Hanssen Finishes Strong in Greg Olson Slot Race

By Hope Sickler

Hallie Hanssen and French Streakin Jet captured the Slot Race Championship at the 2016 Greg Olson Memorial while also placing in the futurity and the open to capture a checks totalling $25,549.

French Streakin Jess or "Jess" is a 5-year-old red roan stallion by A Streak Of Fling and out of PC Frenchmans Flirt who is a full sister to Frenchmans Guy. "Jess" is owned by Tom and Barb Westover. Jess is a full sibling to several very successful barrel horses, many of which were also ridden by Hanssen, including French Streaktovegass, French Streakofbling, and French Streaktorodeo.

French Streakin Jess & Hanssen had warmed up last weekend by placing in both the Slot Race & the Futurity of the Classic Equine Futurity and they were ready to win the the big money in the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity Slot Race.

"During the first round of the Greg Olson Futurity, I felt like he was having a little ground trouble. He really likes to drag his butt around the barrels and it felt like he was sliding more than usual during that run. In the second go, he handled himself better and it all worked out. He tries so hard and is really fast," explained Hanssen.

Although Hanssen has many prestigious victories on her resume, this one was not one of them until this year.

"This was the first time that I have won the slot race at the Greg Olson. In the last few years, I have been getting into the slot races more and this was one was sure an honor to win. There is always a very tough group of horses in Arizona and to come down here during the first part of the season and run a 17.1 on a standard set is a great feeling!"

If French Streakin Jess is anything like his full siblings, he should get better as the year goes on and Hanssen should have that great feeling all year long.

A Sharp Win for Montgomery

Jolene Montgomery needs no introduction. She is the queen of the futurity industry and proved yet again why she is one of the best this past weekend when she captured the Greg Olson Futurity Championship title aboard the flashy gelding, MCM ImaSharpGuy. MCM ImaSharpGuy is a 4-year-old grey gelding by A Sharp Frenchman and out of the great mare, Mulberry Canyon Moon, who also needs no introduction. "Sharpie" as they affectionately call the very inquisitive gelding is owned by Matt and Bendi Dunn.

Montgomery and "Sharpie" made two solid runs during the Greg Olson Memorial which sealed the deal for them. Their two runs of a 17.395 in the first go and a 17.452 in the second go gave them a total time on two of 34.847-seconds.

"Sharpie" came to me in the fall of his 2-year-old year and he

Gold Buckle Matches set for Feb. 10 in San Antonio

RFD-TV announced today a series of matches between some of the most decorated cowboys and cowgirls in history.

On Feb. 10, a dozen individuals will saddle up at the San Antonio (Texas) Rose Palace armed with the skills that have earned them 54 gold buckles in professional rodeo. They'll compete head-to-head for exemptions into RFD-TV's The American, presented by Polaris Ranger, on Feb. 28. There, they'll have a shot at winning $1 million!

The network already announced an epic match for an exemption that day between tie-down roping legends Cody Ohl and Fred Whitfield, using different score lengths and different-sized calves. The two have earned 14 world championships between them. And that same day, Feb. 10, there will be three other big timed-event matches at the same venue.

Rope Myers, 46, won the gold buckle in steer wrestling in 2001 and has wrestled his way to $1.2 million. Myers, who has been hosting steer wrestling camps and clinics, told Justin McKee recently, "I can still slam 'em." He will match Lee Graves, 44, who earned two world titles (in 2005 and 2009) and has earned $1.6 million.

"It's go time," said Graves. "I've been shoeing horses and ranching in Canada, so maybe I can cut back on that and make some money I know how to make."

Also, world champion barrel racers Lindsay Sears and Kelly Kaminski will face off, likely with the requirement they'll each ride two different orses. Kaminski won two world titles back-to-back in 2004-05, and Sears was the world champ in 2008 and 2011.

And the match in team roping could be the most talked-about, ever. It pits a round-robin-style format among six legends who own a staggering 32 gold buckles, including headers Jake Barnes (7), Speed Williams (8) and Tee Woolman (3); pairing with heelers Allen Bach (4), Rich Skelton (8) and Walt Woodard (2).

Get your tickets to the Gold Buckle Matches in San Antonio by calling (817) 599-7681. For more information, visit SARosePalace.com or AmericanRodeo.com.

And to buy your tickets to the American Semi-Finals in Fort Worth, Feb. 17-21, and/or The American in Arlington on Feb. 28, plus the PBR's Iron Cowboy on Feb. 27, call Ticketmaster at (800) 745-3000 or visit www.ticketmaster.com.

A New Wrangler Champions Challenge

The Wrangler Champions Challenge, presented by Justin Boots, is entering its third full season on the ProRodeo calendar with an expanded schedule, and a slightly amended format.

CBS Sports Network will again broadcast the tour, delivering 90-minutes of high-def coverage of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association's best contestants competing on the sport's best stock.

The eleven teams will include seven Sponsor teams and four Rotational teams. The Sponsor teams will be partially drafted and partially filled by rotation as follows: From the top fifteen eligible contestants from the year-end 2015 PRCA and/or WPRA World Standings each Sponsor team will draft two (2) franchise contestants from any separate events they choose and also randomly draw two additional event contestants, giving them a total of four drafted contestants. These four contestants will participate in all 2016 Champions Challenge events for the team that drafted them. The remaining three contestant positions will be filled by each team, prior to Rotational Team selections, based upon the remaining top eligible 2016 PRCA and/or WPRA World Standings 30 days prior to each Champions Challenge rodeo. For only the Rapid City and Scottsdale Champions Challenges, these contestant positions will be based upon year-end 2015 PRCA and/or WPRA World Standings. The Coors team will be allowed to draft all seven contestant positions, will keep the same team members all season and will not be subject to the above requirement to rotate team members. The four Rotational Teams will have all contestant positions filled by the next highest unselected eligible contestants in the PRCA and/or WPRA 2016 World Standings 30 days prior to each Champions Challenge rodeo.

The prize money payout is $16,000 per event at each of the Wrangler Champions Challenge events with a $400 appearance fee going to each contestant from that payout. With the first-place award of $3,944, this is among the highest of any of the PRCA's one-go rodeos.

Salt Lake City, UT was added to the 2016 Wrangler Champions Challenge lineup this year (see schedule below).

2016 team sponsors include Wrangler, Justin Boots, B&W Trailer Hitches, RAM, Coors Banquet, Experience Kissimmee, Las Vegas, and ProRodeo Gear. The teams drafted their roster during a draft on Friday, January 15, 2016 (Complete draft roster listed below).

Team standings will be kept and a champion crowned after the Wrangler Champions Challenge Finale this fall.

The made-for-TV series has a wide geographic spread with 9 events, plus a Finale in the fall set in 10 states, from the season opener in Rapid City, SD, all the way to Kissimmee, FL.

thing special with him. He had a lot of his mother in him which I loved. I was fortunate enough to run "Mulberry" a few times, and being able to feel a lot of her in him, was such an amazing feeling," explained Montgomery.

Rolling into the 2016 futurity season, Montgomery took "Sharpie" to the BFA and ran him in the juvenile.

"We were a little shocked that it didn't go better at the BFA, just because "Sharpie" rarely ever made a mistake in an exhibition or ride time. We had high hopes going into the BFA but we think he got a little scared and had to gain confidence in himself before he could really shine. I knew it would only be a matter of time and he would get it."

As it turns out, the corky gelding needed only a few more competition runs before he felt confident in himself and his jockey. After a couple runs in Arizona, Montgomery could feel the gelding gaining the confidence he needed in order to lay down some extraordinary runs.

"During the Classic Equine Futurity (the weekend before) he worked well but I felt like he was really going to come on in the next week. In the first round of the Greg Olson Futurity, he worked pretty straight forward. He was real catty and working the entire run but got a little tight around the third barrel to where I had to lift my leg," Montgomery said.

With how close they were to hitting a barrel in the first round, Montgomery wanted to make sure "Sharpie" was a little freer in the second round.

"During our warmup, I just loped big circles and made sure that he stayed pulling on me. I wanted to make sure that he was going

The new dynamic duo not only placed in both rounds of the futurity and won the futurity average but also claimed 4th in the slot race, earning another $5000 on their resume.

“We love coming to Arizona for these futurities. I love the big, standard patterns and love the arena. It also doesn't hurt that 99.9% of the time, the weather is beautiful and a nice break from the colder temps at home. It is a great environment; very relaxed and very well organized.”

Emotional Victories for Kruse and Knerr at Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Lindsay Kruse and Heather Knerr both had an emotionally charged Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo in Great Falls over the weekend.

Kruse, Winston, Mont., had just lost Lenas Mijo Dulce (“Harley”) due to complications from an injury at swimming facility earlier in the week.

“He was one of the strongest horses,” said Kruse of Harley. “He never ran on Bute or anything. He was just so tough. He was only 13.”

Kruse bought Harley as a 7-year-old from multiple Canadian Champion and National Finals Rodeo qualifier Deb Guelly. Bred by Triple W Ranch of Kittitas, Wash., Harley was by Pobre Dulce out of Lenas Country Bar, by Lenas Heavy Duty.

“He qualified for the circuit finals four years in a row,” she said. “This would have been his fourth year. I never won a yearend title on him. Three years in a row I was reserve. Last year, I had a $6,000 lead but I couldn’t compete because I was pregnant. I think he would have had a good shot last year if I hadn’t been pregnant. This year, he won it.”

Without Harley, Kruse was forced to ride her young gelding Ninnekahs Guy (“JJ”), whom she bought from Tami Semas, Brock, Texas, last October. Bred by Bill and Deb Myers, St. Onge, S.D., JJ is a 7-year-old gelding by leading sire Frenchmans Guy out of the Ninnekah Bug mare Ninnekahs Lucky Girl.

“He had no rodeo experience until the last couple of weekends,” she said. “I could have leased a horse for the Finals, but I had to figure out what would benefit me in the long run and that was running my own. He did pretty well. It was a lot thrown at him because our circuit finals is one of the hardest that I’ve ever got to run in. It’s just awkward. It’s a tight pattern and it’s easy to tip barrels in there.”

JJ, who made his pro rodeo debut at the Colorado versus the World Rodeo in Denver, stayed solid and placed Kruse third in the average for $1,685.

“The first run he was a little leery of things because you have to run into the crowd,” Kruse said. “There were bulls in the alley and steers at the third barrel. He looked around, but he still clocked. By the second and third round, he was still a little leery but he opened up a little bit more. He was consistent. I was really happy for him, being a baby and having never really been anywhere but derbies and futurities.”

The yearend title also gave Kruse some much needed closure, feeling like she and Harley had finally complete their goal of a circuit championship.

“I knew I couldn’t go in there and win a round, but I wanted to win it for him,” she said. “It was like the last bit of him. Now I feel like I can move on. I feel like he deserved every bit of it—not myself—he did it.”

“I’m trying to remember the good things and move on. It’s like a death in the family. I think if I wouldn’t have had JJ I would have just sat in the house and pouted. JJ's given me the courage to go. If I hadn't have had him, I probably wouldn't have even wanted to go look at another horse. He's my little Godsend."

Kruse said she's leaving for Texas next week. She qualified for the American Semifinals and she plans on seasoning JJ.

"I'm just going to enter up," she said. "He's not to the point that he's ready, but we'll enter San Angelo and a couple of smaller Texas ones, and go from there. We aren't going to pressure him. He's got so much speed that he doesn't even quite know how to handle it yet. I just let him go his speed and he still clocks. That's the plan for the first half of the year, just let him pick his pace and build his confidence and then maybe start asking for more at the end of the year."

Kruse's husband Jesse, the 2009 World Champion Saddle Bronc Rider, also won his event, but will be out possibly eight months due to reconstructive knee surgery. Coupled with the loss of Harley, the Kruse family has had a big change of plans for 2016.

"We both had different plans for ourselves this year," said Kruse, who wanted to thank her sponsors Lithia Chrysler Dodge of Helena, Silver Lining Herbs, Rocky Mountain Equine of Billings and Poppyseed Boutique of Helena. "We were going to go a little bit harder and now we're back to square one. I had never tried to make the NFR with Harley and that was the plan this year and I was going to season JJ along the way. Now I just want to get to Texas where it's warm and season my horse."

Heather Knerr of Grass Range, Mont., and her homebred Sparkin Jetolena ("Sparky") got their MCFR Championship after finishing second a year ago to eventual RNCFR Champion Carmel Wright and Sweet Heart Special. The victory helped her push past some recent personal hardships.

"It was a God thing," said Knerr, who wanted to thank her family for their support. "I was not feeling strong and God was there for sure."

Knerr, who is an accounting major at the University of Great Falls, where she also serves as the assistant rodeo coach, said Sparky's free-running style also helped in the close confines of Pacific Steel and Recycling's Four Seasons Arena.

"Even though he's a bigger horse, he had an advantage in that little pen because he always keeps running," she said. "Most horses get pretty scotchy, but he's great for the average because he stays free. The third round, I ran to the fence on my first barrel, but that was my fault."

Sparky, 10, is by leading barrel horse sire Blazin Jetolena out of The Rage Of Vegas, by Vegas The Third. The Rage Of Vegas was Knerr's youth rodeo horse.

"I think I got on her when I was like 10 or 11," she said. "She was the trial. I had to figure how to train one and how to ride one, and she was my lesson horse. I definitely won a lot on her, but I learned a lot too. I think I do a lot of things better with the horses I have now."

Knerr said the mare was also very free, so they were hoping that Blazin Jetolena would add some rate and cool temperament.

"Sparky has a little bit better mind than her," she said, "but he is just like her. He sounds like her. He acts like her."

Luckily, Sparky didn't inherit his mother's tendency to buck.

"We weren't sure if he would inherit his mother's bucking or not, but when he was 2, you could ride him around bareback with a halter," said Knerr. "He's never really tried anything."

Sparky earned his way into the arena when Knerr's high school rodeo horse got hurt.

"My junior year of high school my barrel horse cut her leg right in front of her hock so she had to have stitches and be casted. I didn't have anything else. He was 5 and that's when he started getting seasoned. I took him to Barrel Of Gold Futurity and he didn't do anything there and then I took him to the Roper Rally Futurity in Gillette and was sixth on him there."

The two spent the last couple of years in Texas on the college rodeo circuit.

"I did good here and there," she explained, "but he wasn't consistent yet. It's taken him a lot of time to mature and for us to figure out how to keep him feeling good. This year he started getting more consistent where I could count on him."

On The Money Reds dominate First Frontier Circuit Finals

By Tanya Randall

Jennifer Barrett and Nicole Yost will head to the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Kissimmee, Fla., courtesy of their fleet-footed On The Money Red-bred barrel horses.

Barrett, formerly of Saratoga Springs, N.Y., borrowed the Designer Red gelding LR Designerwood (“Maverick”) from Blake and Traci Monroe of Griffin, Ga., to win the First Frontier Circuit Finals Rodeo, held in Harrisburg, Pa. Yost, Rice’s Landing, Pa., finished second in the average to hold on to the yearend title with Red Hot Peso, a solid Paint gelding by Red Hot Pursuit.

Bred by Bob and Mary Lee of McAlester, Okla., Maverick is out of Miss Cowboy Lady by Cowboy Drift.

Barrett, a radiograph technician, had first borrowed the gelding from the Monroes back in 2012 when she got the opportunity to go the national circuit finals rodeo in Oklahoma City. She had purchased the horse she rode to her first FFCFR qualification back in 2002 from Traci and had built a friendship with her through other horse deals.

“She was a connection I used when I had people looking for horses because I trusted her,” Barrett said. “I knew she had an eye for horses, especially for futurity horses that might make rodeo horses, and I trusted her opinion.”

Barrett won the first 300-plus entry barrel race she entered with Maverick back in 2012 and hit a barrel to advance at the national circuit finals rodeo, but she hadn’t ridden the gelding since.

To qualify for the circuit finals, she rode Zevolene, a 14-year-old gelding that took her to the FFCFR last year, and King Olena Cat, a 10-year-old mare. Both horses came from Doreen Ulery of Mount Pleasant, Pa.

“The gelding does better on deeper footing, so I ran him at Cowtown (Woodstown, N.J.) and at the rodeos that I did well on him the year before,” Barrett said. “I ran the mare where he didn’t do so well, or if the ground was really slick or mud. He doesn’t like to slide. He likes the ground to hold him. Of the money that I won, I won about half of it on each one. I won seven checks on him and seven checks on her. It was a team effort to get me there this year.” When she and her husband, Dusty, a rodeo clown and saddlemaker, moved to Buhl, Idaho, this past fall, Barrett knew she wasn’t going to haul a horse back to Pennsylvania just for the FFCFR, so she called Traci again.

“We knew there was more money added this year, but we knew it wasn’t worth dragging one of my horses back there with the weather and everything,” Barrett said. “I had to make a decision if I was going to come back and have fun or try to take myself to the next level. Being that our circuit had added so much more money this year—even though I went in 12th in the standings, if I had won the first round, I would have moved to first in the standings. Basically it was a clean slate once we got to the finals. It was anyone’s game.”

Even though there was the possibility to win the yearend, the average was Barrett’s sole focus. She got things started by placing second in the round, running on the bottom of the ground. “It’s a little different setup,” she said. “The angle to the first barrel is a little different than what Maverick’s used to, but I’ve been there 10 times so I knew it was a funny angle. I had always had a good first barrel there so I wasn’t worried about that. Traci was a little worried, but I wasn’t. We got by the first a little and kind of lost our way a little at the second and had a super third and ended up second in round. That took me from 12th to second in the standings the first night.”

In the second round, they were first out, running in reverse order, and were able to set an arena record.

“Maverick was very happy to have top of the ground,” she said. “Maverick had a road map for the second night. He knew where they were and we had an almost flawless run.”

For the third round, Maverick was little weary, but Barrett knew she just needed a “business run” to stay in the hunt for the average. “I’m such a drawing fool,” she laughed. “I drew 12th in the round. We were just out of the money. He buried up a little harder than I would have liked him to at the first, but we got around it. He made a nice clean run, but he didn’t fire as hard as he did the first two nights, which was fine. It was almost like he knew exactly what we needed to win the average.”

Barrett was quick to applaud the tractor man and grounds crew for making the footing even for everyone.

"Our tractor man Mike Rhineer has tried every year to get the ground right for us," she said, noting Yost and her horse Red Hot Peso broke their previous arena record in the first round of the FFCFR, "and I don't know what he did different this year, but the stars aligned and it was the best footing we have ever had at the circuit finals. It was fair top to bottom and in the middle. The Pennsylvania high school kids also raked after each one of us and that was above and beyond appreciated by all of us."

Knowing that this was her 11th and final FFCFR before becoming a member of the Wilderness Circuit, made the New York native a bit emotional.

"I was little nervous on Thursday night, knowing that I had the horse power and the only thing standing between me and Kissimmee was me," she said. "There was a little bit of pressure on my shoulders that I needed to rise to the occasion. I didn't let myself down, and that was a big thing for me. A lot of times, my head gets in the way and I didn't let it happen to me this year at circuit finals. I knew I wanted to go out with a bang, and I did. I'm blessed and humbled and so appreciative."

Barrett wanted to thank her "village" for their support: Blake and Traci Monroe—"I don't know what I would do without the two of them," Doreen Ulery, her husband "for putting up with me and all these barrel horses that we're feeding," her circuit director Eileen Lang, saying "When I was having a tough time during the year, she kept my head on straight. I needed a kick in the butt a couple of times. I had few friends that I think had more faith in me than I did myself a couple times this summer. They really made the difference."

In March, Barrett will fly back to Georgia to meet back up with Maverick for their second appearance at the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo.

Nicole Yost of Rice's Landing, Pa., won her second First Frontier Circuit Championship, thanks to the solid performance of her 13-year-old gelding Red Hot Peso, a solid Paint. She and Peso finished second in the average at the FFCFR to hold on to the yearend title.

Bred by Freespirit Farms of Ocala, Fla., Peso is by Red Hot Peso, a son of On The Money Red, out of the Indians Image mare Indian Passion. Yost purchased the gelding from Michelle (Hicks) Moore of Morgan Mill, Texas, as a 5-year-old.

"Peso was the one I won all my money on this year," said Yost, who wanted to thank her sponsor Formula 707 for giving Peso a little extra "umph." "I want to say I went to 18 rodeos up there (in the First Frontier Circuit). I didn't go really hard, but I had to go to enough to get in (the circuit finals rodeo)."

She said one of her bigger wins on the year, which helped her have confidence returning to her circuit, was in Arcadia, Fla.

"That was pretty exciting because I didn't think I could compete with the girls down here. My first weekend back in the circuit, I won Augusta and Cowtown. I won a few Cowtowns and picked a long at everywhere else."

Yost, and her husband Justin, a team roper, split their year between Pennsylvania and Florida, so they'll already be down South for the RNCFR. They decided to designate the Southeastern Circuit as their home circuit so they could pursue other avenues back in Pennsylvania.

"We switched because we didn't want to go so hard when we got home," she explained. "We just got done building our place and we want to have barrel races and team ropings over the summer. We knew if we designed First Frontier we'd rodeo all summer rather than enjoy being home."

at Royal Vista Southwest.

This has been her home,
in some way or another,
for over 13 years.
Not sure how long before we can talk about her without watery eyes.

Time will certainly change tears into smiles when remembering all she gave to this industry.

She lived a great life and was loved and admired by many.

She was family.

She touched so many lives in her almost 22 years.
A phenomenal athlete
in the barrel arena, she quickly became a proven producer as well.
Her legacy will continue to impact the barrel arena with her offspring including the great, young sire Epic Leader.

We are thankful to Kelly, Gilmar, Vitor and Wilson for trusting us with her care over the years.

Thank you, Fiesta....

The Great Firewater Fiesta Laid to Rest

by Hope Sickler

On Saturday, January 16th 2016, the barrel racing industry lost yet another unforgettable athlete inside the arena and one of the top producing mares in the breeding industry, Firewater Fiesta. By legendary sire Fire Water Flit and out of the Mighty Wild mare Mighty Windy, Firewater Fiesta was bred by Dick & Jan Yates, and born on May 21, 1994. The 21 year old mare was not only a phenomenal athlete on the barrel pattern but a blue hen broodmare as well.

Firewater Fiesta and Kelly Yates were one of the greatest barrel racing teams of all time. Firewater Fiesta carried Yates to three NFR qualifications in 2000, 2001 and 2003. In 2001, Yates and Firewater Fiesta were crowned the WPRC Reserve World Champions and Firewater Fiesta was also crowned the PRCA/WPRC Horse of the Year in 2000 and 2001.

Firewater Fiesta had over $800,000+ in career earnings. After a terrible fall in 2001 during the first round of the NFR, Firewater Fiesta took a year off where she was rehabbed and was brought back to the arena in 2003. However, injuries forced her into retirement at the very young age of 9-years-old. It was heartbreaking to many, but no more than to the mares best friend and pilot, Yates.

Firewater Fiesta has already produced several hundred thousand dollars of earners to date, including Epic Leader, Credit To Fiesta, Fiesta Del Rey, Go Figure Fiesta, Janos Rascal, Fiesta Royale to name a few. Her many outstanding offspring have already made a huge impression in the industry and will carry on her legacy for many years to come.

Many people were touched by the loss of this great mare. She touched the lives of everyone that she encountered, in person, and on T.V. She and Yates shared a bond most of us could only imagine.

Firewater Fiesta was laid to rest at Royal Vista Southwest in Purcell, Oklahoma.

The industry will never forget the impact that Firewater Fiesta had on barrel racing and our condolences go out to all of her connections.

*The Barrel Racing Report would like to extend our condolences to the Yates family.

Well broke, proven 1D/2D Mare For Sale

11 year old APHA Sorrel Mare, 15.1 hands

DOOZI OF A DREAM

by Dr Meter Reader si 91 out of I Dream of Dixie (APHA)

- Solid 1D/2D Money Winning Mare.
- Jackpot WINNER - smooth easy style, solid in the alley
- Qualified to JB Quarter Horses Futurity Finals as a 5 year old.
- FUN & easy to ride and she loves her job.
- Great attitude and work ethic.
- She is well broke, soft in the bridle & moves off your legs.

I have run her most and she has also been ridden by a 12 year old at jackpots, she is not for a beginner but is gentle and solid. Doozi will fit a quiet but assertive type rider. She has been worked on poles and is ready to haul but we've not put her on the clock.

We've ridden Doozi in the pasture as much as the arena. She's been hauled around quite a bit but never hard. She is currently being hauled.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

A few weeks ago I talked to you about quitting, and how we don't ever quit. Since that time, it seems God has been speaking to me about fighting, quitting and having victory.

On Tuesday night, Mike was preaching about the "good fight of faith", I Timothy 6:12. You know what a good fight is? The one we WIN. And if you ever have "WON" anything, you know there had to be a fight or challenge that preceded that victory.

I was raised a little.....rough. When I was 13, my dad decided he needed to teach my brother and me how to box....ya, I know. Kinda odd. But since I was constantly fighting on the school ground anyway, I'm sure he figured I might as well get better at it. I was trying to remember if I had ever lost a fight. Two. One of them was after school at the swing set and two girls ganged up on me and beat me up. When I got home that day, my mom saw me and asked what happened. After I told her, she loaded me up in the car and back we went to the school yard. They were still there. She said, "I'll watch this one while you take care of the other one." And I did.....twice. My parents were tough.

The second fight I lost was when I was 14. I didn't hear about testosterone until later, but I know it was a huge factor in that loss. I had been fighting boys and girls my whole short life. But the day I got in a fight with Mike Bennett and he hit me in the mouth, I received an attitude adjustment. Never fought another guy.....

There are fights in this life. Some are just plain dumb. Some are brought to us by the devil and those are the ones that we need to win.....every....single....time. And the promises that God has given us to ensure victory are: Ephesians 6:11 - 17. These scriptures talk about the armor of God that we wear. 2 Cor. 2:14 says that He always causes us to triumph!

I look back sometimes and laugh. Conflict resolution in my family was "whoever is still standing, wins." I have learned a better way. It's God's way. It's about loving those who hurt you and praying for them. I will not lie. Sometimes I want to revert back to those old ways, but like everything else I have learned from Him, I know that when I will do it HIS way, I'm a happier, better person. You will be too!
