Make Room Panties; I R A Grand Victory wins another $100,000

By Julie Mankin

In December, when Mark Bugni won the BFA SuperStakes in Oklahoma City, he said, "There's nothing like getting a $100,000 check." On Feb. 16, he proved there's nothing like getting another. At the LG Pro Classic Invitational Slot Race in Kinder, La., riding the same filly – Bunt Kitchens' 4-year-old IRA Grand Victory – Bugni became the second jockey in history to ride one horse to two $100,000 paychecks in the same season.

In 2010, the feat had been accomplished by Famous Silk Panties, who won the same two slot races with Lance Graves at the reins. The Dash 'Ta Fame filly out of a Bully Bullion mare went on to break the futurity earnings record of $221,145 held then by another filly – Sissy's Little Coin.

"It's absolutely unbelievable," said Bugni. "It's one of those situations where you know in the back of your mind you're the only one who can match what Lance did with Famous Silk Panties. It feels like, statistically, the odds are really not in your favor. But when you go in and come out with the win, you can't even describe it. It's surreal to even imagine it could happen twice. I had a lot of tears in my eyes that night."

Incidentally, Graves was the first person to bombard Bugni with congratulations outside the arena.

Bugni actually qualified three horses for the slot finals, running first out on Danny Ray's CEO Kinda Beautiful; 18th on IRA Grand Victory and 24th on Bridget Thomas' BT Buddy Stimson. He tipped a barrel on the first run to place sixth, clocked a 13.9-second time with Ira, and placed sixth (one hole out of the money) on the last horse.

"It was a power-packed group of horses," said Bugni of the race in which just two-tenths of a second separated first through fifth. "More than any I've seen in a futurity season. The last horse out had won a round of the BFA Juvenile Futurity and easily could have beat me, so I was not about to let up on the throttle at all."

When the excited Saturday-night crowd distracted that last horse, Bugni realized another huge win for himself, Kitchens and slot owner Danny Ray. Throughout the weekend, Kitchens had been quiet, staying away from the barn and out of Bugni's way; only texting a couple of times to see how the mare was doing.

"I don't know what was going on in his mind, but he's a real strong rancher-West-Texas kind of guy who doesn't break down," Bugni said. "To see some tears in the eyes of a guy like that was pretty cool."

Two different angles of Bugni's run are available to watch on YouTube, and together they depict what he calls "kind of a crappy run."

The filly brushed the first barrel on her way out of it, then leaned into second and especially into third, where she also stumbled and took an odd lunge that probably cost her a couple of tenths.

"I was amateurishly looking back to see if the first barrel was up instead of driving her to second, but she found that barrel just like she's supposed to," Bugni said. "Then into third I could feel her cutting my pocket off, but I knew if I moved her over it would cost her too much time. I just leaned up and hoped she'd move that shoulder enough and I got really lucky to have her do that."

As an experienced slot racer, Bugni said he's realized there's a big difference between running for an average title at a futurity and gunning for $100,000. You definitely don't safety up.

"It just depends on whose luck is right that night and who absolutely goes for it," he said. "All but eight or nine of those horses were rock solid – they looked like rodeo horses. And those jockeys and trainers are the best in the world; they know what it takes to win. I knew I needed to make a rodeo run; not a futurity run. No holding back."

WPRA World Finals Finds New Home

The Women's Professional Rodeo Association's Board of Directors is pleased to announce the new home for the WPRA World Finals will be in Waco, Texas, at the Extraco Events Center. The agreement between the WPRA and the Extraco Events Center is for two years.

"We are excited to bring the WPRA World Finals to Waco and this great facility," said WPRA President Jimmie Munroe. "The World Finals highlights our entire Association at the highest level this sport has to offer and we feel this will be a great fit to continue the growth we experienced while in Lincoln."

The dates for the 2013 event will be October 23-27 and the 2014 tentative dates will be October 22-26. Many of the WPRA members will be familiar with this great facility as it serves as the home for the Heart O' Texas Fair & Rodeo, the All-American ProRodeo Finals and the Ram Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo. The facility features two indoor arenas – the Extraco Coliseum, known as one of the largest indoor arenas in the State of Texas, and the Extraco Show Pavilion. In addition to the great arenas the facility boasts 700 dirt stalls, 250 RV spaces, a large exhibitor area and plenty of hotel accommodations in the area.

"We are thrilled to bring the WPRA Finals to Waco," said Wes Allison, President/CEO of the Extraco Events Center. "This event is the best of the best in women's professional rodeo and will be a great event to attend as well as having a positive economic impact on McLennan County."

The WPRA World Finals, which crowns world champions in the roping divisions – breakaway, team roping (heading and heeling) and tie-down roping, the futurity and derby division and the WPRA Junior barrel racing division, has called the Lancaster Event Center in Lincoln, Neb., home for the past three years. In addition to the aforementioned world title competitions, there is also plenty of barrel racing action with special events like a permit-only race and a cardholder race to name a few.

For more information on the WPRA visit www.wpra.com and for information on the Extraco Events Center visit www.ExtracoEventsCenter.com.

Every Vote Counts! WPRA Election Deadline Nears

The 2013 WPRA Nomination process is now completed. The WPRA Auditor has tallied the nominations and the following members have agreed to have their names listed on the 2013 WPRA Election ballot.

Ballots will be mailed out to all eligible 2013 adult card holders on or before February 10, 2013. Members must return their completed ballot to the WPRA Auditor no later than midnight on February 28, 2013.

Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo

The world's largest livestock show and rodeo opens Monday, Feb. 25, and runs through Sunday, March 17.

The 2013 RodeoHouston® BP Super Series, Feb. 25 – March 8, and March 10 – 16, showcases the finest rodeo athletes in a tournament-style format. A winner is presented every night in front of crowds averaging 64,000 fans at each of the Rodeo performances. The top cowboys and cowgirls in all of rodeo have the opportunity to compete for a purse totaling more than $1.6 million.

The RodeoHouston Super Shootout: North America's Champions, presented by Crown Royal, is scheduled for Saturday, March 9. This one-day rodeo features champion athletes from 10 of the top U.S. and Canadian rodeos competing in RodeoHouston fan-favorite events: bareback riding, barrel racing, bull riding and saddle bronc riding. With a total purse of $200,000, this event is the richest one-day rodeo in the world.

The overall purse and additional earnings at RodeoHouston total more than $2.04 million for 2013.

Leading up to RodeoHouston, FOX Sports Southwest will televise a 30-minute preview show and a "Meet the Cowboys" special profiling the athletes who will compete at RodeoHouston.

FOX Sports Southwest will provide live television coverage of the RodeoHouston Super Shootout and the BP Super Series Semifinals, Wild Card, and Championship rounds. A 15-minute nightly recap show also will be televised on FOX Sports Southwest following the network's live event programming on the five live event nights. Each night's rodeo competition will be streamed live on foxsports-southwest.com.

Free Mobile App

The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo has launched a brand new, free mobile application in partnership with Nashville, Tenn.-based company Aloopma for 2013. The app features a meet-the-athletes section, as well as live updates of the athletes' scores, so fans can follow their favorite cowboy or cowgirl to the Championship Round. For tickets and more information, visit www.rodeo-houston.com.

Kitchens and Ray had together put up the $5,000 fee, which they got back out of the winnings. Then they split 75 percent and Bugni kept the other 25 percent. While Bugni typically expects a third each to go to jockey, horse owner and slot owner, this time he cut a deal because Ira was already fully started by Kitchens. But the run was about more than money.

"When you're a $100,000 winner in December, a lot of things get said about the horse," said Bugni. "The biggest thing they say is that it was a fluke; it was just her lucky night and you'll never see it again. So when she came in and won that second $100,000 on top of her great qualifying run, she proved she absolutely deserves to win."

And after two six-figure victories as a jockey and trainer, Bugni can't ignore the effect on his business, either.

"We had a waiting list to get colts in already, but this puts you in a different light in terms of how people look at you in this industry," he said. "It's a gamble to put up $5,000 in entry fees, and that person wants to know he's put his horse in the hands of someone who's real serious about it and capable of getting it done."

And Bugni's nowhere near done with Ira. She'll run next at the Diamonds and Dirt, then the BBR Finals and Fort Smith. Bugni knows exactly what each race pays the winner, and has his eye on Panties' season earnings record of roughly $237,000.

"It's exciting to chase the high-money record on a colt," he said. "I have about $33,000 to chase after now, so that keeps it fun. We'll take it one barrel race at a time, but that's our ultimate goal."

Ira has the pedigree to keep it up. Her paternal grandsire, Bugged With Honor, was not only a Fort Smith Futurity finalist and Speed-horse champion, but is also a half-brother to the sire of Brittany Pozzi's world champion Duke (Yeah Hes Firen) through their dam Whitchwitch S Witch – a half-thoroughbred daughter of Bugs Alive In 75.

On the bottom, Ira's dam, Pure Victory Dash, was the 2008 BFA Futurity champion herself and last fall nearly sent owner Sydni Blanchard to the 2012 NFR.

"This filly has that same grit as her mother; that rodeo personality where if the conditions are tough, she just gets tougher," said Bugni. "And her sire, CEO, put just enough calmness and steadiness in her personality that she has no issues in the alley. She's easy to warm up and respectful at the gate. She has a sassy, crabby personality, but a very loving side, as well."

One would have to say she loves a grand victory. Stay tuned for more from this pair as the spring season rolls on through Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Latricia Duke & Happy To Run Em roll through LG BFA Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Veteran futurity trainer and rider Latricia Duke and her home-bred mare Happy To Run Em ("Kylee") topped the $10,000-added LG Pro Classic BFA Futurity, held Feb. 12-17 at the Coushatta Casino in Kinder, La. For the victory, Duke and Kylee collected $5,892 to add to their $21,000 won for finishing third in the LG Pro Classic Slot Futurity.

"She placed every time I ran her down the alley," said Duke, who is the resident trainer at Schiller Ranch in Millican, Texas. "She's really honest. She runs straight lines and lets you put her where you want her."

Duke and Kylee kicked off their weekend in Kinder, placing in the qualifying round of the LG Pro Classic Slot Futurity, which Duke won last year on Schiller Ranch's Insane For Fame.

"She had a good first barrel and then I got a little safe at the second and third," said Duke. The top 25 qualified for the $100,000 Championship with the remaining horses running in the Consolation. "I just didn't want to tip a barrel in the qualifier."

Their best run came in the first go of the futurity the next day.

"The first round of the futurity was her fastest run," said Duke, who rides for K9s4Cops, a nonprofit that raises money to buy highly-trained dogs for police departments. "She ran a (13.7). She had a really nice run that time, just really smooth. She just went in there and did her job.

"The Championship Round, she had the best first barrel that she had all week and smoked their third. She never could get her butt in the ground at the second. She just kind of run a circle around it, but it was still okay.

"The second go of the futurity, I knew some things had happened that left the average open. So, I just wanted to get around them and be smooth. She let me handle her and keep her out there and keep her smooth."

They also picked up $1,620 in Future Fortunes bonus money for their futurity finish.

Making the win extra special was the presence of her son Bravid, who had flown in for the weekend from Culver Military Academy where he attends on a Jud Little Scholarship.

"We had our championship helper there," laughed Duke. "He helped us get horses ready and was in the win picture. That was really special to me."

Duke and her husband, J.O., raised Kylee, a 4-year-old palomino daughter of Firewaterontherocks ("Happy") out of Lady Rompin, by Tiny Tornado Too.

expecting two more full siblings to Kylee this spring.

"We actually bought that Tiny Tornado Too mare through the Stephenville horse sale for $400," said Duke.

The first foal Lady Rompin, 19, produced was Aced My Bully, a daughter of Bully Bowlan Bug that Jolene Montgomery rode to the BFA World Championship for Jud Little. Unfortunately, reproductive difficulties and bad luck with the living foals prevented Lady Rompin from having other performers between Aced My Bully and Kylee. Duke does have a 2-year-old by Shawne Bug Leo and a yearling by Firewaterontherocks out of the mare.

As for Kylee, she'll have a little break until Diamonds & Dirt mid-March.

"I'll probably try to find a jackpot between now and then to give her a non-pressure run somewhere and then we'll have Diamonds & Dirt," noted Duke.

Kylee, who belongs to Duke and Schiller Ranch, will probably replace her mother in the broodmare band.

"There's not a lot of Tiny Tornado Too's out there," said Duke, "and I don't want to lose those genetics. That's an old pedigree and it's hard to find. We'll probably just keep her and pull embryos out of her when she's done."

Monroe & Hottest Chickin Town earn second title in Sale Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Nicole (Brown) Monroe and the Hottest Chickin Town ("Hottie") picked up their second straight futurity title, winning the $20,000 LG Pro Classic Closed Sale Futurity. The event was only open to horses that went through the LG Pro Classic Sale.

Monroe, Gay, Ga., and Hottie collected $5,131 on behalf of the mare's owners Casey and Margo Crowther for winning the Close Sale Futurity and finished 15th in the BFA Futurity for an additional $601.

"She really didn't have the best runs, but she's fastest enough to make up the difference," laughed Monroe, who chose to make just two runs and carry-over her times between the sale and BFA futurities. "She ran two 14.1s which wasn't terrible by any means. She never really stuck her foot and came round like I know she's capable of doing."

Hottie, a 4-year-old brown mare by Identity Theft out of Hottesticketintown, by Jody O Toole, was consigned to the 2012 LG Pro Classic Sale by Trey Honeycutt and repurchased for $6,000. Monroe purchased the mare for her clients after the sale.

This was the second futurity victory for Monroe and Hottie. They won the East Coast Classic Futurity, held the end of January in Clemson, S.C. This week they return to Unadilla, Ga., for the Southeastern Arena Futurity. As a 3-year-old, Hottie won the reserve championship at the Kindergarten Futurity held in the same arena.

RODEO NOTES: In Jackson, MS, Taylor Jacob and her speedy buckskin, Honor Thy Frenchman, continued their assault on the winter rodeos. With their win, they added another $6,286 to their earning. The pair then took off for the Florida rodeos, winning 6th at Kissimmee for another $1,017 and won 3rd at Okeechobee for a $1,395 check. All that winning over the last two weeks has netted her $23,495 and moved this team to #2 in the WPR World Standings. They are right behind the other hot team of the winter, Jane Melby and First Down Perk, who kept winning at San Antonio in Bracket 5. Their earnings for the year are $30,183.

Fallon Taylor and her great little mare, Flos Heiress, have also had a great winter and currently sit #3 in the World with earnings of $23,690. Both San Antonio and San Angelo come to a close over the weekend, so by next week we could be looking at totally different World Standings! Stay tuned.

*CORRECTION

San Antonio Bracket System:

There are five total brackets, so 20 barrel racers will advance to the Semi-Finals. There are four semi-finals performances. Each contestant will compete in either semi-finals 1 & 2 or 3 & 4. The contestants carry their money throughout the entire rodeo. The top five from each of the semi-finals qualify for the finals with the fast time winning $12,445. The finals pays four places. Semi-finals pay the same as the rounds. The champion is based on total money won.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

It was Valentine's Day last week.....the "love" day! And I was thinking about how Jesus loves us UNCONDITIONALLY. He loves us when we are doing good, He loves us when we are neutral and He loves us when we are just plain mean and sinnin'! He loves us BEFORE He is our Lord and He loves us WHEN we ask Him to be our Lord. I asked myself if I love like that, you know, that "NO MATTER WHAT" kinda love.....and I had to honestly say.....sometimes!

I love Mike very much! We have been married for 39 years. But you and I both know that, people being different, there are times when we just don't see eye to eye. Mike doesn't get to go barrel racing with me very often. (And he really doesn't want to!!!!) When he does it's very challenging. We can't agree on when to fuel up.... where to park the trailer....how to water the horses....how much time I need to warm up...how fast I'm going to run (He tells me to quit training and go fast!). I honestly can't think of anything that we do agree on....especially since I think I'm the boss of the horse trips! LOL!

But the truth is....drum roll here....I am not always right! There. I admitted it. It's in print. My viewpoint is very important to ME. OTHER people can take it or leave it, though. So, if I have a tendency to think I'm right all the time, it probably leaks over into thinking I know more than Jesus. That's NOT good! I need to be like Him, loving others no matter what and not crabby when we don't agree.

So, what's the good news here? It is this. When I seek Him in everything, I have the confidence that....Jesus took me out of the world....now...with His help...He'll get the world out of me....and I need that! God bless you!
