Ivy Conrado & C Four Tibbie Stinson Bank at RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Ivy Conrado and C Four Tibbie Stinson continued their winning ways at the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Kissimmee, Fla. Conrado, Hudson, Colo., pocketed $20,232, a $20,000 truck voucher, a Polaris Ranger, Cactus saddle, a buckle and gift certificate for Justin Boots.

"It's a really cool event," said Conrado, who is sponsored by Tech Mix, Horse Hydrator, ProOrthopedic and her Dad, Kelly Conrado. "The money and prizes were amazing."

Conrado, who finished third in the year-end standings in the Mountain States Circuit, got the invite to the RNCFR after Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi, the yearend champion, drew out to attend the ERA Rodeo in Salt Lake City. Cassidy Kruse, who actually had the most money in the Mountain States in 2015, was ineligible because she didn't attend enough rodeos to qualify for the title.

After an incredible winter that put $58,533 towards an NFR qualification, Conrado gave Tibbie some time off before the RNCFR.

"After The American, Houston and six runs at San Antonio—it was just a lot," she said. A futurity sensation as a 4-year-old, Tibbie, a daughter of Eddie Stinson out of Little Fancy Granny, by Del Puerto Bill, is only 7. "It was big perf, after big perf, after big perf. At Austin, she just wasn't herself. So I just gave her a break for three weeks. I didn't even cruise her through at the house before we left (to go Kissimmee). I just left her alone and rode her out in the pasture."

Both Conrado and Tibbie were "a little rusty" on their first run in Kissimmee. They placed sixth in the first round and second in the second round to finish third in the average and qualify back to the Semifinals, which took the top eight.

"Our first run was pretty good," said Conrado. "She had a good first, but kind of got lost at the second. Our second run she felt a lot sharper and she perked up more in the alleyway."

Their worst run was in the Semifinals, a 16.02.

"Our semifinal run was not good," Conrado confessed. "She turned a really good first, which she always does, but her second was just messy. She smoked the third and made up for it. She ran a 16.0 and I didn't think there was any way for us to make it back. I went back to the trailer and started unsaddling because I just knew there was no way for us to make it back. Dad came back there and asked what I was doing. I said 'I'm unsaddling.' He said, 'Well, you're coming back third.' I couldn't believe it!"

Before the Finals, Conrado made a wardrobe change hoping to change her luck. She laughed, "We were sitting in the trailer waiting for the shootout round and Dad said, 'You should probably go put on Jimmie's shirt. I was like 'Yeah, I probably should!'"

They turned in the fastest time of the event, a 15.47, to win the Finals.

"I was riding okay, but I wasn't riding great," admitted Conrado. "In the Shootout round, I just wanted to clean everything up. She just smoked off a run."

Next up for Conrado is Corpus Christi, Texas, this Saturday. Other than running at Guymon, Okla., Conrado plans on being home for a while.

"I'm not really going to do much until Reno," said Conrado, who sits second in the WPRA World Standings. "My goal for the winter was to win enough that I didn't have to stress out and haul like crazy. I feel like I can go home. We've got a lot of colts that need to be rode and we've got lots of mares that are ready to foal. Dad and I need to get caught up on that so we need to go home."

Kimemie Wall Stakes Claim in Logandale

By Hope Sickler

Roosevelt, Utah barrel racer Kimmie Wall has been having the best winter she has ever had while on the dusty rodeo trail. After her most recent win in Logandale, Nevada, Wall continues to have a great start to the 2016 rodeo season.

"This winter has been great but I have also hit some barrels to have an amazing winter," laughed Wall. "All in all, things are going well and we are just grateful to be out here on the road doing what we love and being successful at it."

Wall piloted her trusty steed TKW Bullysfamous Fox otherwise known as "Foxy" to the win in Logandale and credits the 8-year-old gritty mare for her large heart and boat load of try.

"The ground in slack was great. I was runner 53 out of 58 and it held up the entire time. The committee did an excellent job with it. Foxy made a nearly flawless run and we ended up 3rd in the first round," Wall said.

Wall posted a time of 17.30-seconds, while Taylor Langdon won the round with a 17.23 and Stevi Hillman was a close second with a 17.27.

While the competition got hotter, the weather did not. Thunderstorms brought in some rain which left the arena a mud-hole for the short round.

"I went to look at the arena and it was less than desirable, but that is rodeo. Logandale is a big, sandy pen so there was a bottom to the mud. It was mostly a lot of standing water on the top. Before the final round, I let Foxy get a feel for the mud in the warmup pen. I watched the first few girls run and did not notice any slipping whatsoever. My friend then told me that someone had to win it and it may as well be me so I went for it and it worked out in our favor!" Wall spun the tops off three barrels and posted a 17.78 which was good enough for third in the final round.

"Foxy normally hates the mud but she ended up making a really nice run which put us third in the final round. I was incredibly proud of her; not only for placing in the round but for handling the wet conditions so well."

In the final round, Cassidy Kruse posted the fastest time of 17.62, while Katie Pascoe was second with a 17.76 and Wall was close behind with her 17.78.

 "I love Logandale. This was our first outdoor run and this rodeo usually kicks off the summer runs. This is also one of the biggest rodeos in the Wilderness Circuit so I was happy to have got a little piece of the pie while in Logandale!"

Kelli Thouvenell & Sagey Storm Blow Through VGBRA Barrel Daze Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Former National Finals Rodeo qualifier Kelli Thouvenell and Sagey Storm ("Myra") captured the 37th Annual Valley Girls Barrel Racing Association's Barrel Daze Futurity in Walla Walla, Wash. Thouvenell (formerly Tolbert) pocketed $7,437 for the efforts of her 5-year-old mare.

Myra's style of running barrels is completely opposite from Thouvenell's great NFR horse RF Firefly ("Cleo").

"She's a really free and really fast," explained Thouvenell. "She started working better in the smaller building in Utah. I decided that Walla Walla might suit her. I bought her a spot late, two weeks ago, and just decided to try it. And, it worked out."

Making the weekend extra special was the birth of Cleo's first foal, by The Red Dasher.

Thouvenell purchased Myra in the fall of her third year from fellow VGBRA Champion Sue Smith. Bred by Randy Higginson of Ogden, Utah, Myra is by Winners Version, a son of Holland Ease out of a maternal half-sister to Callie duPerier's Dash Ta Diamonds. Myra is out of Cinderella Dash, by Twaynas Dash.

"They tried to run her on the track for two years and she wasn't a great racehorse," said Thouvenell. "Sue had bought her and only had her a couple of weeks before I bought her."

Thouvenell said training Myra was "a bit of a challenge."

"She's kind of fractious," she said. "She came off the track really hot. She pawed really bad. For the first month I had her we tied her to the fence and tried to accomplish that! It was kind of slow and steady. This winter really, she kind of progressed a lot. I ran her at one Arizona futurity in January. It wasn't pretty. She was still really green and wasn't ready at that point."

After showing promise on the indoor courses, Thouvenell decided to try the VGBRA Futurity on its short pattern. She and Myra were second in the first go with a 14174 and fourth in the second go with a 14.021.

"She's a lefty and that's kind of new for me," Thouvenell said. "Every time I go left I feel completely uncomfortable and she's so fast and free, it's got me completely out of my comfort zone. Every time she takes off I think we're flying, but I'm sure we're not. She's got a really round style and she's really low headed. God bless her, she doesn't try to hit barrels ever. She just stays round and running the whole time. That can be really fast if it's done right, and if it's not, it's wild. Sometimes she gets wild, but not this weekend."

With as well as her strategy worked at Walla Walla, Thouvenell is trying to decide if she'll go to the UBRA Futurity in Heber City, Utah, this weekend.

"It's an awfully big arena," she mused. "I don't have many expenses really to get there, so I was debating. There lots of great little building futurities, so I'm just going to try to stick to pens where she'll do well."

A similar strategy served her well in the past with Cleo, who was incredibly turny.

"She was even more turny as a 4-year-old," Thouvenell said. "I kept her out of buildings for a year. For a year, I committed to never going in an indoor arena and that helped free her up. This horse is the opposite. She's going to stay in the building for a year and maybe she'll get it under control!"

Perfect Pose -- Sue Smith & Dashes Centerfold Win VGBRA Barrel Daze Stallion Incentive Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Decorated aged event trainer and National Finals Rodeo qualifier Sue Smith pocketed $12,507 at the Valley Girls Barrel Daze with her speedy 5-year-old mare Dashes Centerfold. Smith and Centerfold were the reserve champions in the Barrel Daze Futurity and topped the breeders' futurity paid for by the VGBRA's lauded Stallion Incentive Program.

"It's a really nice futurity," said Smith. "That stallion incentive is so nice up there. It's hard to beat stallion futurities like that; it paid almost as good as the regular futurity." The reserve championship paid $6,306 and the stallion incentive program paid $6,201.

Bred by Bob Alan Pence of Roy, Utah, Centerfold is by all-time leading barrel horse sire Dash Ta Fame out of Diamonds Tiny Effort, by Proudest Effort.

"Some friends of mine that race horses had her," explained Smith, who rides in Blackfoot, Idaho. "They Facebooked me one day and said Sue you need this horse. I was like 'Oh man, that's exactly what I need: another horse!' But, I guess they were right." Smith got the mare when she was 2 coming 3, and knew the mare had a strong female line.

"They played around with her and she showed a lot of promise, but she got sick so they pulled her off," she said. "She outworked some pretty nice horses. The people on the track that knew were like 'We wondered what happened to that mare. She could run.' Her mom set three track records. In fact, I think her mom still holds the record going 350 at Evanston. Her grandmother could run. She was on the world champion chariot team."

Diamonds & Dirt Slot Race, a recipient mare delivered Centerfold's buckskin colt by A Smooth Guy.

Smith also knew what to expect with Centerfold's temperament—that of a typical Dash Ta Fame filly.

"She's a little hotter," she said. "Her mom was hot, so I kind of knew she'd have a little more heat to her. I had her going pretty good for the 4-year-old futurities but I could tell she was getting a little rattled so I held her over. It's paid off, because I don't think she could have handled things last year like she is this year. Plus, she's not a very big mare. She's just 15 hands. I thought it would just help her develop and mature a little bit more. She's a mare. I can handle that. When she goes to make her run I know I can let her do her job. Basically, all I do on her is try to keep her as quiet as I can and let her go do her job."

Centerfold has collected more than $55,000 so far in her futurity career.

"She's a gritty little mare and she tries hard. If she gets in trouble a lot of the time it will be because she tries too hard. I was pretty pleased with her. She still makes mistakes, just little ones, nothing major," said Smith, noting that Centerfold was challenged by the closed gate on the short course at Walla Walla for the Barrel Daze. "I still couldn't get her to run across the timer. I didn't really know if I should whip her across, give her head or get her to run straighter. It was a little tough."

Even though Smith still has her NFR mount Real Claim To Fame ("Claimer"), she'll be spending most of her time at the futurities for the next two years.

"I'm riding a lot of colts right now," she said. "That's where my focus is. I've got an outside horse for some friends. He's going good; he's not quite there, but he's going to be super nice. I'm running him this year. I've got several for next year. I got two that I held over and several more coming up. I still have Claimer and will still go to some rodeos where they fit in."

"So I've gone to a quicker type bit to tighten her up. That's one thing that I have to keep working her on is not to be too round and floaty. She'll get to running too hard—she's really fast—if she does anything wrong, she'll get a little loose in her turns. She doesn't get set for as fast as she's going but she'll try to turn them anyway."

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

One of the biggest questions that we get asked from people is, "How do I know what my gift is?" Or phrased in a different way, but still the same thought is, "I can't sing/teach/preach like so and so, so I guess I can't do anything for God." Wrong.....wrong.....wrong.

When you ask, "What can I do?", many times God's answer is, "What do you have?" I personally don't know anyone who hasn't, at one time or another, felt like they didn't measure up because they didn't have the same talent or gift as another person. And God being as smart as He is, always gives us the answer in the Bible. First of all, we are all created in HIS image, not someone else's. That alone should take the load off of our silly minds. He does not need two of anyone. One of them would be unnecessary. Secondly, in 2 Cor. 10:12-18 we are encouraged not to compare or measure ourselves with others. Read and think about those scriptures. Not a single one of us is perfect. We all have gifts from God, that if we used them to His glory, would bring us so much fulfillment and peace. Are you a good organizer? Are you good at mechanical things? Art? Music? Building? Hospitality? And since this article is in Barrel Racing Report, let's talk talent in that world. Are you a good trainer? Jockey? Breeder? Vet? Farrier? Producer? What would we do without all these gifts? We all work together so we can have a great time barrel racing! Don't ever again let the devil tell you that you are not important. To God you are everything! He loved you so much that He sent Jesus! John 3:16.
