Carley Cervi & Flit Six Capture MVP Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Carley (Richardson) Cervi maybe mostly known as a two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier, but she's also made some nice horses when not on the rodeo road. A few of them have been related to her great horse Doda Flit ("Radio") like her recent winner—MVP Futurity Champion Flit Six ("Six").

Cervi and Six turned in two solid runs to win the 208-entry, $25,000-added MVP Futurity, hosted by BRN4D, January 3-5 in Buckeye, Arizona. The winner's share was $7,624. With an additional $2,500 from the slot race, Cervi and Six collected $10,124.

"She is so much like Radio, it's crazy," said Cervi, who lives in Roggen, Colorado. "She had a little time where she was pretty stubborn and I thought, 'I just didn't know if she's going to make Flit Six "Six" 15 hands, 1,000 lbs. "She's a little brick house. She's really thick. My dad says she doesn't look like a barrel horse. He says she looks like a little breakaway horse."

BIT: Kathy James Gag with a two-piece twisted-wire mouthpiece

SADDLE: Carl Ammerman

SADDLE PAD: CSI with the fleece liner

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine up front

SHOEING: Plain shoes on front, barefoot behind. "She's got a big foot. She wears a size 1."

FEED: None

HAY: Alfalfa hay with grass hay in front of her at all times

SUPPLEMENTS: Ulcergard, Adequan, Legend

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Back On Track wraps and blanket. MagnaWave once a week.

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIME: "I help my husband out a lot on the ranch with her, just moving cattle. I just ride her a lot and keep her in shape. As far as working the barrels, I only work the barrels a time or two a week.

When I do work her, I just trot her and try to keep her really round, because she does naturally want to work really flat. That's probably what I work with the most on her with—her stiffness. That's part of why we fought in the beginning. Because she wanted to be that way and I was trying to make her be a way she didn't want to be. When I finally was like 'Fine, you're going to flat,' that's when things started to come together."

or not.' She had to see what I was made of, but once she did, she's been a dream."

Running late in the draw on Saturday, Six clocked a 17.271 on a WPRA Standard Pattern to place fifth in the first round.

"She's just like her brother; she takes care of me, because I did everything I could to mess up her first barrel," she admitted. "The panels are set up like an alley at Buckeye and I thought I'll just lope around (the wing of panels) and go. Well, I did, and I was in the middle of No Man's Land. I was way too far to the left. When I asked her to come-to she could have knocked the first barrel out of the pen so easy, but she didn't. She wants to be good and got around it. I knew the first barrel cost me quite a bit."

Running reverse order on Sunday, Cervi and Six were out early. They clocked a 17.330, which placed ninth in the round.

"She made a better run the second day, but I was third out early in the morning. It's really cold and I think was the ground was a little bit heavier. Her run was better, but her time was just a little bit slower," Cervi said.

"I wish I would have had my second day's run the first day, but they were both good. She's so confident. She just wise beyond her years. I don't know if she's most talented horse that I've ever ridden but her mind is just amazing.”

Six, 5, is by Laico Ladiesman, a son of Streak Laico Bird out of Babys Blue Jeans, by Six Fols. Babys Blue Jeans is a full sister to Marthas Six Moons, a one-time leading barrel horse sire and now one of the greatest broodmare sires of all-time. She's dam of two-time WPRA World Champion Sugar Moon Express, better known as Lyndsay Sears' Martha.

Like her NFR qualifier Radio and Prairie Circuit Finals Champion Flit Money, whom she sold to Angela Ganter, Six is out of the double-bred Flit Bar Beggar mare Flit Priss, owned by Barbara Burns and her late husband Kenneth, who passed away about a month ago.

“We're sad that he wasn't here to see it,” said Cervi of Kenneth's passing, “but I think it's bringing so much joy to Barbara right now. Barbara told me when I was looking at her (as a yearling) that she was the best one they had raised.”

Ironically, Cervi had tried to sell Six when she was a 3-year-old. She had her younger half-sister by Lions Share Of Fame that she liked better and she wanted to rodeo some, so she offered Six for sale, much to the dismay of the Burns and Kathy James, who owns Laico Ladiesman.

“I had put her on Facebook for $15,000 as a 3-year-old,” she recalled. “One girl came and tried her and passed on her. I didn't hardly have any interest in her at all. I was actually pretty upset about it. She was really nice and out of Radio's mom, why doesn't anyone want her? But, now I'm glad.”

Unfortunately, her Lions Share Of Fame broke her shoulder while playing in the pasture and will only be broodmare sound, so it was fortuitous that Six didn't sell.

“Honestly, besides Radio, she's probably my favorite I've ever ridden,” she said. “She runs flat and goes by the barrel and kind of rolls back. Doesn't want any room going into a barrel; she runs straight at them. She sticks her nose and flattens her ears back and rings her tail running home just like him. They're so similar.”

With her good rodeo geldings older there's a possibility that Cervi will concentrate more on the futurities this year. In the past, even when she's had nice futurity horses, rodeos have lured her away.

“If everything came together I would like to go (rodeo) again, but my geldings are older and they don't owe me anything,” she said. “They're all kind of on semi-retirement now. I've got a nice young mare at home that I'm going to run at Denver, but I think for the most part I have shifted over to the young ones.

“When you have a good futurity horse, you want to go to the futurities. I guess when you have a good rodeo horse it's fun to go to the rodeos. I guess my horses will tell me where I go. I like them both. With her, I think I'm going to try to get her to more than I've been to in the past. I think she can do well in any setup. She's a really good mare.”

Hildreth & Dash Ta Fame Bardell Pocket $12,500 at MVP Futurity Slot Race

By Tanya Randall

Imagine meeting your horse's owner for the first time and being able to hand over a $12,500 check.

Taylor Hildreth of Olathe, Colorado, has had Dash Ta Fame Bardell ("Dash") for his owner and breeder Beth Laine of Las Vegas, Nevada, since February of last year, the two never met in person until the MVP Futurity, held January 3-5 in Buckeye, Arizona.

"We've spoke on the phone a lot," said Hildreth. "I have to thank her for trusting me with Dash. She knew he was special."

Hildreth and Dash topped the MVP Slot Race, which is determined by the fastest of the entry's two runs in the MVP Futurity. They tipped a barrel in the first round so everything was riding on their second run.

"The first round I screwed up and rode too cautiously," said Hildreth, a trainer and mother of two young children with her farrier husband, Coy. "He's very ratey and likes to turn and I just sat on my butt."

"The second round I was like I need to go out there for real. Sometimes at the beginning of the year, you want to help them. He doesn't need that. He just needs to go. So, the second round I rode aggressively and it worked. He ran all the way into his spots and stayed really honest. He felt like he was hauling butt. He makes really pretty, correct runs, but for some reason that second run felt a little sloppy. It didn't look like it in the video, but when I was making it, I thought he'd run like a .3 or a .4, so when I came out with it being a .1, I was really happy."

Their 17.115 on a WPRA Standard Pattern topped the Slot Race for $12,500 and finished second in the second round of the futurity for an additional $3,298. Hildreth and Dash were able to collect $15,798 for Laine.

By Equi-Stat's All-Time Leading Barrel Horse Sire Dash Ta Fame, Dash, a 5-year-old gelding is out of the Gray Bardell mare Bardells Jubilee, who Laine also raised. She had sent him to Matt Albrecht of Minersville, Utah, to be broke and started on the pattern. Albrecht contacted Hildreth in the fall of 2018 and asked if she would be willing to add him to her futurity string for 2020.

"I was kind of on the fence because I had plenty of horses," she said. "He sent me some videos and I thought 'Man, he rides good.' I decided to take him and I never even saw the horse. I got him in February. I told him to give him some time off this winter, so I got him in February of last year. He was pretty cool to start out with. He was started on the pattern nicely so all I had to do was add some speed and tweak a few little things. Other than that, he was really nice."

"He's always wanted to be a barrel horse. You never have to make him do anything. You just show him where to go and he figured it out pretty quick. He's funny horse. He has a fun personality. He's really cocky. He's into himself for sure. We've had some interesting arguments over a little of it, but he wants to be a barrel horse so I put up with some things. He's cool. He's not very big. He's on the slighter side, but he still has the strength and speed."

The two runs at the MVP Futurity were the third and fourth of his career. Dash's two previous runs were at December jackpots, where he clocked a 17.4 and a 17.2 on a WPRA Standard Pattern.

"He's very confident," she laughed. "Some of them, you have to worry about their confidence. He's like, 'Oh, I've got this.'"

Hildreth wanted to thank her sponsors, including MVP for sponsoring the futurity, "They give so much to our industry. It's awesome."—her husband, "He's keeps everything sound and helps with

I just needed a little bit more than what the Tool was given me. I had exhibited in the Elliot and I use it just to ride around. When I ran him on Saturday, he felt a little droppy in his front end and I felt like I needed a little bit more. I warmed him up in the Elliot and I was going to get the Tool, but he felt so good in the Elliot, I just left it on him."

Dustin Angelle & KN Born ALil French Top Wrap N 3's Texas Extreme Tres Seis/Triple Vodka Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Dustin Angelle and KN Born ALil French ("Frenchie"), owned and bred by Kimi Nichols of Brownwood, Texas, topped the Tres Seis/Triple Vodka Futurity at the Texas Extreme Barrel Classic, hosted by Wrap N 3 at the Brackenridge Events Center in Edna, Texas, January 2-5. The victory in the $15,000-added, 114-entry futurity was worth $5,800.

"Since we've been here, we've been super blessed," said Angelle. "All of our colts have worked really well. I've been super happy with all them."

Angelle, a farrier turned futurity competitor, guided the 4-year-old mare to two consistent runs. They were 10th in the first round with a 15.259 and third in the second go with a 15.201 to win the aggregate.

THE RUNDOWN w/Dustin Angelle

KN Born Alil French "Dash" 14-14.1 hands, 950 lbs. "She's not very big," Angelle said. "She wears pretty much the smallest girth I have and picked up all the way."

BIT: Run in a smooth-mouth Troy Flaharty O-ring. Work in a huge, fat twist at the house. "She's very, very light," he explained. "She doesn't like much bridle. She's not a fan of a curb bit. She really likes to be wrappy and lay around a turn so I feel like if you put a curb bit on her at all, she wants to sit on it and doesn't have enough wrap or forward motion through the turn. I don't fight with her because that's her fastest, easiest way of doing it."

SADDLE: Paul Taylor with a Buster Welch tree on Frenchie. Tami Semas Saddles for some of his other horses.

SADDLE PAD: 5-Star

LEG GEAR: Polo wraps with Classic Equine bell boots

SHOEING: Kahn Forge steel rims all the way around. "I'm really picky about my shoeing because I've been doing it for so many years," he said. "I keep her really backed up and I shoe her kind of full. I don't like a horse to get underslung with too much toe on them. She has really good feet, so that makes her really easy."

FEED: Nutrena Pro Force Fuel

HAY: Hay-Rite and as much grass hay as she would like

SUPPLEMENTS: Progressive Nutrition's Pro Add, Stierwalt Super-Flex

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Cold water spa at home. "She goes in the spa twice a week," he said. "When they come off the trailer, we usually won't ride that Monday and put everybody in the spa to get them back fresh. I try to do as much therapy as I can with my horses. I own a Magna Wave and a TheraPlate. I believe if I can stop a problem before it starts I can stay ahead of the game."

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIME: "She really doesn't see the pattern a whole bunch," he said. "She's super worky. If she does see the pattern, I'll jog her through a couple times a week and just make sure her feet are exactly where I want them. She's the type of horse that I put her exactly where I want her to go when I run. I don't take them off course a whole bunch. She maybe sees the pattern twice a week for five or 10 minutes. Other than that, I have a Eurociser and she long jogs on her off days. I ride her every other day pretty much. I spend a lot of my saddle time just riding because I want to keep her happy and not thinking that she has to go work hard every day."

SPONSORS: Nutrena, Hay-Rite, Stierwalt Super-Flex, Clay Espey, DVM, of Kleinpeter Equine

Lucks Go Gay Go

Rider: Dustin Angelle; Owner/Breeder: Stephen/Kimi Nichols

"(Friday) this mare really, really worked one and two good, kind of got a little lost going to the third and got by it," he explained. "I was riding her a little too free. (Saturday), she really, really worked and was super smooth, kind of slipped out a little behind the second but never quit trying. She's full of grit."

Frenchie is the first major futurity champion for multiple futurity champion, 2012 BFA Derby Champion and pro rodeo money earner French StreakToVegas, a son of Equi-Stat Top 5 All-Time Sire A Streak Of Fling out of the Sun Frost mare PC Frenchmans Flirt, a full sister to the Equi-Stat's No. 2 Leading Barrel Horse Sire of All Time, Frenchmans Guy.

Her dam, KN Born This Way, is a generational product of KN Nichols Performance Horses. By the royally-bred, proven barrel horse sire Born Ta Be Famous, KN Born This Way is out of the stakes-winning Streakin Dash, What Luck (TB) mare Kczartessa. A three-quarters sister to Nichols' standout performing stallion, KN Famous Czar, by Dash Ta Fame, KN Born This Way has earnings of more than $72,000 tabulated by EquiStat and is the 2015 BBR Finals Futurity Champion, a multiple American Semifinals qualifier and has won pro rodeo money at such prestigious rodeos as the Cheyenne Frontier Days and Ponoka Stampede.

Ironically, Angelle also rides the No. 1 money earner by Born Ta Be Famous, VF Born Famous with earnings of more than $75,000. KN Born This Way is the stallion's No. 2 money earner.

"It's safe to say I get along with the Born Ta Be Famous horses," chuckled Angelle, who trains out of Robert, Louisiana. Frenchie has been in his barn since last March.

"Kimi Nichols sent her to me after she broke her and had her riding around really good," he said. "Training her was really easy. Kimi always puts an amazing start on her colts. I really enjoy riding behind her. This mare has always been really honest. The second you told her to do something that's the way she's always done it. She never tries to out think you. She's been super honest and super consistent."

The biggest concern for Nichols was if the petite mare—she's less than 14.2 and weighs 950—was if she had the speed.

"Throughout her training I was always telling Kimi how much I liked her and how honest she was, and Kimi always said, 'I'm glad that she's honest, but is she going to be able to run?' I continued to tell her, 'Have faith in her. She's going to be fast enough.'"

As it turned out, Frenchie was indeed fast enough. She started her career placing 14th in the BFA Juvenile, earning $3,313. A couple of weeks later, Frenchie placed 10th in the OKC Rookie Futurity average for $3,114. This was her third futurity.

Angelle, who has a background in Western performance horses—cutters, reiners and pleasure horses—started concentrating his efforts on the barrel futurity world about five years ago.

“I was able to compete before and futurity a little, but never fulltime,” he said. “I was a horseshoer and was too busy to go on the road. The past five or six years, I decided to do this fulltime. I quit shoeing except for my own personal horses. My husband Clay Espey is a veterinarian, so we stay super, super busy.”

Angelle also placed in the Tres Seis/Triple Vodka Futurity average on NickelBar Ranch’s Al Cappone, a 4-year-old stallion by Shawne Bug Leo, a Top 50 All-Time Sire, per EquiStat, and out of TR Double Cash, by Texas High Dasher, making him a half-brother to two-time WPRR Reserve World Champion TR Dashing Badger, better known as Dolly.

“He’s been a blessing to us,” said Angelle. “He placed in the OKC Slot race. He’s very honest. He’s probably been on the pattern five or six months. We got him extremely late.”

With Al Cappone being a Pink Buckle stallion, the decision was made to collect and freeze semen so he could focus on his competitive career. The additional workload hasn’t fazed the young stallion. Since running at Oklahoma City, the stallion spent two weeks prior to the Edna event being collected.

“I just got him back,” Angelle said. “He went from Oklahoma City to get collected so he hasn’t seen a barrel until he got here a few days ago. He’s been completely off for two weeks at the breeding farm. He’s been a complete gentleman. We haven’t heard a word from him and he went straight to work.”

Angelle wanted to thank his team for all their help and support, including Kimi Nichols – “I think she has an amazing breeding program,” he stated. “She knows her bloodlines and knows what crosses. She can get a colt started and make it look effortless. As trainers, I think that’s the main thing to setting us up for success.” His thanks also extends to his family and Clay Espey for all the vet work and non-vet work—“We stay super busy, but it works out because we have our own team,” Angelle added. “Clay does all our vet work. I do all our shoeing and training. Clay also has his eyes to help out also. He doesn’t ride but it always helps have another set of eyes.”

Jill Wilson & Jimmie Smith Earn National Circuit Finals Berths at Texas Finals

By Tanya Randall

Jill Wilson of Snyder and Jimmie Rae Smith of McDade will represent the Texas Circuit at the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo (RNCFR) in Kissimmee, Florida. Wilson and her tough gelding Lean Mean Blue Dean won the Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo, held January 2-4 in Waco, Texas, while Smith held on to win the Texas Circuit Championship.

Wilson picked up $6,168 in Waco and moved to second in the year end standings with $34,617.

"We came to Waco and I was sitting third for the year end standings," she explained. "There was about a $6,000 difference between me and Jennifer (Sharp) to Jimmie. I looked at (winning the year end) as having to win everything and Jimmie not win anything, and that just wasn't going to happen. I thought I just needed to go for the average—one run at time."

Thankfully, her 15-year-old gelding Blue Dean (Dean Miracle x Luv Her Winner x Runaway Winner) seems to really like running at rodeos in Waco. They placed in each round but the third to win the aggregate.

"He had a really good run the first run," she said. "Got a little bit faster the second run. The last one—I knew at that point I was winning the average and I basically just needed to make a clean run, so that's what I did. I did ride him a little further past the end barrel than I should have but he was good around one and two, I just thought—get around it! It probably cost us a little money in the go-round, but I knew I just needed to be clean."

This was Wilson's third trip to the Texas Circuit Finals and her first championship, and subsequently, it will be her first trip to the RNCFR. She finished the year with $34,617 won in her circuit. Having finished 26th in the 2019 WPRF World Standings with $52,783, Wilson will have a busy winter and spring.

"It's exciting," she said. "This is all bucket list stuff for me. I don't do this as my profession like a lot of the girls do. It's a super cool opportunity while my horse is still firing and doing good. I'm so grateful that we can take advantage of it because I don't have a trailer full."

oilfield chemical company, and the mother of a blended family of five—thankfully only two are still juniors in high school—with her husband Lance, Wilson tries to schedule her rodeos around work and her boys' sports activities.

For instance, she entered the last performance at Odessa, Texas, since it allowed her another day at work and gave Blue Dean two days of rest before slack at San Angelo on Wednesday, January 7.

"I'm beginning to feel a little overwhelmed," she said. "I tend to stay in a pretty small circle. Last year was my first to branch out and try to make it—went up north for a month and experienced all that. I was trying to keep my job, keep my sanity and keep my horse sound, so we came home."

She did put herself in position to make the limited entry rodeos in her home state—namely San Antonio, Houston and now Fort Worth with the format change. A glutton for punishment, she also added the American Semifinals into her winter mix as well.

"I'm super excited," she said. "Somebody asked me about Houston and I said you won't even be able to wipe the smile off my face. I will just be so happy to be there. The first year I made the circuit finals, you would have thought I was at the NFR. That's how I felt. Our circuit finals is stacked with NFR girls, past and present. Just to be there and feel like you're doing what they do is just super cool."

It was the first circuit championship for Jimmie Rae Smith, the 2018 WPRA Rookie of the Year, as well. The title race got a lot closer in the end than she had expected, thanks to Wilson's strong performance.

The initial thought was her $6,000 lead couldn't be overcome.

"That's what everybody said the first night—nobody is going to catch you," she chuckled. "It was Jill that actually said we can't catch you unless we win everything and you win nothing. I said you never know what can happen and sure enough I hit a barrel the first two rounds, and she won second in the first two rounds, so it got a little tight."

She rode Marthas Bullion in the first two rounds before climbing aboard her great 11-year-old mare Lena On The Rocks (Firewaterontherocks x Turlena x Smart Cash Cutter), who was making just her fifth run back since coming back from an injury at the Calgary Stampede in July.

"The first round (Marthas Bullion) was just a little fresh and I had a couple of rider errors," Smith explained. "She slipped into the barrel in the second round. It wasn't her fault at all. That was just heartbreaking. It literally came down to Saturday as to who would win the circuit. I knew I had to win money."

Lena, who got cleared to return to work in late September, had won all most all of the money to give Smith the lead going into the Circuit Finals, so it was only fitting that she seal the deal on the title, leaving her with $36,394 won at Texas rodeos.

"I got it all in the winter last year," Smith explained. She also noted that she learned from her first qualification in 2018 to get her circuit count in before she left for the summer. "We actually had just done the math. I had only won two checks that were on other horses. Lena won pretty much all of it."

Lever Action won her a check at Amarillo and Smart Quick Money drew one at West Monroe.

Having finished the 2019 season ranked 19th in the WPRA World Standings, Smith will make all the lucrative, limited-entry rodeos this winter.

"We're at San Angelo right now," she said on Monday night. "I'm at Odessa on Wednesday, Lafayette on Thursday. I'm out the first weekend at Denver. It's been 'so far so good' with where I've drawn up."

Smith is also qualified for the American Semifinals in the barrel racing. She's hoping to add breakaway roping at that rodeo as well as at a few of the pro rodeos that are offering the event this winter.

Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Today is my birthday! My friends and family are making it special for me, like they always do! While I was riding my horse I was thinking about them asking me what I wanted for a present...and it came to me...WORLD PEACE!!!! LOL!

Like THAT'S going to happen before Jesus comes! And He IS coming. Am I ready? Are you ready? Or are we giving lip service to Him being "our everything...but ignoring His directions?"

Ouch! I plod along thinking I'm not doing so bad...until someone ungraciously points out my faults! LOL!

Galatians 6:3-5 talks about us examining ourselves and bearing our own load (or faults). And then it marches right into verse 7 where it tells us we will reap what we sow! Sheesh!

Where are those love verses when you need them?? Those verses are wonderful! But we aren't going to grow up if we only have the things we like. To be all we can be, we must have both encouragement and correction!

"Lord, I'm asking you to do what it takes to grow me up"...but please be gentle! LOL!
