Kalie Rutledge & Letta Traffic Do It Win $75,000 Kinder Cup Slot Futurity Championship

By Tanya Randall

Kalie Rutledge made the defining run of her young professional career at the Kinder Cup Barrel Racing Championship in Louisiana. The Perry, Georgia, horsewoman topped the Slot Futurity Championship for $75,000 aboard Letta Traffic Do It ("Betty"), owned by Gary and Janet Dykes of Bexley, Georgia.

"I couldn't believe it," said Rutledge. "I'm still in shock. It hasn't sunk in at all. I knew it could happen if we hooked up. She's so incredibly talented. I still can't believe it happened."

"That's the biggest races that I've ever been in. It took us to the last minute to decide to enter it. I think entries closed at 8 o'clock and we entered at 7:50. I told Gary and Janet, 'Scared money don't make money,' so we took the chance at entering it."

In the Slot Race Long Go on Thursday night, Rutledge and Betty were second in their drag and clocked a 14.771, the eighth fastest qualifying time.

"I knew if I just cruised her around three barrels, she had a good chance at clocking fast enough to be in the top 20," she said. "My main thing was to get around three barrels and have a shot to get back at the big money. She's talented enough to just float through there and make a nice pass and get back."

Their next run was in the first go of the BFA Futurity. They were a little off the pace with a 15.169.

"We had a little mishap going into the first barrel," she explained. "I didn't quite have my line. She had to make up for some time getting by it to keep from hitting it. She recovered well from it."

The blind first barrel can be a challenge at Kinder.

"After that (the first round of the Futurity), we had it figured out. After that run, I figured I needed to hold her out a bit more and keep her up the middle. The next run, I held her up a little bit coming in the alley way so I could get her placed right for that first barrel."

In the Slot Futurity Championship Round on Saturday, Tiani Schuster and Famous MicGuyver (formerly Take The Fame Guyz), who won the first round of the BFA Futurity with a 14.283, set the pace early with a 14.568.

Rutledge said the Slot Championship was the biggest race she'd ever been in and was nervous before her run.

"It was probably the most nerve-wracking thing I've done," said the 22-year-old trainer in just her second year of futurity competition. "I felt her starting to get a little anxious so I stepped off and led her around. After two drags before us I got back on, she was chilled out and I was chilled out. We both felt like it was time to go in there and work. She was a little on the toes. As soon as I touched her to pay attention, she was ready to go in and do her job."

Rutledge and Betty were the second to last racer to run as the first runner in the last drag. Their 14.448 took the lead and never relinquished, although Kassie Mowry and Famous Ladies Man, owned by Michael Boone, came close with a 14.498.

"I was just happy that she had a chance," said Rutledge. "I knew after I ran the worst I was going to be was third. I was more excited about getting to go to Vegas. I was excited about winning the money, but Gary told me if I won enough money, he was going to take me to Vegas this year."

Rutledge and Betty finished the event by placing 17th in the BFA Futurity, earning an additional $2,433.

Rutledge started riding Betty for the Dykes last May. She had met the couple when she was riding Eddies Hot Moon Bug for longtime futurity player Ray Brown.

"This May when we got home from Fort Smith, Gary called me and asked me if I wanted to try her. I met them up in Unadilla and tried her and have been riding her ever since."

Champion Sire Furyofthewind Passes

This past week champion sire, Furyofthewind, passed due to complications from colic at Robicheaux Ranch in Louisiana. The beautiful son of Corona Cartel was out of the blue hen mare Dashing Phoebe by Dash For Cash. Furyofthewind, a 2003 stallion owned by Copper Spring Ranch, was bred by Kirk M. Goodfellow. A stakes winning race horse, who earned a 96 speed index, went on to sire over $6.7 million dollars in race horse winners including AQHA Racing Champion 3 Yr Old Colt Brace For Bernal.

Furyofthewind had just started to make his mark in the barrel racing world. According to the latest Equistat sire record, he had sired $111,739 of barrel racing earners including barrel futurity champions Championofthehouse and Littlemisshonky Tonk. Along with other good barrel horse winners Fellingdirty, Furious Interlude and Slew Of Fury.

Furyofthewind sired big, pretty colts that were fast, elegant movers whether they went to the track or barrels.

 The Barrel Racing Report would like to extend our condolences on the loss of Furyofthewind to Copper Spring Ranch, their staff, and all the people connected to him.

Ft. Worth Stock Show Completes First Go

The first round of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association barrel racing was completed on Monday night with Sydni Blanchard from Pueblo, Colorado, holding on to her lead. Riding Famous Heartbreaker, she stopped the clock in 16.22 seconds last Friday. The win netted her $5,175 and gives her the chance to run again.

The barrel racers with the 70 fastest times in the first run compete again here through the Saturday matinee. Their times will be added together and the 12 with the best totals will advance to Saturday night's finals.

The World's Original Indoor Rodeo® continues on Wednesday with performances at 2 and 7:30 p.m.

THE RUNDOWN w/ Kylie Rutledge

Letta Traffic Do It "Betty" 15.1 hh, "She's not a big horse at all. She's average size."

BIT: Smooth mouth Loomis

HEADGEAR: Loose tiedown. "She doesn't really need one," said Rutledge. "I just like to have one there in case she does need it."

SADDLE: Brett Monroe Signature Series by Pro Rider. "I won it on Eddies Hot Moon Bug at Bob Hamilton's annual youth show in 2016. I've won a bunch in it and it's about the only thing I'll run in now. Gary and Janet let me keep the saddle I won in the slot race, knowing that I probably never use it. I've got to use old faithful."

SADDLE PAD: 5-Star

LEG GEAR: Iconoclast

SHOEING: Steel all the way around

FEED: Local milled mix; HAY: All she can eat alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: DAC Bloom and Race Boost

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Cold water spa therapy by WD Equine at Kinder; Professional Choice's ceramic boots prior to runs

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: "I don't really do a lot of barrel work with her. She's pretty much got it all figured out at this point. I do like to make sure she stays tuned, so she does get slow work from time to time. Other than that, it's a lot of trailing and stuff, taking out to see the cows and playing with them, just to keep her open minded. I don't like to make her do barrels all the time. I want to keep her loving her job. She's so willing and loves it."

SPONSOR: Appling Motors (Gary Dykes) Kubota in Baxley, Georgia.

The Dykes had purchased Betty as a 2-year-old at the 2017 BFA World Championship Sale for $10,500 from Southwestern Farms. The filly was bred by Troy and Jamie Ashford, who own her sire Traffic Guy, and out of the Letta Hank Do It mare April Rose For Hank. Craig Brooks, who won the 2017 Future Fortunes Bonus at the BFA World Championships on Princess Stinson for the Dykes, had the mare loping the pattern when Rutledge took over.

"Craig had her well started for me," said Rutledge. "She just had a little growing up to do."

Rutledge and Betty started off their futurity careers winning the Kindergarten Futurity for $3,165. At Oklahoma City, they tipped a barrel to miss placing in the average in the BFA Juvenile. They won the Southern Rebel Futurity for another $3,745 before heading to Kinder.

"She's a talented individual," said Rutledge. "She's all heart. If I had a barn full of horses that had her heart, it'd be great."

Rutledge grew up in a non-horse family but was just your typical horse crazy girl. It was through pony rides at the local flea market that Rutledge got hooked up with a family that ran barrels.

Although she didn't compete as much through high school, Rutledge started riding racehorses when she was 17 and worked her way to training barrel horses.

"I started a long time ago before I knew what I was doing," laughed Rutledge. "Over the years, I've just got mixed up with people who had so much knowledge to share."

"I've ridden for Ray Brown for the last six years and he's helped me, 100 percent of the way. It started with me riding a horse for him that he wanted to sell. I did well with it and he saw potential in me. So, he started letting me ride other horses he had. It finally got to the point that he thought I was ready to do the training for the futurities. He bought me a colt and we went a little last year, so I could get the taste of it and get my foot in the door. In July, he stroke and I've been doing it on my own since then. Since that point, I've earned a lot of business from other people. I've been blessed with a lot of great clients. Now, I can train full time instead of just on the side."

Originally, the Dykes and Rutledge had planned on running Betty at the World Barrel Racing League Finals this coming weekend, but after four runs and a $75,000 payday in Kinder, its likely the mare will get to rest before heading out to Guthrie, Oklahoma, for the Lance Graves Invitational.

"As much as she got run this past weekend, she deserves this weekend off," she said.

"It's not often that you get a horse like her that you can travel and have a chance, so I think we're going to try to travel while we can."

Cody Bauserman & Famous Sassy Firebug Claim Kinder Cup BFA Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Cody Bauserman and Famous Sassy Firebug's Kinder Cup BFA Futurity Championship gives Bill and Cheryl Kennedy's Smoke Creek Farms their third homebred winner of the 2018-2019 futurity season.

At the start of the year, December 2018, Adrian Bolin won the BFA Juvenile on Tinys Stormy Weather. Then in desert southwest, Bauserman picked up three futurity titles on Papagaio, including a sweep of the January Arizona futurities on a standard pattern. While Papagaio picked up $9,830 for placing second in both the Slot Futurity Consolation and BFA Futurity, it was his stablemate Famous Sassy Firebug ("Rojo") that got his first victory at Kinder, Louisiana.

"He's an aggressive young horse," said Bauserman, the decorated aged event champion who went to Bennett, Colorado, to work for the Kennedy's in late 2017. "It gets him into trouble sometimes. I figured Kinder would be a perfect setup for him because he couldn't get to going as hard as he wants to."

Rojo stayed consistent, but controlled, in the smaller pen with deeper footing. He placed sixth in both rounds with runs of 14.516 and 14.607 to win the aggregate and $6,839.

By the Crago family's Fire Water Flit, Shawne Bug stallion Fire On Bug, Rojo is out of the Dash Ta Fame, Special Effort mare Ta Fame Sassy Goes. He went through the Smoke Creek program and started his competitive career with Bohlin in the BFA Super Stakes, where he placed fourth earning $15,000. They also placed in the BFA Juvenile average.

"He's a nice, quick colt," said Bauserman. "He does have a big

Jordon Briggs & Busby-Bred Duo Hit Pay Dirt in Kinder, Top Slot Consolation, 5-Year-Old Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Kinder, Louisiana, has been good to Jordon Briggs. The aged event champion and former National Finals Rodeo qualifier from Lott, Texas, has entered the slot race three times and won money every trip.

"I've never left empty handed so far," said Briggs. "I've won it, been second and now I've won the Consolation."

Aboard the 4-year-old mare One First Class Lady ("Lola"), Briggs topped the Slot Consolation, earning $10,000, after a tipped second barrel kept them out of the Championship Finals. The duo also placed third in the first round of the BFA Futurity for an additional $1,944.

"I bought Lola from Jolene Montgomery as a 3-year-old, last March," she explained. "I wanted a Blazin Jetolena filly. I knew she had her and that she was closely related to the gelding that I loved. She was advertising her for sale and I text her about it. She said I think I have her sold. Well, those people backed out, so six-months pregnant, I asked if I could come try her. 'Is she gentle enough for me to get on right now?' She said yes and that she was super good-minded. Justin and I went over and tried her. We both loped her around a little bit and bought her."

Briggs handed the reins to her husband Justin while she awaited the arrival of their first child, daughter Bexley, now 7 months."

"I didn't get to do too much with her on the barrel pattern until August," she said. "Jo had her started on the pattern, but she had never taken her anywhere. She's a super good-minded filly. She was really easy to exhibition. Once we found common ground between our two styles (Jolene's and Jordon's), it was easy to go on with her."

Briggs also won the inaugural running of the 5-Year-Old Futurity

"It was great," Briggs said of the addition of the 5-Year-Old Futurity. "That's the reason I haven't been to Kinder as much because I almost always have a 5-year-old and I don't want to go for just one horse. It was nice to go there with three horses this year. It paid really well enough though they just had $7,500 added. They got 60 entries, and I think that's a lot considering that most people are there with 4-year-olds for the BFA Futurity."

Briggs purchased Rolo as a long yearling from the Busbys but ended up holding the gelding until he was 5—for a good reason. "He was a super good as a 3-year-old," she explained, "but there were some little signs that told me that I needed to hold him as a 5-year-old even before I knew I was pregnant. When the first payment of the BFA Juvenile was due, I found out I was pregnant and then I was like that's the sign he needs to be a 5-year-old!"

Briggs' husband also roped on the gelding, showing him at the Rope Horse Futurity, held during the Snaffle Bit Futurity in Fort Worth last fall. He missed making the Finals in the heading and heeling by less than a handful of points.

"He didn't have too much time on him," noted Briggs, who is sponsored by Classic Equine, Horse Hair Analysis, D&D Nutrition, Shiloh Saddlery, Rock & Roll Denim and Rodeo Rigs. "He just decided to do it at the last minute. He's a super nice heading and heeling horse too."

The two horses are full siblings as far as blood but their pedigrees are basically flipped. Lola is by leading sire Blazin Jetolena out of the Dash Ta Fame, Lady Perks mare GL Famous First Lady. Rolo is by Dash Ta Fame out of the Blazin Jetolena, Lady Perks mare Blazin Black Beauty.

"I have three Blazin Jetolenas," she said. "They're so good minded and so easy. Even the Dash Ta Fame, Blazin Jetolena. This is my

Grimes & KG Justiceweexpected Capitalize in Cold Conditions

By Amy Wilson

Cold temps and icy roads are often a challenge during the winter prorodeos which are held in conjunction with stock shows. That was Kathy Grimes' experience the first time she went to Rapid City, South Dakota. "I had only been there one other time and it ended badly and I had to drive on horrible roads and I had said I was never doing it again. And then I did," she said with a laugh. She decided to enter Rapid City since she was up at Denver during the first round of San Angelo. If she drew up the way she wanted and the roads were good, then she'd go.

Well her card hit and she got the first perf which is what she asked for. "It had kind of light snowed all day so there was maybe an inch on the ground. I actually had good roads there. And it wasn't that cold. And I had a good drive back to Denver so it was all good," she explained.

As with many rodeos, finding a place to warm up your horse can be difficult. "You know, there's no place to warm up there except the grass which was snow covered and slippery so I didn't even get to lope my horse before I ran her," Grimes said. She got creative and utilized the only warm, dry place available. "They've set up a panel alleyway, it's kind of an 'L' shape. Part of it is under the stands and part of it is right next to the concession stand. There's a lot going on in there. They put down dirt and then some wood chips. It's maybe 60 feet long. All the cowboys tie their horses up there of course. I literally just tried to trot back and forth in there. It was so warm in there that my horse was sweating so I thought hopefully that was some semblance of a warm up for her muscles. It was a little crazy," she said.

Being able to improvise and then focus no matter what the set up and environment is vital to success in this sport, and Grimes was determined to do just that. "It's such a little short pen. The last time I was there, I had a terrible first barrel. I just wasn't focused so I wanted to make sure we got our first barrel and rode hard to the others," she said. Their run of 12.72 seconds felt as good as it looked. "I remember thinking, 'Gosh, that felt like a really smooth, nice run,'" Grimes remembered while also hoping it would get them a "decent" check.

Her decision to go to Rapid City turned out to be very profitable as their time held for the win and $4,646. "I was thrilled to win it. Now I'm probably sucked in the next several years," she added with a laugh.

Overall it's been a good winter for Grimes, who's from Medical Lake, Washington. She tries to keep KG Justiceweexpected "Issy" in shape for the winter rodeos by going to a few jackpots in the fall. "It's hard because usually by late October/early November I can't ride outside anymore and I don't have an indoor, so maybe three days a week I try to get somewhere to ride," she said. "That's why it's nice to go to Arizona for the futurities and get a few runs in." So far they've also collected wins at Billings, Montana and Lake Charles, Louisiana. Denver however was a little bittersweet. "For the last two years I have been tied for twelfth and miss making the short go because I don't have the single fastest run." She continued, "It's so competitive. Actually my average this year was about a tenth or two faster than last year. Just look at Fort Worth, and what the cut off time is going to be this year. Everything is just getting faster – there are lots of great horses and riders out there." While Grimes didn't have the run she wanted at Fort Worth, she's on her way to Jackson, Mississippi and then Belton, Texas this week. And she is making the most of the opportunity to season young horses along the way. She is hauling four horses including a young one that's extra special. "I have a futurity horse that is from Issy's oldest foal crop and also by my own stallion (KG Azure Winning Chex) so she's homegrown which is cool. I'm expecting very big things which is probably too much pressure on the poor thing," she said with a laugh. "She's going to be awesome, we just have to find our groove that's all." Issy, who was Grimes' first embryo baby, now has 13 foals, with four of them belonging to Grimes. As a veterinarian herself, she is very passionate about her own breeding and foaling operation. "April through mid-June I don't go to any rodeos," she explained. For now though, they are on the road winning rodeos, and of course doing so while wearing their signature color, purple.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

If you are young, this article probably won't pertain to you much. If you've been around a while, you will be able to feel my pain!! I'm admitting it.

I'm getting behind in technology. Waaayyyy behind. And I'm embarrassed to tell you that sometimes I don't have a clue what people are talking about...with their smart phones, their smart tv's, digital magazines, their MP3 players, Facebook, Instagram and Twitter. I was shamed into getting a Facebook page, but my picture isn't on there because I don't know how to and Lord knows I've never had a glamour photo taken! LOL!

Around my birthday, I received an email (I'm good with them!) that someone had wished me a happy birthday on Facebook. Three days later when I remembered how to get on my page, there were tons of birthday wishes! My excitement was quickly replaced by horror because I didn't know how to thank them!!! Sigh...sometimes I wish we could just pick up the phone and TALK to someone.

Well, in this wonderful world of change, one person NEVER changes. God. When you and I read our Bibles, we never have to worry that it will say something different today than it did 30 years ago. That is sooo comforting.

Our God, who knows EVERYTHING and has ALL the answers, will never be out of reach for us! He is available 24/7. You don't need special instructions on how to reach Him. You don't need to post your picture so He'll recognize you! Mal. 3:6 says, "For I am the Lord, I do not change." Thank you, Lord!
