Pedone & Solid Red Socks Capture Greg Olson Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

Veteran futurity rider and trainer Ryann Pedone, Decatur, Texas, found herself back in the winner's circle with Shoppa Ranch's Solid Red Socks ("Welma"). The duo topped the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity Slot Race with a 17.134 on a WPRA Standard Pattern for $20,000.

"She's just a really cool little mare," Pedone said of the 5-year-old mare. "She was last on the ground at 150. She lost her footing a little at her second barrel and she really just gritted up. When she turned the third barrel, I picked up my whip and went to hustling her home. I knew it was going to be fast, but I didn't think it would be that fast on the bottom of the ground."

Of the six futurity horses Pedone has for 2015, she has raised four of them including Welma. The daughter of BHR Frenchies Socks is out of Pedone's former barrel horse Red Flashin Money, by On The Money Red. Incidentally, while Welma was wining the slot race in Arizona, Red Flashin Money was winning a youth rodeo in Texas with Jayci Byler.

"She's just a really gritty, kind, all-business, non-clingy, non-emotional," Pedone said of Welma. "If you're going to war, she's the sniper you want to have behind you. She's a really cool little mare with a big heart. She has a little bit of that On The Money Red look to her, but she has a prettier head. When you look at her, she wouldn't be the one you'd pick. She's cute as a button, but you wouldn't look at her and say she's got a big motor."

The mare was one of her favorite 3-year-olds and was pointed to the 2014 futurities until she nearly died from a neurologic illness in October 2013.

"Whatever it was, it was really severe," said Pedone. "She was dog-sitting, couldn't walk. They thought she was going to die."

Dr. Justin Gardner, who was interning at Outlaw Equine at the time, was charged with treating the mare. "He spent a lot of time with her and genuinely cared," said Pedone. "She was a pain to treat too." Pedone also enlisted the help of Dr. Peggy Fleming, a holistic veterinarian from Florida, who sent a remedy for the mare.

By March 2014, Welma was strong enough to return to training. Rather than try to salvage her 4-year-old campaign, the Shoppas and Pedone decided to hold her to the 5-year-old futurities.

"When I got back on her," said Pedone, "she worked really cute, but I didn't know if that ordeal was going to take a little bit out of her. I had her entered in the BFA, but I really didn't spend a lot of time on her because I was concentrating on my 3-year-olds."

Welma ended up a tenth or two out of making the cutoff for the Futurity Finals on her first two competitive runs in Oklahoma City. At the first futurity in Arizona, Welma proved she could shut the clock off.

"I didn't give her enough credit on her comeback," said Pedone.

"I should have been more in tune to that. I'm pretty excited about the year. I'm very appreciative for all the 5-year-old futurities that go on, just for that reason. This mare has a chance to win a lot this year and she wasn't a late bloomer; she was deathly ill."

Pedone was also appreciative of Shoppa Ranch's continued support.

Semas Rides Three of the Top 4 at the Greg Olson

By Tanya Randall

Her peers have taken to calling the 2015 Greg Olson Memorial Futurity in Buckeye, Ariz., the Tami Semas clinic. The barrel racer from Prineville, Oregon, won the Futurity with Guys Best Bet ("Bet"), owned by Harry LaToush, Scott City, Kan., placed third and fourth with her two personal horses—Smooth N Famous and Guys Amberetto, respectively.

"I'm really happy with my horses worked and how consistent they were," said Semas. "I'm really thankful to be riding such nice colts."

Semas' total earnings for the Futurity were $23,445. Bet's share was $8,349, while fourth-place finisher Guys Amberetto was the high-money earner with $10,048, thanks to a fourth-place finish in the Slot Race.

Her futurity champion was bred by Bill and Deb Myers and purchased by LaToush at their 2013 Production Sale for $56,000. Bet is by the legendary Frenchmans Guy out of Addicted To Cash, a full sister to leading barrel horse sire Dash For Perks. Addicted To Cash is by Dash For Cash out of the Easy Jet mare Perks. Incidentally, Bet's full sister via embryo transfer, Set Me Free Guys, also placed eighth in the Greg Olson Futurity with Nikki Steffes.

"She ran really nice and smooth," Semas said of Bet. "She has a really smooth style. She does things pretty easily, effortlessly. Real quiet. She ran a 17.3 the first day and I was really happy with it. She came back and ran a 17.1 and I was just tickled with it. I was just really happy with her."

Her third-place finisher Smooth N Famous ("Perkins"), a 4-year-old gelding by A Smooth Guy out of FC Peachfuzz Ta Fame, by Dash Ta Fame, was an $18,500 purchase as a 2-year-old from the 2013 Myers Sale.

"They've stuck with me," she said. "I had a really bad year in 2014, and I really appreciate them sticking with me. They're great people to work for."

Pedone also wanted to thank her farrier Sid Meyers, veterinarian Dr. Cliff Honnas, Dr. Justin Gardner for treating Welma, Classic Equine and Jaye Johnson as well as Jolene Montgomery for asking her to be a part of the special clinic last Wednesday, her father Lee Pedone and Dr. Don Lee for their support, and Celsey Rather for helping her in Arizona and Raney Nelson for taking care of the horses at home in Texas.

"I have to thank all my family and friends, who continued to support me, after having such a rough year last year," said Pedone. She also want to give a special thank you to Alan and Wendy Parker, who started her on this barrel racing journey so long ago. One of the highlights of her dismal 2014 was getting to spend the Mega Race in Jackson, Miss., with the Parkers shortly before Wendy Parker passed away.

"He's not a very big horse," said Semas. "He has just been so consistent. He placed last weekend at the Classic Equine (Futurity), fifth in the average, fourth in the first round. I came back on him this weekend and placed in both rounds and placed third in the average. He's really gritty and tries really hard. He's got a cool style."

He's also really quiet. Just loves his job."

Perkins earned $5,048.

Semas' fourth-place finisher Amberetto was purchased from the Myers. Amber is a 4-year-old Frenchmans Guy out of Amber Holland, by Holland Ease.

"The first futurity, I tipped my first barrel leaving it to run a 17.1 on her and I was just really excited. I knew it was there," noted Semas. "The first go round of a Greg Olson, she ran a 17.2 and placed second and placed in the slot race with that .2. My second run I had a little trouble with my second barrel and we were a 17.5."

Ironically, the only horse that seemed to have trouble at the first futurity was Bet, which surprised Semas because the mare had been doing the best of her trio.

"We stumbled the first day and didn't clock," she said. "The second day, I hit the second barrel. I had an off weekend on her, but I knew what I had to dial in on her when I came back for the Greg Olson."

Semas, the mother of two middle-school children with husband Aaron, a former bull rider and founding member of the PBR, started dabbling with futurity colts seriously about six years ago.

"Over the last five or six years, I've had colts, but I've had some unfortunate luck," she said. "I had some colts die on me. I've had things go wrong. I had two colts last year—one that I owned and one I got in the middle of the year. I sold my open horse last year, and I really focused on my colts for this year. I just keep trying to build my 2-year-olds, so I have colts for next year. I really like to train them myself."

The foundation of her program lies with the renowned breeding program of Bill and Deb Myers in St. Onge, S.D.

"I buy all my colts from Bill and Deb Myers so I owe them a lot," said Semas, who has won with Hot Colours, Frenchmans Guy and A Smooth Guy offspring. "Bill's such a horseman. They know their horses. I've gotten comfortable with their program. I really, really like their horses."

With a trio of nice futurity horses, Semas won't return to Oregon anytime soon. She's currently contemplating at trip the LG Pro Classic in Kinder, La., for the $100,000 slot race, which for the first time will allow contestants to name horses at the race.

"I was originally thinking about going to the Patriot Futurity (in Fort Worth) and (the Lucky Dog Futurity in) Texarkana before Diamonds & Dirt, but people have been talking to me about the slot race at Lance's, so I may have to re-route my travel plans," she said.

for the 2015 Fan Choice Exemption Into RFD-TV's THE AMERICAN

A Amberley has already shown her courage by going from a life changing accident to competing against the best barrel racers in college rodeo.

Would you please join us in getting her the rest of the way to her dream by voting for her as the Fan Choice Exemption for The American?

Watch Amberley's story on youtube: <https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=ifBYKUJ61E0>

VOTE at <http://www.rfdtv.com/story/26580579/road-to-the-american-2>

Jeff & I try to pay our blessings forward, so we thought what better way than to help others through our efforts in helping Amberley get voted in! If Amberley is voted as the Fan Exemption to RFD-TV's The American we will donate $25,000 each to Hope Counts & Marcus Luttrell's Lone Survivor Foundation.

Amberley chose Hope Counts, which is the National Little Britches Assoc foundation that provides help to rodeo families who have had a member injured.

We chose Marcus Luttrell's Lone Survivor Foundation which helps wounded services members & their families. Marcus' motto is "Never Quit" and he'll frequently say Seal's are "ordinary people doing extraordinary things."

Seems fitting since that is a good description of Amberley, Marcus is an American hero, this is America's rodeo and he's a Texas boy! Doesn't get any better than that!

Jill Lane's JL Antares Shines Brightly in BRN4D's Run 4 Platinum Coach

By Tanya Randall

Jill Lane's JL Antares was the brightest star of Mike Gammelgard's BRN4D-produced futurities in Arizona. Lane, Fort Benton, Mont., and her 4-year-old mare had the fastest four-run aggregate from the Classic Equine and Greg Olson futurities to win Platinum Coach two-horse bumper-pull trailer, valued at $18,625.

"Kathy Grimes had text me 'Congrats, I think you won the trailer,'" chuckled Lane. "I was getting a horse reset at the time, and text back, 'Don't even say that unless you know for sure!' Another friend text me and said she knew; she had seen the results. I almost started crying. I had never won anything like that!"

As excited as she was, Lane was quick to add, "That was a pretty generous donation—for Platinum Coach to do that. It's great that they have companies like that that will support the barrel racing industry. I can't thank them enough."

Lane's homebred mare, appropriately named after the a red supergiant that is the 17th brightest star in the night sky by Lane's friend and web designer Kitty Herron, is a 4-year-old bay daughter of Red, Lane's NFR siring Thoroughbred. She is out of Delta Doc Star, a daughter of Runnerelse out of Koak, by Doc's Oak.

After growing up just five miles from Jeani Reiman and her great Magnolia Bar son Runnerelse, Lane always dreamed of having one of her own. She met Reiman at a barrel futurity in Belle Fourche, S.D., and ended up taking 2-year-old Delta Doc Star home.

"Delta was one of the first futurity horses that I trained," recalled Lane. "I had been out of horses for 10 years. Everyone could see that she was really talented, but that I was green. I hadn't trained very many colts and I made a lot of mistakes with her. I think anybody that's trained a lot of horses thinks back to the first few horses that they trained and thinks 'if I could just get a do-over,' the things that you would do differently. All I can say is that Antares is so like her dam, it's like God gave me a do-over for Delta. She acts just like her. She moves just like her. She looks just like her. They're identical at that age. It's crazy how they're so similar. I get a chance to not make the same mistakes that I made with Delta."

Antares proved to be a very quick study in the arena.

"When she was 2 and loping the pattern, she was getting bored, so I thought I'd just push her through," Lane remembered. "She laid down a run, and I was just shaking when she was done because I knew what I had...even back then. I was just praying that I wouldn't screw it up by the time I got to her futurity year. She just came on so fast. It really didn't take that much to show her what to do, she just knew it. I think the good ones are like that. They just want to do it."

JANUARY 18, 2015—At the Greg Olson Futurity JL Antares won 3rd place in the 1st Go and $2524, 2nd place in the Average and $2912, plus a Platinum two-horse bumper pull as the average winner of four runs at the Classic Equine & Greg Olson. Thank you so much BRN4D, Classic Equine, Greg Olson Futurity, for putting on such a great production. A big thank you to Platinum Trailers for donating the beautiful trailer. And my biggest thanks goes to my little Antares, she worked her little tail off.

Lane took the gamble and entered Antares in the BFA Juvenile, where she made the first competitive runs of her career.

"I hadn't made any runs on her other than time onlies, so our timing was off and her confidence wasn't there. I basically rode her once between Oklahoma City and Arizona. When I came down here my goal was to make smooth runs and keep the barrels up, because I was hitting barrels left and right at Oklahoma City."

At the Classic Equine Futurity, Lane and Antares found their bearings. They clocked a 17.682 and a 17.875, which finished near the top of the heap, but not good enough for an average check.

"The first go round, it was a beautiful run, but she just wasn't running," Lane explained. "I felt the clock ticking at every barrel. She wasn't snappy on the back side. It was pretty; you couldn't fault it, but I knew it wasn't as fast as she could go. The second go, I figured I needed to ride her harder. Well my adrenalin got up. I was kicking her way too much and way too hard, and I whipped her home. It wasn't pretty. She didn't finish her turns, and the clock reflected that."

For the Greg Olson, Lane backed off and let Antares work.

"When I was warming up I was talking to Ashley Schafer," she said. "We were talking about her A Streak Of Fling and another horse that she was riding. She said I just have to sit there and stay calm because they can feel me getting nervous. I thought about that a lot. That's my whole problem, I don't think I'm that great of jockey because I let my nerves get to me. I train too many colts and I don't make enough fast competitive runs, so my timing is not there. I try to hard and then I get in their way. I thought I've just got to stay calm. My mare's a little hot and she was starting to get a little hyper at the gate. I thought I just want to make a smooth run and not hit a barrel.

"She got by her first a little bit, but she's so athletic she can be out of position one jump and then be right back in position the next. That was just the way her mother was too. We made up all our time on second. She's just like a little deer. She's in and out of there so quick. I didn't think we were going to win anything and then after we turned second I was like 'oh this feels good!' It clocked. It was a .3 and I was happy with it. I would have been happy to get that time for the second go too and not ever have to make it—just be done with it! She found her gears. I guess that was the one good thing about the second go of the first futurity when I whipped her, she did find her gears. She was running a lot harder.

"The second go she got by her first again because she was running so hard, but the rest of the run was just like her first run. She's staying consistent. I'll be thrilled if we could stay like that!"

Their runs of 17.320 and 17.407 were good enough for second in the average and $5,436, plus the Run 4 Platinum Coach trailer.

"Everyone says I rode her well...she just makes me look good," Lane laughed. "You just get one of those that rises to the top and runs in spite of everything...that's her. It's so easy for her. I can't give her enough credit."

Lane grew up in O'Neill, Nebraska and attended the University of Nebraska in Lincoln as an agricultural business major. Right after graduation, she got a position with Merck's animal division and sold Ivomec. One of the requirements for the job was that she move to Great Falls, Mont.

"I didn't know a soul, but I knew I had to get a job, so I moved to Montana," she said. "Sixteen years later, I had 15 to 20 horses. By this time I had switched to the human health division, and I couldn't do both. I was either going to have to sell the horses and focus on my career or I was going to have to take the plunge and get into the horses. So, I took the plunge. I wouldn't say it's as lucrative as my job was, but as I've said before even on my worst day it's what I love to do. A lot of people don't get to pursue their passion like that so I feel pretty fortunate."

Each year, Lane had tried to keep a futurity prospect or two—usually a mare that would return to her broodmare band, but for one reason or another Lane hasn't got to run as much until Antares came along.

"I've never had one that I thought was ready to go to Arizona," she said. "I'm usually foaling by January so I can't go, but this year everything just fell into place. This filly really came on and I don't have any mares due until March. I just thought if there ever was the opportunity for me to go to Arizona and maybe get something done it was this year."

Lane hadn't really even thought of her Arizona trip beyond paying her filly into the futurities. In fact, she didn't even find a place to stay until the week before she left.

"I'm staying with Bobbi June Radford from Canada," she laughed. "It was really nice of her to let me come and stay."

Now, Lane has to figure out how to get her new trailer home and what to do with her talented mare while breeding and foaling season takes over her life this spring.

"I've been visiting with Sam Flannery," she said. "Sam has a slot for Diamonds & Dirt. We were just going to see how she worked at these three futurities and if she did well, I'd see about sending her to Sam to take to that futurity to run. I'm going to try to stay here another two weeks, but I have 50 head of horses at home and I'm due to start foaling in March and I won't be able to go anywhere for a while. I have 18 mares to foal and they're due mostly in April and May. Plus I want to do some embryo transfers and I have studs to stand."

In all honesty, Lane admitted she's "kind of flying by the seat of my pants this year," but she's grateful to have a product of her breeding program do so well in such tough company.

"I was sitting there watching, and they're running 17.1s, 17.2 and 17.3, and I'm thinking Holy God, what am I doing here!" she laughed. "Every year it seems like it gets tougher. Trainers are getting better, and we're breeding better horses. It's definitely being reflected in the number of tough horses out there and the times they're running. I feel honored that I even placed."

Leading The Way

The Wright Way - Carmel Wright Wins MT Circuit

By Hope Sickler

When Carmel and David Wright and their family moved from New Zealand to Montana, they had one goal in mind: to make their name known in the US. Moving from New Zealand, where there name was a household name in the rodeo world, they knew it wouldn't take long for us Americans to know their name.

Both Carmel and David were decorated champions in New Zealand, holding multiple championship titles. Now Carmel can add two more championship titles to her resume when she and her main mount, 12 year old Sweet Heart Special aka Tweety claimed both the year end title as well as the average title at this year's Montana Circuit Finals.

Wright and Tweety ventured out of their circuit a little more in 2014 to test how they would do against the top girls on the road. The highlight of the trip was when they made a run in Cody, WY for a 5th place check with a run of 17.17 and finished their 4th of July run in the top 15 for money earners over Cowboy Christmas. After returning back to Montana after a few months on the road, Wright gave Tweety a well-deserved break before heading to the circuit finals.

"I experienced both the highs and lows of what we do two weeks prior to the circuit finals. We went to a barrel race at Copper Spring Ranch in Bozeman and I ran Tweety and a 5 year old Dash Ta Fame filly, Sassy J Fame that I had planned to futurity this year. Sassy J Fame had some great runs at the barrel race but 5 days after the barrel race and one week prior to the circuit finals, she coliced and we sadly lost her 15 minutes after they performed colic surgery. The next week, Tweety made that bad all not that bad when we had a great weekend at the circuit finals," explained Wright.

Tweety and Wright went into the first round of circuit finals and although they had a couple mistakes, they still ended up winning the round. The second round went much better and they ended up taking two tenths of a second off of their time from the first round and won second in the round. The final round, Tweety was on fire and they won the round again but by this time they won the round by four tenths of a second.

"Tweety just got stronger each and every run. Her strong performance gave us enough to catch Lindsey Kruse's lead to win the year end as well as the average. I should also add that Lindsey was unable to ride at the circuit finals due to adding to their incredibly beautiful family next month so we may have gotten lucky!"

Wright explained that it is very exciting to have her horses feeling so good and she is looking forward for the upcoming rodeos. They will venture south for some winter rodeos and they also have a qualification in the semi-finals for The American in a month.

Wrights goals for Florida is to have good, fast, clean runs!

“All you can do is lay your best run down a see if it stacks up. If I can leave Florida knowing we did the best we could, I will be happy!”

Wright would also like to thank her sponsors- Town and Country Supply, Triple Crown Feeds and CHS.

“I wouldn’t be able to do what I do without my great sponsors. They have backed me for a number of years now and I am very thankful for them,” Wright explained.

Rookie Pottmeyer Tops First Froniter - Attea Secures Trip to Florida

By Hope Sickler

Not only did Alicia Pottmeyer win the Rookie of the Year title in the First Frontier Circuit but she also clenched the Year End Barrel Racing title as well.

“My first circuit finals experience is something that I will never forget the rest of my life. Winning Rookie of the Year was a goal of mine from the beginning of the year but it wasn’t until the last few weeks of the season that I realized I had a shot to win the year end title as well,” explained Pottmeyer.

Pottmeyer noted that if it wasn’t for her fiancé, Zach Kilgus, she wouldn’t have made it as far as she did.

“I was very intimidated and didn’t think I had the horse power to get me there. He and I ended up having a very memorable finals together, with not only me winning rookie and year end in the barrel racing, but he won the year end and the average in the team roping heading and the year end and average in the calf roping as well. He also won the all-around. This made our weekend even more special together.”

In addition to having her fiancé there with her, Pottmeyer’s whole family was there as well to watch and see how everything unfolded. “I was so anxious and nervous the last round that I didn’t even know that they were standing in the alleyway when I was going in,” commented Pottmeyer.

Pottmeyer explained that she is most thankful for the horse that got her these two prestigious titles. Nic Of Shine “Nic” is a 7 year old son of Nic It In The Bud and out of a daughter of Shining Spark.

“He is a little thing, only standing 14.1 hands tall. I have owned him for 3 years now and he will stay with me forever. Seasoning Nic to rodeos his 4 year old year to now, is so crazy to think how far him and I have come along as a team. I can count on one hand how many barrels he has hit in his career. He has the best style and makes the same run every single time.”

Pottmeyer and Nic ended up second in the first and second round of the finals.

“Going into the third round, we were figuring numbers and realized that we just had to make a clean run and get a check to win the year end title. I let my nerves get the best of me and over rode at every barrel but was so happy that we still ended up with an average check that kept me in there to win the year end,” Pottmeyer said. Now that reality has sunk in and Pottmeyer and Nic will be making the trek to Florida, she couldn’t be more excited.

Attea Secures Trip

Buffalo, New York barrel racer, Sarah Attea, and her trusty steed, 19 year old gelding Dash N Sparks by Dash for Perks, will be headed to their second Ram National Circuit Finals but first time to Florida!

“We couldn’t be any more excited then what we are. We are tickled pink,” explained Attea.

Attea and “Sparky” as she affectionately calls Dash N Sparks, were this years’ First Frontier Circuit Finals Average Champions.

“After I had found we had won the average, I cried, for several reasons. There has been a lot of blood, sweat, and tears keeping Sparky sound and feeling good over the year and the amount of people that either called, messaged, or Facebooked me, was overwhelming in a fantastic way! It was warming to see how many people were cheering us on. I am just thrilled that Sparky was able to get his recognition because he sure deserves it,” said Attea.

Attea explained that going into the finals, she knew getting the year end title would be difficult, as fellow circuit barrel racer Alicia Pottmeyer had a $3,000 lead over her and Sparky. Attea knew that if there was any chance of her and Sparky making the trek to Florida, she knew it was going to have to come down to the average.

“The ground in the first round historically has been known to be hard and we were third out. I knew Sparky likes to have something to get into when he runs so my game plan was to let him work and just make a smooth run. We ended up winning the round, even with a little slip around the first barrel.”

In the second round, Sparky got by his first and second barrel, which Attea said was unusual for him. However, they still ended up winning the round.

"After our first two runs, I knew that I needed to do a few things differently before the third round in order to stay clean. I spoke with Kendal Owen and Brandon Cullins about my runs and changes that needed to be made for the third go round. I had a pretty good lead in the average at this point and knew that I just had to make a clean run to clinch the average win," explained Attea. So now that Attea knew what she needed to accomplish in order to make the trip to Florida, she set aside 30 minutes prior to the final round where she was able to visualize the run that she needed to make.

"I knew if I felt strong mentally, that I would be much more prepared for my run that evening. Our run ended up being exactly what it needed to be and got the job done."

Attea also noted that she only ran Sparky at approximately 7 rodeos this past season and he won two of the largest rodeos in their circuit and won or placed at the remaining rodeos she took him to minus one where they hit a barrel.

"He is my once in a lifetime horse. I have owned several nice horses but Sparky is different. I thank God daily for putting him in my life and I hope to have him for many more years to come."

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I have been reading lots of articles written about 2015 from other ministries and it would appear that we are in for a great new year! That really shouldn't surprise those of us who believe in, love, and trust God. He is so good. He has the answers. What answers? The ones to all the questions we find ourselves asking. Those, "Why did that happen to me?" The "Why can't I get this rights?" Those nagging, doubting questions that plague us all from time to time. I doubt any of us are exempt from it. I believe in God. I believe in Him because He has single handedly delivered me from so many bad things. And He has singlehandedly brought me into so much good. How do I know it was Him? Cuz for a whole lot of years I proved to myself that I did NOT have the right answer. I tried to figure stuff out on my own. It wasn't working. So I know it was God who helped me and taught me and loved me and helped me some more.

So going back to the "2015, better this year than last" word that I heard from God. He impressed upon me these words.....How much past do you want to forget? Hmmm. That's a loaded question. Most of my past I would rather never think about again. But there are a few things I cling to. In Phil. 3:13-14 God tells us to forget those things that are behind and press toward the mark of His high calling. If we aren't obedient to do what He says here, we will be thinking about yesterday, when yesterday is gone. And if we keep thinking about what happened, nothing will happen. Behind means looking back, and there is no future in that. So. It's a new year. Let's press forward to where we want to be!
