The Awakening – Promise Me Fame Guys Carries Lisa Lockhart to Third American Championship

By Tanya Randall

Lisa Lockhart and 7-year-old Promise Me Fame Guys ("Levee") stood at the alley entrance to the arena on the floor of Globe Life Field in Arlington, Texas.

The talented young gelding had come from 14th in the WPRA Standings to World Champion contender in a matter of days at the 2022 National Finals Rodeo. Now he was on an equally daunting stage, but that Saturday night, March 11, Levee was quiet, too quiet for Lockhart's comfort.

"Hello, Lev?" she muttered to the gelding. The pair hadn't made a run in more than three weeks, and Lockhart was left wondering if it had been too long. They were about to run and Levee's heart rate had yet to rise.

Two runs later, Levee elevated Lockhart's heart rate as she won her third $100,000 championship at The American.

Their first run in the Round of 10, Lockhart and Levee squeaked into the Round of 4, finishing fourth with a 15.461.

"He is very insecure and he reminds me so much of Louie (her great An Oakie With Cash) in that manner," Lockhart said. "You wouldn't necessarily see it in a run, but I feel it. People will say, 'Well, he's not running.' He's just hesitant because he's insecure. He didn't have confidence even running back to the gate that we'd been through 15 times in practice earlier."

The Oelrichs, South Dakota, barrel racer knew Levee would come back more confident on his second run as he had in past rodeos, like the NFR or the San Antonio Rodeo just weeks earlier. "I just chalked it up to him being a little insecure," she said. "That's just his demeanor—he's just a little bit of a worrier—and his age of course. I'm not always going to just chalk it up to age though because Louie was always insecure, not so much outdoors, but indoors, definitely."

Lockhart was right and Levee was 2/10ths faster on his second run, even though she got a little further up the pen at the first barrel than she wanted to, which resulted in her signature leg lift at the first barrel.

"It was unexpected," she said. She and Levee's 15.248 edged Jordon Briggs and Famous Lil Jet's 15.289. "I knew it was Jordon's to win. It was just nice to be going to the final four. I just thought, 'Just go do what you can do and hope for the best.'"

"He was just firing on all cylinders. He was a lot more confident and found the out gate better."

While it was easier to hear back away from the alley, Lockhart couldn't hear her time. She heard the crowd and looked back at the scoreboard out of the corner of her eye.

"I saw it and it hit me like a wall," she said. "I just cried. He gave it his all and I gave it my all and look what happened! I was in absolute disbelief!"

Lockhart wanted to thank Teton Ridge for their spectacular Western Weekend.

"I hope it surpassed everyone's expectations," she said. "I thought it was an amazing production from the Regions to the Wildcard. The American Performance Horseman was just amazing. It's going to be bigger and better in 2024."

She also wanted to thank her family, friends and the fans.

"Anytime you have a monumental win like this, the people, the well wishes, the messages..." she said, "it's just a wow factor. It's Lass, by FC Aboo. Epperson sent Levee to Travis Young and Dean Briggs for his foundation before she started training him for barrels. When it came to seasoning, she had help from friends Milee Malone Dailey and Taylour Russell before heading to Samantha Flannery in the fall of his fourth year to prepare for the 2021 futurity season.

With Flannery, Levee was the Valley Girls Barrel Daze Open and Breeders futurity champions. They won two Breeders Challenge Futurity qualifiers and were reserve champions at the Elite HHA Futurity and Ruby Buckle Futurity in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

That May, Levee was purchased by Teton Ridge Performance Horses and added to Lisa Lockhart's trailer.

Rodeoing successfully takes a special bond with a horse because of the grueling travel schedule and multitude of variables in setups, ground conditions and environments. Lockhart wanted to take her time building that trust.

"I was not in any rush," she said. "I wanted it to be right. I was trying to stick with the horses that I was riding and shuffle him in. I figure the wait was worth it, because here we are."

Last summer, the day before Ogden, Utah, and three days before the Cheyenne Frontier Days, Rosas Cantina CC, Alan Woodbury's great mare that had carried Lockhart to four prior NFRs, was injured.

"I didn't know if I should turnout or keep going," she said. "I didn't know when Rosa was going to be back and I was entered in something almost daily. I made the command decision to go and season him."

Fame Guys

Lockhart turned out of Ogden and went to Cheyenne with Levee.

"I had been taking him to some circuit rodeos. We were doing well, but we weren't winning. Cheyenne was such a huge stage. I was very nervous and he was very nervous. I was like, 'Let's just make the pattern.' You never know with Cheyenne. 'Just let us turn the first barrel!' Even walking to the line from the alley...it was all things that he'd never done. It was a first for the both of us in a thousand different ways.

"Lo and behold, he went out there and worked! We just kept progressing at Cheyenne. That's where the momentum started. Did we set the world on fire? No, but he just handled THAT! I stayed hooked on him."

Lockhart ran Levee at her late summer circuit rodeos and worked her way towards the Northwest.

2023 THE AMERICAN NOTES...

- Promise Me Fame Guys helped Lisa Lockhart capture her 3rd The American victory. The first two came on Louie (An Oakie With Cash) in 2014 & 2015.
- Promise Me Fame Guys helped Lockhart win $168,326 at the 2022 NFR in December and now $100k at The American between those two wins and checks at Ft Worth & San Antonio and the other winter rodeos have pushed this pairs earnings to around $280k in the last 3 months!
- The Top 3 in the American had Dash Ta Fame up close in their pedigree. Promise Me Fame Guys is by Aint Seen Nothin Yet, who is by Frenchmans Guy and out of the Dash Ta Fame mare, Smart N Famous. The 2nd & 3rd place horse are both directly by Dash Ta Fame.

"We hit the dusty trail," she chuckled. "I thought as long as he continues to handle it mentally, we'll keep going. Every run he made, he kept stepping to the plate and getting closer and closer, doing better and better, and winning money."

His performance at the NFR Open in Puyallup, Washington, was huge as far as her confidence in Levee's ability to hang with the best in the world.

"He was competing against the best of the best—you do that everywhere—but there they were all on the same stage at the same time," she said. "You could really compare apples to apples in those types of situations."

When Rosa was well by the later part of August, Lockhart decided to make a final push for her 16th straight NFR qualification.

"I stuck on her as much as I could and ran him where I knew he could shine," she said. "I was using three horses at that time. At that point I was on a mission because we'd won money in August. After Rapid City, that was a defining moment—do we stay out there or do we go home?"

"My husband (Grady) said, 'What do you have to lose? Go give it two more weeks and go through Pendleton.' After that, it was take your three horses and enter everything that you can. We were hooked until the last day."

During her herculean push to jump into the Top 15 on the last full weekend of the 2022 regular season, Rosa and Levee picked up

$7,098. Although much was made of her final run on the last day at Stephenville, Texas, she said that Springhill, Louisiana, where she ran Levee the night before, winning second, was the actual turning point. At Stephenville, the next afternoon, she needed a solid, placing run, so she opted for Levee because she had confidence that he would place.

Levee has continued to step up including his stellar performance at the 2022 NFR. This year, he's won the majority of $29,842 that has Lockhart third in the WPRA World Standings. Paired with Rosa, whose quick speed Lockhart can use to her advantage in salty oneheaders and sudden death short rounds, Levee earning the roll of Mr. Consistent to fill in the gap left by the retirement of the great Louie, now 20.

Levee is not Louie. There will never be another Louie, one of the all-time fan-favorite barrel horses. Levee has given new fans a chance to see Louie's Lisa. He looks, as so many people say, like Louie in a gray costume.

"His desire to please...that's what reminds me so much of Lou," said Lockhart. "Oh, he has made barrel racing fun again!"

Tamara Barnhart & Guys Sweet Design Capture The American Contender Championship

By Tanya Randall

Tamara Barnhart, a chiropractor and single mother of two boys, and her gritty 7-year-old mare Guys Sweet Design ("Lucy") topped The American Contender Tournament Championship, held March 9 at Globe Life Field in Arlington, Texas.

On top of her $15,000 check, Barnhart earned her way into The American and it's Round of 10 against the top five barrel racers in the world two days later.

"I'm still on cloud nine! Still pretty dang happy!" said Barnhart, who makes her home in the small northern Idaho hamlet of Athol. "It was an unbelievable experience. I can't even explain it."

Barnhart and Lucy won the Contender Championship, which consisted of the top four contestants from three regional finals plus the wildcard winner, with a 15.516. She was especially proud of her mare that has very little rodeo experience.

"My horse was amazingly calm and confident in what we were doing," she said. "The crowd wasn't quite as crazy for (the Contender Final). It still amazes me. I think because the building was so big, she didn't feel like anything was an immediate threat to her even though it was so loud still. She went in there and did her job. She wasn't firing at absolutely 100 percent but she was really clean, consistent and smooth. We didn't waste too much ground at all." It was after the run that Lucy began to feel the pressure. Barnhart was unable to leave right away following her run due to a possible interview and the commotion post run rattled her mare.

"She knew that she was done but didn't know what was going on," Barnhart explained. "There were some loud noises and she really started freaking out. Unfortunately, that's how she ended that time in the arena."

When they came back two night's later, Lucy was much more apprehensive. The environment had also changed with a sold out crowd and the energy in the building.

"The energy would just rumble you from the inside out," she said. "When we went in there she immediately picked up on it and was like, 'What's going on?' She danced around a little bit. That run she was a little more anxious and she was distracted for sure. She didn't even find her way out of the pen. She was slowing down looking for the alleyway even before we crossed the timer. It was a lot and rightfully so. I honestly didn't think we'd get this far with as little seasoning as she has for something like this."

Barnhart and Lucy finished a disappointing eighth and only the top four advanced to the final round.

"I'm extremely happy with what we were able to accomplish," said Barnhart. "That's not her realm. I've jackpotted her for two years. I've called her 'Looky Lucy' because her feet slow down when there's new stuff. The bulls in the pen next to her in the alley way when we're walking in, the noise, all of that...I'm tickled that she ran as hard as she did. There's a lot more in that gas tank but she gave me as much she could handle in that environment. I'm super thrilled."

Barnhart, who operates Natural Health Chiropractic in Athol, purchased Lucy as a yearling from her breeder, Glenn Johnson, who was her neighbor at the time. She is by the Frenchmans Guy, Dash Ta Fame stallion Guys First Down Fame, who now resides in Australia, and out of Smart Designer, by the New Design stallion Designer Jet.

"She had good bloodlines so I thought I should go buy her, train her and then flip her and make some money," Barnhart said. "I put a lot of time into training her. She was really stubborn. She wanted to be done all the time."

Lucy was "super naughty" when Barnhart started hauling her. After nearly losing her life to colic in October of her fourth year, Lucy found her stride.

"When I started entering her over that winter, she just started pulling checks," Barnhart said. "She just started running in the 1D. It wasn't always the prettiest run but she was running fast. The last two years we've been cleaning it up."

Barnhart, who grew up around her grandparents' and aunt's horses, didn't start barrel racing until six or seven years ago, about the time she bought Lucy. She had absorbed a little dressage training while managing a Friesian farm during chiropractic school, and using what she watched or read, taught herself to train and run barrels.

"I'm a very competitive person," said Barnhart, who also placed third in an online fitness competition a few weeks prior to The American. "My goal in training is always to be the best that I can be. I would love a world title, but I'm realistic in the fact that I'm a single mom and self-employed and I live in north Idaho. That whole realm that I'm in isn't really conducive to a world title right now. My plan is to raise the best horses that I can and train them so when I do go to these big places, I can compete. I have to keep it on a scale that balances my life, but I still want to be the best in the world."

Barnhart, who won $23,133 on her American journey, not including her initial win at the qualifier at the All-In Barrel Race last December in Las Vegas, said she hopes to continue to challenge herself and her mare.

"My gameplan is to keep adding to the degree of things I can do as much as I can to balance it," she said. "I'm open to whatever CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: I don't have an arena at my house yet. She's trained and knows her job. I do conditioning on the road, loping and trotting. I do some circles around the trees in my yard, slow because of the hard ground. I haul her twice a week to an arena with good footing so I can really work that soft tissue. I'll do more of the turns at speed. She has a roll back style so we do a lot of drills for that. We do a lot of squares. She doesn't see the pattern until we're doing it. I also trail ride a lot. We're not too far from the mountains and that's a great workout.

comes my way. I didn't expect to make it to The American this early. It was my goal I set three years ago but I thought it was going to take a lot longer. I'd like to go back to The American. I'd like to go to any of the big races I can. I always want to go bigger and better; It's just a matter of balancing it out. When it's my time, it will be my time. I'm just going to keep working to be better than I was the day before."

Jamey Hunt & KVS HitYouBackCash Sweep Elite Extravaganza's HHA Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Jamey Hunt and KVS HitYouBackCash ("Coco"), owned by Rusty and Sally Young, dominated the $20,000-added, 100-entry HHA Futurity held March 9-11 with the Elite Extravaganza at the Extraco Pavilion in Waco, Texas.

Hunt and Coco won both rounds of the futurity to earn $13,518 including open and adult carryovers.

"That colt is so fast," said Hunt, a farrier and barrel horse trainer from McAlpin, Florida. "He's really good minded. I honestly just try to stay smooth and get around the barrels on him because he's so fast. He clocks every time he goes through there. With me though, I just have to make sure he doesn't come back and hit a barrel because he can get to the back corner quicker than any colt I've ever rode."

The Youngs purchased Coco as a yearling at the start of the COVID shutdown in 2020 from his breeder Kurt Stone, DVM.

"Kurt and I go way back. The first stud that Kurt stood was a 7/8ths brother to my rodeo horse," said Sally Young referring to her rodeo horse JL Takin In Fame and Stone's former stallion BF Solitude. "That definitely piqued our interest. After he sold that stud, he told us about Fame Ta Corona."

Coco is by Fame Ta Corona, a son of Dash Ta Fame out of DTV Bucky Cartel, a full sister to multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier Rosas Cantina CC, by Corona Cartel. His dam is the Redmaker mare Dinkys Double Cash. Young had previously owned Coco's half-sister by BF Solitude.

"We didn't expect him to be like this," said Young. "He came along so easily. Even after I got him back from the colt breaker, I called him to tell him he did such a great job and he said, 'I didn't really do anything. This colt is just the kind that you show him and he does it.' Jamey and I say the same thing, we don't really do anything. We just saddle him up."

Since Young started the gelding, Hunt had ridden the colt off and on, so he knows him well.

"Sally has started that colt and has done everything with him," said Hunt, who appreciated the opportunity to run Coco. "Sally and I ride together a lot. They're kind of like my second parents. We're really close. Every now and then after she started that colt, she'd come ride with me. I would just step on him periodically and feel him out. I'd make a couple of hard passes on him teaching him how to run, but she did all the hard work with him."

So far, Young and Hunt have split time on the gelding with Young riding him at the opens and Hunt riding him at the bigger futurities.

"I was actually supposed to run him at this one but I think it worked out better!" said Young, who did well on Coco at the Lucky Dog in Texarkana, Arkansas, the weekend before. The colt got a little strong on her and since she knew Hunt was already out in Texas for Elite, she just made a rider change.

"I told Rusty I don't want to get in trouble with this baby," said Young. "Jamey is kind of like a savant with horses. He kind of thinks horse. The minute he got on him, he put an O-ring on him. I was thinking more bit. Jamey said, 'No you're going to get in trouble with more bit. He's going to be brace.' He put the O-ring on him and the rest is history."

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: Coco stays with Sally, who handles his conditioning and tuning. "He gets ridden every day. He gets a few days after each weekend. He doesn't get worked very much. We trot the barrels, but it's just a slow trot. Usually, it's just a regular 30 minute walk, trot, lope, move off your leg, back up and be a good boy," said Sally.

Young admitted she doesn't like the pressure of the futurities. In fact, she had told Hunt's wife Ashley that she wished that Coco had been a good colt that made a great horse instead of being a great colt from the start.

"I just feel like it's easier when they don't jump up their first day to be a superstar," said Young, a WPRA Gold Card member and multiple Southeastern Circuit Champion. "It puts more pressure on the rider. In my mind, if they start out in the 3D and end up in the 1D, it's easier on the rider."

Hunt also placed sixth in the aggregate on Heavenly Fiesta, owned by Larry and Denise Bledsoe. He picked up the 4-year-old daughter of JL Dash Ta Heaven out of the No Mas Corona, Firewater Fiesta mare Uno Mas Fiesta, at the Golden Buckle Futurity in Waco in January.

"I took her to a jackpot two weeks ago and she clocked really well," said Hunt, who noted the mare hadn't many competition runs under her belt. "I told them I know you'll think I'm crazy but I'm taking her to Waco with me. This mare can clock and I can get her by. She's really gritty and really tries and wants to work."

She picked up $2,971.

"I think she's a pretty special horse too," he added. "She made a couple little bobbles and still clocked."

Hunt nearly had a sweep of the futurity with first and second place, but he caught a barrel in the second round on Ever Eddie, owned by Edwin Cameron and Tiany Schuster.

"I was so disgusted because he's like my favorite colt," said Hunt of the 5-year-old Eddie Stinson gelding out of WPRA World Champion producer Curiosity Corners, by Silver Lucky Buck.

"Tiany sent him to me the first of last year and I've had him a long time. He's a heck of a nice colt. He's placed everywhere I've taken him but something has always happened for him to win one. It's always me. I feel bad because he never does anything wrong."

All totaled Hunt took home more than $23,000 from Waco.

"It's a long trip but any time I've got a group of horses like that I'll drive back for a futurity like that," said Hunt. "The show was excellent. It ran so smooth. It was so laid back. You could keep up with everything down to a T and it ran exactly like it's supposed to. The ground was good and it paid really well. They went all out with awards too."

HEADIN' FOR HOME

"Classic" by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Do you enjoy a challenge, or do you prefer smooth sailing? That's a hard one. Smooth sailing is obviously the easiest path. BUT if we never challenge ourselves to grow, where will we be in a few months, or years? We'll be stuck. Stuck, stuck, stuck.

Everything we do in life, we need to grow. The only thing I can think of where we need to remind childlike, is our faith. If you ask a Christian if they love God, they will tell you, yes, of course! But let's look at it a little closer.

Do you use your talent for the world's benefit, or for God? If all your spare time is used giving to the world, and you do nothing to help at your church, is God first? Do you use all your extra money to entertain yourself and you won't give at church, is God first? Can you get to any school practice or event, rain or snow or sleet or hail? But when it's time for church and it's cold or the roads are slick, you stay home, is God first?

We all know the answer to these questions is. . . .no, God is not first. Yikes! That hurt! God gifted us like no one else. He needs us. He needs our best. Our best is not for the world only, it's for HIM! Since He gave us the very breath we breathe, this shouldn't be hard!

This month, let's put God first in a place where we know we have put Him 2nd, or last. I know we will all see blessings flow! It will be a challenge, but we will not be sorry!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
