Kelly Tovar & BB French Fooledya Dominate Texas Circuit Finals

By Tanya Randall

If you want to know how big a problem foot abscess can be, just ask newly crowned Texas Circuit Champion Kelly Tovar. The pesky problems plagued her great horse BB French Fooledya ("Edwin") throughout the season and put a serious damper on her 2015 WPRA season with their ill timing.

"He'd get one in one foot, and I would soak and soak and soak, get it out and be ready to go, and he'd get another in another one," laughed the Rockdale, Texas, barrel racer. "We had over 20 inches of rain in one month. It was just a nightmare. I think when I was in Nampa he blew out his eighth one. He blew out the whole bulb of his foot."

After a tremendous fall and winter, things started going south for the pair in March. Tovar said Edwin's foot problems actually started in Fort Worth, where the gelding overreached badly and tore off his shoe.

"I was making my run and thought, 'What is this? He's coming untrained!' He overreached and pulled off a good chunk of hoof and that started it all. He continued to run and do well, but about Huntsville (in March) something wasn't right. It was just brewing and brewing," she said.

"It was just one thing after another. I think I spent 30 days sitting in the barn soaking one foot after another. It was a daily battle. I spent more time over at the vet clinic in Elgin than the law should allow!"

Tovar was forced to turn out of several good Texas spring rodeos as well as delay the start to her summer run. The time away from rodeo allowed her time to enjoy her son Tucker's last semester of high school and attend his many golf tournaments.

"I was able to be with him and get him off to college," she said, "so I just figured that's what I was supposed to be doing."

Tovar tried to make a summer run, but when she got Edwin and her backup horse off the trailer in Greeley, Colo., both were sore. They limped their way through Nampa, Idaho, and Casper, Wyo., before throwing in the towel.

"It was ridiculous," she said. "I finally thought I've had enough. I said I'm going home. I'm going to take care of Tucker, take care of my horses. I'm done with this. When everyone gets well, I'll start back."

The only problem with two sore horses was Tovar needed to get her rodeo counts in to qualify for the Texas Circuit Finals and the All-American Finals, both in nearby Waco, Texas. She had missed out on both the year before due to a deficient rodeo count.

"I literally had nothing to run," she said. "To get my rodeo count to run at the All-American Finals, I had to get on my old horse. He's like 18 or 19. I had to run him at two or three of them. Thank goodness my mom had at least been keeping him legged up for me. He at least won a check for me at Fairfield."

Tovar was able to leg-up Edwin—a 9-year-old gelding by PC

Frenchman out of Pebbles Kitty, by Dashing Cleat—and make a few rodeos to start the 2016 season, but was overly careful with him.

"I ran him at Liberty (Texas) and the All American Finals. He did good, but he didn't get any money," she explained. Until the circuit finals over New Year's weekend, Edwin just had a single jackpot run at Glen Rose under his belt since October.

“Trust Your Training” -- Champion Cowgirl and Barrel Racing Legend Wanda Bush Passes

By Tanya Randall

Legendary cowgirl Wanda Bush of Mason, Texas, passed away December 29, 2015. She was 84.

One of the most decorated competitors in the history of women's rodeo, Bush had 32 championship titles to her credit. A true all-around hand, Bush was a force to be reckoned with at the all-women's rodeos from 1951 to 1969. Short in stature, but tall in tenacity, Bush won an impressive 10 calf roping world titles.

As a barrel racer, Bush was the Girl's Rodeo Association's Barrel Racing World Champion in 1952 and 1953. She was the reserve world champion barrel racer in 1958, 1962 and 1963. Bush was among the GRA's Top 15 eight times, and she qualified for the full-fledged National Finals Rodeo—the barrel racing and steer roping were held apart from the regular rodeo until 1967—in 1974.

“I think Wanda was the greatest cowgirl of all times,” said former Women's Professional Rodeo Association President, World Champion Barrel Racer and All-Around World Champion Jimmie Gibbs Munroe. “She was so versatile. One year, she won the reining and the calf roping in the Quarter horse show at San Antonio, competing against men. She won championships in cutting. She really did it all. She was a cowgirl in the truest sense of the word.”

Above all, Bush was an exceptional horsewoman gifted with the ability to teach and a willingness to pass it on. She was one of the first barrel racing clinicians and was known for riding each student's horse to gain an understanding of what the rider was feeling.

“She could teach you so much more than just about barrel racing,” said National Finals Rodeo qualifier and longtime family friend Nancy Mayes. “Horse-wise and barrel racing-wise, she taught a lot of horsemanship. If you practiced what she told you and did it religiously, it worked. Wanda taught hard work and that the horse needs work beyond just going around the barrels.”

Mays said Bush had a charismatic way of teaching too that made her well-liked by her students.

“She never made you feel stupid,” Mayes said. “She could tell you that you needed to quit a horse and get something else, but she didn't hurt your feelings. She just had that way about her. She could make you feel good about yourself.”

After decades away from the competitive arena, Bush scored the richest victory of her career when she won the 1992 Old Fort Days Futurity Reserve Championship for more than $28,000. When her daughter was unable to ride after sinus surgery, the elder Bush—who had major back surgery the year before—climbed aboard home-raised Flaming Patrick. It was lauded as one of the greatest comebacks in all of barrel racing.

Although her days in the saddle had long past, Bush still stayed active as a breeder and mentor.

“She always knew what was going on,” said longtime family friend Kenna Squires. “I would send Shanna a video and she'd show Wanda, and Wanda would set me straight. Sometimes, she'd beat me to the punch and call me and let me know what I needed to do before I even had to ask! She kept up with everything.”

Several top horses today carry the bloodlines of her past champions including Dash To The Flame, leading sire Flaming Fire Water, his daughter Shes Free To Flame and Racin For Trouble. Both Dash To The Flame and Flaming Fire Water traced back to Bush's great mare Otoe Glo Miss, through her daughter My Easter Flame, a full-sister to Flaming Patrick. Both Shes Free To Flame and Racin For Trouble go back to Bush's great mare Dee Gee.

Outside the arena, Bush was equally as decorated. She was inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in 1978, the National Cowboy's Rodeo Hall of Fame in 2001 and the Texas Rodeo Cowboy Hall of Fame in 2002. Bush was the first recipient of the WPRAs Coca-Cola Woman of the Year in 1989. In 1998, fittingly for the 50th anniversary of the WPRAs, Bush was deservingly named the WPRAs Pioneer Woman of the Year for her contributions to all-women's rodeo.

“She was very much a leader,” added Squires. “I don't think a lot of people realize how important she was to women's rodeo and barrel racing.”

Munroe said Bush was an asset for the WPRAs from its early GRA days through the fight for equal money in 1980s.

“Aside from the accolades that she won, Wanda was well respected as a person because of the way she conducted herself,” said Munroe. “Because that respect she had—not only for her abilities, but also for the person that she was, that enabled her to give back to the sport of women's rodeo. Wanda was one of the early directors of the GRA, but we convinced her to come back on the Board in the 1980s when we were fighting for equal money. To get WPRAs approval, rodeos had to add equal money to the barrel race as they did the other events. Texas was tough because we have a lot of big rodeos and those committees had to come up with a lot of added money to bring them up to equal. Wanda had a lot to do with us accomplishing that. We didn't lose a single rodeo that year. Committees had a lot of respect for her.”

Bush is survived by her daughter Shanna Bush and brother A.C. Harper, both of Mason. She was preceded in death by her husband Stanley, a champion cutting horse trainer, who passed away on February 26, 2012, at age 81.

"I was happy to just to even get to go," said the first time circuit finalist. "I hadn't really run since April. I was just happy he did so well at the beginning of last year that I was able to make them."

At the circuit finals, Edwin was back to his winning form, nearly sweeping the entire rodeo. He won the first and second rounds and placed fourth in the third to win the average.

After winning the first two rounds, Tovar knew she just needed a clean run to stay good in the average, but she also knew that she couldn't safety-up to stay clean.

"My son says to my husband, 'Will Mom safety up?' There is no safety-ing up or I will hit a barrel. I can't do that. I've got to ride him. His third barrel—he'd been getting a little tighter on it each night—so I worked him that day. I just trotted him through and reminded him to get over and go past it a little. He kind of stepped off it and lifted his head a little bit, but we still caught the last hole (fourth-place in the round). I was just happy to get around them," she said.

The $7,609 payday also moved Tovar from third in the circuit to first for the yearend title as well. Two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier Jana Bean of Fort Hancock, Texas, will join Tovar at the RAM National Circuit Finals in Kissimmee, Fla., in March.

Tovar said having all her family in Waco to experience the win with her made it extra special.

"If they hadn't of been there it still would have been special," she said, "but it wouldn't have been anything like it was because so many of them showed up to support me. That made it so much more special. It couldn't have gone any better. It's definitely a moment that I'll cherish for the rest of my life, making that victory lap with everybody there."

Tovar also wanted to thank the stallion owners who donated the breedings to help the circuit pay for awards, Texas circuit director Lois Ferguson, Trip duPerier for donating the saddle, as well as her sponsors Back On Track, Elgin Vet Clinic and Three Palominos Boutique.

"I've also got to thank Edwin and the good Lord because without either of them I would have been sitting in the stands watching it. I wish there was some way for Edwin to know what he did. He's the one that deserves everything."

Flanigan Turns Up the Heat in Buckeye

By Hope Sickler

Laramie, Wyoming cowgirl Shea Flanigan has dreamt of qualifying to The American since its inception 3 years ago and she made that dream a reality this past weekend when she stole the show at the 12th qualifier in Buckeye, Arizona.

Flanigan jockeyed 8-year-old palomino gelding Boston On Fire "Hitch" to the win when she stopped the clock in the only sub-17 second run of the qualifier. Flanigan and the stout gelding blitzed the cloverleaf pattern in 16.993-seconds to win the qualifier as well as the open on Sunday out of over 300 entries.

"Hitch" is by Certa Fire and out of a Two Eyed Jack mare and Flanigan describes the gelding as a little ornery but one that loves his job.

"When I first tried "Hitch" I had a feeling that there was something pretty special there. He has an arrogant attitude but there was something to that, along with his spunk, that made me think that I had to have him. I think the good ones are always a little rough around the edges, that is what makes them so tough and gritty," explained Flanigan.

Once Flanigan got him home to their ranch in Laramie, she admitted that they had their fair share of ups and downs before really figuring one another out.

"We definitely had to figure one another out before it started clicking. We fell at a few rodeos and jackpots at first and I had to really sit back and evaluate my riding. I ride really aggressive and really push them and you cannot do that on him. He is extremely sensitive and I think that I scared him a little at first. After a year, we are finally really starting to click and are both confident in one another." Flanigan says that qualifying for The American has been a dream of hers since she first heard about it nearly 3 years ago.

"I have been running barrels since I was a young girl and making the NFR has always been a dream of mine just like every other barrel racer. However, I am a wife and a mother to three boys and they will always come before my horses and rodeos. Since my priorities have changed over the years, I knew that trying to make a run at the NFR was not going to happen. I was very excited when I heard about The American and the chance to give us mothers and other individuals who cannot travel the opportunity to make a big-time rodeo such as The American.”

Prior to Buckeye, Flanigan had ran at the qualifier in Loveland, Colorado and was just out of the top 10. After running in Loveland against a full arsenal of tough jockeys and horses, Flanigan knew that she and “Hitch” stood a chance at qualifying for the semi-finals in Ft. Worth.

“The American is a realistic goal for me since I am mom and it has given me the chance to achieve this higher level of competition and to not have to travel all over the country away from my family all year. It is an amazing rodeo and opportunity,” Flanigan said. Flanigan and her family left their ranch in frigid Wyoming in the middle of December and arrived in Arizona to prepare for the run that would hopefully get her a little closer to making her dream a reality.

““Hitch” got a respiratory infection and was coughing a lot when we arrived in Arizona so I almost drew out of the qualifier. After several breathing treatments before Christmas and the New Year, he was starting to feel better and I just told myself that we were going to give it our best shot! I knew the arena and the horses we were running against were among the toughest out there and told myself to just ride smooth and smart and the rest would take care of itself.”

After putting the final touches on “Hitch” and herself, Flanigan was ready to give it all she had and wait and see where the chips would fall.

“I was confident in both my horse and myself and knew that we could win it. I had a goal to be a 17.0-17.1 and I felt like that would get me in the top 10. I kept visioning my run and thinking about the positive runs that we had had together throughout the year,” said Flanigan. “It felt like an incredible run and I really stayed focused throughout it all. Once I got the first barrel nailed, I whipped the rest of the way through and knew it was going to be a good one if I just kept it all together. I saw the clock when I came across the eye and then instantly saw my boys and my husband in the stands and couldn’t resist the tears. It felt amazing and I am just thankful for this amazing horse and this opportunity.”

Now that Flanigan has qualified for the semi-finals, she will keep preparing herself mentally and will continue to work on her riding to keep herself and her horse sharp.

“I try to stay positive no matter what the situation is and I am staying positive for this one. Smooth is fast and that is my goal for the semi-finals.”

THE RUNDOWN w/ Shea Flanigan

Craig Brooks & Peytons Call To Fame Triumph at the Southern Rebel Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Craig Brooks may have only had Peytons Call To Fame in his barn a few weeks, but the fleet footed 4-year-old Carrizzo gelding clocked-up to win the Southern Rebel Futurity in North Augusta, S.C. The gelding, owned by Margo Crowther—who also placed in the futurity aboard Shes Packin Fame, earned $3,134 plus $965 for winning the Open on Friday with a carryover.

Brooks, Eastanollee, Ga., had four horses in the futurity and placed three in the average. In the first go, his times got faster with each horse through the gate.

“Nik A Tyme came in and ran a .3 and they were winning it with a .2 at the time, so I was really happy with her,” he said. “The JL Dash Ta Heaven filly Heavens Sakes was a little bit afterward and she came out leading it with a .1. She made just a really easy, solid pass and clocked really well. Peytons Call To Fame was a bit of a surprise. I hadn’t had him that long and didn’t know a ton about him. He came in there pretty much at the end. He didn’t make the prettiest run, but he really clocked hard.”

In the second go, the ground conditions got a little challenging for a lot of the colts.

“The ground was little bit slower the second day,” he explained. “We didn’t really back up the times that we had run the first day. They all came back and ran .7, which was a half-second off. It was a little tough for colts, but I was really happy with them because they kept trying.”

BFA Juvenile Futurity finalist Heavens Sakes, who is owned by Brad Lieblong, was the only one of the quartet to place in the second round and ended up as the reserve champion.

“I’ve had her in the barn for a year,” he said. “I picked her up at Oklahoma City last year (2014), so I hauled her all year.”

Brooks, who is sponsored by RES Boots, also pointed out that Crowther won the second go on her other Carrizzo colt, Shes Packin Fame.

“Margo was one of the first ones out in the second go and she set the time with a 14.2,” he noted. “She had a pretty good slip in the first go or she’d have been in there a little deeper. She also ended up winning the open the second day.”

With Brooks winning the futurity and open on Friday and Crowther winning the futurity and open on Saturday, it was a clean sweep for the offspring of Carrizzo, a son of Dash Ta Fame out of the Sail On Bunny mare Southasofia.

Peyton, bred by Frank Moore, is out of the Call Me Together, Merganser mare, Call Me Mergie, a futurity money earner under the saddle of Kebo Almond. He was started by Nicole Monroe and then spent the summer and fall with Crowther. Peyton joined Brooks’ barn after the Kindergarten Futurity the first weekend of December. The current plan is for Brooks to run the gelding through the LG Pro Classic when Crowther will take over the reins.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Here we are in 2016! Did you do some end of the year forgiving? Did you do some reconciling? It's a great way to begin the year! And if you haven't, it's not too late. Just suck it up and take care of business. You'll be glad you did. AND SHOULD SOMEONE TRY TO RECONCILE WITH YOU..... BE THE BIGGER PERSON! Okay, thanks!

Do you ever feel a little overwhelmed with life? Ever thought that no one in the whole world has problems like you? Ever find yourself feeling a little sorry for yourself, thinking that no one has ever experienced what you are going through? Well, it's a common tactic of the devil. He tries to get you focused on the problem.

I have very serious problems. I don't Facebook. I tried once. I really wanted to look at these two two year olds and there were videos of them on Facebook. I bearded the lion and signed up....I thought. Took me 45 minutes to fill out the form. A lot of murmuring and complaining was going on under my breath. FINALLY I got to see the colts! I was so proud of myself. When I got back home, I had some people who wanted to be my friend (think that's what it's called). So I clicked here and I clicked there....nothing.....

I called our Music Minister and she came over to help me. She couldn't get me on. She couldn't get me off. She wasn't really sure just what I had done. She said I was out there in cyber world somewhere.....all by myself with no friends. It's pretty sad really. I would like to be a friend....

Well, I don't know what will come of my Facebook adventure. I do know that the Bible tells me that Jesus was tempted in all ways like we are, WITHOUT SIN! If He can do it, we can do it! Focus on your answer (Jesus) this week. I believe by Monday you won't recognize some of those problems! And you'll have Jesus, the greatest Friend ever..

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches
