Straight to Cloud 10 -- Shelley Morgan and HR FamesKissAndTell Conquer The American

By Tanya Randall

"I skipped Cloud 9 and went straight to 10!" said newly crowned American Champion Barrel Racer Shelley Morgan.

She and her great mare HR FamesKissAndTell topped the March 6 event at AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas, for a cool $100,000. She said she's not sure anything has really sunk in yet; even more than 24 hours post victory.

"Don't get me wrong, the money is amazing, but it's more about the moment," she said. "It really doesn't hit you at the moment because you're so involved with your run and focused on your horse. It just happens so fast that you don't really think about it until it's all over...how rewarding, how fun and how cool! I love being the one that gets to win!"

A Busy Week

Morgan, a three-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier from Eustace, Texas, started the week with three runs in Super Series I at Rodeo Houston, where she and Kiss advanced to the Semifinals with $1,750 won.

"She did good," said Morgan, "but we're going to do a little bit better when we get back over there!"

They had Thursday to rest at home before heading to Cowtown Coliseum, locally known as Northside, in Fort Worth for Friday afternoon practice for the Contender Round.

In years prior, the invited WPRA Top 10 competed head to head with the top 10 challengers out of the American Semifinals at AT&T Stadium. This year, the invitees had to survive the trap pen in Northside to make the cut to go to Arlington.

Unfortunately, Northside wasn't Kiss's favorite pen.

"I'd run there a couple of times and she was always slow," recalled Morgan. "I was a little worried and Rex (her husband) was too. When they changed the long round to Northside, he was like 'Dang it!' We just know her and we've ran at Northside before and it's just never fast."

Kiss, a daughter of CEO, a Jet Of Honor, Bugs Alive In 75, Shoot Yeah-bred stallion, out of the Dash Ta Fame, Fire Water Flit, Nonstop Jeb-bred mare, only ran fast there one time—when they were trying to come through the qualifier when she was young. Kiss clocked but hit a barrel so Morgan bought-back for another run, only to have Kiss run slower.

She thinks getting her in the arena Friday afternoon before the evening's performance helped.

"I was the first one in there and I was just going to ride around," she said. "I don't have to have the barrels, but if there's barrels set up I will walk or trot around them. After I was in there for a little while, some other girls came and set up pop ups so I walked them. I never go faster than a walk or trot when they have open arena because I'm always trying to keep her quiet."

Morgan asked Kiss for everything and they managed to advance in eighth position with a 13.751.

"Sometimes in buildings, especially her first run, she'll be a little slow, but if you give her a second run, she'll be better," Morgan explained. "Her first run she doesn't always fire. I knew I was going to have to ask her for everything."

Morgan was joined by five fellow NFR qualifiers—Molly Otto, who jump rode RF Back For The Cash, owned by Ryan and Fonda with a stifle injury, and World Champions Jordon Briggs and Famous Lil Jet.

The four contenders were Canadian teenager Oceane Veilleux and Heaven Guy, Tasha Welsh and Seis Smashin Fame, Charlie Johnson Maass and Phoenixonthecimarron, who all made it through the long round and performances at the Semifinals, and Jr NFR Champions Devin Young and Jettin To Docs Bar, who was an exemption to the Contender Round.

Anyone of us could have won

Morgan and Kiss were making their second appearance at The American. They were invited last year as members of the WPRA's Top 10. Although it helped being in the stadium before the setup was slightly different. Last year it was one big arena, not split into two separate ones.

The setup is quite tricky.

"When you're coming in from the gate into the alley, the (first) barrel is directly in front of you," she explained. "It's sitting right in the middle of the alley. I think that's why a lot of horses were having a tough time with it.

"My second run—mind you I'd been in there that morning (for practice) and had already made my first run—when I was coming in the gate I saw a barrel and I was thinking, 'OK, there's my third barrel. Oh wait, no! That's my first barrel!"

Knowing that Kiss wouldn't have trouble finding her first, Morgan focused on her approach.

"My goal was to send her toward the middle and let her veer over to it, so she could make her steps and be set up for the second barrel," she said.

On her first run, Morgan was trying to keep Kiss's hip to the right in the alley so she could head up the middle because she thought the mare kicking her hip to the left would put them on a bad approach to the first.

"I couldn't get her hip back over and I just had to send her," she said. "I concentrated too much on that and I was trying too hard to make everything perfect that I was literally in her way the whole run. She does better when I leave her alone. I told Rex the second run I was just going to try to point her to her spot and let her do her thing."

Morgan and Kiss's 14.941 was enough to get them back to the Championship Round in third position with Young setting the pace and Briggs and Johnson Maass rounding out the final four contestants.

With the bull riding and concert with Tim McGraw and Faith Hill, as well as the Championship Rounds for the other events before the barrel racing finale, Morgan had more than two hours to rest.

"We had found some grass and had little pens built," she said. "I yanked that saddle and bridle off of her and turned her loose and let get head down, iced her legs and gave her a little bit of hay. We just chilled out."

In the Championship Round, they ran in order of finish. Young set the pace only to be eclipsed by Briggs. Morgan did her part to stay out of Kiss's way and the mare responded with a 14.609 with just Johnson Maass left to work.

"Everyone in the final four laid down a run," she said. "Anyone of us could have won it yesterday and deserved it. It just happened to be Kiss's day. It was so fun!"

Making the victory extra special was having her husband Rex down in the tunnel with her. Rex was aboard Will Merada ("Radar"), Morgan's Texas Circuit Champion and now Kiss's "cooler."

"I think the most awesome feeling at the American is when I ran out and Rex was doing all his cheering at the gate," she said. "That makes my heart really happy. The second awesome feeling is when you round the third barrel and you hear everyone screaming. It was loud! I just love that! It's such a rush!"

Team Morgan

Her husband of 30 years this June got a little choked up with her victory.

"I'll watch it again and I'll still tear up," he said.

Morgan has always been extremely appreciative of her husband, who has driven her so much she nearly doesn't remember how. "He's so cool," she said, while telling Rex to close his ears. "I'm the selfish one with all my rodeo goals. He puts all that first and lives in that moment with me. When I came out of the alley when I finished running—we cannot hear down there—I had no idea, but he's sitting at the gate and has that fist pumping going. I knew by his reaction that I had taken the lead. That's the only reason I knew. "When they had me captured (doing all the interviews), he texted me, 'I'm so happy.' He lives in the moment with me. It's like he's right there in it too."

Rex said he just enjoys helping her.

"It's all her and Kiss," he said. "I do get them there and do her entering, but she's the one that puts all the hard work into it. I'll go out there and help her feed in the evening, but that's pretty much all I do with the horses. She's the one out there working all day after cooking breakfast and cooking dinner, doing laundry and cleaning the house. She does all that too. Everyone thinks I'm really good, but she's really the good one. She does more for me than I do for her, but nobody sees that."

He said he wasn't nervous watching them run for the $100,000.

"I really don't get nervous anymore," he said. "I used to. The confidence that Kiss gives her... Shelley's really confident and very determined. If she tells you she's going to do something, she usually does it. It's been that way her whole life. I did tell her after the 10 round that, 'You need to go win this thing,' and she said, 'I'm going to."

Selling Gold at the Gas Station

With rising fuel prices, Morgan's $100,000 haul will come in handy over the summer run. For now, she'll focus on the spring rodeos in Texas. After a week's break for Kiss, the mare will be back in action next Tuesday at Rodeo Houston and then again on Wednesday for the Rodeo Houston Semifinals.

Her younger horses Kinda Heavenly ("Phoebe") and Tres Leche ("Tres"), owned by Todd and Marcie Laughery, will see more action too.

"My plan is to put Kiss away a little bit this spring," she said. "I'll run her at San Angelo and then run these other two and get them going good. Phoebe did really good last spring and I'm hoping she does it again. I'm also hoping to get Tres going good too this spring."

Although it will likely take some time for her American victory to full sink in, Morgan is grateful for the support of the awesome fans that attended the event, Teton Ridge for the opportunity, the positivity of gateman Carl Hardin, and the Cowboy Channel for airing the event so her parents could watch comfortably.

She also appreciated all the support from her fans.

"I appreciate every single Facebook and text message," she said. "We read all of them on the way home. That's what I spent a lot of day doing. It hasn't really calmed down enough yet to sink in. It's so exciting! How many times do you get to do something like that? That may be the only time. I'm hoping not. I'm truly enjoying where I am in my life and have the horse that I have right now. I've got to go places with other horses like Short Go (her first NFR horse) and Radar, but she has definitely taken me places, like (The American), that I've never got to experience in my whole life. I'm just so thankful and grateful! It's awesome!"

Laura Mote & Reb Hot Redbull Top American Semifinals Performances

By Tanya Randall

Teenager Laura Mote and her 9-year-old gelding Reb Hot Redbull turned in the fastest time of the American Semifinal Performances, held March 1-3 at the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas. The Llano, Texas, barrel racer punched her ticket to the Contender Round and picked up $20,680 in the process.

Mote and Redbull had actually made three trips to the weekly Stockyards Rodeo in Cowtown Coliseum to prepare for the American Semifinals.

"Before the Semifinals I went up there three weekends in a row," she explained. "The first time I went, it was three weeks before the Semifinals, and I ended up winning the rodeo on Saturday. I was like keep going and get it perfect. I went back the next weekend and we didn't do any good. I can't go into the Semifinals with this bad run, so I went back again the next weekend and it got even worse! We did not have very good runs going into there. I had originally thought we'd go in there and get some confidence...and yeah...we did not!"

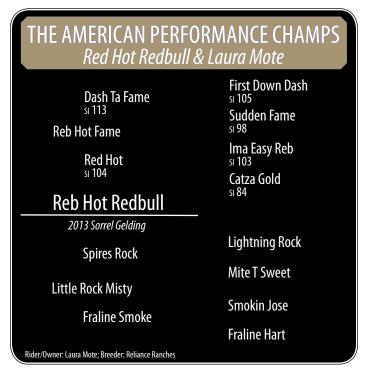

Going into the Long Round on Friday, February 25, Mote just hoped she could get her first barrel right.

"We had been having heck with first," said the daughter of champion Bobby Mote and his wife Kate. "We were either going way too fast or too slow. There's no in between with Redbull. I was just trying to ease to it and turn the first and go on from there."

They got their first right, but almost dragged it over in their 13.709 effort that placed 15th out of 294.

"When I left the first, my stirrup grazed it and it tipped," she said. "I had no idea it tipped until I heard the crowd! We went on to make a smooth run which is what I wanted to do in the long round."

On Tuesday, March 1, they had their performance run that would determine the 10 qualifiers advancing to the Contender Round against the WPRA Top 10. Mote was a lot more confident.

"I knew he was going to turn the first because we had a good first in the long round," she said. "I had a little more confidence but this was the point where we had to turn the gas on a little bit, but still be smooth and clean."

They squeaked around the second barrel to win the performances with a 13.577.

"Going around the second barrel, it started to tip so I had to let go of my reins and set the barrel back," she said. "I don't even know how that worked!"

Friday's run in the Contender Round was the most nerve wracking. "I was a little bit worried how we'd stay clean," she said. "I knew we needed to pick up a bit because we were running against the best 10 in the world. I was a little bit nervous. It turned out he didn't want me to drop the reins and do that again because he ran all the way up in there. He made a good run. It was really smooth. There was a really weird spot on the third and we kind of hit that spot leaving and stutter stepped."

Mote advanced to AT&T with the fourth fastest time in the Contender Round, a 13.680.

However, before running at AT&T, she had some unfinished business at Hooey Junior Patriot.

"I qualified for the Junior Patriot even before I qualified for the American," she explained. "That thing pays really good. I ran in the Junior Patriot Semifinals on Wednesday and then on Saturday before AT&T I ran at the Junior Patriot Finals.

"After Friday night, knowing that I was going to AT&T, it was a little bit difficult to focus on that when all I could focus on was going to AT&T. It was good to get out and go run in a different arena other than Cowtown."

Mote picked up $17,296 for a third-place finish at the Junior definitely wish I could press the replay button and do it a little differently. It was definitely an experience."

Mote, who is currently finishing up her last year of high school rodeo and her rookie year in the WPRA, is game to go back and do it all again.

"I'm definitely ready to try it again," she said. "Just now that I know that I can make it that far, all the way to AT&T, makes me want to even more."

It actually took her three attempts to get qualified for the Semifinals and in doing so, she learned a valuable lesson in perseverance—one that she's eager to share with others.

"I was definitely about to give up," she said, recalling going to her third qualifier at the OKC Futurity. "At the beginning of the year, it was my thing. 'I'm going to make the American this year!' That was my third one and I thought I wasn't even good enough to go to the American Semifinals. I hit a barrel at Ardmore to win second. Other than that, I had not done well. My advice to anyone that's been to an American qualifier and not done well is do not give up yet, keep entering!"

Brittany Dallaire & Heavenly Harvey Run Fastest Time of American Semifinals to Win Long Go

By Tanya Randall

Thoroughbred broker Brittany Dallaire of Morristown, Florida, and her 4-year-old futurity horse Heavenly Harvey turned in the fastest time of the entire American Semifinals Rodeo and Contender Round with their Long Round winning 13.464. The pocketed $23,870 for outrunning 293 of the toughest horses in the country.

"I'm thankful for them to have it," said Dallaire. "It's nice to have that kind of money to run at. I really enjoyed the process and hope to go back."

Dallaire, 29, breaks, trains and sells Thoroughbred racehorses at her Envision Farms. Although she's a lifelong barrel racer, she started galloping Thoroughbreds at age 14 for a fellow barrel racer. By 21, she had her own farm and horse business.

While the Thoroughbred are her business, barrel horses are her personal passion. She's been asked to take outside horses for training but rather devote her precious down time to training her own, like Harvey.

"I bought him off a Facebook auction, sight unseen," she said. "I always wanted a JL Dash Ta Heaven and I always wanted a black horse, so I thought I might as well. It usually doesn't work out that way but it's worked out for me."

Dallaire purchased him a yearling through Solo Select's online auction in summer of 2019.

Bred by Jud Little, Harvey is by leading barrel horse sire JL Dash Ta Heaven and out of Ima Cash Dancer, a 1D running daughter of Cash Not Credit out of a multiple aged event champion Tornado Dancer, by Tiny Tornado Too.

Dallaire said Harvey's training was "pretty easy."

"From the very beginning he showed a lot of talent," she said.

to please, so that makes it easy. I don't do a whole lot of tuning at home. I probably take him through the barrels once or twice at a trot. It's mainly just riding him and keeping him fit."

Harvey made his debut at the BFA World Championships, where he placed in the Super Stakes, Juvenile and Future Fortunes Juvenile Sires' Slot.

"He's been pretty solid from the beginning," she said.

Dallaire had qualified for the American on two different horses but chose to run Harvey in one of those spots.

"When I qualified I had full intention of running him there even though he wasn't old enough to run at the time," she said. "He was clocking really good at the time. At the show I qualified to go to the American, I had exhibitioned Harvey there and he would have been fast enough to qualify. So, even though I didn't qualify on him I had hoped to run him there if he continued to go the way I wanted him to go."

Like all young horses, Harvey threw a little curveball with some less than stellar performances leading up to the American. If it wasn't for her family and friends pushing her to go, she would have stayed home and worked at her Thoroughbred farm.

"When I qualified for the Semifinals out there, I made an agreement with myself that if I didn't think I had a chance I wouldn't go because it's very hard to be gone for two weeks like that," she said. "Honestly a week before the Semis, my horse didn't work great. I went somewhere where the ground wasn't great and he didn't work super, so I wasn't going to go. All my friends and parents were like, 'No, you're going. He deserves to be there.' They pretty much threw me in the truck!"

The only prior experience Harvey got to have in the Cowtown Coliseum was a 60-second exhibition before her long go run on Friday, February 25.

"I loped him through my first time," she explained. "I wanted to send him down the alleyway a little bit to see if he would find his first barrel and he did. Then, I came off the third barrel and loped him through again since we weren't allowed to go down the alleyway again. I just let him get a feel of the ground and see everything. He exhibitioned really well so that gave me a lot of confidence. His main thing is the ground. If the ground won't hold him that's usually what will put him out of contention. If it hold him, he'll be right there."

The ground got the youngster a little during his performance run at the second and third barrel.

"He's a little immature and doesn't know how to handle it yet," she said. "He doesn't know how to safety-up. One day, he'll learn."

Patriot Pays For Sisters Ceri Ward and Paige Jones

By Tanya Randall

Sisters Paige Jones and Ceri Ward of Wayne, Oklahoma, had a great week at The Patriot, held February 25-March 6 at the Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas.

Jones, the 2020 WPRA Rookie Of The Year, captured her second straight Hooey Junior Patriot 19-and-under Barrel Racing Championship. She picked up $40,784 in her last youth rodeo appearance, riding Famous Hayday ("Bazinga"), a 10-year-old gelding from the famed Youree-Ward Barrel Horses.

"It's been incredible the past couple of years," Jones said of the Jr Patriot. "First it was the Jr American and now it's the Jr Patriot. It gives all the kids the opportunity to run at bigger money."

It's a very busy time of year for Jones, who's actively chasing an NFR berth. She was in San Antonio but had to run up to the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth to make her long-go run for the American Semifinals before driving back south for San Antonio's Wildcard Round and Finals. Then it was back to Fort Worth for the Jr Patriot in Will Rogers.

She made her first run at Will Rogers in the 2023 American Qualifier but got by the first barrel a little to be too long to qualify. The next day, she managed to squeak into the Jr Patriot Finals in the last hole with a 15th place tied in the Semifinals but came out on top in the Finals with a 15.571 worth $40,000.

"I was top of the ground and it was really good," she said. "It was pretty deep sand and it was kind of packed down from all the other events that had happened. I just went in there to try to place. I didn't think I'd win it."

Bazinga has been Jones' sole mount with her BFA World Futurity Champion and last year's Jr Patriot Champion High Cotton Lane out with injury. She got to make one run on Cotton at San Antonio since his injury but he's back out for short while healing from a cut from a downed barrel.

She bought the gelding by PC Frenchmans Hayday, out of Jaxons Olympic Fame, by Poco Lijerito, at the beginning of 2017 as a 5-year-old.

"He did really good at the high school rodeos for me," she said.

"He helped me win the last three years of state. He's won a few pro rodeos throughout the summer the past few years."

Bazinga, who is a half-brother to Emily Beisel's Biddin On Fame, favors the rodeos with hard ground and barrels off the fence, so she's often run Cotton more at the events with deep footing and the barrels on the fence.

"With Cotton hurt, I've been running Bazinga a lot more places and we've been getting along great lately," said Jones, who at the time of this interview was running at Rodeo Houston.

She currently sits 42nd in the WPRA World Standings with $8,220 but is making the Semifinals at Rodeo Houston.

Her older sister Ward collected $20,740 on the week after winning the $20,000-added Open on This Guys No Angel ("Takota"), owned by John and Becky Maubach, placing sixth in the futurity on Sirius Inquirys Only, owned by Ward and her husband Reagan, and earning checks aboard two other horses, one of which qualified her for the 2023 American Semifinals.

Ward started her week in Fort Worth at the American Semifinals in Cowtown Coliseum but had no luck. She got off on a good start at Will Rogers by placing in the 2023 American Qualifier aboard VF Last Shot Of Red, an Eddie Stinson 5-year-old mare, owned by the Moyer family. The Moyers daughter, Merrick, 13, also qualified for the 2023 riding Ward's gelding Hiccup.

"That was a pretty exciting way to start the week," said Ward. Between Moyer and Ward, they qualified six of the seven horses they had for the Open Finals. "With Merrick running Hiccup, we had six of the seven horses running in the short go and all were in the 1 and 2D. My slowest one in the short go was one hole out of placing in the 2D."

Takota, whom she's been riding about a year, was her star, clocking a 15.654 to win the event and a $15,422 check. The 11-year-old gelding was bred by Bill and Deb Myers and is by Frenchmans Guy out of the Brisco County Jr mare Briscos Angel.

"We've been in a little bit of slump," said Ward, who ran a 13.9 in the long of the American Semi-Finals on the gelding. "I made my first run (in the open) and it was okay. I decided to change some things up for the second go and that got us back in the groove at the end of last year. It carried on into the short go and he worked great."

Ward said she just decided to ride him more aggressively.

"I was trying to let it happen instead of make it happen," she said. "On him, I was like, I need to make it happen. Be aggressive and ask him for everything instead of waiting on him. That's very out of character for me. I'm high energy so I like to back myself off and let it happen and not get in a hurry."

BARREL RACING REPORT NEWS

Womens Rodeo World Championships Set for May 18

Fort Worth and the Cowtown Coliseum will make Western sports history in 2022, when the Women's Rodeo World Championship rides into the Fort Worth Stockyards on May 18. The all-women's rodeo will bring Cowtown edge-of-the-seat action where cowgirls from around the country will compete for the largest purse in the history of women's rodeo.

For one night only, the Top 40 women in the world will compete in one of the most exciting live sporting events to witness, going head-to-head in team roping, breakaway roping, and barrel racing. A collective $750,000 will be on the line, with $182,500 being paid out in each discipline and each event champion leaving the Cowtown Coliseum with a minimum of $60,000.

Each event Champion will walk away with $60,000 while the All-Around World Champion will earn a $20,000 cash bonus. WRWC will also award each World Champion a $5,000 bonus per discipline per leaderboard.

The event will be the second of four Major rodeos comprising the 2022 WCRA Triple Crown of Rodeo. Should the victor in any discipline at the Women's Rodeo World Championship also take the top spot on the podium at the subsequent two WCRA Majors, the athlete will be eligible to win an additional $1 million cash bonus.

In 2021, world title holder and Texas Native Madison Outhier captured her second consecutive Women's Rodeo World Championship, propelling the 19-year-old to the fifth richest athlete in the WCRA. As the only athlete to earn the WRWC breakaway roping world champion title, Outhier has won over $124,000 in the championship event, edging legendary Cowgirls Jackie Crawford and Hope Thompson.

Outhier was also joined in the winner's circle at the 2022 world championship by All-Around World Champion Cowgirl Shelby Boisjoli, Team Roping World Champions Lari Dee Guy and Jimmi Jo Montera along with then 17-year-old Barrel Racing World Champion Rainey Skelton.

WRWC is a culmination of a year-long race of women's rodeo events worldwide. Athletes qualify for the WRWC by earning points and leaderboard positions using the VRQ (Virtual Rodeo Qualifier). Add All Around $20 and World Champions $5K bonuses?

The Women's Rodeo World Championship begins at 7:30 p.m. CT on Wednesday, May 18. All 40 athletes will go head-to-head in a long round with the top three best runs advancing to the Triple Crown of Rodeo round following an intermission. The top athlete in each discipline from the TCR round will be crowned the next Women's Rodeo World Champion.

Tickets will go on sale Monday, March 7 and start at $20. They can be purchased at the Cowtown Coliseum Box Office, or online at cowtowncoliseum.com.

Since launching in May of 2020, the WRWC and has awarded more than $1,500,000 in new money to women rodeo athletes. All rodeo athletes interested in learning more about the WRWC should be directed to wrwc.rodeo.

A welcome reception is planned for 2 p.m., April 8 at the Texas Rodeo Cowboy Hall of Fame which is in Cowtown Coliseum.

Rosser Sumpter Named Commissioner of WRWC

Women's Rodeo World Championship today announced the appointment of Linsay Rosser Sumpter as the event's Commissioner, where she will work closely with athletes to maximize their experience with the WRWC, grow and develop female rodeo talent, increase opportunities, and collaborate with athletes as they compete in the $750,000 World Championship Event.

Most recently, Sumpter is serving as the head rodeo coach of Otero College. The former California Polytechnic State University rodeo athlete's experience in athlete relations and development is tailor fit for the event as the WRWC looks to expand the World Championship event and grow the year-long race of earning a coveted position at the richest event in women's rodeo.

"Women's rodeo has been long underserved and it has been our charter to change that," said WCRA President Bobby Mote. "Linsay has the experience, relationships and vision for future growth and opportunities for women in rodeo. We believe that female athletes will find her approachable and receptive to their feedback."

As commissioner, Sumpter will oversee the operations of the Women's Rodeo World Championship event and direct the continued growth of the of the all-women's rodeo property.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

ow many training tools do you have in your trailer? How many bits do you have, and do you understand how each of them work? I saw someone's tack room on Facebook and my mouth dropped! There were more bits hanging there than in my local tack store! I was immediately filled with admiration for that person!

Now, let me say this. I have 4 horses. That is a small number for me but it's how many I have time for. And... I have 4 bits. One for each horse. Shocking I know. LOL! And once they start loping the pattern, I rarely ever change them out of that bit. They must learn to deal with me!

I'm sure there are real horse trainers reading this that are shaking their heads in disbelief! There are people who study bits, study how they work, and have a PHD in experience.

Well, it's no different when you begin to study the Bible. Did you know there are many kinds of prayer? Eph. 6:18 tells us to pray with all manner of prayer. It's like using the right bit for the right situation.

We don't want to be praying, "if it be thy will" when you are believing for healing. It's God's will that we be healed.

Challenge yourself this week to find out the different kinds of prayer, and then use them like a tool! Don't waste your time using just one, like I do with bits, hoping it'll come out all right!
