Sister, Sister, Sister – Hailey Kinsel & DM Sissy Hayday Capture Third RFD-TV's The American Championship

By Tanya Randall

Arlington, Texas' AT&T Stadium might be the house that Jerry Jones built for his Dallas Cowboys, but Hailey Kinsel and DM Sissy Hayday are living in it.

Nearly $700,000 of their $2.1 million in career earnings have come from their three titles at RFD-TV's The American. They first caught national attention in 2017 when they set a one-day barrel racing earnings record at $433,333 with their share of the $1 million bonus for qualifiers that bested the top 10 professionals in each event. Kinsel and "Sister" were second in 2018 before winning again in 2019.

This year, the dynamic duo lurked like a circling shark on their first two runs until they turned in the fastest time of the rodeo when the $100,000 championship was on the line.

"These wins are so special and so unique in each way because it means something new each year," said the three-time WPRA World Champion, who hails from Cotulla, Texas, but resides in Stephenville. "I'm so grateful to go back to a rodeo that can instill so much confidence and pride in what you do."

In the long go, held on Saturday, March 6, the Top 10 in the WPRA faced off against the top 10 qualifiers out of the American Semifinals, held in the Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas, plus the two exemptions. Dona Kay Rule, who missed the 2020 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo due to COVID protocols, and 7-year-old Charlie Sohrt, who captured hearts at the Semifinals. The fastest eight from the long go advanced to Sunday's performance.

Kinsel's game plan was to stay clean and make it to Sunday. She and Sis turned in a very business-like clean run to finish second in the field of 22 with a 15.917 behind defending American Champions Stevi Hillman and Cuatro Fame ("Truck") to earn $2,250.

On Sunday morning, when Kinsel found out an aggregate of their long go and round of eight runs would determine who advanced to the championship shootout, she maintained her clean-run focus.

"I knew how much I had to work with," she said. "That's not to say I wanted to run a 16.0. It would have been great to run a 15.7, but you know your big money run is coming up if you can get there for it. I was almost too safe, but I wanted to be safe enough that I was setting myself up to smoke the third run."

Thankfully, her partnership with her insanely talented mare allowed her to make the adjustments she needed to be clean and fast.

"She is so manual—sometimes more than others—but especially this weekend," Kinsel said. "She is so trusting of everything I said. I could tell she was wondering sometimes, 'Why would we slow down? This is stupid.' But in this case, she just listened. When I asked her for an extra step on the backside of the second barrel in the Eight Man Round, she was like 'Ok, one more step.' I know she knows she can come back harder than that, but she just waited. "There's a lot of horses that wouldn't do that. I think that's why she thrives in so many different setups. She will let me direct the game a little bit instead of just being the passenger. That takes a very special horse to do that."

Kinsel and Sis were the first out of the four in the championship round. Not only did it give them top of the ground, but it made it easier to just focus on their run and not be influenced by things beyond their control.

- Dm Sissy Hayday & Hailey Kinsel have now won $660,250 at just The American! They won $433,000 when they splashed onto the barrel racing scene there in 2017.
- Before adding in her American victory, Dm Sissy Hayday sat at $2,010,680 according to Equistat. With the $102,250 won at The American, she now sits over $2,112,930 and is the All Time Leading Earner in Barrel Racing.

"There's so many ways you can look at it," she said. "It doesn't matter if you're last or first, you cannot pay attention to what happens. At least I can't. I think it's silly to put too much thought into what happens. It can only benefit you negatively as opposed to thinking just go do your job. It's fun to go first and say I'm just going to go do my job and set the field and see what happens from there. After that I have no control. But it's the same thing in reverse. That's the same thought I want to have if I'm going last. Just go do your job and not worry about the rest."

As if the pressure to win $100,000 isn't enough, the sun through AT&T Stadium's windows made for some interesting lighting on the barrel pattern, but the four veteran horses never missed a beat. "I was looking and thinking that's bright on the third barrel and it's a little hard to see," Kinsel admitted. "I think the barrels being darker may have actually helped the horses find them a little bit. I remember running to the third barrel and saying easy, easy, easy instead of pushing her into to make sure she geared down and made a nice turn. If we got to rolling too hard we could have hit that shadow and totally missed it."

For their final run in the championship round, Kinsel and Sis proved once again why they're the best in the world. Their 15.420 won by nearly half a second.

Like her previous American victories, Kinsel was wearing a blue shirt, but this year she opted for a sparkly blue Karla Buñelos

RODEO RESPECT

While so much emphasis is placed on the $100,000 first-place check and even more on the $1 million bonus for qualifiers, RFD-TV's The American is a rodeo horse showcase. When it comes to the championship, it's a National Finals Rodeo showcase.

All six championships have gone to NFR qualifiers. Lisa Lockhart's An Okie With Cash ("Louie") has two, 2014-15. Hailey Kinsel's Dm Sissy Hayday ("Sister") has three titles, 2017, 2019 and 2021. Sarah McDonald's Fame Fling N Bling won in 2016. Taci Betti's Bogie Is A Smash won in 2018, and Stevi Hillman's Cuatro Fame ("Truck") won in 2020.

Every horse that has made the championship round save six have been to the NFR. Only one of those horses never won any pro rodeo money.

Even when Kinsel won her first title in 2017, Sister was already a pro rodeo winner as a 5-year-old—her futurity year no less. And prior to the American, Kinsel and Sister had done well at the winter rodeos, even taking second in the odd set up at the National Western in Denver. By the end of the year, Sister had proved without a doubt that she was a rodeo horse of the highest caliber, qualifying for the first of four National Finals Rodeo appearances.

Rodeo horses have the advantage of being able to handle the elements—the funky pattern, the electric atmosphere, the all-day wait at the trailer to run, long walks down concrete tunnels, the back-to-back runs just over an hour apart and unexpected light patterns on the arena floor.

"To come into an extreme rodeo setup and perform is hard," noted three-time World and American Champion Hailey Kinsel. "It's no surprise too that the horses that have won it in the past—Louie, Bling, Truck, Smash and Sister—were all rodeo horses. Sister went through the qualifying system but she went on to prove that she's a rodeo horse. It's a testament to those horses. They're truly incredible."

custom shirt rather than blue pinstripes to pair with her jeans from Cavenders.

"It's not something that people are used to from me, but it was really fun to change it up a little bit," chuckled Kinsel. She had always admired fellow competitor Tiany Schuster's shirts and the NFR Best Dressed Cowgirl put Kinsel in contact with her seamstress. "She sent me some to see if they fit. I knew with the colors of the stadium and the dark Polaris barrels...we never have dark blue barrels anywhere...I thought that one would look so cool. I thought if I make it to Championship Sunday, I've got to wear my Sunday best."

Defying Gravity – Brandon Cullins & MCM Imasharpguy Dazzle at American Semifinals

By Tanya Randall

Brandon Cullins and MCM Imasharpguy (“Sharpie”) were the talk of Cowtown after setting up two barrels to turn in a blazing 13.402, the fastest time of the American Semifinals Rodeo performances to lead the 10 qualifiers into AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas, for RFD-TV’s The American.

Cullins, who hails from Clements, Maryland, but is wintering in Grandview, Texas, paired with Sharpie, a multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier for Stevi Hillman, after his qualified mount A Cornerstone, who set the previous American Semifinals Rodeo in the buy-back round in 2018, was injured.

“I kind of wrote it off for a while and didn’t even really look for a horse,” he said. “I honestly was thinking about turning out so someone else could have the opportunity. I didn’t want to go through there just to go through the motions if someone else could have a chance at it. I really just have so many futurity colts going I just figured I could come up with something later. I’m pretty good at procrastinating.”

Thankfully, his girlfriend Emily Efurd mentioned to Bendi Dunn, who has several horses in training with Cullins, that A Cornerstone was injured.

“I couldn’t say no to that one!” he said.

Efurd picked Sharpie up right before the epic snowstorm hit Texas in mid-February.

“We started legging him up because he hadn’t been rode since the NFR,” Cullins explained. “I worked on the barrels one day and just let him go through half, three-quarters speed to get the feel of him.”

Cullins said Sharpie, a 2012 gelding by A Sharp Frenchman out of the Matt and Bendi Dunn’s legendary mare Mulberry Canyon Moon, by Marthas Six Moons, is different than anything he’s ever ridden.

“He’s really athletic,” he said. “That’s kind of an understatement. He’s so straight up and down with the way he carries himself. He doesn’t drop on you. He stays straight, sticks a leg and gets round on you. Then he pushes off straight. He like turns inside of himself. I’ve never rode a horse that can come through himself so easily. That’s why he catches barrels so easily on the back side. He’s so athletic. He just hits a point and then rolls right back through himself. Most horses aren’t talented enough to do that.”

Cullins also relied on advice from Sharpie’s previous riders: Troy Crumrine, Jolene Montgomery and Stevi Hillman.

“I had a lot of help,” said Cullins, who is sponsored by Cox Veterinary Labs, Usher Saddles and Freestyle Horse Exercisers. “He was already a great one. I just wanted to know what everybody did.”

His first competitive run on Sharpie was the Royal Crown in Bryan, Texas.

“He worked really good and felt really good there,” he said. “His first and second were really good. Then for the third, he moved himself into a pocket. I hit the third, but it stayed up. But that’s what made him almost pull it down. He just went over there and gave himself too big of a pocket. He was trying to be too honest. You almost have to run him straight in right next to the barrel because if you give him any kind of room he’s going to catch it on the backside because he comes back so quick and so straight.”

In the long go of the Semifinals, Cullins and Sharpie turned in a solid run of 13.724 which placed 18th and earned them a spot in the coveted 30 head performances. On their second run, in the second performance, Cullins set up the second and third barrels to have a clean run, pocket $16,500 and make his fifth trip to AT&T Stadium.

At AT&T, Cullins attempted to make his third appearance in the championship round ended in the long go with two tipped barrels.

“I thought the hardest part was going to be getting through Northside (Cowtown Coliseum),” he said. “I thought (AT&T) would be easier. When I took off, I had too straight of a line to it and I knew then I was going to be a little bit of trouble. He just makes that move. You can feel him drop his hindleg in there and set himself up to turn. When I knew where I was I knew I was in trouble because he was going to come back through himself. I didn’t want to grab (the barrel) because he was still in the turn. I felt like if I dropped the rein to set it up he was going to go back toward the timer. I was just hoping we could sneak around it.”

Then Cullins hung his belt buckle on his saddle horn going to the second barrel.

“I thought I was coming off at the second barrel,” he chuckled. “I don’t know what it looked like, but it felt like I was laying on his ears! Finally, it broke when I turned the second. When he left, he pushed off with enough force that it broke the buckle where it attaches to the belt. Coming off the third barrel, I could see it laying over there by the second!”

Cullins wanted to thank the Dunns for the opportunity to ride Sharpie, Crumrine, Montgomery and Hillman for all their help and Efurd for setting it all up.

“It’s a big deal to be able to ride him,” said Cullins. “Obviously, he’s one of the great ones. Most of the time I felt like I was just the one that lead him to the gate and gave him the reins and let him go do his thing.”

Janna Brown & DH Jess Stellar Set Arena Record in American Semifinals Long Go

By Tanya Randall

When Donna Hodges said, "We'll do this again next year," after Janna Brown ran DH Jess Stellar ("Jules") at the 2020 American Semifinals, Brown was skeptical.

"I was literally thinking (the mare) would be somewhere else and I would never get to ride her again," admitted Brown, a leading barrel horse trainer and futurity rider from Mount Pleasant, Texas. The mare did indeed go somewhere else—into the hands of WPRA World Champion Hailey Kinsel for more rodeo action. Kinsel picked up several pro rodeo checks on Jules last season including two at the Cowtown Coliseum—once for the Rodeo Houston finish and then again in the fall.

Yet Kinsel knew she wasn't likely to get off of her great mare DM Sissy Hayday for RFD-TV's The American, she suggested to the Hodges—Damon and Donna—that they offer their homebred mare back to Brown.

"If Donna hadn't asked me I wouldn't have asked her to get back on her," Brown said. "When she asked me, I said, 'What about Hailey?' She told me she didn't think she cared. I said, 'Let me call her.' I knew she had a schedule. Hailey was very encouraging. She told me, 'Go do it. You take her and run her.'" The day before the Last Chance Qualifier, Kinsel brought Jules to Glen Rose, Texas, for Brown to ride.

"I got her on Friday and ran her Saturday in the Qualifier and she won fifth," said Brown, who trained the 2013 daughter of Mighty Jess out of PC Frosted Stellar, by Sun Frost, for the Hodges. "I sent her back to Hailey the next day and then I got her back the day before the Semis.”

Brown, a five-time American Semifinals Qualifier, literally had no tweaks to make with Jules. All she had to do was ride and let the mare work.

“She was the same horse she was when she left,” said Brown. “She was just probably a bit more mature. A year makes a big difference. Hailey had her working. She felt the same to me honestly.”

In the long round of the American Semifinals in Fort Worth, against 280 qualifiers, Brown and Jules laid down the best run in the Cowtown Coliseum had seen in years, an arena record time of 13.387.

“When she took off in the alley, I remember thinking to myself just ride her like an old horse; don’t try to train on her,” Brown said. “I just rode her all the way up in her turns and just gave her her head. Of course, the barrels are on the fence there so you can do that a little easier. I just rode her to her spots. I had to squeak around the backside of the first because she turned it so good. I kind of let her have her head. I didn’t do much. It was easy.”

They turned in another exceptional run to finish fourth at the conclusion of the Semifinals performances to advance to AT&T Stadium. Although Brown was hopefully optimistic, she knew the setup would be a challenge for Jules even though she has some rodeo experience.

“That takes a special, experienced horse,” said Brown, who was making her first appearance at AT&T. “She was a little rattled. She just had a little stage fright. She was way more confident at Stockyards. I could ride her more confidently too because it was a more familiar setting. As for the other place...no. I had to help her a little bit more and it wasn’t as smooth.”

Brown, who has competed in $100,000 slot races and ran at stadium events like Rodeo Houston, said the atmosphere at Cowboy Stadium was different from anything she’d ever been to.

“That stadium is bright when you come out of the tunnel,” she said. “It’s a lot for those horses. For horses that have been there and done that it’s not, but for a horse like Jules, it’s a lot.”

Brown started riding Jules as a 3-year-old and ran her for four years. Before the mare went to Kinsel, Brown had won $96,000 on Jules between futurities, derbies and open races.

“I really wanted to get her over the $100,000 mark before she left, but I didn’t,” Brown admitted. “It was funny because I told Donna after I won the long go, I finally got her over the $100,000 mark with me being her rider! I was glad that I finally got that done.”

To win the long round of the Semifinals paid an incredible $21,165 and their fourth-place finish in the performance earned another $7,511 for total earnings of $28,676.

“It would be great to go win $100,000 or $1 million, but I’ll take that any day!” said Brown.

She said it was a lot of fun to get back on Jules and the experience was going for her training, noting “When I came home and rode colts it makes you realize you have to let them figure some of it out. You have to quit holding their hand so much. The ones that are going to try are going to figure out how to do it. It was a good reminder.”

She was also tickled that her training had stayed true even though she hadn’t ridden Jules in a year.

“It makes you feel like you did your job,” she said. “It says a lot for what Hailey did that she could take her for the past year and then I get on her and she feels like the same horse. I just rode her the way I always did. I didn’t do anything differently. I asked Hailey what she did with her. She had come and rode with me three times before she took her last spring and she just kept her same routine.” Brown says she’s grateful to the Hodges and Kinsel for the opportunity. It was one she wouldn’t mind trying again.

“Just getting to go there makes you want to try harder to do it again,” she said. “The problem is everything I’ve usually qualified is a futurity horse from the year before and they don’t have any rodeo experience. It takes a rodeo horse to make it all the way through because it is a rodeo.”

Jones & High Cotton Lane Nab $34,289 Jr American Championship

By Tanya Randall

2020 WPRA Rookie of the Year Paige Jones of Wayne, Oklahoma, added a nice chunk of change to her rodeo travel chest with a $34,289 Jr American Championship at the Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth, Texas.

Jones, who wanted to thank her mom Kay Jones and her sponsors Med-Vet Pharmaceuticals and XLR8 Equine, said entering the Jr American was a last minute decision.

"I never had time to go to qualifier during the year," she said. "I was supposed to have an invitation but I didn't get the paperwork in in time so I had to enter the last qualifier."

The Last Chance Jr American Qualifier was actually a sidepot to the 2022 First Chance American Qualifier so with a 15.434, Jones and her BFA World Futurity Champion High Cotton Lane, now 6, advanced on both fronts.

From the Last Chance Jr American Qualifier, Jones and Cotton finished 10th in the long go to make the Jr American Finals. Their victorious 15.187 in the Finals was the fastest of the Jr American.

She was happy to have Cotton, a 2014 gelding by The Goodbye Lane, out of HMB Soon To Be Famous, by Dash TA Fame, feeling his best after a tough week at the San Antonio Rodeo.

"I had run at San Antonio the week before and he'd been stalled on concrete all week," she explained. "He ended up getting sore. When I ran him in American Semifinals, he didn't turn his first very good. He came back over it to qualify for the perfs."

Jones drove to her veterinarian in Guthrie, Oklahoma, to have Cotton worked on before returning to Fort Worth for the Patriot. By Cotton's third run, the Jr American Finals, he was feeling like himself again.

"I guess by the third run he was finally feeling better and I just trusted him going into the first," she said. "He inhaled it. He worked. I didn't really touch him. He just did his job. He turned his

2021 CNFR Will Happen as Planned

The 2021 College National Finals Rodeo is expected to happen as planned. Casper, Wyo., Mayor Steve Freel said during the March 2 city council meeting that the College National Finals Rodeo is moving forward for 2021, Freel said in a March 2 article in the Oil City News. The CNFR is scheduled for June 13-19. Freel said the only hiccup is that a few colleges are "dealing with COVID issues of getting students here." The COVID-19 pandemic forced the cancellation of the 2020 CNFR, but Freel said the show will go on this year. The CNFR has been in Casper since 1999.

The 2019 CNFR saw 25,679 tickets sold, the second-highest number of sales since the rodeo has been in Casper. The rodeo event attracts talent from around the world and represents a significant economic boon to the Natrona County and Casper areas. An economic impact study of the 2018 CNFR found the rodeo generated $1.87 million in total "direct economic impact" for the Casper area.

San Angelo Announces Schedule Changes

In December 2020, the San Angelo (Texas) Stock Show and rodeo announced changes to the 2021 schedule. These changes included splitting up the stock show and rodeo events. The San Angelo Rodeo will run April 9-24. On March 5, 2021, the SASSRA Executive Board approved three items: The rodeo would be held at 100 percent capacity; tickets would go on sale to the public on March 15, with volunteers having an opportunity to purchase tickets on March 12; and an additional $100,000 would be added to the total purse. That will make the amount of the total purse about $500,000, according to Justin Jonas, Executive Director for the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

James 1:5-8 tells us that if we need wisdom, to ask God for it, and He'll give it to us liberally. We are to ask in faith, AND DON'T DOUBT! If we doubt, we are double minded and won't receive anything.

Oh boy. It comes down to trusting in God for the answers.

I know I have lots of questions. Why's and what if's are how most of them start.

If you have children, do you remember, or are you currently experiencing, the 'why' stage? It was challenging because I didn't have any idea why the sky was blue! (Still don't!). And a million more just like that! I wanted to answer truthfully and, frankly, 'I don't know' wasn't cutting it. "Go ask your dad" was a cop out. And we didn't have Siri back then. Ohhhhh but God! HE KNOWS!

He has written down in the Bible all the directions, the paths, the traps.

Everything we need to live successfully in this life and how to get there.

This week remember. when we have questions, HE IS THE ANSWER!!!!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
