Taylor & Flos Heiress Find Confirmation in Cowtown, Win Fort Worth Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

No one can ever accuse Fallon Taylor of fearing change. After a disappointing performance at the 2013 Wrangler National Finals, Taylor revamped her program, resulting in a 2014 WPRA World Championship.

After a year on the Elite Rodeo Athletes Tour, Taylor once again revamped her program and found immediate success with a 2017 championship at the Southwestern Exposition & Livestock Show, better known as the Fort Worth Stock Show, held over 29 performances from Jan. 20 to Feb. 4.

"I think if we are not constantly progressing and reinventing ourselves we're just standing still or going away from our main goal," said Taylor. "Me and my entire team of friends—we are on a constant train of progress, wanting to get better, be better and be different. If what we are doing is predictable, we need to throw it away and try again."

Taylor revamped her program by getting herself and her great mare Flos Heiress ("Babyflo") in fighting shape.

"My biggest change is that I got with a trainer in Dallas named Daniel Sullivan. I hired him as my mentor and guru to get me really back into amazing shape. I've lost over 30 pounds," said Taylor, who will compete in her first fitness competition at the end of April.

Her physical transformation hasn't only helped herself, but she's seen a positive response from her fans.

"I've noticed that its helped my fans who have struggled with the same things as I have in the past," she said. "It's something that they can connect to; I think everyone knows someone that has struggled with their weight too. It's fun to hear the feedback from people who haven't seen me, or people that criticized me in the past because I ride a really little horse and I'm 5'8". I'm taller than a lot of my competitors."

Babyflo, too, underwent a transformation. Bred by Taylor's parents Shelton and Dian Taylor, the 11-year-old mare is by two-time WPRA World Champion Sire Dr Nick Bar out of the On The Money Red mare Flowers And Money, who carried Taylor to her first four NFR qualifications.

"It's been really amazing to see people's overall reactions to me and my horse because I've got her on a fitness journey as well," added Taylor. "She's packed on a lot of muscle as well. (Legendary barrel racing photographer) Kenneth Springer said, 'Oh my gosh, she looks like a stud!' She looks really great and we're putting it on the right way and the healthy way."

She also made equipment changes.

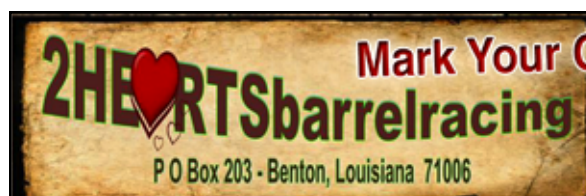

"I made the decision to take the tiedown and breast collar off and different things that would affect weight like running in things that are a little bit sleeker. My garments look different . . . everything looks different, so it was really nice, first rattle out of the box, to take home such a historic championship," said Taylor, who wanted to thank her sponsors and her "squad" for their support.

When Taylor and Babyflo finished fifth in the first round, it was affirmation that her changes were doing everything she'd hoped.

"I felt like it was really solid," she said of their first run of 16.64. "I've never been really successful in that arena. That was really excited for me because I think that's the highest I've ever placed in the first go round at Fort Worth. I began to see some time advantages that I hadn't seen before. That's really exciting, because there's no easy button for this."

Things got even better when she and Babyflo turned in a second-

Grimes Wins $5,000 Jerry Ann Taylor Award at World's Original Indoor Rodeo®

by Johna Cravens for the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

Kathy Grimes' third trip to Fort Worth for the World's Original Indoor Rodeo® was the proverbial charm.

Not only did she earn nearly $13,000 in prize money, she also got a $5,000 check as winner of the Jerry Ann Taylor Award. The award is given to the barrel racer deemed to be the best-dressed of the final performance of the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo.

"This is the third year I've competed here and I've never won a dime," said the Medical Lake, Washington, barrel racer. "I've always made the progressive round, but this is the first time I've had any luck in Fort Worth."

Grimes' 2017 trip to the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo started similarly to the past two years. She had a solid 16.84-second run in the first round, just finishing out of the money. It still easily put her among the 70 fastest times to advance to the second, progressive round.

When she and her 10-year-old mare Issy (registered name KG Justice Weexpected) returned to Will Rogers Coliseum, they put together a run that was more than four-tenths of a second faster than their first, moving into the second-round lead with a 16.41. Former world champion Fallon Taylor bumped Grimes to second place, Grimes still won $4,372.

"I had read about the Jerry Ann Taylor Award," Grimes said, "but since I'd never done well in Fort Worth, I wasn't prepared to try to win a best-dressed award."

Enter Kendra Dickson, a two-time winner of the award from Aubrey, Texas, who has helped two other winners with their finals outfits. Dickson and her TruColors custom clothing line offered to provide an outfit for Grimes.

The two cowgirls would share the prize money with Dickson's share going to her Rodeo For A Reason charity that raises money for childhood cancer.

"I told her that I'd love her help, but that I only wear purple," Grimes said. "She said 'that's perfect' and told me about an outfit she was working on that was purple and teal."

Grimes, who works as an equine veterinarian, has a special bond with Izzy, a mare she raised and trained. "She was my very first embryo transfer. I fell in love with her when she was in a dish at day 8," Grimes said. "She's amazingly fast so my timing needs to be impeccable. Sometimes I mess up, but she's so fast she'll surprise me even when I don't ride her as well as I should."

The pair ran 11th in the finals. Grimes said she messed up her timing and broke a bit wide off the last barrel, so she was surprised when her time was announced as a 16.58. That was good enough for third in the finals and another $1,889 and gave her a three-run total of 32.99. She finished second overall and earned another $6,557.

Then, Grimes was announced as the Jerry Ann Taylor award winner, adding another $5,000 to her earnings in Fort Worth and putting her ahead of high-money winner Tuf Cooper (who won the tie-down roping) in total cash.

"It was really fun!" Grimes said, adding that her inner 12-year-old loved dressing up and glittering her horse. "When you get past 50, that kind of activity isn't really thought of as age-appropriate," she added with a laugh.

Grimes' showing in Fort Worth put her second in the 2017 world championship standings and she plans to spend the next couple of months in Texas competing at rodeos.

The Jerry Ann Taylor Award is presented by the Women's Professional Rodeo Association and the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and is only given at the National Finals Rodeo and at the finals Fort Worth Stock show & Rodeo. Taylor, a 1986 National Cowgirl Hall of Fame honoree, was a flamboyant trick rider and roper who was known for her sense of style.

Pam Minick of Fort Worth, a National Cowgirl Museum and Hall of Fame board member and honoree and former WPRA vice president, said the award is to encourage women in professional rodeo to carry on the tradition of wearing colorful western attire in the rodeo arena.

Barrel racing has a long history with the World's Original Indoor Rodeo®. The Fort Worth rodeo began holding an invitational ranch girls barrel race in 1955, not long after barrel racing competition started.

Rodeo Austin to Host Fundraising Event of the Season

The Rodeo Austin Gala, presented by Texas Mutual Insurance Company, will be held Saturday, February 4, 2017 at the Palmer Events Center. One of Austin's largest black-tie events, the Rodeo Austin Gala will feature a four-course meal, cocktails, a live and silent auction and award-winning entertainment by Randy Houser and Ronnie Milsap. The Gala is Rodeo Austin's largest fundraising event outside of the Fair and Rodeo.

The event will begin at 6 p.m. with cocktails and a silent auction. Guests will be treated to dinner while enjoying a performance by country music artist, Ronnie Milsap.

Following Ronnie Milsap's performance, guests will have the opportunity to bid on live auction items ranging from an African safari to a trip to Belize. Country music star Randy Houser will take the stage at 9:30 p.m.

Funds raised at the Rodeo Austin Gala help support Rodeo Austin's mission of Promoting Youth Education – Preserving Western Heritage. In 2016, Rodeo Austin awarded nearly $2 million to the youth of Texas. The Rodeo Austin Gala, sponsored by Texas Mutual Insurance Company, H-E-B and Coors Banquet, is sure to be the fundraising event of the season.

Congrats #teamoxygen!

"I have used many Oxy-Gen products for the past several years, and have had great success. When I heard the Triple Threat had my favorite products in it, I had to try it. It's extremely easy to use one tube that has everything you need in it! It was my first time to use it at the American qualifier, and we qualified for the Semi finals! Harley felt great, he hadn't run that hard in a long time. Also, he recovered faster for his run the next day in San Angelo! I'm a firm believer in this new product!!"

round winning 16.35, the fastest time of the rodeo, which was open to 210 WPRA Card Holders. They placed fourth in the Finals to win the average and pocket $16,123.

Unlike her fellow competitors who fit in San Angelo, Texas, and Rapid City, S.D., Taylor only ran at Fort Worth. With a packed clinic schedule, Taylor is only entered in the Dixie National at Jackson, Miss., and Rodeo Houston.

"I've got goals in mind and clinics scheduled for every single weekend," said Taylor, who celebrated her Saturday night victory with an all-night drive to Tennessee for a clinic. "I'm only going to a select a few places that I know that I want to go to, and we'll just see where the chips fall."

Having a WPRA World Championship and seven NFR qualifications to her name have allowed Taylor to change her personal rodeo goals.

"I'm not under pressure to rodeo," she said. "My identity doesn't lie within an NFR qualification, so it's really fun for me to get the chance to visit with people and let them meet Babyflo at these clinics. When I rodeo—that's for me. That's for me and my family and my friends to get to go watch this horse that people want to see so much. I've changed my perspective of what I'm doing to where it's fun for me." Still, another NFR qualification with a horse as talented as Babyflo isn't outside the realm of possibilities.

"Rodeo goals for me would be 'Fallon Taylor makes the NFR in 15 rodeos,'" she laughed. "The reality goal is for me to be in the Top 50 to qualify for the big rodeos next year. My immediate goal is do well—better than expected—at Houston to get in the Top 4 by April 1 to qualify for a Calgary Stampede. After that it would be to qualify for

Jessica Leach & Rich Money Set Rapid Pace at Black Hills Stock Show & Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

For most contestants at the Black Hills Stock Show & Rodeo, held Jan. 28-Feb. 4 in Rapid City, S.D., the weather was enough of an obstacle getting to and from the event. For barrel racing champion Jessica Leach, the weather turned out to be the least of her problems.

"It was quite the journey to get to Rapid City," laughed Leach, a crop insurance agent from Rockville, Neb.

To prepare for the lucrative winter rodeos, Leach and her husband Marty headed south to Arizona after Thanksgiving. Leach was entered at all the major winter rodeos—Denver, Fort Worth and San Angelo, but when she got to Denver mid-January, her mare Rich Money ("Brownie") colicked. The 12-year-old mare spent four days in intensive care at Littleton Large Animal Hospital in Colorado.

"We caught it early and basically all we had to do was get some fluids in her and her body corrected itself," said Leach. "I ended up vetting out of Denver, Fort Worth and San Angelo."

Still wanting to make Rapid City, a circuit rodeo for her, Leach head-

"We had a heck of a snowstorm, and when I tried to leave, my freightliner burnt down on the side of the Interstate. Luckily, Brownie was showing no ill effects of her earlier colic battle. "It was hard to warmup there," Leach recalled, "but she was feeling fantastic. She was wanting to buck, so I knew it was either going to be really good or really bad. She walked into the arena so nice and and out of Skip La Doc, by the Dry Doc son Doc Em Rich. Leach was grateful for the help of her friend Rhonda Richardson and her son Jeff as well as her husband throughout her ordeal getting to Rapid City.

"I was so thankful that I had so many great, great friends that helped me out in so many ways through all of that," she said. "My poor husband, Marty, was sitting in Arizona trying to help me over the phone any way that he could through all of it."

Leach was scheduled to compete at the Dixie National in Jackson, Miss., but had to turn out to make a follow-up veterinary appointment in Littleton. She and Brownie will make their next run on Valentine's Day, February 14 in Fort Worth, Texas, for slack of RFD-TV's The American Semifinals Rodeo.

Schuster Scores Again- Rapid City Champions Challenge Champion

By Hope Sickler-Raley

Krum, Texas barrel racer and current #1-barrel racer in the world, Tiany Schuster is taking every chance she gets to stay on top of the WPRA world standings. This last week she added to her world lead by winning last week's Champions Challenge in Rapid City, South Dakota.

JSYK Im Famous aided Schuster in the win when he posted a blistering fast time of 12.66 in their run Wednesday night. JSYK Im Famous is the 9-year-old son of Famous JR and out of Firewater Fueled by Firewater Flit.

Schuster ran in slack in the rodeo the previous day and was not pleased with her run. She sought advice from multiple NFR qualifier Tammy Fischer and South Dakota native Mary Crago on what she could do differently in the Champions Challenge that would ensure her a check.

"Rapid City is a challenging rodeo. For those who have never been, it is a tiny pattern, very cold temperatures and no warm up area. Being a slow 13.33 in slack the previous day, I sought advice from Tammy Fischer and Mary Crago on what I should do differently in the Champions Challenge," explained Schuster.

"Without those two ladies, I know we would have had a long drive back to Texas empty handed."

Schuster sent her video from slack to Fischer and Fischer pointed out some excellent spots on other winning runs there from before and said take note of what they do, so Schuster did just that.

In addition to Fischer's advice, Schuster also asked well known

South Dakotan Mary Crago for some last-minute advice on a pen that Crago knows well and has won numerous times in.

"Mary told me to get JSYK's nose and carry a hard arc to that first barrel. She said to get a hold of him early before it was too late," said Schuster. "I also followed Tammy's advice to slow down and those few pointers helped put me in a much better position going to the first barrel."

With a much better first barrel in the Champions Challenge, Schuster reminded herself to slow down throughout the rest of the run and make a smooth pattern.

"I could hear Tammy in the back of my head when I was heading to the third barrel and I two-handed bumped JSYK and in return he gave me a snappy, quick square-turn. I was shocked when I saw my time but I knew that if we could nail our first barrel and smoothen things out, we could be really fast in that tiny pen."

Although the weather in Rapid City was cold, the northern folk gave Schuster a warm welcoming.

"The folks at the fairgrounds were amazing. They went out of their way to help us. You need anything, boom it was done! The weather was cold and miserable yet everyone was happy and happy to help you out. It was refreshing and something that I did not take for granted." In the first year of circuit finals money counting towards the world standings, Schuster has taken full advantage of her opportunities, winning a record $49,871 already as of February 7 and sits almost $28k in front of #2 in the World, Kathy Grimes.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I am not a football fan but I found myself watching the Super Bowl. My grandson wanted to watch it so we enjoyed snacks and family. I personally don't know one team from another, but they made up signs for the Falcons, so what the heck, I picked them, too! What a game! It was fun to watch the kids get so excited!

The ads were interesting. But where were the horses and puppies????? Who can get mad at horses and puppies? The funniest ad to me, was the lady that kept trying to save stuff. Whales, trees, ice and rhino's. It wasn't working very well for her but she did a great job of trying! Well, Jesus died to save us and it was successful! Very successful! When we ask Him to be Lord, heaven becomes our home and death has no sting. Romans 10:8-10. We need to remind ourselves often of just what He saved us from.....EVERYTHING evil! But in these times we live in, it becomes a fight to keep ourselves from worrying. So, if you find yourself concerned about anything, here is a prayer for us pray:

"Lord, I'm putting my concerns into Your hands. I'm turning it over to You, I refuse to fret and worry anymore. I refuse to be unduly concerned anymore about this. I refuse to be full of care. You said to cast it all on You because You love me, and I thank You for it. It's in Your hands. Lord, from this moment on, I rest in You."

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies. Check out our schedule online. You can also download all Bible studies by visiting our website: m-m-m.org or contact us at: PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY. 82717, 307/685-2272.
