Regal Wins for Adios Pantalones and Tricia Aldridge at Royal Crown Buckeye

By Tanya Randall

Adios Pantalones, the flashy 4-year-old stallion owned and ridden by Tricia Aldridge, made short work of the standard pattern at the Buckeye Equestrian Center in Arizona to win the $75,000-added Royal Crown Futurity and $10,000-added South Valley Equine Open Futurity, held February 7-18.

Aldridge and Adios claimed $24,569 for the Royal Crown victory and $7,522 for sweeping the Open. Combined with open carryovers and outside incentive earnings, their Arizona haul was more than $44,000.

"He's definitely one in a million," said Aldridge, Sanger, Texas. "I definitely have a special bond with that colt and that just makes it even better. I always say he's a unicorn, but his horn fell off somewhere!"

Aldridge first saw Adios on Facebook as a weanling when his breeder Leslie Bailey posted him for sale.

"Something just kept bringing me back to him," she said. "I can't tell you what it was, but I knew that I needed that horse."

He was one of three by 6.8 million dollar barrel sire Tres Seis, out of French Bar Belle, by Frenchmans Guy. French Bar Belle was the dam of multiple aged event finalist Dashing French Belle, who also won the Royal Crown Derby with Jordynn Knight, as well as other top performers such as Mended Heart, Cabernet Cowboy and Fearless Fame to name a few.

"I'd seen some of the siblings out of that mare and they were really nice. I was impressed with what that mare had thrown, and I love the Tres Seis line, so I figured that would be the cross that was really cool to have. It all kind of came together."

Aldridge actually had a Tres Seis colt of her own on the ground and decided to sell it and buy Adios. The other colt, Seismic, is currently doing well with Cody Bauserman.

When she brought Adios home, Aldridge turned the colt out with her mares, knowing they'd teach the colt respect.

"He kind of had to sink or swim at my house," she said. "I try to let them be horses, so we don't really handle them much until they're ready to go get broke."

Aldridge begged colt starter Rodney Yost to take Adios. Yost had started Aldridge's first six-figure futurity winner Three Times The Fury.

"Rodney had him for four or five months," Aldridge said. "He put a fantastic start on him. I think he's a really big part of this too. He's able to put all those buttons on those colts without them losing their confidence."

Aldridge had asked Yost for his opinion on leaving Adios a stallion.

"He told me he definitely wouldn't geld him," she chuckled. "I thought that was a pretty good compliment from a colt starter because I'm pretty sure the colt starters want to geld everything!"

The only setback they faced in the training barrel training process was waiting for Adios to recover from injury. He was injured in August of his second year while stabled at a rehabilitation facility.

"I was trying to find a safe place to leave him when I was on the road with the other horses," Aldridge explained. "Because that didn't work out very well, he ended up tagging along with me last year. He was always easy to take and never really caused any problems. He got to go on the road a lot more than most of them do to just hang out and see the sights. I feel like that helped him out a lot."

She was quick to point out that while Adios had a lot of exposure, he didn't necessarily have a lot of training.

"Everyone says it must have been all the time and training you have him to make him come out good, but I probably have the least amount of training in him because he was always such a natural. He always just got it and always did the right thing. He was always a confident colt."

Adios made his debut with a reserve finish at the BFA Super Stakes and he concluded his third year with his first futurity championship at the Jingle Bell Classic in Perry, Georgia. He's been a finalist at every event since including the Golden Buckle, Kinder Cup, Texarkana Shootout. He was the reserve champion at the Lone Star Shootout as well.

"He's like a machine!" she said. "He makes the same pass every time! I'm just trying to stay out of his way!"

Coming into the Royal Crown, Aldridge and Adios did face some challenges. At Kinder, he tripped and nearly went down at the second barrel in the second round of the Kinder Cup. Aldridge scrambled to get the colt home to rest and be looked over before heading to Buckeye. Then before the first round, Aldridge suspected Adios bumped his hind leg in the stall leaving it swollen.

"I'm having a panic attack," she recalled. "My poor vet, Don Lee, got all the videos. Don thought he would be fine to run in the first round, and we were going to sweat his leg after."

She was also worried about how Adios would handle the larger pattern because she'd never asked him to run that long before.

"He went in there and did what he always does, like the unicorn that he is," she said of their round winning 17.117. "I was super proud of him because I haven't run on a pattern that big and it's so far to the first barrel. It's not that I have any doubt in him, but you never know when you send them in there on that kind of setup. I don't know why I was worried about anything. He worked the exact same as he always does."

They were 16.960 on their second run, good enough for second in the Royal Crown and first in the Open.

Aldridge said she concentrated on running her own race.

"I try not to listen to any of the times," she explained. "I don't want to know what's winning it. I just listen to my music and try to focus on getting him warmed up. I knew I had done my homework. I knew that he was feeling good."

Aldridge also knew that Adios was comfortable with the footing after the first round.

"The first round I feel like he has to feel the ground a little bit," she said. "I had to leg lift in the first round, but usually after that he knows where his feet are. He's very self-aware. He always knows where he is around a barrel. He always makes it around a barrel. I might not! He hasn't caught any barrels yet, but I have to be on point with my leg lifts in the first round."

Adios currently has $175,000 in career earnings. Aldridge is hoping to get him across the $300,000 mark.

"Previously, the highest money-earning stallion is RR Mistakelly with $290,000," she explained. "I would like to have the highest money-earning stallion. I know that he can do it. He's sound and he's solid. It's easy for him and he loves his job. I hope my horse gets the recognition. I think that horse is capable."

They're entered in the upcoming Elite and Patriot futurities, but Aldridge isn't sure if she'll run Adios in both.

"It's really tough when you have a colt doing good," she said, "because you're like, 'Does he need a break? Does he need to be home?' You try to be strategic about where you go and how much money you can win, get the most bang for your buck for your horse. I don't run him at any jackpots, so I try to make sure my runs count for something."

Jordynn Knight had her biggest win to date at the Royal Crown Race held in Buckeye, AZ at the South Buckeye Equestrian Center on February 15-18. Knight and her horse, Dashing French Belle, better known as Barbie, stopped the clock in Round 1 of the Royal Crown Derby in 17.224 seconds, tying for 10th place. In Round 2, the duo blazed through the pattern, running a 16.910 to win the round, earning $6,004. $4,879 was awarded to the rider, $675 to the stallion owner, and $450 to the breeder. The duo found themselves on top of a tough field of 123 derby competitors with an average time of 34.134 on two runs. Knight won $10,008 for the win. $8,132 was awarded to Knight, $1,126 to the stallion owner, and $750 to the breeder.

The Royal Crown offers numerous opportunities for competitors to win money. Knight rolled her Royal Crown Derby time to the SVE Open Derby, where she won another $1,960 in Round 2. The duo also won the SVE Open Derby average for $3,244. Competitors had the option to roll their times to the Open races as well. Knight pocketed another $2,096 for winning 3rd in the Sunday Open and $2,744 for placing 3rd in the High Stakes. This team placed in both the Youth and the Royal Crown Youth on Sunday as well, adding another $1,170 to their winnings. The duo had a spectacular weekend, winning a total of $29,173 from the Royal Crown alone! Barbie and Knight also won $900 from Top Shelf Breeders. The team was also eligible for The Diamond Classic, Tomorrow's Legends and Future Fortunes pending results.

Barbie is a 6-year-old mare by Dash Ta Fame. She is out of French Bar Belle, making her a maternal sibling to the Royal Crown Futurity Champion, Adios Pantalones. Brad and Karly Knight bought Barbie in June last summer from Beth Laine. Leslie Bailey is the breeder. The mare was trained and futurityed by Taylor Hildreth, winning around $100,000.

Knight shared, "Barbie is so honest and easy to run. You have to stay two-handed on first, but then on the other two, you can do whatever you want and she is going to work. She is super honest and fun. I would say she is more on the ratey side, she will not run by a barrel, but she doesn't try to hit them either." Horses of this caliber normally have unique personalities. "She is usually very sweet. She is laid back on the ground and a little more sensitive when you ride her. She always tries to do what is right. You can tell when she thinks she is doing something wrong."

Buckeye is a large standard pattern. It is different than most indoor or covered arenas that futurity and derby horses compete at this time of year. "I have been staying in Arizona this winter. We ran a 16.8 in there during the MVP Derby this year. She was Reserve Champion in both the MVP and Greg Olson Derby's in that same arena," shared Knight. The Royal Crown was a great event to take the win. "We didn't win any money in the first round, but she worked great in the second round. I was actually shocked when I heard I was winning the average since we were tenth in the first go-round."

"I love the Buckeye arena. The changes that they have made on the facility makes it fun to compete at. I have always had good luck there," Knight said. "The Royal Crown did a really good job putting the race on. They add a lot of money making it an amazing event. We took advantage of the free derby exhibition and I got in there to show her the banners. We live in Wittman, Arizona in the winter, so we are only an hour away. It helped Barbie that she was able to rest in her own pen each night. The Royal Crown was run well and a great experience. I like how they have centrally located races and allow more stallions to participate in the program."

Arena Record for Emily Beisel & Ivory On Fire at Dixie National in Jackson

By Tanya Randall

Arena records were falling at the $10,000-added Dixie National Rodeo, held February 9-11 and 13-17 in Jackson, Mississippi. Five-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier Emily Beisel and her talented mare Ivory On Fire (Liza) edged WPRA World Standings leader Sara Winkelman and her horse Fairway Ta Fame, 13.45 to 13.49 for the $6,144 victory.

"I'm really proud of Liza," Beisel said of the 8-year-old mare she purchased from her good friend Shelby Ridling. "I'm thankful for my relationship with Shelby and her encouragement. She's always very positive. Vickie Adams, who raised Liza, was one of the first people to text me that night. It's so awesome that she has such a great team that believes in her and has always believed in her. It's definitely fun to be the person to take her. I know they call my name, but it's all about Liza."

Adams, a former NFR qualifier and pioneering barrel horse breeder, raised Liza, by Ivory James, out of her mare Lil Miss Firewater, by Adam's legendary Fire Water Flit. Lil Miss Firewater, a full sister to National Finals Rodeo sire Chasin Firewater, is also the dam of 2023 BFA Super Stakes Champion TJR Malibu Eddie. Ridling purchased Liza as a yearling from Adams and trained the mare. In 2022, she asked Beisel to run the mare for her at the Ruby Buckle in Guthrie, Oklahoma. Liza ended up joining Beisel's string that year but saw very limited action.

"I just piddled with her, doing the circuit rodeo thing," Beisel recalled. "We had some trial and error. There were things that Liza and I had to learn about each other, and she's a little more opinionated, being a female."

After almost a year of jackpots and occasional circuit rodeos, Liza got tested by fire last fall when she and Beisel showed out at the Playoff rodeos in Puyallup and Sioux Falls. Since winning the Governor's Cup, Liza has been Beisel's biggest money winner through the 2023 National Finals Rodeo and early 2024 season.

Beisel and Liza were just out of check at Odessa. She turned out of the National Western in Denver due to the weather. They picked up checks at Fort Worth and were making the semifinals at San Antonio before heading home for a brief rest.

"I feel like Liza does better from home," she said. "Even if I can just get home for a day or two, it's really helpful to her. I felt it was worth it to drive back home."

With Jackson won out of slack the past three years, Beisel was wondering if it was even worth making the trip to run in a performance.

"When I watched Katie (Jo Halbert and Miz Milania) run a 13.60 in an afternoon perf at the beginning, I thought no one was touching her. When Sara (Winkelman) was able to put a full tenth on Katie and Milania in slack, I definitely questioned whether we could clock fast enough to make the 1,100 mile trip worthwhile. When putting miles on my horse, I want to make sure she has a great chance to win and not just pull a bottom check."

As she and her hauling partners for the trip—Ivy Hurst and Sadie Walover-Troyer were debating, Hurst's husband Clay had some sage advice.

"Clay told us not to beat ourselves before we pulled out of the driveway, which was great advice," Beisel noted.

What ultimately swayed her was she finally had a lefty, which she thought would be advantageous in that setup.

"The way the alley is set up, the pattern is offset from the center of the pen," she explained. "It's a tick to the left. I thought it would be beneficial to go left there and I would say after the outcome that it probably was!"

Beisel has the San Antonio Semifinals and the Fiesta de los Va-

"I'm up Thursday in Tucson," she noted. "I'll run Liza Friday in San Antonio, so one of the boys will go to Tucson. I'm not sure if Chongo (Namgis D 33) or Pipewrench (Namgis D 35) will go."

Afterwards, she'll have a little break until The American on March 9.

Beisel is still working part time as a dental hygienist at Stephens Family Dentistry.

"If I'm a home, I'm in there at least once a week," she said. "I still work plenty. I'm home all week next week, so I will be in there a lot."

Beisel is also taking the time to get her oldest homebred, Vanilla Gorilla ("Trigger") ready for her rodeo string. The 8-year-old Dash Ta Fame gelding, out of Quijet, a full sister to WPRA World Champion Rare Dillion, by Firecracker Fire, will take Biddin On Fame's spot in her trailer. "Beau" is now winning rodeo checks with Grace Gardiner.

"It's the same thing as always," she chuckled. "I just dabble with them in the circuit, and then they see them on the Cowboy Channel and wonder what new horse is this? I've only had him for three years!

"I'm slow, and I know I'm slow, but part of what works about being so slow is I never have to call on them until they're ready.

Olsen & Any Guy Of Mine Flourish in Florida

After placing in the 2nd Round of Bracket 2 of San Antonio last week, Jamie Olsen, the nurse practitioner and mother of two, caught fire at the Florida rodeos this week! She won the Kissimmee, FL and Okeechobee, FL prorodeos and pulled in $8,429. The 11 yr old Frenchmans Guy daughter, Any Guy Of Mine & Olsen started picking up checks together last summer and now moving into 2024 this team is ready to make a name for themselves over the winter run and push into the Top 15. Olsen's team of horses also includes prorodeo winners Royal Quik Frencher & Miss Famous Beduino; so she is fully ready to make a push for the 2024 NFR. We caught up with her to get a little more information about her and her horses so you know more about her as you see Jamie Olsen on the leaderboards at prorodeos for the rest of 2024!

BRR: Can you walk us through your two winning runs from Kissimmee & Okeechobee?

Olsen: My goal at both rodeos was to just keep my horse quiet and to make a smooth run. She's the type of horse that tries very hard and I can get a little intense myself, so if we can slow things down and make it smooth, it ends up being faster.

In Kissimmee, the pattern wasn't set center to the alley. Not a big deal, just something to consider. I think that affected a lot of barrel racers. Melanie Self messaged me the night before because she had watched the performance and brought it to my attention that a lot of girls hit the first barrel. That told me I needed to check it out before my run. So, when I ran, my goal for my approach to the first was to stay as far left in the alley as possible.

BRR: I know you are originally from South Dakota and now live in Texas, tell us about running in Florida over the weekend. How was it similar and different than running closer to home?

Olsen: Both rodeos were great rodeos. The ground was great at both. They had great accommodations for the contestants with stalls available or the option to set up pens near your trailer. I chose to use the stalls because they had nice natural sand floors that were comfortable for the horses and they were cool in the afternoon. The humidity was somewhat high, but not uncomfortable. Okeechobee had a kids playground near and lizards for my son, Eli to chase around. He loved that! He even said "this is my favorite rodeo."

Some of the differences to South Dakota would be the amount of traffic and toll roads, livestock checkpoints were a big learning curve for me, conveniences were readily available such as nice restaurants and seafood, and there was fresh fruit available at the rodeo concessions.

Okeechobee was more set in a rural area, where you could tell ranching and farming takes place. It was also on an Indian reservation and had alligator wrestling competitions. Since I ran in slack, I didn't get to experience that. I would've loved to take part in watching though! I know some of the barrel racers were able to hold alligators and took pictures with them. I enjoy experiencing different cultures.

BRR: I know you started placing on Any Guy Of Mine last year and it just seems like your partnership gets better and better. What has been the keys to that?

Olsen: I think some of the keys to my success with Amy are building a trusting relationship with her, helping her have confidence, and keeping her comfortable. I've used a lot of what my coach, Kelly Conrado, has taught me about showing her with slow work what I expect, and then allowing her to do her job. She was successful as a futurity horse with her trainer, Samantha Flannery. And had success as a derby horse with Jenna Beaver. She then went on to have some rodeo seasoning with Carlee Otero before I bought her. She is a very nice horse and has been in some good hands.

BRR: What did you do this past couple weeks to have Any Guy Of Mine at her best?

Olsen: I feel like Amy tries her best in any situation, but keeping her stress-free by allowing her to spend time, turned out with her friends I feel is one of her favorites. I try to keep feed in front of her at all times. She eats alfalfa at night in her stall full choice and coastal during the day, while turned out with her friends. She gets Platinum with complete joint twice a day. As well as Platinum gastric support and the Platinum calming supplement.

As far as exercise, I try to lope big fast circles, lope a few small correct circles, and if I go around the barrels at all, I stay at a trot usually.

BRR: I know you have a couple really good barrel horses, what goes into deciding which one to run where?

Olsen: Sometimes I feel like I make the wrong choice on which horse to run, but I can't think about that. My husband, Lee always says it's a winner either way, and he is right. They all have the potential. I try to decide which set up is best for which horse and lately I've decided that sticking with one horse and getting my timing right with that horse is very important. I feel like it always takes me a run or two to get my timing down correctly. Also, I feel like confidence in my choice makes a big difference. My horse can tell when I don't have confidence in them.

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for big runs like this weekend prior to entering the arena?

Olsen: Well, I feel like I learned a really good lesson at San Antonio. I had a camera-man run out in front of me, and when I stopped forward motion, my foot hung in the panel and I kind of panicked. Then, panic set in for Amy and she used all of energy with anxiety before I even began my run. So, Kelly came to the rescue and gave me a peptalk and told me I needed to get my mind right. I tell myself no matter what happens, it's okay, stay calm, and it will be okay. I'm there to have fun. I'm getting to do something that most people don't get to do. Sometimes I will count down from 10, and then back up to 10 again. It also helps if I can walk slow circles with my horse. It's much better than standing and letting the anxiety build.

BRR: What are three things (other than truck, trailer, horses and such) that you can't travel without?

Olsen: Number one my family! They are my support system in so many ways. I told my husband, if they can't go, I don't want to go. Everything else is kind of considered a convenience to me.

I try to take basic vet supplies with me. It seems like the only time I don't take things with me, is when bad things happen. Between Odessa and Uvalde, the San Antonio qualifier. My mares got into a fight and kicked the divider down cutting one pretty bad. I didn't have my suturing supplies with me and we had to drive four hours out-of-the-way to get her to a vet. It just seems like I never have to use those kinds of things when I have them with.

I love lattes. So I have a Nespresso machine and a frother that I take with me.

Plenty of hay, shavings, and water for horses are essential. You learn how much to take and how to look for places to replenish on the road. The horses actually travel very well. I feel like they handled the long drives better than I do.

Barrel Racing Industry Alliance Announces 2024 Graded Races

A complete list of barrel races graded for 2024 has been announced by BRIA, which has developed a system to grade barrel races that are consistently recognized as the highest level and quality of competition.

Following the proven model of a graded stakes system in the racing industry, the Barrel Racing Industry Alliance announced a new system in 2023 to grade barrel races that are consistently recognized as retaining the highest level and quality of competition.

Qualifying barrel races are ranked by Grade 1, Grade 2 and Grade 3, with Grade 1 being the highest grade. Races receiving grades for 2024 were evaluated by BRIA according to total entry numbers, payouts and quality of competition.

As 2024 graded races are entered into the system, these grades will appear on the AQHA QData Database Online Reports. The wins and finalist placings of horses in graded barrel races will then appear on catalog pages produced by the QData Catalog Builder and on the QData Online Data Reports.

This new system more closely aligns barrel horse sale catalog pages with racehorse sale catalog pages and helps breeders, owners and buyers better evaluate the caliber of the horse, its sire and dam.

The graded races coincide with a recent announcement of a new barrel racing black type system. These new tools from BRIA represent significant advances in data analysis for the barrel racing industry.

A complete list of graded races for 2024 is available now at barrelracingalliance.com and listed below. For more information, contact BRIA@aqha.org.

Other Ways to Qualify

- Earn the required number of qualifying points at AQHA-approved events. Bonus: Qualifying this way gets added to your horse's permanent record! Not sure which division you are eligible for? Check out this blog to learn more about divisions and levels.
- Junior Barrel Racing: 1.5 open points for Level 3 | 0.5 open point for Level 2
- Senior Barrel Racing: 2.5 open points for Level 3 | 1 open point for Level 2
- Amateur Barrel Racing: 2 amateur points for Level 3 | 1 amateur point for Level 2

- Select Amateur Barrel Racing: 1 point age 50-69 | 0.5 point age 70 or older
- Participate in four AQHA-approved events during the qualifying period. AQHA events encompass all judge numbers for a particular show or circuit. For example, the Arizona Sun Circuit is considered one event, even though it includes eight sets of points. This qualifying method will not be added to the horse's permanent AQHA record.
- Pay a higher entry fee to enter. Open Level 3 classes will require a $7,500 nomination fee per class, while amateur and Select amateur Level 3 classes will require a $5,000 nomination fee per class. Open Level 2 classes will require a $5,000 nomination fee per class, while amateur and Select amateur Level 2 classes will require a $3,500 nomination fee per class. That money will be added back to purse in the respective class with a portion of this buy-in fee retained by AQHA.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

The Bible is full of underdog accounts. And it would be great if you and I were familiar with them. In the natural, it looks like the enemy is winning. In our government, our border and everything else we see on the news.

We are all familiar with David and Goliath. But to build up your confidence and courage, please read the account of Abram going to get his brother who had been captured by several kings. Abram took 318 of his trained servants... 318...at night... and wiped out all those armies and rescued Lot... his family... his goods... 318.

When Mike was preaching this, I couldn't get past 318. He said they had 'night vision'. We all know that they didn't have night vision goggles back then...but GOD!

Friend, we have all we need to defeat the enemies in our lives. We need to see like God sees and look to Him for help. With God, nothing is impossible! Matthew 19:26.

In your local community, you may feel small but I assure you, you have all it takes to make a difference! Don't give up, back up or quit! Stand up for your Lord!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
