Flavorful Fort Worth for Steffes and Dash Ta Vanilla

By Tanya Randall

"I'm still kind of in shock!" said Nikki Steffes, regarding her win at the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show, held January 19 to February 4 in Fort Worth, Texas. "I still can't believe it!"

Paired with Alan Woodbury's genetically-engineered barrel horse Dash Ta Vanilla ("Nila"), Steffes had high hopes for 2012, but until she got to Fort Worth things were going any way but according to plan.

"She overreached at Odessa, so I couldn't run her at Denver," said Steffes, who rode Woodbury's other talented mare Tell Em Belle ("Bella") at the National Western. "And, I hit a barrel at Rapid City. I was really starting to doubt myself. I was so excited to place in the first round at Fort Worth. It gave me a lot of confidence. I finally started to think I do deserve to run with the wolves."

Running in the last performance of the progressive round—Fort Worth took 200 entries and pared it down to 90 for a semi-finals and 12-head finals—Steffes chose to watch the prior matinee performance and visualize what she need to do rather than work Nila in the arena before her first run.

"She tends to run slow if I work her," explained Steffes, who hails from Vale, S.D. "When I warmed her up, it felt like I was riding a mountain lion. She went flying out of the alley. I wanted to trust her on the first barrel (which is out in the middle of nowhere). She got by it a couple of strides, but she was flying. She hesitated a little running out of the arena. You run from light in to a dark tunnel. I was hoping that didn't cost us. I was so excited when I heard my time."

They had clocked a 16.65 good enough to split sixth in the first round and earn $1,511.81.

Steffes drew top of the ground for the last performance of the progressive round, and it was a good thing since Nila would be making her run barefoot behind.

"She had lost a back shoe and I didn't realize it until I got there," said Steffes, who is putting off dental school to haul for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo. "I had Kelly Conrado pull the other back shoe. I was so nervous. She turned great and ran hard, but not as hard as the first run. I was first out and they didn't say my time. They make us all stay back in the holding pen and was just sitting there wondering if they missed my time or if the timer didn't work. Then they announced I was third in the average. I guess my time must have been pretty good!"

Steffes and Nila posted a 16.61, which split ninth in the round for $539.93.

"I was so excited to make the short go," she said. "I was driving back for the short round thinking I couldn't believe it. Winning it never crossed my mind. Benette (Little) had such a big lead and Running third on the ground, Nila made a flawless run in 16.48, which tied for second in the Finals, for $2,099.73, and gave her the average win in 49.74 and $6,803.15. All totaled, Steffes pocketed $10,954.62 of the $83,984.44 total purse, of which $30,000 was generously added by the rodeo committee.

Steffes, who is sponsored by Woody's Feed and Nicholsequine net, has a full scheduled plan. She will probably run Bella at Belton before heading to San Antonio for the first set with Nila. She's also entered in San Angelo and Tucson. However, the trip to Arizona isn't a sure thing just yet.

"We'll just see how San Antonio and San Angelo goes," she said. "I might take Bella depending on how she does the next couple of runs. I don't want to put the miles on my horses if I don't have to."

Stock Show & Rodeo Champions Crowned

By Susan Kanode For the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

The 116th annual Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo came to a close Saturday night, Feb. 4, 2012, by crowning one repeat and eight new champions.

Kaycee Feild, from Payson, Utah won the bareback riding championship in Fort Worth in 2010 after finishing two points behind Bobby Mote from Culver, Ore., who was the 2009 champion. This year he qualified for the final round in seventh place and had some ground to make up.

Feild did that with an outstanding 91-point effort aboard Carr ProRodeo's Dirty Jacket, the high-marked ride of this year's rodeo. While it earned the reigning world champion the final round win, it wasn't quite enough for him to have the championship outright. When everything was totaled up, Feild was tied with three-time world champion Will Lowe, from Canyon, Texas. They each had 323 points on four horses. Lowe earned more money by virtue of preliminary round earnings and took home $7,743 compared to Feild's $6,817. This was Lowe's first title from the "World's Original Indoor Rodeo."

The big money winner was also another bucking horse rider. Cody Taton from Mud Butte, S.D., earned money in every round of competition en route to his saddle bronc riding championship. Taton rode J Bar J Rodeo's horse named Special Time for 86 points in the final round. That gave him a total of 252 points on three rides to collect a total of $13,259.

"It's awesome to win a rodeo like this," he said. "This rodeo has done a lot to get better horses here and it's making the rodeo better for the cowboys and the fans. It's one of the rodeos you always hear about, so to win it really means a lot."

It was an all-around talent that ran away with the women's barrel racing title. Nikki Steffes, who is just in her second year of full-time competition in the Women's Professional Rodeo Association had three runs totaling 49.74 seconds to win $10,960. Steffes from Vale, S.D. is a graduate of the University of Wyoming in Laramie where she competed in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association earning the women's all-around championship two times.

In college, she also competed in breakaway roping and goat tying. Now that she has graduated and has an awesome horse in Dash Ta Vanilla, her focus has changed. She has put her plans of going to dental school on hold and is making a run for a Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualification. The money she won in Fort Worth put her fourth in the world standings, a position she will be working to maintain through the rest of the season.

"I can hardly believe it," Steffes said. "There were so many great barrel racers and horses here. It's unreal. My horse made some awesome runs and was absolutely flawless in the finals."

In the steer wrestling, Curtis Cassidy from Donald, Alberta, had a total time of 12.4 seconds on three runs to win $9,537. Team ropers Erich Rogers from Round Rock, Ariz., and Kory Koontz from Sudan, Texas, each earned $5,339 for their first victory in the Will Rogers Coliseum with a total time of 16.5 seconds.

Tie-down roper Jared Kempker from Eugene, Mo., had the biggest win of his life here with a total time of 28.9 seconds. He earned $13,037. In bull riding, it was Trevor Kastner, from Ardmore, Okla., who was victorious. Kastner won the final round with a 91-point ride on 4L/Diamond S Rodeo's Cybercat and took home the championship with 242 points on three head. He will be keeping the $8,029 in earnings, but gave the traditional championship buckle from the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo to his father who was on hand to watch him win.

Total payoff at this Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association sanctioned rodeo was $567,707.

AQHA Offers A Five-Panel Genetic Test

AQHA is now offering a genetic disease panel test. Genetic diseases cause emotional and financial pain for horse owners and breeders. To help breeders make informed decisions, AQHA now offers a panel test for five genetic diseases – glycogen branching enzyme deficiency, heredity equine regional dermal asthenia, hyperkalemic periodic paralysis, malignant hyperthermia and polysaccharide storage myopathy.

When the test is ordered, AQHA will send a DNA kit, and the owner will mail it to the Veterinary Genetics Laboratory at the University of California-Davis for testing. Once the tests are complete, AQHA will notify the owners and put the results on the horse's record and certificate of registration.

The tests cost $85 for members and $125 for non-members. For the panel test in conjunction with the DNA test required for most breeding stock, the cost is $105 for members.

The effects of these diseases are wide-ranging, from mild and manageable to severe and terminal. Passing these diseases on to successive generations often causes unnecessary suffering and also leads to financial losses for breeders.

To order your test, call AQHA at (806) 376-4811 and get the process started today.

Kellogg Recovering Quickly

A routine procedure turned into quite an ordeal for Boe Kellogg recently. On February 1, barrel racing trainer Boe Kellogg entered the hospital to have his ileostomy reversed. The original ileostomy was a product of his surgery just over 2 years ago to remove a tumor after Kellogg was diagnosed with Colon/Rectal cancer. Before the reverse ileostomy surgery, an endoscopy was performed during which the colon was punctured. By the next morning, Kellogg went into septic shock and underwent emergency surgery. Kellogg is recovering and if he continues recover on his current schedule he will be released to go home February 8th. Prior to this surgery, Kellogg has been healthy as ever and recovering very well from his bout with cancer 2 years ago.

HORSE HISTORY: I bought her as a 2 year old from Mountain Rose Ranch in Arizona. When I bought her, Dan Etbauer had started her and she probably had 15 rides. I flew down to Guymon tried her and bought her. I futurited her as a 5 year old and won $25,000 with limited hauling. Then at 6 I started rodeoing on her and we went to just 11 rodeos and made the circuit finals and won the average at the circuit finals and made it to Pocatello (DNCFR) and earned about $12,000 there and made the round of 4. As a 7 year old, we won the circuit and average at the circuit finals and set an earnings record for the Montana Circuit. Her 8 year old year in February, I broke two fingers and I had trouble with her left hand and had an off year. I still ended up 2nd in the Montana Circuit for the year and made the DNCFR. We made it there the last 3 years in a row. We won the year end and the average at the circuit

WHAT MAKES LICORICE SPECIAL? Honestly, I think it is just her desire to run barrels. Outside of the arena, she is just naughty. At Rapid City she wouldn't let me get on her outside while I was trying to warm her up, actually it was kind of embarrassing because I had to have some friends come over and stand by her to get her to stand still. However, once she gets to the arena she is calm and ready to do her job, she just a natural competitor. She is also an extremely aggressive horse in anything you do. Her consistency is amazing whether we run in small arenas or big arenas.

EXPLAIN HER STYLE: I would describe her as a free runner and when she get to turns she doesn't really rate down, she just runs up there and drops her whole body and gets in the ground and turns. She never slows down for the barrels. She doesn't really bury her butt, she is really just 4 wheel drive in her turns. I like a horse that pulls with their front end. In general, most horses are faster when they are pulling and reaching with that front end and using all four feet. Because then even if they lose one of their feet the other three will pull them through the turn.

PLANS FOR THE YEAR: I was hoping to get into San Antonio but didn't so I decided not to go to winter rodeos and stay close to home. I will focus on making a spring run. I am entered in Gillette, WY this weekend and then the DNCFR in OKC at the end of March. I will just start with the spring rodeos and just go from there.

THE RUNDOWN: KELSEY DEAL

HORSE: Dialaroosterforcash "Ricochet"

10 Year Old Brown Gelding, 14.3 hands, 1,100 pounds

HORSE HISTORY: I bought Ricochet when he was 3 at the Jud Little Ranch Production Sale. He was the high seller that year and I have had him ever since. He was Future Fortunes nominated and he was paid up in the Fortunes Round so that was my goal with him because it paid $25,000. Of course since he was the high seller, he cost quite a bit and I thought I would get my money back if I could win that! After the sale, I wanted to go to the Juvenile later that fall with him. He started running in the 1D in the fall of his 4 year old year. We won the Jud Little Ranch Futurity and then won the Future Fortunes Round at OKC which was good for $25,000 just like I planned. He won a little over $50k his 4 year old year. I rodeoed on him as a 5 year old, won a few little rodeos and made the short go at Dodge City on him. He holds the arena record at Oklahoma City in Barn 6, (15.056). He won the Summer Shootout in OKC in 2010. He has probably won around $110k so far. I actually have two other geldings out of the same mare (Nancy Ann Smith). The oldest sibling is 15, Hezanuther Rooster, 3/4 brother (gelding). He is by the same mare (Another Hero-Nancy Ann Smith) and has won around $30-35k, most of his earnings are rodeo earnings, I bought him the end of his 6 year old year. I have the 5 year old full brother (gelding), Vegas Or Bust, won the Future Fortunes Round on him as well ($25,000) in 2011, and he has won around $32k so far. The 3 of them are quite a bit alike. Note: The dam of these 3 horses is Nancy Ann Smith, is also the dam of Dial A Red Rooster an earner of over $280k and best known for his time with rider Tanya Steinhoff who rode him to many championships.

BIT: Copper Twist Short Shank snaffle

HEADGEAR: None

SADDLE: Ammerman Barrel Saddle

SADDLE PAD: Cutter Collection

LEG GEAR: Polo wraps on the back, varies between Professional's Choice & Classic Equine splint boots and bell boots

FEED: Purina Ultium mixed with Purina Horseman's Edge Sweet Feed

HAY: Prairie Grass Hay

SUPPLEMENTS: MVP Exceed 6-Way

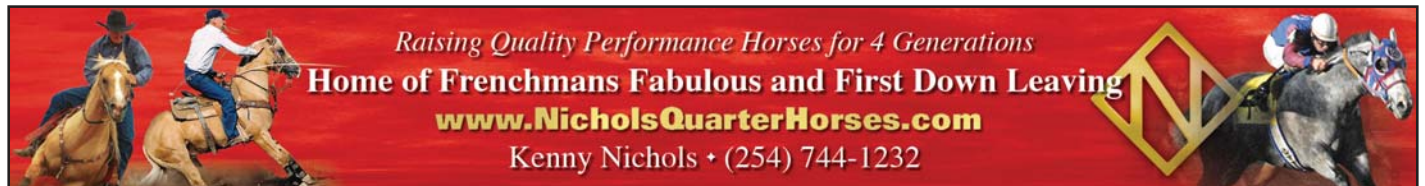

ADDITIONAL HORSE CARE: He wears a shoe with a pad underneath it. Steel rim shoe with pad on front, steel slick shoe with pad on back.

WHAT MAKES LICORICE SPECIAL? I'm 24 years old and have lived in Elk City, OK my whole life. I got my first pony when I was 3, started running barrels when I was 6. I went to junior rodeos, high school rodeos and open rodeos. Once I got Ricochet I started doing the futurity stuff. My freshman year in High School I won the All-Around, Rookie All-Around, Barrels, Poles, and Cutting year end for Oklahoma and went to Nationals in all those events.

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Could you die and give up your life to save someone? Oh, it would be one thing to sacrifice yourself to save a small child or someone you loved but could you make the ultimate sacrifice to save an unpleasant person or someone who wronged you? Yet, God is no respecter of persons (Acts 10:34) and He wants all men to be saved. That's why He gave His only begotten Son that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life (John 3:16).

It's hard for us pleasure seeking, finite humans to understand God's love for us. If we did, it would change everything about us and everything about us and everything around us. Oh, we've read about God's love and we've heard about it but, how many really believe it? It's great love that caused Jesus to suffer and die a cruel death so we could be pardoned from sin and have eternal life. He took our place and promised to never leave us or to forsake us (Hebrew 13:5). That's a powerful promise that should help get us over some rough spots in our path.

Someone might say, "What about my terrible past?" Well, that's where God's mercy comes in alongside His Great love. If you're truly sorry and repented for your past sins and failures, God has forgiven you, wiped out those black marks against you, and even forgotten them. It's like they never happened.

Think about what Jesus has done for us. Meditate on it. Read His word and talk to Him. We owe Him a debt of gratitude and every day we should thank Him that He has provided everything we need in this life and He has prepared a glorious eternity for us when we die. That should put a smile on your face and a spring in your step!
