Building His Brand – Adios Pantalones Wins Second Straight Futurity With Elite Victory

By Tanya Randall

Adios Pantalones, owned and ridden by Tricia Aldridge, claimed his second straight futurity championship at the $20,000-added, 125-entry HHA Futurity at the Elite Extravaganza, held February 29 through March 3 in Waco, Texas.

“He’s just an incredible athlete,” said the Sanger, Texas, based trainer. “I’m super proud of him and super blessed to be his person.”

When Aldridge purchased the weanling Tres Seis colt, out of the Frenchmans Guy mare French Bar Belle, from his breeder Leslie Bailey, in 2020, she knew he needed a special name.

“When I look through the list of incentive stallions, I have to go all the way to the S’s to find my other stud—Streakin Lil Wayne—so I knew I wanted something that started closer to the beginning of the alphabet,” Aldridge explained.

She also knew it needed to be catchy.

“There’s a locally brewed beer called Adios Pantalones, and I thought that would be a great name for a horse.”

Now with five futurity championships, nearly $190,000 in earnings and a viral social media following, Adios Pantalones is a name known far and wide inside and outside the barrel racing industry.

“The social media keeps me really busy, handling messages and talking to people,” said Aldridge. Not only does the stallion have a waiting list for his stud book years into the future, he also has healthy “merch” sales thanks to clever word plays on his name to augment his arena prowess.

Aldridge, who formerly wrote project contracts for a paving company, now has her days full of training her own horses and marketing Adios and her Red Hot Barrel Horses.

“I really just do my own thing,” she said. “I have three for this year and two for next year. I don’t really ride 2-year-olds, so we get them broke in the summer and I don’t really start on them until they’re 3. I’m mostly busy being Adios’ Uber driver.”

Aldridge has Adios collected off site but handles all of the contract work and shipping on her own.

In fact, Adios was in the breeding shed the morning he was hauled to Waco. While Thursday was uneventful, on Friday, Adios had a mare stalled in front of him that was ready to be bred.

“I don’t like him to be in the stud stalls, because I don’t want him to feel isolated,” she explained. “I always stall him next to my gelding and put my tack stall next to him then my mare. Friday, he had a mare right in front of him that’s ready to breed. That’s like the worst case scenario when hauling a stallion.”

After visiting with the mare’s owner, they hung a curtain behind the mare’s stall. Although he could still smell her—which he was used to since he hauls with mares—he couldn’t see her.

“After that, he was passed out sleeping,” Aldridge said. “He didn’t even notice.”

They won the first round with a 15.028, the second fastest run of the day, and came back with a 14.880 to place fifth in the second round for the aggregate victory.

“He’s a unicorn,” she said. “He went out there and made the same pass that he always does. I think that’s the fun of running him now is that I know he'll do it twice. I feel like the first round, he's always feeling out the ground a little bit, but the second round, he was quite a bit faster."

The victory was worth $9,564, plus $487 in open carryover earnings and $1,890 for a third-place finish in the Xtreme Mini Million sidepot.

Adios' total earnings now stand at $188,646 and Aldridge has a goal set for $300,000.

That quest will continue this week at The Patriot in Fort Worth.

Luckily, it's close enough to home that Adios will spend the night in his own pen in Sanger, Texas, between his runs.

"He feels really good and has been staying really sound," she said. "I think it's just easy and fun for him, so we're going to go to The Patriot. He feels like he's handling everything amazing. He's just super happy and playful."

Aldridge said of all the things she does, keeping Adios happy and healthy is her No. 1 priority.

En Fuego – Jodee Miller & M R Im On Fire Guys Top Elite Derby

By Tanya Randall

Jodee Miller & M R Im On Fire Guys (“Fuego”) have been on a hot streak. The Santo, Texas, duo put the barrel racing world on notice with an exceptional performance at San Antonio, their very first professional rodeo, and capped it off with a $6,446 Elite Derby Championship in Waco, Texas.

“He’s living up to his on fire name! He’s on fire!” said Miller, who also won $2,179 with open carryover times.

Bred by Stacey Dunn Padilla, Fuego is French StreakToVegas, the late champion sire owned by Miller’s sister Jayme Robison, and out of the Walk Thru Fire mare N Fuego. He is a half-brother to Padilla’s current pro rodeo money earner That Girls N Fuego, by First Down French.

Miller and her sister purchased Fuego, now 7, as a long yearling at the last Texas Best Sale, held in Bryan, Texas, in 2018.

“My sister had just bought French StreakToVegas,” Miller recalled. “I asked my sister if we could bid on him, and she said, ‘We don’t need another one, but sure, why not!’ No one really knew what Streak was at that point, except for what he had won. I think we paid like $3,500 for him.”

Miller said it took Fuego “forever” to blossom.

“He was always really lanky and insecure,” she said. “It took him a while to warm up to you and be friendly.”

She said she knew he was most likely a 5-year-old futurity horse, so she took her time training him.

"I always knew he was going to be great. When he was 3 and 4, I would laugh and say I know he's going to be a winner because not many horses can turn a barrel in the wrong lead and make it feel right! That was pretty much how he was all the time. He was goofy and all over the place. He didn't trust anyone. It just took some time to get to where he is. Now he's doing what I always knew he could do."

Fuego got his breakthrough win at the 2022 Better Barrel Races Southern Territorial Futurity. As a derby horse, he took the reserve championship at the BFA World, running the second fastest time of the event, and he placed third at OKC.

Oklahoma City was his last run until the San Antonio qualifier in January.

"I always try to (rodeo) season the really good ones especially during their second derby year," she explained. "My initial thought on the San Antonio qualifier was, 'No, I'm not going to do it.' It was twice up there and then you have to go to San Antonio and run a bunch of times."

Even though she figured she didn't have a chance with a young horse, she did it anyway since she didn't have anything else going on at the time. Then she qualified.

"I didn't really think beyond that and then it got a little complicated with (the Kinder Futurity) going on and having a horse that had never been to a rodeo performance," she chuckled. "Those were things that I hadn't really planned for."

Miller took Fuego to Fort Worth for the weekly rodeo at Cowtown Coliseum just to get him in a rodeo performance atmosphere. From that experience, she learned that ear plugs were a game changer for the horse.

In the challenging set up at San Antonio that gave even seasoned rodeo horses fits, Fuego exceeded Miller's wildest expectations.

"I can't believe how solid he was," she said. That's the one thing that I've always loved about that horse. He goes where I ask him. There's not a lot of horses that can win that will do that.

"Barrels are going to fall. That's just part of it. But he's not going to short me. I know that my horse isn't going to get too ratey making three runs. I'm just happy he is as comfortable in the rodeo setting as he is in the derby setting."

Miller also knew from past futurity and derby experiences that Fuego gets at least three tenths faster with every run.

"When you run at the rodeos, you just hope that works out the same way," she said. "There's nothing more fun than having a three round rodeo and knowing your horse is going to speed up three tenths with every run."

Having done so well at San Antonio, Miller considered skipping the Elite Derby, but she wanted redemption for a tipped barrel last year.

"Last year we hit a barrel to win, so I wanted to go again," she

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: "He falls along with all my horses. They're on a every other day schedule. I have an exerciser one day and get rode every other day. I like to work the barrels before I run. It's probably bred in me because I'm a horse trainer. I have a hard time running anywhere without working the barrels before. I just like to trot him around a barrel and keep him soft in my hands."

said. "At San Antonio, I had to make so many runs that I didn't really want to go but I also felt that it might be good to go back to his roots and see how he is. Let's go back and exhibition and see if he can be quiet, because he did get wound up in the back at San Antonio."

Fuego won the opening round of the derby with a 15.052, but Miller said the run felt "wild."

"I do feel like he was a little stronger than he typically is," she said. "He wasn't bad or anything. I felt like I was too aggressive. It looked great, but I felt things that I needed to work on. I want to be more relaxed and keep him soft up into the barrels. There's a lot of adrenaline and pressure that comes with the rodeos more so than the derbies, mainly because it's what I do."

Miller made some adjustments for the second round and turned in the fastest time of the event, 14.766.

"I knew what my first run lacked and what I didn't love, so, I worked on that," she said. "We perfected it in the second round, and I couldn't have been happier. The clock obviously showed that we fixed a lot, and I can tell you from my perspective on his back that I felt it too."

Miller, who unexpectedly sits No. 25 in the WPRA World Standings with $14,078, has Rodeo Austin next on the books for Fuego. They won enough at the San Antonio qualifier to be eligible for the limited-entry rodeo without going to it's qualifying event in Stephenville, Texas.

Summer Kosel & FireWaterFrenchFame Pocket $18,496 at The Big League

By Tanya Randall

The second time was a charm for Summer Kosel and her great gelding FireWaterFrenchFame ("Apollo") at The Big League, a one-run high-stakes open slot race held February 29 in Glen Rose, Texas. Kosel and Apollo were second at the inaugural event last year but took top honors this year for $18,496.

Kosel, a 2023 National Finals Rodeo qualifier from Glenham, South Dakota, found out about last year's race when she was staying at Isaac and Britney Diaz's place for the winter rodeos.

"I ended up going because Britany was going," she explained. "It was literally two days before the race. Britany said I should see if anyone was selling their slot on Facebook. I ended up buying two—one from Ilyssa Riley and one from Keyla Costa."

After her success last year, Kosel made sure she kept her spots for this year. She has won more than $33,000 total on Apollo at that event now, so it's been a great place to pick up travel money for the rodeo circuit.

"It's one of the very few (jackpots) that I'll run Apollo at," she said.

Apollo, a 2014 gelding by Aint Seen Nothin Yet, is the second NFR qualifier raised by Carol Warren out of the Fire Water Flit mare Fire Water Flyer. The first was Shu Fire, a 2010 daughter of Dash Of Royal Gold, who carried Jessie Telford.

Originally trained as a calf horse, Apollo was six when he started his barrel training with Emilee Pauley. Kosel's husband, Kevin, a rancher and rodeo contractor, purchased the gelding 50 days later.

Apollo took Kosel from a circuit barrel racer to 2023 NFR qualifier.

"I just had Faith that God made Apollo different," she said. "That was very evident from the first rodeo I entered. I stayed in my circuit with him. His third rodeo ever was Belle Fourche over the Fourth of July. He won it with all of the big dogs there. We knew that he was special, but I had just been hanging in my circuit. I had a lot of people telling me that I needed to go."

Her friend Kailee Webb talked her into traveling a little outside of the Badlands Circuit in 2022. After setting an arena record at the Cheyenne Frontier Days, Kosel made the decision to try for the NFR in 2023.

"I kept praying about it, before I ever decided last year that we were going to leave the circuit and give it a go," she said. "I just said, 'God, please don't let this all be in vain. I want to glorify you on a big stage.' I feel like if you're going to do something big, you've got to give it all to God. Otherwise, it really is done in vain. It was amazing to me to see God's work in everything. I had a lot of circus acts that ended up being miracles and blessings in the end. I'm more in awe of what happened when I gave everything to God instead of trying to do stuff in my own will."

Kosel is looking to make a second straight NFR appearance. She's currently No. 40 in the WPRA World Standings with $9,557 after picking up checks at Fort Worth and San Antonio, Texas. She's out at Rodeo Houston the first of next week.

"I'm just hitting the big winter rodeos," she the mother of four.

Entries now open for the WPR Western Region and Calgary Stampede qualifier

Get ready to race and rope your way to The Greatest Outdoor Show on Earth, entries are now open for the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPR) Western Region Barrels & Breakaway and Calgary Stampede qualifier. This brand new, high-caliber event is a partnership between the Calgary Stampede and the WPR and provides the women of rodeo with another path to qualify for the Stampede's prestigious Rodeo and Rocky Mountain Cup.

"The Calgary Stampede is committed to continuing to promote and elevate barrel racing and breakaway roping, as a reflection of their growing popularity across Canada and the United States," says Kristina Barnes, Manager of Agriculture & Western Events for the Calgary Stampede. "We are excited to partner with the WPR on this great new opportunity for athletes to saddle up and take the reins on the road to the Calgary Stampede."

Taking place in Salina, UT April 11-14, the inaugural competition is open to WPR barrel racers and breakaway ropers from across the United States and Canada. The marquee event for the weekend will be the Calgary Stampede qualifier with the top two finishers, not already qualified, earning a spot to compete in their respective events at the 2024 Calgary Stampede. Only 30 women in barrel racing and 30 in breakaway roping will get the honor to compete in July in Calgary.

"We are excited about this new WPR event for our members and adding the Calgary Stampede qualifier to the weekend is a great addition," stated Jimmie Munroe, WPR President. "We hope that our members will take advantage of this opportunity."

Official entries are being taken through www.saddlebook.com. Entries will remain open until April 5, 2024. Non-WPR members are welcome to compete during the weekend in the following races:

Futurity Race - $5,000 added

Derby Race - $2,500 added

Open 5D - $10,000 added ($5,000 each day April 13 and 14)

Find more information on entries and ground rules for the Western Region Event here.

This U.S. based competition compliments the successful Calgary Stampede Barrel Racing Qualifier, which has been taking place in Canada since 2021. This year, the Stampede will host its Ladies Barrel Racing qualifier June 11- 12 at the Nutrien Western Event Centre on Stampede Park. The top three from this event, not already qualified, will earn a spot at the World's Largest Outdoor Rodeo.

Breakaway roping made its Stampede debut in 2023, as an addition to the Rocky Mountain Cup. A Stampede hosted qualifier gave the four fastest ropers a chance to compete in Canada's richest day of roping. This year, the Calgary Stampede Ladies

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I read this statement the other day and it went off in my heart. "Church is not a spectator event. It is an expectator event." I don't know if expectator is a real word or not. But, if all we do when we go to church is watch, we're missing something.

Why would God put the gifts and talents inside of us if we aren't going to use them? Let's say I have a gift to organize events. And my church needs an event organized. But I don't step up. So, they pick the person gifted in singing because they are willing to help. Singing doesn't get done and the event is a bit of a muddle.

This is pretty simplistic of course, but the truth is, as a part of the body of Christ, I'm sitting on my behind and letting everyone else do the work. It's like asking the ear to run a marathon.

We need each other. Don't let the devil lie to you and tell you that you just don't have what it takes. Or. Nobody asked you. Or you are too busy. We are all busy. It comes down to doing what the word of God tells us in Matthew 6:33. Seek first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you.

When God is first place, He comes along side of us and everything else in our lives smooths out! Win! Win!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
