Mark Bugni and Jill Lane's JL Roc Lost A Sock Sweep Valley Girls' Barrel Daze Futurities

By Tanya Randall

The 5-year-old gelding JL Roc Lost A Sock continued his domination on the Western futurities with dual championships at the Valley Girls 44th Annual Idaho Equine Hospital Barrel Daze, held April 8-10 at the Grant County Fairgrounds in Moses Lake, Washington. Mark Bugni guided the Jill Lane-owned and bred gelding to earnings of $25,527.

The duo have previously won the MVP, Greg Olson Memorial, Royal Crown Buckeye, Dixie Classic and Sand Cup futurities. The two Barrel Daze titles give the pair an incredible seven futurity wins in a row.

Mo's career earnings are now near the $150,000 mark, and he has the lucrative Ruby Buckle Guthrie on his itinerary.

Since the Barrel Daze was in the same facility on the heels of the Sand Cup, Bugni and his equine crew laid over at the facility between events. He'd originally planned to use Mo as a demo horse at his clinic at the facility on Wednesday but opted to ride two of his 4-year-olds instead.

"I just rode him around in the practice pen a few days and let him spend his energy," he said. "A couple of days, he raced around the practice pen, just spending some energy, but other than that I just kept him happy. I walked into the door to the other arena while they were doing some exhibitions, but heck, he just looked like it was 'oh everyday' so I decided not to do any more than that."

The gelded son of Lane's homebred stallion JL Sirocco, out of the Thoroughbred Reddy To Rebound, by Red, has really matured over the past three months.

"He felt so calm this week that I wondered if he had started not to feel well!" said Bugni. "I think he's just maturing. Before, if I went into a holding area before I made my run, he'd be a little agitated, squirm around and not stand still. Now he just marches right up and stands there, looking over the top of the fence, and doesn't even want to move. I'm like, 'Do you even know you're about to run?' When I move my over-and-under back over my leg, I kind of show it to him, and when I feel him stand up to attention a little bit, I just march him around the fenceline and make my runs. He's understanding the routine and I'm not having to do much."

The pair turned in two consistent runs of 15.312 and 15.373 to win the Barrel Daze futurity averages. The 132-entry, $40,000-added Open Futurity paid $13,920, while the 106-entry, $40,000-added Stallion Incentive Program awarded $10,354. They added $1,243 from open and senior carryovers.

"It's been 20 years since I've been to Moses Lake," said Bugni. "I was very impressed with the precise nature with which they ran everything, but it was very laid back and they were very accommodating. The stalling situation was excellent. They have amazing new barns at that facility. I appreciated the fact that they were so attentive to the ground and made sure that it was tended to properly. Everyone from the producers to the grounds people were just really good people to be around. They did an amazing job on getting prizes. I won three Burns saddles while I was up there. They had an array of prizes. You don't see prize packages like that anymore. It was amazing to see someone hustle all of that up."

Bugni has no plans on running Mo anywhere before the Ruby Buckle in Guthrie at the end of the month. He's currently visiting

Bugni's Background

Bugni, 52, grew up in the Northern Great Plains States of Montana, North Dakota and Wyoming. He was introduced to horses and barrel racing through his mother. After competing in 4H and gymkhanas as a youth, Bugni spent four years working off-and-on the racetracks in Wyoming and South Dakota. He dabbled in team roping when he relocated to Montana but found barrel racing more to his liking.

"As soon as I got the rush of the speed, I got addicted really fast," he said.

Bugni said that Sharon Camarillo's book on barrel racing was his "Bible" in the early days. He later attended a private clinic with Judy Myllymaki.

"Judy's was the only clinic I ever did," he said. "After that it was just watch and learn and trial and error. Whatever natural ability and instincts I had inside me—I just trusted and followed them. I did everything I could to get better and learn from my mistakes."

For most of his early barrel racing career, Bugni worked in the hotel service industry and trained and competed on the side. It was tough going at times.

"There were times that I put off paying the power bill so I could enter the barrel race," he admitted. "You're at the barrel racing thinking if I don't make a paycheck here, I'm not going to be able to pay my power bill. I've had my power turned off before doing that sort of thing. That's what inspired me to go to horseshoeing school in 2001, because I needed to be able to make a good living no matter where I went and never have to sweat about making a paycheck at the barrel race."

In 2008, he decided to move south so he could train horses year round. After a couple of years in Texas, he landed in Prague, Oklahoma. In 2011, he had his big breakthrough with BB French Moon Bug.

"He was good enough that I thought I would drop the hotel thing and just do barrel racing for a living," he said. "As soon as he started gathering paychecks I started getting phone calls from people wanting me to train their horses. It just took off from there."

Great horses followed like two-time slot race champion I R A Grand Victory; Old Fort Days, BBR and Fizz Bomb Classic futurity champion BT Buddy Stinson and Old Fort Days Futurity Champion Red Carpet Zoom. He also had incredible success with horses raised by his friend Jill Lane. Along with seven-time futurity champion JL Rock Lost A Sock, he's ridden futurity champion JL Roc Paperscissors, BBR Finals Champion JL Twisted Roc and multiple futurity finalist JL I Am Reddy to name a few. Bugni also trained Dirty Dan Stinson, who helped Tillar (Murray) King qualify for the National Finals Rodeo.

One of the things he's become known for is training solid, user-friendly horses, many of which like Dirty Dan Stinson, transition to rodeo or youth riders.

"I do a lot of things different than a lot of trainers," he said. "I do not check my horses coming up into a turn. I teach them where their rate spot is and I make it very, very consistent. I pick up an inside rein on a horse, but I do not ride that rein. I just use it as a little cue that the turn is coming and you should shape around the inside rein. I don't like a horse to make me lift off of a turn. I've been on a lot of horses that if you picked up and lifted on them too hard, you took all of the momentum out of them. My whole structure is to stay off their face and give them light clues so they can do their job without interference from me. A lot of people can't give up that control, wanting to be on their face and guide them too much."

He said some of the best advice he ever received came through the hotel business, but it has applied to horses really well, especially in the competitive futurity world.

"When I was in the hotel business, I had a really good manager at one the hotels I worked at tell me when it comes to stress and anxiety there are very few things that can't wait until tomorrow," he said "It really helped me learn to take a breath and relax and not get so full anxiety. Just prioritize, do what you can today and then the rest can be done tomorrow. It's so hard sometimes to keep yourself from getting overwhelmed with everything."

He also avoids the pressure of a full time futurity gig from time to time by focusing on other aspects of barrel racing—jackpots and rodeos—refreshing his horses and himself.

"I'd just go to the barrel race with my friends just to have a little break," he said. "Everybody has got to do that from time to time. It's hard to recognize sometimes when you're burnt out. When you start getting frustrated with every little detail and over reacting to a bad run, you need to ask yourself if you're having a burn out. If you are, you need to refresh yourself."

Stacy Glause & Heza Swift Spyder Sweep VGBRA's Barrel Daze Maturities & Open

By Tanya Randall

Stacy Glause and Heza Swift Spyder, owned by Brad and Karly Knight, dominated the Valley Girls' 44th Annual Idaho Equine Hospital Barrel Daze, held April 8-10 in the Grant County Fairgrounds at Moses Lake, Washington. Glause and "Mator" swept the $7,500-added Open and $7,500-added Stallion Incentive Program Maturities and both $3,000-added Open races to win $12,258.

"He kind of blew their doors off this weekend," chuckled Glause. "I'm so proud of him. "He's been a challenge for sure, but he's got a lot of gas and is pretty talented. I feel like we're making some progress."

Mator, 6, was bred and raised by Clay and Teresa Peck. He is by leading sire The Goodbye Lane, out of Coops Glory, a daughter of the Bully Bullion, Leaving Memories stallion, BH Heza Hot Shot. The Pecks traded Mator to Terry Molloy, who then sold the gelding to Glause's clients.

"I was riding a gelding for them and they called me and said, 'Let's find a 3-year-old, either a Blazin Jetolena or a Goodbye Lane, and have a futurity colt,'" Glause recalled. "I started looking, and as you know, they're hard to find (for sale)."

Glause, who lives in Spanish Fork, Utah, reached out to the Pecks, who told her that Molloy might be willing to sell Mater. After she visited with the colt starter who had the gelding, the Knights bought Mater as a long 3-year-old.

The Knights took Mator to Glause's winter retreat in Wittmann, Arizona, that December. The green broke colt was talented but a little challenging.

"He was a little grabby," she chuckled. "I never expected him to buck, but he was one of those if you moved your arm or your leg he would kind of squirt out from under you. He's thoroughly been worth it though."

Mator's biggest challenge has been his first barrel. "His whole futurity year I could not really send him to the first barrel," she explained. "He's a little stiff to the left so I take him left. The whole spring of his futurity year I loped to the first barrel. If I'd put my hand down he'd turn, but if I had to pull on him to rate him, he'd almost stop. It always felt worse than it looked in the videos. He'd place in the 2D."

Glause sought out Marcie Wilson, who co-owns The Goodbye Lane with her parents, Mark and Linda Jarvis.

"She runs a lot of Goodbye Lanes and she helped me a lot with him. I got to visiting with Sue Smith in Heber (City, Utah), at the futurity there. She watched him work and gave me a wire tiedown and said, 'He won't lay on that.' He laid on it and she couldn't believe it. His first barrel was costing me money. His second two were just phenomenal. I know when he turns the first barrel he can run with the best horses out there."

After visiting with Smith so more, she was leant an L&W Steel

Nose Combo.

"I put that on him after the Royal Crown," Glause said. "We went to the Southwest Desert Classic and Glen Wood after that. He was still a little stiff and I couldn't send him hard, but he would come back to me. He started placing in the 1D at that point."

Mator stayed in the L&W until the Pink Buckle.

"He was elevating and getting a little stiff, even warming him up," she said. "It was making him kind of mad. When I got back to Arizona I started playing with bridles again."

A No Hit Bit got her through the winter, where he ran some 16.9s on the WPR Standard Patterns in Arizona. Then when she started taking Mator to some early spring rodeos, he got too strong with that bit too.

Ironically, while visiting with her farrier, Jeff Schvaneveldt, she got another bridle to try, a straight shank, elevator style bit with equal purchase and shank that had a small square twisted mouthpiece.

"He brought it to me a week ago," Glause said. "I worked him in it for two days at home. He darn sure wasn't pulling me around."

"I got to Washington and thought, 'I hate to be the girl that gets to the race and changes the bit, but at the same time, I've got the Ruby Buckle coming up, so 'Yeah, I'm going to do it!' Long story short, it worked good. Knock on wood."

They won the first round of the maturities and Saturday's Open with a 15.181, the fastest time of the event at that point. Then repeated the feat the next day with the only sub-15 of the event, a 14.941.

"Oh my gosh! That was not expected for sure!" Glause exclaimed. "I was pretty proud of him the first day when he ran the .1. I was brave and let him roll and just bumped him when I got there and he came back to me. The second day I let him go a little harder and I was nervous about it, but it worked!"

After the first round, she sent Schvaneveldt the winning video

THANK YOUS: The Knights for trusting me with them. Dr. Beau Beck at South Valley Equine in Utah, Dr. Justin McCormick at Cooper Ridge Equine in Arizona, Mike McClean--chiropractic, Tony Hannan--equine dentistry and Jeff Schvaneveldt--farrier.

Glause also wanted to give a shout out of appreciation to her fellow futurity competitors, saying "All the big trainers are so willing to help. I appreciate that!"

with the message—"I'm so thankful for your bridle. The good news is it worked. The bad news is you can't have it back!"

ProRodeo Hall of Famer Bud Munroe passes away

Saddle bronc rider Bud Munroe, a ProRodeo Hall of Famer, passed away April 9 at Ascension Providence Hospital in Waco, Texas. He was 70.

Munroe was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in Colorado Springs, Colo., in 2007, and his wife Jimmie, a world champion barrel racer and president of the WPRA, was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2019.

Munroe and his wife Jimmie were married for 41 years and have a daughter, Tassie. The couple resides in Valley Mills, Texas.

Bud received coaching from ProRodeo Hall of Fame saddle bronc riders Bill Smith and Mel Hyland.

With that type of guidance Munroe was a quick study and through his talent and hard work qualified for the National Finals Rodeo 12 times – 1977-88.

The highlight of his riding career was winning the 1986 PRCA Saddle Bronc Riding World Championship over fellow ProRodeo Hall of Famer Clint Johnson.

Munroe talked about his rodeo career in an Aug. 12, 2014, article in the Daily Record in Ellensburg, Wash., when he inducted into the Ellensburg Rodeo Hall of Fame.

"Rodeo is just a natural extension of the Western way of life," Munroe said. "It's a very pure thing, just you and the animal. I think it's ingrained in you, if you come up around it so much that it's a part of who you are, and you never lose the love for it. At least I never have."

During six of Munroe's 12 NFR qualifications, he finished in the top 5 in the world standings, including being the 1980 reserve world champion to Johnson by a mere $458.

"Bud was a fierce rodeo competitor and a real good person, a real solid guy," Johnson said. "He was a good Christian man, a good family man. I snuck under him for a title, and he snuck under me for one (in 1986) and there were no hard feelings from either one of us."

"Bud was a fun guy and a real planner. When I rodeoed with Bud, I didn't have to worry about anything but showing up and riding because he would decide where we would eat, where we were going and how we would get there. It was all good and he was good at planning. I felt like he was an underrated bronc rider. Nobody looked better on a nice horse, and he could ride a rank horse as well. This a tough day (April 9) for me and not just me. He had a lot of friends."

Munroe was born Jan. 12, 1952, in Lewiston, Mont. He went on to compete in bareback riding and saddle bronc riding during his four years at Montana State University in Bozeman, while earning a degree in agricultural business. He won the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association saddle bronc riding title in 1975 and was second in the all-around, helping the Bobcats capture the NIRA team championship.

Munroe won the Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo in 1980 and after he moved to Texas, he was the saddle bronc riding champion at the Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo from 1981-83 and 1985. He also was the Texas Circuit year-end champion in 1982-83, 1986-87.

In 1987, representing the Texas Circuit, Munroe split the saddle bronc riding national championship with Clay Jowers at the National Circuit Finals Rodeo in Pocatello, Idaho.

Munroe retired after competing at the Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Days, July 30, 1989, after winning the short round. That also was the same day fellow ProRodeo Hall of Famer/bull rider Lane Frost passed away.

"He went to Cheyenne right after our daughter was born and when he came home, he thought he was going to retire and he never got on another one," Jimmie said.

Bud also was inducted into the Montana Pro Rodeo Hall and Wall of Fame, Texas Cowboy Hall of Fame, Ellensburg Rodeo Hall of Fame, and he was the first cowboy inducted into the Montana State University Athletic Hall of Fame.

Over the years, he has served on different committees and boards within the PRCA. In 1999, he received the PRCA John Justin Committeeman of the Year Award for his long-standing service and dedication to the Heart O' Texas Rodeo Committee in Waco. He was on the Heart O' Texas Committee for more than 30 years and served as chairman of the board several different times on its rodeo committee.

Devoted to the development of his sport, Munroe also served as PRCA saddle bronc director and on the PRCA Properties Board for more than 20 years and the PRCA Grievance Committee.

"I would like my husband to be remembered for his devotion and love for the sport of professional rodeo," Jimmie said. "He displayed that in and out of the arena. After a successful career that included 12 NFRs and a world championship, he spent his remaining years giving back to the sport that had given him so much."

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, April 13 at Christ Church, 1008 Jefferson Ave., Waco, Texas. 76701. A graveside will follow at Oakwood Cemetery.

All guests are welcome to come celebrate his life at a reception at the Extraco Events Center (Heart O' Texas Rodeo Arena Back Porch Club).

In lieu of flowers, the family asks for donations to be made to the Justin Cowboy Crisis Fund.

rado, has been a member of the WPRA since 1960, reaching the pinnacle of the sport in 1964 when she won the world title aboard a horse known as Red, registered as Straws Kingwood Snip. The duo won $6,510 that year, edging Sissy Thurman by $400 to win the title. That same year, Red was the AQHA Reserve World Champion Barrel Horse and in 1965 was the first GRA/WPRA barrel horse to ever be featured in color on the cover of the Quarter Horse Journal.

"Oh wow," said Bruce upon learning of her induction into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame. "This is a surprise to me but I feel deserving of this recognition. I am honored to be joining an elite group of hard working ladies that have received this honor before me."

Bruce landed among the top 15 seven consecutive years from 1963 thru 1969. In 1967, she and Red won the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo the first year it was held in the Astrodome.

Red loved running close to home – he won the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo in Bruce's hometown of Colorado Springs six times. She was inducted into the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo Hall of Fame in 1997.

Bruce was among the early GRA members to conduct barrel racing clinics and often traveled to Hawaii to conduct them. In addition to barrel racing, she spent a great deal of time on the race track and became the first female licensed outrider in the State of Colorado.

She also gave back and remained loyal to the association for decades even after retiring from full-time competition. When the Association's headquarters was moved to Colorado Springs, Bruce was there to help get things up and running. Her dedication and loyalty to the association carried over to the next generation with her granddaughter, Amber Bruce West, serving a term on the WPRA Board and now her great granddaughter is running barrels in college. Ardith was the one to put together a celebration party when Scamper was the first barrel horse to be inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame and was once again on hand to see the first WPRA members inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in 2017.

Cindy Rosser, similar to Bruce, has been a staunch supporter of the WPRA for decades and has worked every facet of the rodeo business. Born December 7, 1954 to Cotton and Linda Rosser in Yuba City, California, she grew up horseback and rodeo has remained her life's work. She joined the GRA/WPRA in 1969 and served 20-plus years on the Board of Directors. She was the California Circuit Barrel Racing Champion in 1982.

"You are kidding . . . wow, wow, wow," said Rosser when she learned of her induction while working cattle on the family ranch. Rosser is only the second WPRA notable to earn induction into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame with Florence Youree being the first. "I am honored to be put in the same category as Florence, an early member of the GRA. That is quite an honor and it is great that the ProRodeo Hall of Fame is recognizing the women of the WPRA."

"It is truly a great honor to be in there with some great people."

Rosser has had a hand in rodeo production all her life and in 1986 was named the PRCA Secretary of the Year, in 1998 she was selected as the NFR Rodeo Secretary and in 2012 was the Ram National Circuit Finals Rodeo secretary. She has also carried the American flag in the opening ceremonies and has trained numerous horses to jump through paper, stand in a Liberty Bell, a birthday cake, a ring of fire, and more. She also produced and designed openings and sponsor flags at the NFR for 10 years.

In 1995, she was named the Coca-Cola WPRA Woman of the Year, in 2015 she received the Lenora Reimers Heritage Award through the WPRA and in 2019 was honored with the Tad Lucas Award from the National Cowboy Museum.

Rosser is also a member of American Bucking Bull, Inc. and has sat on their Board of Directors for more than 6 years. She currently resides in Marysville, California.

Full information on the PRCA inductees can be found at www.prorodeo.com.

The 2022 ProRodeo Hall of Fame Inductions are scheduled to take place at 10 a.m. MT on July 16 in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

WCRA Reveals $225K Bonus Program

The WCRA (World Champions Rodeo Alliance) is excited to announce the Reliance Ranches VRQ Points Champion Bonus, an annual award that will pay a $25,000 cash bonus to each athlete who earns the most VRQ (Virtual Rodeo Qualifier) points in their disciplines.

The collective $225,000 award will be available to all athletes who nominate their 2022 rodeo efforts in their respected discipline (bareback riding, steer wrestling, heading, heeling, saddle bronc riding, tie-down roping, breakaway roping, barrel racing and bull riding) through the Virtual Rodeo Qualifier (VRQ) in the following segments:

- 2022 Utah Days of '47 Rodeo
- 2022 Cowtown Christmas Championship Rodeo

- 2023 Women's Rodeo World Championship (as of 11/27/22)

The timeframe for the Reliance Ranches VRQ Points Champion Bonus will begin April 11, 2022 and conclude at the 2022 Cowtown Christmas Championship Rodeo on December 17, 2022.

The cash bonuses will be awarded based on total cumulative points earned across all segments, including the World Points available at December's Cowtown Christmas Championship. As of April 11, all points that athletes earn in a nomination segment will put them in a leaderboard race for a chance to earn the $25,000 cash bonus in their discipline.

The 2022 schedule includes four Triple Crown of Rodeo events, beginning with Rodeo Corpus Christi May 11-14, followed immediately by the Women's Rodeo World Championship in Fort Worth May 16-18. Utah Days of '47 Rodeo in Salt Lake City July 20-23 & 25 will be the third stop while the 2022 tour will wrap up with the Cowtown Christmas Championship Rodeo December 14-17.

"This chance to win a $25,000 bonus for just nominating the rodeos you are already going to is unlike anything else anyone is doing in the rodeo industry," said WCRA President Bobby Mote. "This is just another example of WCRA trying to make a large positive footprint on the sport of rodeo and giving rodeo athletes another opportunity to put money in their pocket."

2022 WCRA Schedule of Events:

May 11-14 - Rodeo Corpus Christi, Corpus Christi, TX

May 16-18 - Women's Rodeo World Championship, Fort Worth, TX

July 20-23 & 25 - Utah Days of '47 Rodeo, Salt Lake City, UT

December 14-17 - Cowtown Christmas Championship Rodeo, Fort Worth, TX

WCRA Inks Deal with Lazy E

World Champions Rodeo Alliance (WCRA) today announced a partnership with the Iconic Lazy E Ranch and Arena, welcoming the organization as the official presenting sponsor of the WCRA Triple Crown of Rodeo (TCR). The TCR is an award that will pay a $1 million bonus to any one or collection of athletes who win first in any three consecutive WCRA TCR events.

Along with the bonus now being called the Triple Crown of Rodeo Presented by Lazy E, the legendary ranch and arena will serve as a year-long sponsor of WCRA and will present the $1 million cash award.

"Lazy E is an iconic Western Sports brand. They are the gold standard in equine breeding and represent the values WCRA was founded upon and celebrate," said Bobby Mote, WCRA President. "This is about as natural and authentic as a WCRA brand partnership can get, and I am personally eager to watch someone take home that $1 Million payday with the famous Lazy E mark on it."

Under the Reliance Ranches ownership, The Lazy E Ranch is located southeast of Guthrie, Oklahoma and was established in December 1984. The Lazy E Arena is located on this private ranch and is the largest indoor arena dedicated to western sports in America.

"Lazy E Ranch and Arena is proud to be part of the Triple Crown of Rodeo where some of the most authentic and diverse group of athletes in the rodeo world are showcased," said Dan Wall, Lazy E General Manager and VP. "Lazy E has set the standard of what it means to produce and foster champion equine, similar to WCRA who continues to raise the rodeo bar and progress the western sports industry."

The Lazy E Ranch is a premier equine breeding and sales prep facility and stands many of the world's top racing American Quarter Horse stallions. The Lazy E Ranch opened its gates in the fall of 1984 and since that time has been involved in both the Quarter Horse and Thoroughbred racing industries. With the purchase of World Champion and World Champion sire Special Effort in 1989, the Lazy E began to earn recognition as one of the top Quarter Horse breeding operations in the country.

Currently- Tacy Kay Webb, a 24-year-old ICU Nurse has positioned herself to win the TCR. For Webb, fresh off her win at Cowtown Christmas Championship Rodeo, the event marked her second consecutive WCRA Major win, putting her in contention to be a millionaire. If Webb triumphs at May's Rodeo Corpus Christi, she will be the first victor of the WCRA Triple Crown of Rodeo $1 Million Bonus and the first woman in rodeo to become an overnight millionaire.

All athletes from around the globe have the opportunity to compete in the WCRA Major Events Series and compete for the TCR after qualifying through the WCRA Virtual Rodeo Qualifier (VRQ). All rodeo athletes interested in learning more about the VRQ should be directed to wcrarodeo.com while those inquiring more about the TCR may visit triplecrownofrodeo.com.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Happy Easter! What a wonderful time of celebration! What joy to be in the family of God!

When Jesus rose from the grave, having paid the price for all of our sins, our freedom was secured! When we ask Jesus to be our Lord, Romans 10:8-10, we have no fear of dying and going to hell.

2 Cor. 5:17 tells us that when we are in Christ, we are brand new. When I was little, I loved dying eggs. I wasn't good at it, but it was fun. I was raised in the country so I knew bunnies didn't lay eggs, but what the heck, a basket of goodies is a basket of goodies! And I loved baby chicks. Baby anything really.

Though these traditions are prevalent, they are not what Easter is about. A basket of candy? Through Jesus, we received life and life everlasting. Beats the wham out of candy! Baby chicks? They are cute and innocent. Jesus' sacrifice made us cute, innocent of our sin and brand new! Chicks aren't even close!

Let's not lose sight of the reason for the Easter celebration. Go to church. Consider Jesus. Teach your children the truth. And praise God for all He has done for you!
