for every single run," said McDonald. She and Bling turned in runs of 16.42, 16.37 and 16.32, respectively. "She really fired for her first run. Her second run actually felt like her best—she just ran really hard and turned really smooth and tight, and our third barrel got a little tighter. In the short go, I really didn't think it would be faster than my other runs. I was last on the ground and I was really nervous. You have to wait in the little holding pen. After you run, everyone comes back in there and everyone's horse was antsy, but she stayed really calm. She let me walk her a little further up the alley before she took off. I thought we got by our first and second a little bit, but the third was really tight again. I was just really surprised that it was faster. I was just happy that we made three clean runs. It's an awesome rodeo."

The set up in Will Rodgers Coliseum seems to favor lefties with its left set alleyway. In order to square the pattern to the alley the right-hand barrel is more in the middle of the pen, while the left barrel is closer to the fence.

"It gave us a really good angle to the first every time," said Mc-Donald, who is sponsored by Oxy-Gen, Iconoclast Boots, Triple Crown Feeds, Wilson Leather Company, and Cinch/Cruel Girl. "I think there were five left handed horses (including Bling) in the finals."

McDonald's closest challengers were Jana Bean of Fort Hancock, Texas, and Kali Jo Parker of Wendell, Idaho. Both ladies

Fellow barrel racer, Tahnee Sanders, of Danbury, Nebraska was recently involved in an accident and became paralyzed. Initially, she was paralyzed from the neck down, but recently she started to have some movement in her arms. Her family would like to continue her rehabilitation at the Craig Hospital in Colorado to give her the opportunity to regain her normal life and activities. The family started a page to help Tahnee & her family afford this at www.fundme.com. ## Dickson Wins $5,000 Jerry Ann Taylor Award at Fort Worth

for the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

Kendra Dickson has been part of the Jerry Ann Taylor Award at the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo every year since it was introduced.

The $5,000 award, which is presented by the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) and the National Cowgirl Museum and Hall of Fame, is given to the best-dressed barrel racer during the finals of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo® on the final Saturday night of the Fort Worth rodeo. Jerry Ann Taylor, a 1986 honoree of the hall, was a flamboyant trick rider and roper who was known for her sense of style.

Dickson, who lives a little more than an hour's drive from Fort Worth in Aubrey, Texas, won the inaugural $5,000 award in 2013. Last year she missed qualifying for the barrel racing finals, but designed and created Jane Melby's winning look.

This year Dickson was back in the finals herself, after winning sixth in the first round and splitting sixth and seventh in the progressive round. She finished fourth in the average and won more than $8,100 in the barrel racing.

"Two years ago, I wasn't sure I would make the finals and I ended up finishing my outfit just before I ran," Dickson said. She added that this year she started working on what she would wear a week in advance.

"I was hesitant to start, because I didn't want to jinx myself," she said, "but my daughter and my assistant told me to go ahead and start working on it because I could always wear it for another rodeo."

She purchased a pair of black jeans for $17 at an outlet store, then added black and gold sequined, tiger-striped fabric to the jeans and her shirt. She also used accents of that fabric on her saddle pad, breast collar and hat. After breaking two sewing machine needles on the jeans, she and her daughter finished up using hand stitches. "To say I was excited and very thankful to win this year's award would be a huge understatement," Dickson said.

She added that earlier during the 17-day run of the Fort Worth rodeo, she knew that if she was lucky enough to qualify for the finals and win the award, she needed to give the $5,000 to Rodeo For A Reason, a charity she co-founded as a ministry of equine professionals who use their skill with horses to reach people in need.

"We're a small team of volunteers, but Rodeo For A Reason is ready to grow," Dickson said. "I knew what a boost this money could give to our ministry."

"I've always loved to decorate anything. I'm all about the razzle dazzle, sparkle and shine," she said, adding that she has always decorated her own clothing and after winning this award in 2013 she started doing more. She is launching a line of her clothing designs, True Colors Rodeo Clothes.

The Jerry Ann Taylor award is only presented at the NFR and at the Fort Worth rodeo with the goal of encouraging women in professional rodeo to carry on the tradition of wearing colorful western attire in the rodeo arena.

Barrel racing has a long history with the World's Original Indoor Rodeo®. The Fort Worth rodeo began holding an invitational ranch girls barrel race in 1955, not long after barrel racing was invented.

were riding first year derby horses. Bean, a 2014 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifier, was on her 2014 futurity horse Dashing Klee ("Chick"), a Dash Ta Fame, Heza Fast Man 5-year-old gelding, that just happens to run to the left as well. Parker was aboard 6-year-old Tuneful, a Bono Jazz, Pritzi Dash mare that won several futurities in 2014 as well as qualifying for the Wilderness Circuit Finals as a 5-year-old.

"I think that's awesome," noted McDonald. "That's great for a young horse to do that good for all three runs."

Bling, herself, is just 9. Bred by Shannon Akerstrom's Western 37 Barrel Horses in Potter Valley, Calif., Bling is by two-time WNFR sire A Streak Of Fling out of Short Penny, a Dash Ta Fame, Sold Short mare. Akerstrom sold Bling as a yearling through the Fulton Performance Horse Sale, where she was purchased by Larry Ammons on behalf of a partnership between himself and McDonald's uncle Stephen, who trained Bling.

Together, McDonald and Bling had won nearly every major open barrel race in the Southeast, and it was about a year ago that Mc-Donald though that she and Bling needed to expand their horizons.

"I got permit and filled at the end of February, first of March," she recalled. "I got my permit thinking that I would season Bling and see how it went. We ran about every open horse show there is—NBHA and the big open shows in the Southeast, and she had done really good at those. I just felt like she needed the opportunity to do something else. We had just gone to some circuit rodeos and had about $8,000 won before he we left July 5 (the head out West). I think Casper, Wyo., was our first rodeo. She just kept doing really good, so I kept entering. It just all fell into place, like it was meant to be, so I kept going with it. She loves the crowd; she loves the crowd more than I thought she would."

Not only did they claim the Rookie title, they came within a few thousand dollars of qualifying for the WNFR. After last year's late season mad dash, McDonald chose to go carefully into the 2015 season.

"I had signed up for all the Texas rodeos last fall," she explained, "but I decided my mare needed a break, so I turned out of them. I started out at Lafayette. I actually ran my backup horse (Brookstone) Rose, there. The ground was a little rocky and I thought with my luck Bling would abscess off of it. The only other rodeo I went to before Fort Worth was Denver, and it didn't go so well. I had given Bling almost three months off and Denver was our first runs back. We were kind of getting with each other again. At Fort Worth, they let you practice at night, so I went and just rode around, and I could tell she was starting to get the hang of things again. I was so excited the first go of Fort Worth, because I was starting to get a little worried. I was glad to know she was feeling good and back to running like herself, like she did last year."

McDonald has a busy schedule ahead. At the time of this interview on Monday, she was overnighting in San Angelo, Texas. She and Bling hit a barrel and won't progress to the second round. On Tuesday, she and her driver Erika Norris will head to Jackson, Miss., for a Wednesday slack run. Then, they had back for the second set at the San Antonio Rodeo. They have slack for the American Semifinals Rodeo on Wednesday the 18th.

"I'm not sure after that, but I know it will be busy," said Mc-Donald, who added she's looking forward to competing at Rodeo Houston. "I'm just so excited. They only take 40 girls and I'm so excited to be included."

A Sweet Victory for Wright and Sweet Heart Special

Guy

By Hope Sickler

Carmel Wright left the South Dakota Stock Show in Rapid City with what she had hoped would happen; a championship.

"We had high expectations going into Rapid. I had a friend that told me I had to enter because she knew that my mare would love the pen there. She was right," explained Wright.

Wright said that the building was so loud and intense, that she wasn't sure how Sweetheart Special aka Tweety would handle it, especially since this is their first year hitting these winter rodeos in those smaller buildings.

"I had to ride her pretty hard but it worked out great. There is a small alleyway and once we reached the lip of it, I just let her loose and she went in there and did just what I asked her to do."

Sweetheart Special is a 12 year old mare by My Special Bear by Special Effort and out of a granddaughter of Dr Kirk.

"Tweety is one of the harder horses that I've ridden but she works her little tail off. She is only about 14 hands tall, narrow in the front and extremely quick. She can swap ends so fast that you have to be ready and I knew that once I saw how small the pen was in Rapid, I would have to be on top of my game, "said Wright.

Quickly after her run in Rapid, Wright and Tweety made their way to Texas where they are preparing for The American Semi-Finals as well as running at some more winter rodeos.

"We just got done with the first round at San Angelo and we tied for second. We will come back for our second run at San Angelo in the 10th performance and after that, we will run at the semi-finals in The American. I have huge expectations for that as well and I know that if we both do our jobs, we will be alright."

Wright would like to thank her family and sponsors, Town & Country Supply, Triple Crown Feeds and CHS, for their continued support while she and Tweety are chasing their dreams.

Bean and Rix Tie for Timed Event Challenge Win

By Hope Sickler

Texas Cowgirls Brooke Rix and Jana Bean kept the title of CP Timed Event Challenge Champion Barrel Racer in the great state of Texas when they both ran a time of 15.01 in the short round to secure that number one spot.

Rix and her 10 year old gelding Gypsy Hat Oh Fame, by Dash Ta Fame out of a mare that Rix's father bought her to rodeo on, blazed the cloverleaf pattern and stopped the clock in 15.01 seconds in the short round of the challenge.

"This was a special win for us because Bam Bam is a product of my families breeding program that we started several years ago. My parents bought his dam, Oh Gypsy Hat, for me to rodeo on. Not long after we bought her, she was involved in a trailer accident and had to have a year off. We figured we would go ahead and breed her to Dash Ta Fame and Bam Bam is the product we got from that cross," explained Rix.

Rix explained that Bam Bam made no mistakes in her runs at the Timed Event Challenge and loved the pen and the ground.

"I drew up on the top of the ground on both rounds and he ate that ground up. He fired both runs and I am so thrilled we were able to split the championship with Jana Bean."

Without her parents, Rix wouldn't have Bam Bam. "Both my parents love the breeding aspect of this business and have learned over the years what to do. We also have a few other half siblings and a full sibling to Bam Bam that I am very anxious to start on the barrels in a couple years when they are ready."

Bean and her 5 year old Dash Ta Fame gelding Dashing Klee also rounded the cloverleaf pattern in 15.01 seconds, good enough to tie for the championship.

"The Timed Event Challenge was very cool. I went last year and made the short round and thought how cool it would be to win it because they gave away such neat prizes," explained Bean.

Dashing Klee aka Chick and Bean made a nice, smooth round in the first round and ended up winning second in the junior class, which progressed them into the short round.

"After our first run, I felt like he could be faster, so I sent him in there quite a bit harder in the finals and he really ran hard. He had a slip on the backside of first but other then that, he worked outstanding."

Bean feels very blessed to be able to not only own but run a horse like Chick.

"He is a gift from God and we are very blessed to own this horse. We bought him as a 3 year old from some good friends whose last name is Chick and that is how he got the name "Chick". I am very excited to see what the future holds for us as a team."

Bean would like to thank her family and sponsors, Oxy-Gen, Classic Equine, Double J, Que Cute Style and Nickelbar Designs for their continued support and sponsorship.

urprises come in different ways. Some are good, some are.... surprising.

For instance, a woman that I do not know personally, came up to me at church, handed me an envelope and said God had told her to bless me! He told her I needed to have fun! Thoughts raced through my head like gunfire. The first one was, "Seriously? God told you to give me something?!" The second one was, "Do I LOOK like I'm not having fun?"

Okay, that was only two thoughts but they were fast! It totally took me by surprise!

My three year old granddaughter, Cylee, was riding her miniature horse with Papa on the lead rope. She had mastered the trot and she decided it was time to lope. No problem. Bunny has loped a lot. Cluck, cluck and into the lope she went....followed immediately by an exuberant kick up. You can imagine Cylee's surprise when she flew 24 inches into the air and turfed it. Oops! She immediately jumped up, crying, with dirt in her hair and in her mouth and down her shirt! Mad as a wet hen would more aptly describe her. With fists clenched by her side she yelled at Papa....."Papa! That is NEVAH happening again, IS IT!" It was a surprise!

As Christians we do not have to be surprised by anything or anyone. When we spend time with God, reading the Bible and praying, we can be assured that He will clue us in about anything that affects us. The Holy Spirit lives on the inside of us and He is always directing and guiding us. Go! Stop! Turn here! Don't say that, say this! Worrying about the future? Why? The Bible tells us in Phil. 4:6 not to worry about anything. In John 16:13 it says He will show us things to come. Do you think our loving heavenly Father would tell you what's going to happen and then not give you the direction to get through it/over it/around it? Nope. Read I Corin. 10:13.

Friend, don't live life surprised, constantly on the defensive. Be informed. Be vigilant. If we hear and obey God, all will go well with us!

Happy Valentines Day!
