-back weekends, but he also won the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity for the second year in a row. "It feels good! Every time you win a futurity, you think, 'Can I win it a second year in a row?', 'Can I do it again?', and nine times out of ten you can't. Maybe even tougher odds than that. It is fun. Next year I will come back here thinking, 'Can I do it a third time?' I hope to have something trained up to be that competitive again. It's more of a personal challenge. It's fun to have that challenge and that claim to fame.", says Bugni.

With the Royal Crown coming up February 13-20 at the South Buckeye Equestrian Center, lots of barrel racers will be making their way to Arizona to run on a standard set. There is no doubt that Bugni and JL Roc Lost A Soc will be a force to be reckoned with. Bugni was kind enough to offer tips of advice for those making the trip. "Last year, my friend John Ressler and I came out here three days before the first futurity. We literally had five horses that we ran and none of them were able to break the 18-second mark. We came home wondering what we could do. I think it was just settle-in time for the horses. The next weekend they were running low 17-seconds. It is an adjustment for the horses, so they do need some time to settle. Get out here early enough to get you and the horses settled in. It also takes courage from the rider to learn how to run on a standard pattern. You have to be brave enough to actually chase into a turn. I also suggest getting here for a jackpot. It's a different feel, it helps to get more confidence for both the horse and the rider." Bugni feels that the ground holds a firmer base than some futurity arenas do. "Some horses like it, while others do not. I don't see many horses slipping or sliding on it." You can find jackpot listings on The Classified Horse site in Arizona.

"I don't aim directly for a standard pattern, but I'm not afraid of a standard pattern. A lot of people don't like the standard patterns because you don't get on them very often. Being from the Montana and North Dakota area, we have a lot of standard patterns. I grew up running on a lot of standards. When it comes to running these colts, you know exactly what your horse is capable of each time," Bugni shared about his confidence on the large pattern.

Bugni is no stranger to the winner circle. He has been training barrel horses for years. He credits his mother, Lynn Hastings, from Dickinson, ND for instilling the love of horses into him. His father, John Bugni, from Montana, taught him the importance of the release of pressure when it comes to breaking colts or training barrel horses. This was a huge key to his success now and understanding the feel for horses. Bugni took private lessons from Judy and Rachel Myllymaki to learn the foundation he uses to train his barrel racing horses. He has added his own techniques to it over the years.

Many of Bugni's horses have graduated from his program and have gone on to be rodeo winners. JL Fourtafame, JL Lava Roc, Casino Perks, Dirty Dan Stinson, MNV Let Me Run, JL Third Times A Charm, My Famous Lady, BT Buddy Stinson, IR A Grand Victory, BB French Moon and many more. It is a true testament to the talent of Bugni. JL Roc Lost A Sock will be looking to join the list after his futurity season with Mark.

Brittney Barnett Sweeps Montana Circuit Titles, Wins Finals With Chicks Keen O PocoPoo

By Tanya Randall

2020 National Finals Rodeo qualifier Brittney Barnett swept the Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo, held January 13-15 at the Four Seasons Arena in Great Falls, with her gritty Paint mare Chicks Keen O PocoPoo. The $11,213 payday was enough to jump her to No. 1 in the 2021 Montana Circuit Standings.

"I thought that was pretty cool," said Barnett, a California-native now residing in Stephenville, Texas. "I still don't believe it. I'm still in shock over it. I knew she could do it but you always have doubts. I just thought we were going to hit a barrel. That's usually my luck." This was Paint's first time in the tiny confines of the Four Seasons Arena. When she qualified for her first MCFR two years ago, she ran her mare Frenchmans Pick ("Pei").

"She just loves it," Barnett said of her 15-year-old mare. "I thought she would and I guess I was right. (The arena) is just so awkward and so tough. I was pretty excited to take her there."

Paint, a daughter of the Paint stallion Mr Dominator, out of the Quarter horse mare Stylish Chick Olena, by Dix Chic Olena, swept all three rounds with times of 12.98, 12.94 and 12.97.

"They were really fun," Barnett said of her runs. "I'm just in shock that she was THAT consistent. They literally were the same run three different nights in a row."

Barnett was especially grateful to have three clean runs.

"Usually by the third run we're hitting a barrel," she added.

Although she claims Stephenville, Texas, as her home, Barnett lives in Montana during the summer so she designated it as her circuit.

"All their rodeos are in the summertime so it just made more sense to claim up there since we're there the whole summer," she explained. "They have such good rodeos. All their big rodeos count to circuit standings, where like with Texas, the big rodeos don't."

She rode three different horses to qualify for the MCFR.

"I think my circuit count was 27 at one point and I think I went to a few more," she said. "It wasn't even until late September that I was going to make the circuit finals. I was borderline not making it."

Barnett went into the MCFR fifth in the standings with $8,137. Maggie Polonic, who will be joining Barnett at the NFR Open (formerly RAM National Circuit Finals) in July, had a commanding lead with $16,275.

"Maggie had such a big lead," Barnett noted. "I didn't know it was possible to catch her until I'm in the warmup pen the third night and the girls were like, 'You have a chance.' I was like, 'No, I don't. The money's not there. I'm just going to go around the barrels like I've been doing.' I still didn't think I won it and I'm standing out in the arena and they give me both buckles and tell me I won yearend. I said, 'I think you have that wrong.' I went out to the circuit director and she said, 'We calculated it three times. It's correct.' I just wanted to make sure because I still didn't believe it." With the circuit finals counting toward the 2022 WPRA Standings, Barnett now sits No. 4 in World.

"I think it's great that it counts for 2022," said Barnett, who is currently competing in Denver and has Fort Worth at the end of the month. "I think that gives me a pretty good jump to the winter rodeos. To win $11-12,000 at one rodeo is a big deal. That's like summertime rodeo money. I'm pretty excited about it."

Christina Mulford & PanamasCharlieHarly Sweep First Frontier Circuit Titles For Second Straight Year

By Tanya Randall

The amazing PanamasCharlieHarly carried Christina Mulford to dual First Frontier Circuit titles for the second straight year. The 22-year-old super horse carried his Franklinville, New Jersey, jockey to a clean sweep of the First Frontier Circuit Finals, held January 13-15 at the PA Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, for earnings for $9,703.

"He's just amazing!" said Mulford. "People ask me when he's going to retire and I always say, 'He'll tell me when he's ready. He doesn't have crazy maintenance. The vet always says I can't believe the condition he's in at his age for the sport he's in. He's just absolutely amazing. He is without a doubt a once in a lifetime horse. I'm so thankful for every day I just get to go out and swing a leg over him.'"

Owned by Joe and the late Judy Merola, Harly is by noted East Coast barrel horse sire Panama Edition out of Special Triangle, by Hawkin's Special (TB). He had already been to the First Frontier Circuit Finals with their granddaughter Amanda Lloyd and Lorraine Bytheway before Mulford took over his reins in 2016.

Mulford had gone to Judy Merola seeking help with the horse she was riding at the time.

"I was running a yellow horse at the time," Mulford explained. "I was always just out of the money. If they paid four, I was five or six. If they paid eight, we were 10 or 11. I asked her if I could come over and have her watch me to give me some insight. A few weeks after going over there to ride with her, she and Joe approached me and said, 'Gray's just sitting in the field doing nothing. If you want to hop on him and get him going, go right ahead.' After a week or two of that they said they wanted me to run him."

They had a couple of bobbles when they started.

"The first time I took him to Cowtown, I went to go across the pen to the second and he was having no part of it," Mulford chuckled. "He would not get over for me. We went right to the fence on the left side of the second. We went to a couple of jackpots after that just to get ourselves a little better figured out. He's just been a rockstar since."

The Cowtown Rodeo in Woodstown/Pilesgrove, New Jersey, just 35 minutes from Mulford's home, was their bread and butter during the season.

"He loves Cowtown," she said. "We placed super well at Cowtown. This year, we went to Levant, Maine, and he placed well there.

We also went to Cumberland, Maine, which we hadn't gone to before, and he won one night there. Our main season is Cowtown, which is luckily in our backyard."

Mulford and Harly had $12,919 won before the start of the circuit finals rodeos, where they simply dominated, winning the average by nearly a full second.

"Our first run, I noticed they had moved the pattern just a touch closer to the alley, so we didn't have as far to go," she explained. "That was just a smart, safe first run to get a feel for it. The next two nights we just did the exact same thing."

This was the third time that Mulford and Harly won both the finals and year-end titles, having won in 2017, 2020 and now 2021. They were the year-end champions in 2018.

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: "We have a large field out back that we have a half-mile lap around. We just go out there and trot it, maybe lope sometimes. It's mainly keeping him fit. He knows what his job is. He doesn't need tuning and drilling. So, we go out there, weather permitting, as often as we can and long trot around that. He sets a comfortable pace and just enjoys looking at everything.

"I try to keep him mildly going the whole time, and just before we really get going I try to get on him just about every day, even if some days is just going out for a trail ride, walking. I feel he likes to work. I think if I leave him out he feels neglected. If I leave him standing for a few days, he's standing there at the gate every time I come out to do something."

THANK YOU: Harly's owner Joe Merola, her boyfriend Brian Frattaroli, her parents Amy and Sandy Jess, Skip and Cheryl Johnson, "magic fingers" Rob Wright for Harly's occasional chiropractic care and Jennifer Singleton who nebulized Harly at the circuit finals.

The American Rodeo Schedule Announced for 2022 - Tickets On Sale

In anticipation of The American on Sunday, March 6 and to determine the field of competitors that will take to the dirt at AT&T Stadium for the iconic event, top rodeo athletes from qualifier events across the country will arrive in Texas to compete the week prior at preliminary and semifinals events at the famed Cowtown Coliseum in the Fort Worth Stockyards.

Acquired by Teton Ridge, The American is a true open competition format bringing together top professional rodeo champions and honest, hardworking cowboys and cowgirls in a winner-take-all showdown, meant to crown the finest talent the world has to offer.

From the preliminary rounds beginning on Feb. 20, the top competitors will advance to the Qualifier Semifinals and then will compete in Friday night's new "Contender Round" Finals for a chance to move on to AT&T Stadium and their chance to become a champion, earning what could be the biggest single-day paycheck of their careers.

The Top 10 athletes who make it to 2022's final field on Sunday will be eligible for their discipline's $100,000 prize money and will also have their shot at the bonus millions.

also introduce new changes including quarterly challenger classifications, a point scale for the world championship race, and new exemptions.

The Triple Crown of Rodeo event will be held in Fort Worth, Texas May 16-18 and will award a $750,000 guaranteed payout with equal money in all four disciplines.

The organization announced that World Championship titles will be crowned in all disciplines (heading, heeling, breakaway roping, barrel racing) from both the Pro Leaderboard and the Challenger Leaderboard. Athletes will still be competing for the $60,000 Event Champion title, and the All-Around World Championship will be awarded based on total points earned from the combined pro and challenger leaderboards.

"With the introduction of both the Pro and Challenger World Champions awarded at this event, we are taking significant step in tiering the sport," said WCRA President Bobby Mote. "Athletes can earn a championship against peers at multiple skill levels. This is an element we will continue to focus on for the future of the sport."

According to Mote, the competition format update allows them to crown World Champions in both the Pro and Challenger ranks based on total regular season points earned as well as the bonus points which are available at the WRWC. They will also offers a high stakes payout in a "sudden death" format, in the Triple Crown of Rodeo round of competition and create a sports media product that is simple and presents well to fans on television.

In 2021, the WRWC CBS Network broadcast drew in over 2.3 million viewers.

Throughout the 2022 WRWC segment (Oct. 4, 2021 – Apr. 17), Pro and Challenger athletes will accumulate points from their efforts in the Virtual Rodeo Qualifier (VRQ) and those points earned will then be combined with the new 2022 World Points breakdown that will be awarded onsite for the WRWC Qualifying Rounds, Semi-Final Round and Aggregate.

The new 2022 World Points breakdown can be viewed HERE.

The Showdown and Triple Crown rounds occur after the World Championships have been awarded. These rounds will not be included in the cumulative points for the 2022 World Championships.

Each event Champion will walk away with $60,000 while the All-Around Champion will earn a $20,000 cash bonus. WRWC will also award each World Champion a $5,000 bonus per discipline per leaderboard along with a Jessie Jaymes Silversmith world champion buckle.

The WRWC also announced that Challenger Classifications will be updated quarterly. Athlete earnings in barrel racing and breakaway roping will be reviewed at the end of each yearly quarter to verify classification status. If an athlete is promoted out of the Challenger Leaderboard, the athlete's total points and any Qualifier Series generic qualifications in that discipline will be moved to the PRO Leaderboard.

All team ropers will be required to show proof of their classification. Any roper classified as a #4.5 or less is eligible to compete as a Challenger.

WRWC is a culmination of a leaderboard race of rodeo events worldwide for female rodeo athletes at both the Pro and Challenger levels. Athletes can qualify by nominating their rodeo efforts and earning points for the 2022 WRWC leaderboard positions using the VRQ (Virtual Rodeo Qualifier). Athletes have until April 17, 2022 at 11:59 p.m. to nominate and earn points.

Athletes ranked in the top 20 of their respective leaderboard and any athlete with a Qualifier Series generic qualification and the Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo Outside Qualifiers are eligible to enter the event.

Up to six Qualifier Series events will be held for Segment W22 per leaderboard while The Bill Pickett Invitational Rodeo series will also receive an invite in Barrel Racing and Breakaway Roping (one per discipline).

Athletes can visit wrwc.rodeo or contact support@wrwc.rodeo.

Young Guns Shine at Fort Worth's Cowboys of Color Rodeo

The Cowboys of Color Invitational Rodeo presented by T39 Telemundo highlighted Monday's action at the 125th edition of the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo (FWSSR).

Held in the state-of-the-art Dickies Arena, the event features African American, Hispanic and Native American athletes competing in traditional rodeo events from bronc riding to roping. The culturally diverse event takes place annually on Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Colton Burkhard, who lives in Ivanhoe (population 1,454), was the biggest money winner. The only bull rider to complete an eight-second ride, Burkhard scored 73 points on Rafter G Rodeo's bull Superstition and earned $5,000. The young cowboy is just three years removed from competing in the junior steer riding at the Texas Champions Challenge in Fort Worth.

The toughest event of the day was steer wrestling with five of the eight cowboys clocking times of 5.0 or faster. Grady Payne of DeLeon, a member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association who has won rodeos across the country, was the fastest of the herd, winning the event with 3.7 seconds.

Another young gun, Koby Douch of Huntsville was the first tie-down roper of the day. None of the other ropers were able to catch and tie faster than Douch's 11.4. Douch finished 13th at the 2021 National High School Finals Rodeo and at age 13 made a comeback from injury that would have been difficult for any adult. In July of 2018 he was hit from behind by a distracted driver while riding his bicycle, breaking two major bones in his left leg, crushing the major artery in that leg and losing part of an eyelid. After more than six months of working hard at physical therapy, Douch was back in the roping box.

Other winners were Trevor McCaslin of Glenpool, Okla., in ranch bronc riding; Avontus Williams of Terrell in junior bull riding and Liza Shannon of Kilgore in barrel racing.

The rodeo also featured youngsters competing in mutton busting, the always popular calf scramble and the Escaramuza group of Hispanic women riders in traditional Mexican charra dress.

The event closed with an exhibition of "bull jumping" by Emmanuel "Manu" Lataste of France, who springs from the ground and does a flying summersault over a charging Mexican fighting bull.

Lataste says he does a special kind of French bull fighting and jumping. In French, the name is 'course landaise' which is a mix between French bullfighting and pure 'Spanish' bull jumping or leaping.

The Cowboys of Color Rodeo, founded by Cleo Hearn, brings cowboys and cowgirls of all races and cultures together for events which help fund scholarships to assist young competitors in attending college.

The Fort Worth Stock Show and Rodeo continues through February 5 at the Will Rogers complex. Tuesday is Dickies Day at the Stock Show when those wearing Dickies apparel receive free grounds admission. The first night of the popular Bulls' Night Out – PRCA Xtreme Bull Riding begins at 7:30 p.m. in Dickies Arena.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

It's the little changes in life that can make a difference. For instance, if you substitute water for a soft drink, you can diminish your calorie intake substantially. It adds up. Walking up the stairs instead of taking the elevator can produce good health benefits. Since there aren't many elevators around here that I know of, that decision gets made for me! LOL!

How you talk. How you pray. The words you use. Proclaiming healing, in Jesus' name, is powerful. Damning anything using God's name produces nothing. He is not the damner. The devil is.

James 3:2-13 shows us how our mouth can get us into trouble, or turn the tide for good. I'm leaning to good!

As we get closer to the coming of our Lord Jesus, I'm more convinced than ever that our future is in our own hands. Our ability to choose good or evil for ourselves affects our future.

It's a blessing to be able to pick good. To do the right thing. When we do, there is no remorse. Peace resides in us.

What a great place to be! Have a blessed week!
