Q&A with Cody Bauserman & Niki Black -- BFA Spring Classic Champions

BRR: Can you name a few of Niki Black's big wins?

Bauserman: The Southern Rebel Futurity was his first futurity win, then he won the Consolation at the Lance Graves Futurity, then was the Reserve Champion at the BFA Southeastern Arena Futurity, he's also won the East Coast Classic Barrel Futurity and now the BFA Spring Classic.

BRR: How much are his earnings to date?

Bauserman: Somewhere between $35,000-$38,000

BRR: You rode his sire Nik Dell to earnings in excess of $80,000, how are they similar? How are they different?

Bauserman: Their mind sets are real similar. They both have real good minds and dispositions. The biggest differences would be that Niki Black uses his back end more in his turns and Nik Dell was more of a 4 wheel drive horse.

BRR: You have ridden several great horses, what separates a good horse and a great horse?

Bauserman: The biggest difference between a good horse and a great horse is when he makes that run, everyone else is running for second. I can almost count on one hand the number of runs like that I have made. The other day when Niki Black ran that 14.8 (at the BFA Spring Classic), it was that kind of run. Niki Black had been building up to one of those runs and it was fun to have him put it all together. When one of those great horses put that type of run together, you know that everyone can run at your time all week and they aren't going to beat it. For me, BF Shenanigan and VF Red Bully were those type of horses. The other test of a truly great horse is that every 4-5 runs, they will put down one of those phenomenal

2011 Tax Handbook is Now Available from AHC

The American Horse Council is pleased to announce that the new, up-to-date 2011 Horse Owners and Breeders Tax Handbook is hot off the presses! No one involved with the horse industry should be without the Horse Owners and Breeders Tax Handbook.

Topics covered in the Handbook include:

Business versus hobby-including summaries of important court decisions; Passive loss rules; Forms of doing business; Record keeping and accounting rules; Sales, Exchanges and Involuntary conversions; Depreciation; and much more!

This two-volume edition has everything you need to know pertaining to tax laws for your equine business. Volume-One explains the Internal Revenue Code as it relates to a horse business, and Volume-Two includes court cases involving horse owners and breeders that have had dealings with the IRS, both favorable and unfavorable. "The Horse Owners and Breeders Tax Handbook is an essential element of a federal tax library for practitioners serving the horse industry," explains Paul Husband of Husband Law in Universal City, CA. The cost for the two-volume printed edition of the Tax Handbook is $95 plus shipping and handling.

For the first time ever, the Handbook will be available as a CD. No more toting the two volumes around with you when you're traveling. This CD will fit in your carry-on and won't take up much room on your shelves. The cost for the CD edition of the Tax Handbook is $75 plus shipping and handling.

Looking for a specific topic? Find it easily! The CD has a search function to lead you directly to the subject you're looking for. Not only is the CD now available, but it is being offered as a special package deal with the books for only $135 plus shipping and handling!

Written by Thomas A. "Tad" Davis of Davis & Harman in Washington DC, this is the most current and informative source on equine tax laws on the market. Mr. Davis is the guru of equine tax law. He has represented private clients for years in this area and has worked as the tax counsel for the American Horse Council for forty years!

You won't want to be without this Handbook and CD. "The Tax handbook is a concise and go to resource for those involved with equine tax related issues," said Douglas P. Romaine of Stoll Keenon Ogden PLLC in Lexington, KY. Order online or call the AHC to get your copies today!

You may find the AHC online at www.horsecouncil.org or by calling 202-296-4031.

1099 Reporting Requirement Headed for Repeal Soon

The American Horse Council reports that on April 5, 2011 the Senate passed a repeal of the onerous new 1099 reporting requirement that was scheduled to kick-in in 2012. The House approved the same 1099 repeal bill (H.R. 4), introduced by Congressman Lungren (R-CA), earlier this year. The President is expected to sign the bill into law in the next several days.

"We are glad Congress took action to head off what would have been a large increase in tax-related paper-work for horse businesses in 2012," said AHC President Jay Hickey.

The new 1099 paperwork mandate was a provision of the health care bill passed last year that would have imposed burdensome new tax reporting requirements on every business in the U.S., including those in the horse industry, beginning in 2012. Current law requires 1099s to be sent to any independent contractor that receives $600 or more from a business in a year. The new provision would have required 1099s be sent not only to independent contractors but also to any individual or corporation from whom a business purchased a total of $600 or more in goods or services in the year.

The bill repeals only the new broader reporting requirements. Businesses will still have to send 1099s to independent contractors as current law requires.

"Repeal of the new 1099 requirement has had Presidential and bipartisan Congressional support once its full impact on businesses was realized," said Hickey "However, during the last Congress disagreement over details got in the way of repeal. We are happy Congress prioritized getting this done before businesses were impacted in 2012."

NCHA Super Stakes Sale Soars

The 2011 NCHA Super Stakes Sale, held April 16, on the final day of the XTO Energy NCHA Super Stakes, saw a 57 percent increase in average price over the 2010 sale, as well as a 22 percent increase in completed sales.

"We were really pleased with the results," said Western Bloodstock spokesman and pedigree expert Jim Ware. "The cutting industry continues to surpass all others in performance horse sale markets."

The sale topper at $60,000 was Somekinda Shiney, a yearling filly and the first foal sired by Metallic Cat to sell at auction. She was consigned by the Shrontz Family Partnership and purchased by trainer Jeremy Barwick, Stephenville, Tex.

Penny Youngblood, Aubrey, Tex., purchased the second-highest seller, Amanda Lena Boon, a nine-year-old Peptoboonsmal daughter, consigned by Carmel Cutting Horses, for $50,000. Youngblood also paid $32,500 for Miss Pepto Rey, a six-year-old Dual Rey daughter, also consigned by Carmel Cutting Horses.

Bet On Nurse, a six-year-old daughter of Bet On Me 498, consigned by Round Mountain Ranch, sold to Gail Homes, Fort Worth, Tex., for $35,000.

Net sales on 75 head averaged $12,300; 18 head of RNAs average $10,940.

The top five sellers averaged $41,800; top 10 sellers averaged $33,900; and the top 20 average $25,925.

runs. You feel like you can come back and do it again because it is so within that horse and even when they don't make a perfect run they will still get a check.

BRR: How does Niki Black rank with the other horses you have ridden?

Bauserman: He's right up there for me, he should have won 4 futurities already if I wouldn't have pulled him over a barrel. He is up there with Promises To Dash who won at least 4 futurities for me in 2004, won the Triple Crown award from Speedhorse and was the only horse other than SX Frenchmans Vanila to do that. Promises To Dash won both Speedhorse Futurities and the Fizz Bomb and had a bad run in the short go at Ft. Smith and still ended up second. Niki Black has already won quite a bit and he should win some more but you can never tell because the futurities are so tough. I can't really rank them, but Niki Black ranks right up there with the best of them.

Q&A with Christina Richman & Xtrared (Stitch) Red Bluff Champions

BRR: Since you mainly haul one Stitch, what do you do to get the best out of her when you're out on the road?

Richman: I think on some ways it is actually easier. Sure it sucks if it rains or when my horse pops an abscess (at Nacogdoches last month for instance) and I don't have something else to ride but I don't have to wonder which horse to ride and I can focus on Xtrared (Stitch) a lot more and I have more time to just take care of her, rather than have 4 or 5 horses to take care of. Last summer,

OWNER/RIDER: CHRISTINA RICHMAN, BREEDER: BLANE SCHVANEVELDT

I had 3 horses that I hauled with me for 2 weeks in September and I couldn't believe how much extra work it was. I had to go get feed more often, had to set up more stalls and you just don't realize how much extra work each horse is when you haul them down the road. Right now the extra horse I have is my boyfriend's head horse so he isn't a lot of work, hauls good, and keeps her calm, so I can concentrate on taking care of Stitch.

BRR: How much would you estimate you have earned on Xtrared during her lifetime?

Richman: Somewhere around $267,000 if I included earnings from 4Ds and rodeos.

BRR: If you were to share one piece of advice to someone heading to run at their first prorodeo what would it be?

Richman: Don't treat it any different than you would a jackpot. Be careful not to let it get to your head. Sometimes you see people like Sherry Cervi and Lindsay Sears at the rodeo and it can throw you off your game, but you just have to do things that you have been doing. The things you have been doing made you think you were ready to enter that prorodeo in the first place so don't forget that.

BRR: What makes Stitch such a special horse?

Richman: She is just kind of gritty and you don't really ever have to worry about what she is going to do when I am running barrels. She kind of slipped coming around the first barrel at Red Bluff and she should have hit the first barrel but she just got around it because she doesn't want to hit barrels.

She understands the barrel racing game. It gives me all the confidence in the world knowing she is goes out and do her part no matter what. Out of the arena, she always needs to be doctored or babied due to some small ailment. For instance, at Nacogdoches (TX) she was a little off so I had to draw out of the rodeo and two days later she popped out an abscess.

Before that she hadn't needed any doctoring for a while and we weren't winning as much as I would like then I went to doctoring on her and now she is back to winning. Apparently I just need to doctor her and baby her at least once per month to keep her winning. I guess if I will take care of her out of the arena, she will take care of me in the arena.

Q&A with the WBRC Crew

Jeanette Nelson - Producer of the 2011 World Barrel Racing Challenge

BRR: What brought about the World Barrel Racing Challenge?

Nelson: I felt like there was a need for a change in barrel racing. I felt we needed to unite in the sport, and bring it to a higher level.

BRR: Can you explain to us exactly what the World Barrel Racing Challenge entails?

Nelson: WBRC is a team not an individual barrel race. It is like any professional sport, where it takes the whole team to win, not just 1 individual.

BRR: What was the format for the WBRC?

Nelson: 25 youth competitors for each team, East & West ran in the Semi-finals on Friday. The Top 10 finalists from the East and Top 10 from the West ran head to head on Sunday. The winning time was lowest team average minus 2 slowest times. At the 2011 WBRC Team East won by .627 to become 2011 World Barrel Racing Champions. Each team member won $5000 each for a total of $50,000!

Team USA consisted of 25 Semi-finalists who battled for the top 8 spots to join Martha Josey and Brittany Pozzi and complete the team of 10 to go head to head against the 6 Brazilians for the International Team. Team USA's two slowest times were dropped, Team International 2 best times were added back to make the playing field as fair as possible for the International team.

Team USA kept the WBRC Championship in the USA. Each Team member won $2500 for a total purse of $25,000.

BRR: Can you tell us a little about your inaugural event and what it was like to have such an international presence at one event?

Nelson: It was great to have the Brazilians compete in the WBRC. It is definitely hard due to language barriers as well as immigrant rules and regulations.

It was the 1st barrel race where you wanted everyone on your team to outrun you. The team atmosphere was spread all through the arena as well as the stands. The teams spent the week bonding together and supporting each other to make the best run ever.

BRR: What are your plans for the future of the World Barrel Racing Challenge?

Nelson: The 2012 WBRC will be held March 28-May 1, 2012 in Tunica MS. We feel we need to be more in the center of the USA. The format for the open will be same as youth 25 from East and 25 from West.

BRR: What should people do if they want to participate in the World Barrel Racing Challenge?

Nelson: WBRC is invitation or nomination only. Once you are nominated WBRC will review stats and you may attend a qualification race.

Q&A with Team Captain Brittany Pozzi

BRR: Can you tell us a little about the WBRC and what it was like competing in a team format against people from around the globe?

Pozzi: The WBRC was such a great event to attend, the team concept got everyone involved and excited. I found myself rooting for Team

West in the finals. The youth that attended all had amazing horse and were amazing riders. I can't wait to be a part of this next year.

BRR: Tell us a little about French Covergirl.

Pozzi: She is a 7 yr old mare that I purchased off of the Internet as a two year old. I futuritized her as a 4 yr old winning numerous events and setting a couple of arena records. I also rode and placed on her in 2 go rounds of the NFR.

BRR: What is French Covergirl's style of running barrels?

Pozzi: Her style is get around them quick no matter what it takes. She still seems to amaze me with some of her runs. The smoother her run is the faster she clocks even if it feels like she is loping.

BRR: How much would you guess you have won running barrels on French Covergirl?

Pozzi: I have no idea! I would have to look it up on Equistat.

BRR: You have been winning at futurities, derbies, open 4ds and you sit #1 in the world, that takes not only good training but good horses. What do you look for in the horses you select to ride?

Pozzi: Well, I have gotten really lucky on a lot of the colt purchases I have made but now I try to put a little science to it. I have gone back and bought the mothers or sisters to all the good horses I have had and have began a breeding program. I currently own two sisters to Stitch, a sister to Duke, and Cosmos mom. My first futurity horse was JJ Bar Jet and I loved him so much I purchased his mother in foal to a full sibling. I then foaled her out and got Steele Magnolias who has won $10,000 so far at the futurities. So all in all I have based my colt program on horses that I am familiar with.

BRR: As you sit #1 in the world and are a sure lock for the NFR, what are your rodeo plans for the rest of the year?

Pozzi: I am going to go to a few in May but I will break out in June and then go for the summer months. I don't plan on going to the northwest but I also try not to make too many plans because they can change fast.

Q&A with Brian Wheeler

BRR: You and SX Dr Peacharita are quite a team, can you tell us about some of your big wins together?

Wheeler: The 2010 BFA Derby win was my favorite win because it was Peach's last derby. The Youth World was a great win for me because it was my last year in the youth, I move up to teen this year.

BRR: What are Peach's earnings?

Wheeler: The last year and a half she's earned $140k.

BRR: Can you tell us about competing in the World Barrel Racing Challenge?

Wheeler: The World Challenge was fun because it was a team. When it got down to the finals everything was so tight between both teams. There were a lot of good horses.

BRR: What is Sx Dr Peacharita's style?

Wheeler: Peaches style is 4 wheel drive. She runs around the barrel and never loses her forward motion. I've had to learn to ride her because she drops so hard in the front end. I had more trouble with that in the beginning than anything.

BRR: What is it that makes you and Sx Dr Peacharita such a winning team?

Wheeler: I just try to stay out of her way and let her work most of the time. Her stifles were real sore this weekend (at the Mid-South Nationals) but she just keeps trying. That's what makes her special and makes her such a winner.

BRR: What are your plans for the future?

Wheeler: To keep my mare comfortable and sound, so she will continue to enjoy what she does.

Headin' For Home

By Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Have you ever been in jail? No wait! Don't answer that! I really don't think I want to know!!! I haven't. And when I see a movie or show about someone in jail it looks like a real good place to stay out of. God tells us that the devil will be jailed for all eternity in hell and that's wonderful. Today wouldn't be too soon for me.

There is something in our life that needs to be put in jail and the key thrown away. It is the "what if's" in our thoughts. That phrase running around in our heads is a form of fear and fear is the opposite of faith. As children of God, just stop for one second, right now would be good, and really ask yourself if the "what if" is from God. Does He promise in His word "what if" I ...lose my job, get really sick, get divorced, lose my kids, etc. No he doesn't. Not ever. His word is so full of how He has and IS the answer that if anything bad happens to us, usually from our own stupid choices, He is right there to help, correct, and fix it.

The Holy Spirit is our helper, comforter, fixer person and He wants us to have the answer even more then we want it. It's because of God's great love for us. If you're in some kind of pickle today, God is ready and willing and ABLE to get you the answer. He won't beat you up because you made a mistake or just didn't know something. He corrects those He loves, but not with anything bad. We just need to quit being so bullheaded about stuff and wanting to do things our own way. It won't work. I've proven this countless times so you can learn from my mistakes and RUN to God. He's waiting. He's ready. The answer is in His word. So you can KNOW and not be fussin' with the "what if's". GOD IS A SURE PERSON! That will give you peace.

Happy Easter with all God's love He gave through Jesus our Lord!!!
