Kassie Mowry & CP He Will Be Epic Win Second Winter Run Title in San Angelo

By Tanya Randall

A solid winter run has put the industry's leading barrel racer Kassie Mowry in the No. 2 spot in the WPROA Standings. Most recently, Mowry, a three-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier, topped the $45,000-added San Angelo Rodeo, held March 31 to April 14 in the West Texas ranching town, for $25,283.

Mowry was riding her San Antonio Rodeo Champion CP He Will Be Epic, an 8-year-old Epic Leader gelding out of the Dash Ta Fame mare Percilla.

"Will's getting this rodeo thing figured out! He's put in a good shift!" said Mowry.

Her other rodeo mount Famous Ladies Man ("Emmett") had recently recovered from a fracture in his coffin bone that kept him out of the 2022 NFR but was getting extra time off after a nasty fall at Rodeo Houston.

Will, in his 17-hand glory, is proving to be quite the indoor horse, winning San Angelo's three-run aggregate by more than three 10ths. "That's where our little team began," said Mowry. She had seen a picture of Will as a coming yearling and met his breeder Claire Powell in the San Angelo fairgrounds parking lot to pick up the gelding. "I was so proud of him and the horse he's become. Barrel racing didn't start out easy for him. He wasn't a natural. He really had to put the work in. I was thinking about how far he's come and how fun he is to run and how solid he feels. I normally don't get to keep one this long and get to this point. It's so fun to have something that you can really rely on like that. I don't really have to do much to help him in the pattern."

Mowry said that Will is still a little timid outside the arena, but he's seasoned into a veteran inside.

"I was scared to throw him in at the NFR because I didn't know how he would handle it mentally or physically, but it was the best thing for him," she said. "Just the seasoning helped. I've learned a lot about him and how to handle him. I treat him like a baby. I don't really get after him for things when he's afraid of them. I try to coax him through it. That's really the only way you can handle him because he is so sensitive. I think that's what helped him the most, learning how to approach him and how he handles things like that. He's not a horse like Emmett where you can just say, "Hey, get over it," and he'll get over it. Will, you have to talk him into or out of whatever."

Mowry said she's also established Will's routine at the rodeos. "In the warmup, it's mainly walking, maybe trotting," she said. "If he's on the muscle, I only walk. I don't force him to lope. It's not necessary for him. It just makes him hotter and more on the muscle. I run him in an O-ring and it's basically nothing, so I try to keep him off of my hands and keep him calm really does that." She also tries to find Will a buddy in the holding pens. His favorite is Emily Beisel's Namgis D 33 ("Chongo"). It worked out perfectly that Beisel had made the short round at San Angelo too.

"He loves Chongo," laughed Mowry. "They were lined up together at the NFR and they were in the holding pen at (San Angelo) together. Little things like that comfort him. If I can find a horse to stand by, just little things like that comfort him."

At San Angelo, which is open to all card and permit holders in the WPROA, all contestants make their first run in the slack in a

Mowry and Will tied for second in the first round and won the second round to lead the field into the short round on two runs. They finished second in the short round to win the aggregate.

In typical Mowry fashion—she fits as much into her schedule as possible—she made the two-hour trip from San Angelo back to Dublin, Texas, after her performance on Thursday night so she could ride colts and take broodmares to the vet on Friday. She laughingly admitted in her Cowboy Channel interview following her win that she had to set an alarm to leave for the San Angelo short go in case she got so wrapped up riding her colts.

“This weather is nice and you’ve got to take advantage of it,” she laughed. “It’s ride now or when it’s 100! I’m trying to get through these 3-year-olds while it’s nice out and you can ride them without worrying about them getting hot too quickly.

“This is my window right now. I have a nice group of 3-year-olds. I don’t know how great they’ll be; I just like them. I want to get them as far along as I can.”

Mowry will have a break from rodeos while she focuses on her colts and the upcoming futurities. Ruby Buckle is next week and the Old Fort Days Futurity and Oklahoma City’s Royal Crown are next month.

While she is sitting great in the standings, Mowry said chasing a WPRA World Championship isn’t her focus.

“It takes a lot of dedication,” she said. “It’s just never been my thing. I love going to the BFA (World Championship Futurity). I think that it’s so exciting. I like the thrill of the colts. I like the hopes and dreams with the colts and the roller coaster that goes with them. Some of them really surprise you and others break your heart. I just love the process of it. It’s a challenge.”

What she doesn’t love is the driving and conditions involved with rodeo.

Mowry said she’s not sure if she’ll make a Fourth of July run. She will go back to the Calgary Stampede to defend her title. Afterward, she might hit the Utah rodeos that are known for their better ground conditions.

“I want to go to Calgary and the ones after that, but that’s a month!” she said. “Nobody is riding the horses at home or doing anything with them while I’m gone. It’s hard. You get behind on the colts. The colts have one futurity year and that’s it, so they need to be ready for it. That’s my big deal—the futurities—and really, that’s what pays.

“The winter rodeos are fun. If I’m going to keep some of these older guys around they’re going to have to run at some rodeos because that’s where the money is at for them at this point. That’s why I do it.”

Wenda Johnson & Steal Money Cash In At Logandale

By Tanya Randall

Three-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier Wenda Johnson and Steal Money ("Mo") pocketed $8,146 at the $17,500-added Clark County Fair & Rodeo, held April 12-14 in Logandale, Nevada.

Johnson and the 7-year-old gelding, owned by Highpoint Performance Horses, were the very first runners in slack after the opening night's performance.

"The goal for my run on Mo was to stay safe on the ground and let him pick his path," said Johnson, a nurse practitioner. "His runs are all fairly consistent, therefore I strive to let him go to his spots and leave him alone as much as possible."

Like all of the great horses Johnson is known for, Mo is by First Moonflash. The gelding is out of the Stoli mare Im Chica Stoli. Under the ownership of Tres Mesa Horses, Mo was started on the barrels by Luis Hernandez. He spent the first half of his 5-year-old year with Kassie Mowry and won the Elite HHA Futurity before coming in clutch for Johnson at the Calgary Stampede that summer. Mo has been Johnson's high-money earner at her last two NFR appearances.

"Mo has so many special qualities and quite the personality. He is full of life, can be such a character, and loves to compete. He was slightly fresh after traveling to Nevada, but when it was time to compete he was focused and ready to run," Johnson noted. Last fall, Mo and his stablemate Macgyver Moonflash ("Mac") were sold by Tres Mesa Horses to Highpoint. Hernandez made the move with the geldings so the program that already had three NFR qualifications stayed intact.

Johnson is on the road for her fourth straight NFR qualification. Logandale was her first stop on the California run of rodeos highlighted by the $21,000-added Red Bluff Round-Up and $28,500-added Clovis Rodeo.

"A friend was looking for someone to travel with for the California run and I had never gone before," said Johnson. "I was free and up for the adventure, so we entered Logandale for the first time on our way out to California."

The win in Logandale bumped her from 34th in the WPR World Standings to 19th with $24,003. Johnson only entered eight rodeos over the lucrative winter run. She tied for fourth at Fort Worth ($6,760), made the Championship Round at Rodeo Houston ($8,000) and placed in the second round at San Angelo ($1,099) before winning Logandale.

Johnson also won the Timed Event Challenge at the Quarter horse show during Fort Worth and placed at a few high-stakes open races with her Highpoint-owned duo.

"There are always some great races to go to all year round, but during the winter in Texas it is especially fun," she said. "It was an enjoyable few months because of the variety of high stakes barrel races, rodeos, and Quarter Horse shows to attend. Each event provided the opportunity for me to enjoy time with the horses and spoil them with cookies."

Johnson said she'll make her summer plans soon.

"Unfortunately, that doesn't include the Xtreme Million Finals that was moved to Reno the first part of June because we have a family trip that conflicts," said Johnson, who won the inaugural

Tru Blue Most & Firewater Requests Triumph at Redmond Xtreme Mini Million

By Tanya Randall

Teenager Tru Blue Most of Longview, Washington, and Firewater Requests ("Rockette or Rocky") picked up $7,725 at the Redmond Xtreme, held April 11-16 in Oregon.

The 15-year-old high school freshman and her 10-year-old mare topped the Mini Million with the fastest run of the weekend, a 15.090, to earn $4,678. They also won Saturday's Open, worth $1,105.

"I think in that run I saw Tru and Rocky's full potential," said Tru's father Josh. "I just felt like for whatever reason Rocky was ready to run, almost to an annoying point. She was pretty feisty in the warmup arena. Tru was ready too.

"I was proud of Tru because Rocky was pretty rough out there and she kept her mental state. Tru's got her own little routine that she goes through and Rocky really wasn't having any of that. When they call Tru's set, that's when all of a sudden she and horse got it together. I remember looking at her and giving her a fist pump and she gave me the fist pump back. They were both just ready to run. "That was the best run I've ever seen them do. It was absolutely phenomenal. It was just an amazing run against some pretty stout competition."

Tru is a first generation barrel racer. She started riding when she was 5 and has been barrel racing the past four years.

"My favorite movie was Toy Story and I really wanted to be Jessie the cowgirl," she said. "I would rope my dog. I'd wear my cowboy hat and boots and pretend to be a cowgirl all the time. Eventually my uncle married a horse girl. They had a boarding barn and they got me my first horse Rudy."

She got Rocky a year ago through her mentors Ryan Lovendahl and K.C. Groves. The daughter of the late stallion Firewater Finale, out of Hannah Zimmer's Holland Ease mare Request Klass, was a perfect fit.

"I just clicked with her right away," said Tru. "Our styles just fit together. I've had a lot of success with her so far."

On their first run together at the KK Run For Vegas at the UBRA Futurity last year, they qualified for the Junior World Finals in Las Vegas. They decided to add the All-In Race while in Vegas and left Sin City with a senior division title at the Junior World Finals and the Youth Championship at All In.

"Her success in Vegas definitely changed things perspectively," said her father. Notably, Tru will give homeschool another go so she can attend more barrel races.

"We put her on online homeschool at the beginning of the year but she had a little 'fear of missing out' with her friends and wanted to go back to real school," Josh explained. "We allowed that because we think allowing her to be a kid is just as important as her passion."

Tru added, "That was before we realized this horse could really run. It's definitely the plan for next year."

The Mosts are currently at Lovendahl's getting a tune up before the Junior World Qualifier and Xtreme Million at the UBRA Futurity this weekend in Heber City, Utah.

"We're here a little early to get her focus down," Josh said. "We're trying to recapture that lightning."

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: I don't like to do a lot of barrel work. I don't want to shove the pattern in her face too much. I do a lot of long trotting and basic conditioning. If I see something that I need to perfect in her run, I'll do some drills.

SPONSORS: RooHide, Pro Orthopedic Equine, Diamond Showcase, Baldwin Legal Services, Ryan Lovendahl Barrel Horses

THANKS: Parents Josh and Nichole, especially dad for driving and hauling, and all of her family for their support. "It really means a lot to me that my family comes out to every race and yells so loud to the point of annoying people," Tru laughed.

Josh also wanted to thank the Xtreme crew. "We absolutely love the Burns organization," he said. "Dana and Destiny were just fantastic. I love the way they make a barrel race feel, especially Dana's call (of the race). It's like having your mom standing on the sideline announcing cheering you on and giving sympathy when it's due. I really appreciate the Xtreme Million."

PRCA, Rural Media Group Announces Expanded Schedule of Rodeos

The PRCA and Rural Media Group are pleased to announce an expanded schedule of PRCA rodeos on The Cowboy Channel, RFD-TV, The PRCA on Cowboy Channel Plus, and The Cowgirl Channel. This expanded schedule will now total more than 900 PRCA performances annually over the three Rural Media Group television networks and the subscription based PRCA on Cowboy Channel Plus App.

"Showcasing our small to medium-sized PRCA rodeos with this national exposure really benefits these local communities," PRCA CEO Tom Glause said. "Rodeo fans can now watch even more PRCA rodeo action, including local hometown rodeos, the PRCA Playoff Series rodeos, and the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo."

Of the 900-plus PRCA rodeo performances being televised and livestreamed, 150 PRCA performances will be exclusively televised on The Cowgirl Channel, which launched on March 1.

The mutually agreed upon schedule of PRCA rodeos on the RMG Networks will run through the end of 2028.

"We hope that these local rodeos will now have the added incentive to plan and improve their rodeo production and marketing, and accordingly make every effort to reach their rodeo's full potential," said Patrick Gottsch, Founder and President of Rural Media Group. "They should know that the Rural Media Group and the PRCA are here to help them do that."

The expanded schedule of PRCA rodeos on the Rural Media Group networks begins this weekend with the San Angelo (Texas) Cinch Shootout being telecast live on The Cowboy Channel and on the PRCA on Cowboy Channel Plus App at 8:30 p.m. (ET) on Saturday, April 15.

Rocky Mountain Dodge brings the 'Big' to the Big Bang Barrel Race

The 2023 Big Bang Barrel Race is set for July 26-30 in Wetaskiwin, Alberta, and this year is upping the ante.

In partnership with Rocky Mountain Dodge in Rocky Mountain House, Alberta, the Big Bang Barrel Race will be awarding a brand new Dodge Ram* to one of the four showdown round winners on July 30.

One of four talented barrel racers, the winner of each of the 4 divisions of competition on July 30 will randomly be chosen to take home the grand prize.

In addition to the Rocky Mountain Dodge backed vehicle prize, in 2023 the Big Bang Barrel Race is offering more than $250,000 in payout and prizing, all in an effort to push the barrel racing industry in Canada forward.

"We are so incredibly humbled and excited to have partnered with Rocky Mountain Dodge for this year's event and hopefully many more to come," said the Big Bang Barrel Races' director AJ Maddox.

"Our goals are simple. To offer some of the best prizing and payout in the industry in Canada, ensuring that our competitors are given opportunities to make a living in this sport. I don't know of anything more exciting than running a showdown round with your horse, then heading back to the arena to collect a set of keys to your brand new Dodge truck."

For Rocky Mountain Dodge, the opportunity to partner with an event that is looking to not only give back to the community from a prizing standpoint, but nurture the future of the sport and expansion of women's events in rodeo with the Big Bang's junior division and Thursday Night Lights Breakaway Roping.

"The whole team here at Rocky Mountain Dodge is very excited to be given the opportunity to partner with The Big Bang Barrel Race," said Rocky Mountain Dodge's Rod

"The chance to be able to give back to the community, locally or outside of our area is amazing. We cannot wait to meet this year's winner and hopefully grow our partnership with AJ and her team more in the years to come."

Right smack dab in the middle of the Canadian Barrel Racing season, the Big Bang Barrel Race is hoping to be another cog in a championship season for any competitor, as last year's top money earner Jennifer Neudorf along with her horse Fames Syzygy would ride the wave of momentum of rodeo wins and this success at the Big Bang all the way to the Canadian Finals Rodeo in Red Deer in November.

"I love the sport of barrel racing, and I think that having an event with this much going back into the pockets and tack rooms of our entries will draw from greater distances and bring more and more of the North American barrel racing community to Canada at a time where there are so many more great events going on up here," Maddox said.

"It will be a win-win for the entire community. But especially for that pairing driving out of Wetaskiwin in a brand new Rocky Mountain Dodge Ram. Now can the summer get here already?"

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Victory. I love that word! We all want to win in life. But 'victory' and 'win' both have a common theme. You're going to have to fight in order to get there. Groan.

I don't want to fight. I want to win! I don't want to break a sweat. Please just bring me an iced tea while I sit around and when it's my turn, let me win. Not happening!

The Bible tells us to fight the good fight of faith. What's a good fight? The one you win, of course. Our very good God tells us how to fight in Eph. 6:10-20. He describes for us the armor we are to put on, and leave on. And if you'll notice, it's all attack armor.

If you turn and run, you are going to get shot in the behind! But we are overcomers and we aren't going to run from a fight. Why would we? God tells us in verse 16 that the shield of faith 'will be able to quench ALL the fiery darts of the wicked one'. Looks like we're going to win! That's cause for celebration!
