Arena Record Wins Kassie Mowry & Force The Goodbye Fort Worth Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Two-time and defending WPRA World Champion Kassie Mowry has now won every rodeo in the famed Texas Swing with a $25,500 championship at the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo.

She was back on her great horse Force The Goodbye (“Jarvis”) at the historic rodeo, held January 23-February 7 inside Dickies Arena. They set a new arena record of 16.04 in the finals of the 56-entry, $173,000 guaranteed bracket-style rodeo to claim the title and take possession of World No. 1 in the WPRA Standings with $30,530.

“I was nervous,” said the Dublin, Texas-based trainer. She hadn’t made a run on Jarvis since the first round of the truncated BFA Derby on November 18.

“I wanted to go to a jackpot, and I was planning on it,” she said. “We got that snow and I drove up the road, and was like, ‘Nope! Not driving him on this!’

Mowry told herself to just trust him.

“He’s getting to where he’s pretty solid now, so I wasn’t too worried about it,” she said. “I was just trying to remember my timing with him. That was the hardest.”

$2 MILLION DOLLAR HORSE FORCE THE GOODBYE

•$2,118,186 — that’s the updated lifetime earnings for Force The Goodbye!

- QStallions listed his earnings at $2,092,686 prior to Fort Worth and with his $25,500 he’s over $2.1 Million!

She said CP He Will Be Epic is actually the easiest one for her to run after a long break.

“We always do really good after he’s had a long break,” she said. “He comes out really strong. He’s got a lot of feel and is soft in the face. Jarvis doesn’t have as much feel and wants to be tougher in the face. He’s not as ‘broke’ feeling, whereas Will is really soft. I can make mistakes with Will, and you don’t really notice it. He kind of absorbs it.”

Mowry said she used the downtime between Jarvis’ run to sharpen on her $2 million dollar winner.

“Since I had time and didn’t need to be anywhere, I put him back in an O-ring and draw reins,” she said. “He hasn’t been in that since he was a 4-year-old. I just tried to work on getting him to ride around better. It wasn’t any barrel work. It was more riding him around like a colt and asking more of him.

“Before I left for Fort Worth, I told Tanner, the guy that works for me, that ‘Jarvis is riding better than he ever has; I may have ruined him! Maybe he needed to feel the way he did to win? I don’t know but I’m about to find out!’”

Mowry said that ground work allowed Jarvis to clock so well on his first two runs of 16.16 and 16.19, which swept her bracket of competition, without turning the first barrel well.

“He didn’t turn the first barrel well on either run in my set,” she said. “He just wrapped the second and third and was so fast around them.”

Mowry said in the semifinals she had trouble negotiating the fine line between doing too much management, which might diminish his fire, and leaving him on his honor since he had been clocking well.

"I should have done a little bit more fine tuning before the semi-final instead of leaving him on his honor, especially in that arena," she said. "I've always struggled in that arena with the first barrel on him. I should have been more assertive and done more to keep him soft before that run than what I did."

In the semifinals, Jarvis' first barrel cost them significantly. They were a 16.50, which tied with Tricia Aldridge and Adios Pantalones. With only four advancing, Mowry won the tie-break, which was the fastest time from the previous runs.

Before the Finals, Mowry worked on getting Jarvis "really soft to the right and responsive to me." While in the past, she's gone to different shanked bits—warming up in an Ed Wright Pretzel or running in Petska, like she did for one run at Rodeo Houston last year—Mowry went with her O-ring and draw reins because Jarvis was bracing on everything else.

"He was going in there and leaning on me. He was going by (the first) because he was getting out of position five strides before he's to the barrel. That's why I fixed our line to the first barrel before the Finals, so he could turn when he got there," she said before continuing with a chuckle—"I set him up to run straighter in the arena. In my head, he was going to run him there and I could grab him and he'd melt to that first barrel, or we're going to run to the third barrel because that's what I set him up for! I set him up to stay straight unless told otherwise."

Mowry said the setup at Fort Worth is challenging with the right barrel further away from the fence than the left. The long alley way also encourages horses to drift toward the first with significant speed to boot!

"It's a steep tight line to the first barrel and then there's no wall behind it," Mowry said. "Because the alley is so long, you tend to take off further back than you normally do. Your horse is running five strides before you even get into the arena. They're used to going five strides and starting to go right. I feel the alleyway throws a lot of horses off.

That's what threw my horse off. If I had my way, I would take him all the way to top of it before he broke, but I don't because I can't! Jarvis wants to take off when he hears the crowd yell."

She did add, "Some horses like that tighter line and they don't need to come in from an arc. That maybe gets their hip out too much to turn as hard as they want to. It just depends on your horse's style."

Mowry, who sold all her futurity horses for this season, is busy at home with seven head of 3-year-olds to train for next year plus keeping her open and aged horses legged up. She also has McCrea Campbell currently breaking her 2-year-olds.

Fort Worth Bracket Basics

The 56 contestants are split into seven brackets of eight contestants. Each bracket is back-to-back rounds with the top two on money won advancing to one of two semifinals. The third richest in each bracket advances to a wildcard round along with remaining top money earner from all the brackets. The top four from each semifinals advances to the final. All runs are clean slate.

Fast Enough

Prior to this year's Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo, Wenda Johnson and the late, great Macgyver Moonflash ("Mac") held the record in Dickie's Arena.

They broke Jordon Brigg and Famous Lil Jet's ("Rollo") previous record of 16.25 set in the second round of the fifth bracket with a 16.17 during the opening round of the seventh bracket. Johnson and Mac dropped the hammer for a 16.08 in Finals to win the 2022 Championship.

In 2026, three competitors flirted with the arena record. Hayle Gibson-Stillwell and Buncha Dinero ("Piper") won the second go of the second bracket with a 16.11. Then Carlee Otero and Cathys Kandy ("Twix") equaled Johnson and Mac's 16.08.

Running second-to-last out, third after the drag, in the 2026 Finals, Kassie Mowry and Force The Goodbye cruised to 16.04 to set the new arena record.

Given the breakdown of the setup provided by Mowry, it's worth noting that Mac, Piper and Twix all run to the left barrel first. Rollo and Jarvis ran to the right.

Saving The Best For Last -- Heather Crowley & Aint She Perfect Top Rapid City

By Tanya Randall

Heather Crowley and her 8-year-old mare Aint She Perfect ("Lucy") were the very last barrel racers at Rodeo Rapid City, held February 5-7 in South Dakota. They stopped the clock in the Monument Summit Arena in 13.19 to win $5,145.

"Winning is pretty cool," said the Poplar, Montana, barrel racer. "When you make a great run that's always fun. When you know you're the last one and you come out on top, that's really cool to have that moment in the arena. Walking back and everyone saying, 'congratulations' was a great experience."

Crowley, who shares a 5-year-old son and 7-year-old daughter with calf roper husband JC, purchased Lucy in February of her fourth year. The daughter of Aint Seen Nothin Yet, out of team penner Lenas Slinky Quixote, by Smart N Slinky, came from her breeder Starr Nelson.

As a 5-year-old Lucy won the Glacier Chaser Classic Futurity and won her first pro rodeo.

"She did good pretty much everywhere I took her," said Crowley. "Then I lost my other horse. Her 6-year-old year was good. I missed the (Montana) circuit finals by $150. I don't think it was her. It was just me, not having confidence after losing my other one."

"This year we came with a vengeance. My husband has roped calves at the circuit finals for 26 years, and I had to go and watch. That was hard. I was like, 'We're going to make it together next year.' We made it happen. I'm really thankful for a really great year."

Crowley said Lucy really started figuring things out and stepping up about the middle of summer. They finished second in the WPRA's Montana Circuit Standings for 2025 with $22,605 and had a chance at the year-end title until they tipped a barrel in the second round of the circuit finals rodeo.

After tipping the barrel, Crowley made a bit change that stayed with her through Rapid City. She had been running in a short shank Boutin Bit Briggs with a Billy Allen mouthpiece and went back to Lucy's original bit, a Kerry Kelly Ticket with a three-piece mouth with copper rings on the dogbone.

"I really like (the Boutin Briggs) inside, but it was almost too quick," she said. "I put that on her to quicken her up in the turns. She hit that barrel leaving it, so she really got quick, especially in those tiny buildings. I switched back to the Kerry Kelly Ticket."

"Honestly, you don't touch her. Sit in the middle and push her forward and let her do it. She knows her job. I don't know if I've ever had a horse like that, that wants it as bad as you do.”

Crowley joked that she could probably run the mare in a halter, but she isn't too keen on trying it. She'll leave riding the mare in a halter to her children.

“As I got out of the arena, I pulled my saddle and let her roll. Then my kids got on her. There were three of them on her, riding bareback with a halter, cooling her out in the warmup pen.”

Crowley said she plans on “rolling with the punches” and seeing where the year takes her.

“We're not going to get too crazy,” she said. “I don't want to run the legs off my horse. We're going to go to Canada. We did some last year. I think we're going to go a little bit earlier this year and see where that takes us.”

She's currently in Arizona, where there's good weather to ride and develop her young horses in hopes of building a team to support Lucy.

“I'll try to go to a few derbies and get my young horses going and see what else I have,” she said. “That's kind of been our program. We ranch on them, rope on them, run barrels on them—give them a job and hopefully they turn out like Lucy. I've got some really cool ones. We'll see how that goes and hopefully we can get a team put together where it's not just her trying to do it on her own.”

Dusky Lynn Hall Pockets $12K at Glen Rose on Ain't Seen Famous Yet

By Julie Mankin

Dusky Lynn Hall broke out her million-dollar-plus winning gelding Ain't Seen Famous Yet to win the Open Average and $11,595 total at the Equine Sports Alliance (ESA)/Wild West Promotions (WWP) Barrel Racing Finals presented by 4M Equine, Feb. 6-8 in Glen Rose, Texas.

By just one-hundredth of a second on two runs, the sixth-grader edged three-time world champ Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi to earn the first-place Open Average check of $4,413 on "Wally." It was one of 14 paychecks she earned on the golden gelding over the two runs, including sidepots.

$1 MILLION DOLLAR HORSE

AIN'T SEEN FAMOUS YET

$1,078,835 — that the LTE for Ain't Seen Famous Yet!

Prior to his $11,595 win at the WWP ESA Finals

QStallions listed his earnings at $1,067,240.

"He's a little pudgy still, because he had two weeks off while we were in Georgia," said Hall while being driven to the orthodontist to check on her braces. "And there was snow (ice too), so Dad couldn't even get him any exercise. I rode him maybe a week every day, just getting him tuned up and listening to me; not even on the barrels. I just worked on his handle a lot, and got his air back by breezing him a little bit."

Hall's first run on Saturday of 14.686 placed fourth in the round for $1,155, plus sidepot paychecks. Then on Sunday, her consistent 14.673 was good for third, just six-hundredths behind Tonozzi and Rain Bo Dash, for another $2,626 in the round plus sidepot checks. The two runs also earned Hall the Youth Championships for $1,925 including both rounds and the average.

"He always runs harder in second runs, so I knew he was going to clock well on Sunday," said Hall. "He took the bridle with me both rounds. He just worked really good both rounds."

Hall left her derby horses home to rest during Glen Rose, and Enzo is recovering from an abscess, so Wally was her lone bullet. How does the 12-year-old girl get her 12-year-old horse to fire so hard?

"We do a lot of stuff for him, I mean he gets Optimizew and Equi-Bone and breathing treatments," explained Hall. "We had someone coming out every day to Equiscope him getting him prepared for this, and we give him a Bemer treatment before every run, also. He just gets a good life! If you have a horse with a good life and a human who is going to love that horse, he's going to want to run his hardest for you."

Wally was bred by Wyoming's Josh and Kaylee Little and picked up by Amelia McCumber of Nebraska as a weanling. She nicknamed him "Watchy Wally" because he was awfully fearful, but trained him into a top-caliber futurity horse before selling him to the Halls when he and Dusky Lynn were both 9.

By the Frenchmans Guy/Dash Ta Fame/Streakin Six stallion Ain't Seen Nothin Yet, Wally is out of A Nasty Chick by Its Royal Time — by Chick's Beduino out of a First Down Dash daughter. On the bottom, she went back to Jet Deck, Leo, Laughing Boy and Rebel Cause.

"Wally loves to run," said Hall. "If a horse doesn't love to run,

It was also a $12,000 weekend for Pozzi Tonozzi, who earned $7,568 total on Rain Bo Dash, plus $2,084 on JL Roc Lost A Soc, and another $2,855 on three futurity and two other open horses.

Rain Bo Dash is still going strong after winning the 3-year-old OKC Futurity Slot Race in 2024. Now 5, he's by Dash Ta Fame out of Pozzi Tonozzi's mare Steele Magnolias by Magnolia Bar Jet.

"She's a very good jockey and has won a lot of money," said Hall. "I don't really think about who I look up to or do any comparing. I just go in there and run my horse and have fun. I mean, really, we're just running around three trash cans here!"

Hall fulfilled one of her goals when she graced the cover of Barrel Horse News, but she has several more things she'd like to check off her list, including winning a million bucks at The American.

And she'd like to win a big futurity this year, either on her Bo-Hill-trained 4-year-old filly by Famous Bugs or her Brandi-Zimmer-trained 4-year-old by The Goodbye Lane. Hall said she just rides a colt the same way she rides Wally.

"Sometimes I can be a very cautious rider, and that doesn't really work out for me," she said. "I would like to produce some futurity horses someday. I have a palomino yearling colt by Ain't Seen Nothin Yet out of an Eddie Stinson mare with three white socks and a full blaze."

Pink Buckle and Ruby Buckle Announce 9 & Older Missed Nomination Opportunity for Aged Horses

The Pink Buckle and Ruby Buckle have announced a new 9 & Older (9&O) Missed Nomination option, creating an opportunity for aged horses to participate in the incentive programs beginning in 2026.

The 9 & Older option was developed for horses that were never nominated or whose nominations may have lapsed during the early years of the programs. Any horse that is nine years old or older in 2026 may be enrolled, including horses sired by any stallion that has participated in Pink Buckle or Ruby Buckle at any point in time, not just stallions currently enrolled.

"As both programs have grown, we've heard from many owners who have aged horses they'd love to see involved," said Kayla Jones. "This option allows us to create that opportunity while still honoring the structure that has supported the long-term success of Pink Buckle and Ruby Buckle."

Pink Buckle was established in 2018, with Ruby Buckle launching in 2020. Because of the timing of each program, all existing horses have had an opportunity to enroll at some point while their sire was actively enrolled. For that reason, the 9 & Older Missed Nomination option is available at this time for horses sired by any stallion that participated in either program during its history.

As the programs continue to mature, eligibility language will gradually narrow. In future years, eligibility will be limited to horses conceived or born during the year(s) a stallion was enrolled in the program, or prior. Once a stallion exits the program, eligibility opportunities for future progeny will no longer apply, and horses bred after a stallion's departure would not be eligible.

The 9 & Older option will be offered annually. For example, a horse that is eight years old in 2026 would become eligible for the 9 & Older option in 2027.

Jones also emphasized that missed nomination opportunities already exist through November 1 of a horse's four-year-old year, and that annual nomination remains the standard and preferred method of maintaining eligibility. The 9 & Older option is intended as a limited accommodation based on the age of the programs and is not meant to replace ongoing annual participation.

Eligible 9 & Older horses will have the opportunity to compete for significant payouts at Pink Buckle and Ruby Buckle events held across the country, including annual races in Oklahoma, Utah, and Georgia, as well as over 20 Double Down events nationwide.

Nominations for the 9 & Older Missed Nomination option are open for a one time fee of $4,000. Annual nomination into the program will be required after this to continue to stay in the program. A complete list of eligible stallions, nomination forms, and additional details can be found at www.therubybuckle.com and www.pinkbuckle.com.

Nominate Your Rodeo Hero

The colorful history and equally colorful legends of professional rodeo live on at the ProRodeo Hall of Fame and Museum of the American Cowboy in Colorado Springs, Colo. In 2017, WPRA members and equine animals were inducted for the first time.

To be considered for nomination a WPRA member must be a World Champion Barrel Racer® that is retired from full-time competition or a member who has made significant contributions toward the advancement of the WPRA, who are not otherwise eligible in the barrel racing category. Eligibility based on individual's contributions to the sport of barrel racing and the WPRA.

In addition, horses who have carried a WPRA member to a world championship can also be nominated. For more information visit: <https://wpra.com/prorodeo-hall-of-fame-nomination-form/>

Champions crowned at FWSSR ProRodeo by Susan Kanode for the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

The final performance of the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo (FWSSR) ProRodeo Tournament was filled with emotion, excitement and electricity.

Action kicked off in Dickies Arena with the bareback riding with Tilden Hooper who grew up at Carthage, Texas, taking the top spot. Hooper now lives near Weatherford, Texas, with his wife and three children. After scoring 92 points on Calgary Stampede's horse named Disco Party, Hooper found his family in the stands and there were high fives all around.

Hooper qualified for his 10th Wrangler National Finals Rodeo last December. With the $27,418 that he earned here, he could potentially qualify for rodeo's championships and make his 11th trip to compete in Las Vegas.

Another north Texas resident, Jill Tanner, won the breakaway roping with a 2.0 second run. She is the first member of her family to earn a title here since her father Jimmie Cooper won the all-around and tie-down roping titles in 1986. Tanner, who lives at Stephenville, added $27,308 to her season earnings.

Kassie Mowry added to her barrel racing resume significantly in Dickies Arena. Not only did she win the championship with a 16.04-second run; she set a new arena record. The previous record of 16.08 seconds was set first by Wenda Johnson and then matched earlier in this year's competition by Carlee Otero.

Mowry, who lives at Dublin, Texas, rode her great horse, Force The Goodbye "Jarvis" and earned $25,500 for all their efforts here. This is her first championship at Fort Worth and comes after she has won the world championship the past two years.

The brand-new Billy and Pam Minick All-Around Award saw Payden Bray of Stephenville, Texas, get the $10,000 bonus. Bray competed in the tie-down roping and team roping here earning $5,675 to earn the title.

Rusty Wright from Milford, Utah, earned the saddle bronc riding title after finishing second behind his father, Cody Wright in 2014. He tied for the championship with Australia's Darcy Radel. They each had 91-point rides. Wright's came aboard Calgary Stampede's horse named Dandy Delight and throughout the competition he earned $24,617. Radel was on J Bar J Pro Rodeo's Shady Jacket and he took home $21,935.

There was also a tie in the steer wrestling with 3.8-second runs. Bridger Anderson of Carrington, North Dakota and Trisyn Kalawaia from Hilo, Hawaii, were both in the winners' circle. Both athletes are products of Northwestern Oklahoma State University's rodeo program and were coached by Stockton Graves.

Two-time college champion Kincaid Henry was alone at the top of the tie-down roping leaderboard. Henry was aboard the same horse that he rode to those championships, Duals Crescent Boon, a 16-year-old roan gelding, known as Mario. They stopped the clock in 7.5 seconds to earn $27,517. The team roping went to Corben Culey from Lawton, Iowa, and Trent Vaught, from Mena, Arkansas. They earned a total of $26,400 here with the bulk of that coming on Saturday night with their 5.4 second run.

Trey Kimzey from Strong City, Oklahoma, was one of two successful bull riders. Kimzey scored 88.5 points on Rafter G Rodeo's bull named Hermes for the win and took home $27,400.

It was an emotional night for fans, contestants and staff as legendary announcer Bob Tallman was recognized for 50 years of commentary at the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo. While he is not retiring, his role here is changing and when next year's events run Jan. 15–Feb 6, 2027, his recognizable voice will still be heard around the grounds.

PRCA provides insight on judging program

The lights on rodeo have never been brighter and the expectation for the PRCA to provide the best for the best is higher than ever.

Providing the best for the membership includes resources for committees, payouts for athletes, support for contract personnel, and expectations of high-quality judging to rival the quality of our athletes. As broadcast quality of the National Finals Rodeo improves, the opportunity for criticism after real-time events and judgement calls is easier than ever before.

The Pro Officials are in a larger spotlight when they work the NFR and they are graded on their ability before they get to Las Vegas. All Pro Officials are evaluated by Ron Howard, the PRCA's Director of Pro Officials, annually.

And that's just one layer in the process. Pro Officials are also critiqued by committees, secretaries, timers, contestants and stock contractors. The evaluation includes their ability on a scale of 1 to 4 to be proficient in the following areas which include but are not limited to general items like being on-time, professional, listens, and being detail oriented. There are 10 criteria on the knowledge of rules in each roughstock, timed-events and women's events.

Howard compiles this information, in conjunction with his own individual appraisal, to arrive at a well-rounded overall evaluation of Pro Officials, who are on one-year contracts with ongoing performance reviews discussed semi-annually. Pro Officials, as part of their job, attend a seminar/workshop annually and they also do professional development three times a year, including right before the National Finals Rodeo.

Video review was utilized by the PRCA at the 2024 NFR at the Thomas & Mack Center in Las Vegas for the first time.

"As access to technology increased, it was vital that we adapted to provide a fair opportunity for competition," said Steve Knowles, PRCA's Chief Operating Officer. "Including embracing video review when possible."

The initial implementation of video review included six specific calls: competing before breaking the plane of the barrier, crossfire, livestock infraction, mark out, barrier malfunction, and no-nod in all events.

After a successful first year in practice, the review system expanded in 2025 to provide for two additional areas of review: buck off times and freehand infraction.

Through the 10 rounds of competition at the 2025 NFR, there were 48 infractions by PRCA judges that were subject to automatic review by officials. Nine calls were overturned in a timely manner and subsequently announced in the arena.

"With twelve independent cameras and two dedicated video officials, the review process is important to our rodeo and fairness of competition. When a judge makes a call in the arena, we work diligently to confirm or overturn the call in a timely manner," Howard said.

Each call during the NFR is subject to three prongs of decision. The first step begins as a subjective opinion of an official in position to make a call determines there is an infraction.

Immediately, the review process begins and there must be clear and obvious video evidence to overturn a call in the arena. The absence of this video mandates the original official call stands. Lastly, there is a time constraint for each call, as NFR ground rules are clear in indicating that when the next contestant begins to compete, all calls from an official stand.

The ride to draw the most eyes and opinions from the 2025 NFR occurred during performance six when Stetson Wright was called for a missed mark out. During this incident, a flag was thrown for a missed mark out on the right side and review was immediately initiated. During the compressed review, it was determined that the video evidence was not immediately clear and obvious to overturn the original call before the next contestant competed.

Professional sports are an imperfect marriage of human emotion, skill, and split-second decision making from athletes and officials. When removing the constraint of time, the video available shows the call to be questionable. The PRCA has high expectations from Pro Officials, and each call and subsequent video review are an opportunity to continue to improve. These expectations justifiably meet the raised expectations and commitment of the athletes competing every day.

Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo Awards Nearly $70,000 at Texas High School Shootout Rodeo by Johna Cravens for the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

High school students from across Texas gathered on the final day of the 2026 Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo to compete in historic Will Rogers Coliseum for nearly $70,000 in scholarships and prize money.

The Texas High School Rodeo Shootout, sponsored by Ag Trust Farm Credit, featured 2025 champions from the ten Texas High School Rodeo Association regions and the North Texas High School Rodeo Association.

A few non-Texans were among the winners as students from southern Oklahoma, eastern New Mexico and western Louisiana had chosen to take advantage of the NHSRA's rule to designate their high school rodeo competition to be in a neighboring state.

Each event winner earned a $3,000 scholarship and a trophy buckle from the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo as well as $1,100 in prize money.

Kash Loyd from Cleburne, the 2024 National High School Rodeo Association bareback riding champion, continued his winning ways. Lloyd, who has won the state championship in his event the past two seasons, took first with a score of 75 points.

Another reigning state champion, Ethan Cart of Hamshire took first in saddle bronc riding with a 74-point effort and a perfect standing dismount.

Rounding out the rough stock events, 2025 state champion Avontis Williams of Terrell and Colton Phillips of Boyd were the only two successful bull riders. In the final competition of the day, sponsored by Mattress Firm, they each scored 75 and took home $1,675 prize money.

Devon Eakin of Meridian was all smiles after winning the tie-down roping by nearly two full seconds with a time of 9.30 seconds. Collier Cowdery of Millsap was second with 11.29. Cowdry came back to win his own $3,000 scholarship by taking first in steer wrestling with a 5.26-second run.

The fastest event winner of the day was breakaway roping champion Rylie Edens of Hillsboro with a time of 2.17 seconds. Edens is an all-around high school athlete who competes in volleyball, basketball and track along with rodeo.

Alli Autrey of Abilene, a former champion at the World Champion Junior Rodeo, saved the fastest run for last in goat tying. Her 6.34-second run was the only time under seven seconds.

Rance Winters of Lipan and Cade Sandstrom of Stephenville caught first place in team roping with a time of 5.23 seconds,

In the barrel racing, sponsored by R. Watson Boots, and the pole bending, championships came down to hundredths of a second. Brylen Beicker of Seguin edged Skylar Nicholas of Rockdale by 15 hundredths of a second for first place. Beicker's time was 16.706 seconds. Grand Prairie's Solvei Jewel Modkins finished first in pole bending with a time of 20.630, just 27 hundredths of a second ahead of Madisonville's Kinley Scott.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

"Classic" by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

We aren't too far away from January 1. Are there any remnants of a New Year's resolution out there? I don't know if any stats have ever been compiled on it, but I bet weight loss may be the number one thing that people put down to change in the New Year!

How can any normal human being begin a weight loss program with New Year's parties, the Super Bowl, Valentine's Day, etc? It's just so unfair! And then there's the guilt and condemnation when we fail, right? HELP HAS ARRIVED!

Pastor Mike said the other day that I Peter 5:7 is our instant weight loss scripture! It instructs us to roll our care over on to God, for He cares for us!

In the time we are living in, that can relieve us of a whole lot of weight. IF we do what He says. Matthew 11:30 gives us further instruction and help when He tells us that His yoke is easy and His burden is light.

As we look around at world events, let's give it all to Him and rest easy. It will take the pressure off us. You're welcome!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
