RAISING YOUR FUTURE

Michelle Alley & Lipstick N Stilletos Fashionably Fast in San Angelo

By Tanya Randall

Michelle Alley nearly doubled her winter run earnings with a $23,175 championship at the $45,000-added San Angelo (TX) Rodeo, held April 3-17.

"Really awesome! Super excited! This is the best winter I've ever had," said the barrel horse trainer from Madisonville, Texas. "I feel like the $20-$30,000 I've always lacked making the NFR, I made it up now this winter. I still have to have a good summer, but this takes a lot of weight off my shoulders."

Alley and her homebred 6-year-old mare Lipstick N Stilletos, now owned by Heather Moeller, have been on fire as of late. They qualified for the Calgary Stampede in Canada and Days of '47 Rodeo in Salt Lake City after finishing second at the WPRA Western Regional Qualifier and they just won the Rodeo Corpus Christi Qualifier in Hamilton, Texas, the Sunday after winning San Angelo. They made their first run at San Angelo on March 30, finishing

THE RUNDOWN w/Michelle Alley

Lipstick N Stilletos, 2020 Bay Mare, 16.2h

BIT: Flaharty O-Ring with a two-piece Rebar mouth

SADDLE: Seven Saddle — SADDLE PAD: Best Ever Pad

LEG GEAR: ACE Tack on all four

SHOEING: SafeGrip Steel Rims on front, barefoot behind "I put back shoes on her in December. Both of my vets said she was a little bit negative (in her rear coffin bone angles) and I needed to stand her up a little bit more. So we put shoes on her. She did fine obviously. I won rounds at San Antonio and Houston. . . The barrels I hit at those places, I just felt if I didn't have shoes on her she would have had a tick more slide and I might have got around them. Right before I headed to Logandale and Salina, I pulled her shoes, and knock on wood, I've gotten around every barrel since."

FEED: Nutrena Triumph at home, Pro Force Fuel when hauling for extra calories

HAY: Alfalfa and coastal; pasture 24/7.

SUPPLEMENTS: Simply Equine Structural Boost and respiratory support, Succeed Equine daily, Equine HempFlavin, and Zesterra when on the road.

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Flair Equine Nasal Strips; BEMER, chiropractic care from Kim Gillespie; nebulized pre-run with Silver Horse Care; pack feet with Magic Cushion Xtreme or Rebound especially if on a lot of hard ground, standing bandages overnight before runs.

TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: "I feel like she gets ran enough to stay in really good shape. She has this week off so I'm going to exercise her a couple of times but it's going to be pretty light. Ride in the pasture. I'll probably walk her through the pattern a bunch. When she does have down time I like to let her rest."

SPONSORS: Nutrena Feed, Succeed Equine, Bill Fick Ford, RenoVo Amnion Solutions, Flair Equine Nasal Strips, Simply Equine & K9, Kim Gillespie-KG Equine, D Bar D Equine Dentistry, Zesterra by Pro Earth Animal Health, Silver Horse Care, Equine Health Solutions, Lone Star Equine Sports Medicine, ACE Tack and Tee's, Performance Stall Mats, HorseWell Massage Tool, Seven Saddles, SafeGrip Horseshoes.

"I drew up a little earlier in slack than what I would have liked," Alley said. "San Angelo is notorious for getting faster as slack goes on, but I will say hats off to the rodeo committee this year. That was probably the most even slack I've ever seen.

"I was second in my drag so that helped. She just laid down a run. We did rock the third, but the barrel gods kept that up."

The entire first round of the rodeo is held in the First Community Credit Union Spur Arena with the top 120 advancing to the second round, which is held over the course of two weeks in the Foster Communications Coliseum.

Since Alley had finished second in the first round, she drew the very last performance before the short round.

"My whole goal was to get her around them," she said. "She's so tight in those little pens. She never drops her shoulder and cheats. She just turns so hard and can just fold her body in half around the barrel. It's the freakiest, most athletic thing I've ever seen."

They clocked the fastest time of the rodeo up to that point with a 14.13.

"I had to leg lift around every barrel, but I got around them," Alley said. "I did not think it clocked as fast as it did. When you run out of that tunnel, you cannot hear. You can hear the crowd roar, but you can't really hear what (announcer) Boyd (Polhamus) says. I didn't even know my time until an interview after the rodeo."

For the Finals, Alley said her prayers for another clean run.

"I told myself I've got to do whatever I've got to do to get her around them and leave them standing," she said. "We did that! Some people said, 'Oh my gosh! It looked like you almost fell off at the third.' That didn't even cross my mind now that I have my back

DO LESS TO DO MORE

Lipstick N Stilletos is a freakishly talented equine athlete. She loves her job and craves turning barrels—sometimes too much.

“She doesn’t cheat,” said Michelle Alley, her breeder, trainer and jockey. “She just turns so hard. That’s why she’s so fun outside or on a Standard. She’s going to turn.”

Alley said the challenge she has riding the mare is not overthinking. “As a trainer, I ride horses all day every day,” she explained. “I’m not perfect but I have good feel. It’s just better for me if I don’t overthink and just be in the moment. I don’t make a different game plan for inside at San Angelo or outside at Ellensburg. I just think ride to my spots. If I overthink things, that’s when things don’t go good.”

Alley said she has to remind herself too that Stilleto is very fast and that she doesn’t have to ask her to run. But that’s easier said than done when you have a good run going and the crowd and announcer are encouraging you along.

“I just need to sit quiet, ride to my spots and don’t get in her way,” she said. “If I sat there and let it happen, it was usually good. If I hustle and try to make it happen, I usually crash a barrel. I get spastic when I override. I have to sit quiet and don’t over think it.”

Alley battles degenerative joint disease in her lower back but has successfully managed the condition with a stretching regimen and Pilates.

“I’ve been doing Pilates for two and a half months now and it’s really toned and strengthened my core and back—everywhere,” she said. “It’s a full body workout. Just doing that five or six days a week has really helped me. I can see my riding is so much better. I would recommend it to anyone.”

They finished second in the short with a 14.10 to win the aggregate.

“I’ve always made the finals there on Saucy, but I’ve never won it,” she said, “so it was really cool to win it on her first baby.” Bred by chance timing, Stilleto is by $1.3 million sire RR Mistakelly, out of Seis Caress (“Saucy”), a daughter of Tres Seis that carried Alley to numerous pro rodeo wins. Stilleto, who has more than $515,000 in lifetime earnings, has kept Alley in the hunt for a National Finals Rodeo qualification since she was a 4-year-old.

Alley has never entered a large number of rodeos to attempt an NFR qualification. She’s carefully picked her rodeos during her summer vacation from training horses in the southeast central Texas heat and has typically made the cut for the winter building rodeos and been within striking distance of the cut for Vegas.

“I don’t plan on doing anything different this summer,” she said. “I’ve always went to the big playoff rodeos.”

Alley won’t leave Texas until June. Her last rodeos before starting her summer run at the Reno (NV) Rodeo will be Guymon, Oklahoma, and Corpus Christi, Texas.

“I still won’t have a super high rodeo count,” she said. “I feel like Stilleto is sound and healthy. All horses need some maintenance, and I know what she requires to keep her at her best so I can stay on top of that. I feel like their futurity year and stuff, it’s hard to know. You can’t predict where they’re going to get sore.”

Alley has also managed to line herself out by maintaining her back injuries.

“Just me getting myself healthier and strengthening my back, so

I’m riding better, I think will make this summer easier as well,” she said. “Last year, I hit some very costly barrels. Even without a lot of winter money last, I could have made the NFR if my back and riding had been up to parr.

“I feel like she’s good and I’m good, so I’m hoping this is our year.”

EQUITBRAND

For Lindsey – Heidi Gunderson & Wonder If Im Lucky Top American Central Regional

By Tanya Randall

It's hard to tip a barrel when an angel is standing on them.

On April 16, Heidi Gunderson lost her sister-in-law Lindsey (Gunderson) Klimek to complications of a heart attack.

"She was my sister-in-law, but she was just as close as my sister," Gunderson said of the 41-year-old mother of three, ages 10, 12 and 17. "Lindsey was everybody's cheerleader. She was there for it all. She went with me to the Denver (rodeo) qualifier just to support me because that's just what she did."

While the family grieved in Minnesota, Gunderson and Wonder If Im Lucky ("Casey") got a monumental win in Klimek's honor at the American Central Regional, held April 16-18 at the State Fairgrounds in Oklahoma City.

"I can use this platform to tell people about Lindsey and God," said Gunderson. "I know she went to heaven. I have no doubt in my mind about that."

"I want everybody to know how special she was. She was a great mom. She was an awesome auntie. She was an awesome sister, sister-in-law. She was there for everybody when they needed her."

Back in Minnesota, the Gunderson family was watching the finals from her in-laws house.

"They sent me a picture of all of them watching," she said.

"That was pretty emotional too, just know that I could do that for our family right now."

The victory earned the Murdock, Minnesota, barrel horse trainer $12,183 and the right to compete at The American Rodeo in Arlington, Texas. She is also eligible for the $2 million bonus having advanced through the Contender Tournament.

Gunderson and Casey, a 5-year-old gelding owned by Shannon Kulseth of Purcell, Oklahoma, were well out of the money in 28th with their first run of 15.595.

"It just felt so slow," Gunderson said. "He was just out there loping along, and I was like, 'OK, you've gotta go faster than this dude!'"

Casey fired harder on his second run of 15.164 to place sixth. It was after that run that the emotions hit her.

"I was doing pretty good until I ran that .1," she said. "I just kind of lost it. I think emotionally I didn't know how to react."

The two-run aggregate that determined the Top 10 advancing to the Saturday night finals was extremely tight. For the longest time, Macey Moore, who was riding her former trainee JD Jackson Kandyman, was also holding a spot in the finals.

"They were just laying down run after run," Gunderson recalled. "So as I'm watching my name drop, I'm also watching Macey's name drop. It got to the very, very end. I was eighth and she was 10th and dang it, one of those in the last drag bumped her out and me to ninth. It would have been so cool to have two of my horses in the finals, but I'm still really proud of Macey and Jackson. She did a really good job. Jackson runs really hard for her, so it's fun to watch."

Gunderson knew that Casey was capable of making an even better run in the finals. She just had to prepare for it.

"I made quite a few mistakes," she said. "If I can clean up his third barrel and send him a little harder to the first, he can be faster than a .1, like way faster."

Casey was cutting in coming into his third barrel which was causing him to finish the turn wide. Gunderson debated on tuning on the gelding during open arena ride time before the finals but thought better of it.

"They had ride time at 3 o'clock the day of the finals, but it was for everybody," she explained. "I knew that the ropers would be out there and have ropes, and that's just not up Casey's alley. He does not like all that stuff. So, I felt like it would do more harm than good."

Instead she worked Casey at Kulseth's house.

"I don't typically tune on him a whole lot because he takes things so literal, and I thought, 'Oh man! He's really sharp here, right now. This might come back to bite us in the butt!'"

Being first out in the last drag, Gunderson could hear just enough to know that they had to be exceptionally fast.

"Everybody was laying down run after run," she said, "and I was like, 'Well, we're just going to have to be really fast. That's just how it is, so let's go for it!'"

And, as her 12-year-old nephew Bentley Klimek told her in a late night Snapchat, "Mom gave him wings, Auntie," with Casey clock-

ing the fastest run of the event, a 14.970, to take the championship. “It was a long day of trying not to think about too much,” she said. “I tried to think about my run and what I needed to do. I talked to God and I talked to Lindsey. I knew either way she was going to be proud. It wouldn’t have mattered if I won it or not, but I really wanted to do it for her. I felt really good when I went up the alley. I literally said, ‘Let’s do this Lindsey.’”

Divine intervention was in her favor. “His first barrel wasn’t what I had envisioned in my mind, but I just know he’s fast. I was, ‘OK. Keep going. Make it up.’ His second and third could not have been more beautiful.

“I thought I was going to drag the second. He was so sharp on the third. I know I touched it. There were definitely a whole lot of things that went right in that run that could have gone either way, but it worked out for us.”

Gunderson was extremely pleased with how well Casey handled the situation too, having to stay in the holding pen throughout the barrel race with the bulls being loaded in the chutes.

“He just stayed focused and didn’t get rattled,” she said. “He was ready to go, but he kept his wits about him. I do still run him with earplugs, but he didn’t get bothered by the music and speakers. It was loud down in that tunnel. It just felt like your ears were ringing.

“I was just really proud of him. He’s taking to that kind of setting so much better than he has in the past. He’s just a really good horse. He has been like that from the beginning. Anything that we throw at him, he just does. I told Shannon the other day that there’s never been a day that we’ve called him that he didn’t do what we asked him to do. He’s never refused to learn something new or work as hard as he could. He’s a phenomenal horse. I hope I get to stay on him forever!”

Casey, 5, was purchased at the 2022 BFA Sale as yearling. Gunderson’s longtime friend and client Shannon Kusleth paid $14,000 for the gelding by Lucky Wonder Horse out of Stephanie Langford-Cleveland’s PC Mr Sun Peppy, Doc Superstar Bar mare TS Sunnys Superstar.

He was EquiStat’s Leading Futurity Horse for 2025 and started off the year winning the National Western Rodeo in Denver. Casey is Lucky Wonder Horse’s richest offspring with more than $373,000 in his 18-month barrel racing career.

“There is absolutely zero doubt in my mind that this horse has the ability to make it to the NFR,” said Gunderson. “The whole part of rodeo that’s so hard is the traveling and scheduling. I ride futurity horses for a living and not riding them means not getting a paycheck, So yeah, $2 million dollars would look really good in helping us to answer that question—to rodeo or not!”

Taylor Manning and Bringin The Bling Shakedown Competition to Pocket $30K

By Julie Mankin

Taylor Manning's near-picture-perfect 17.019 in the short round of The Shakedown, April 17-19 in Sherwood Park, Alberta, on her 9-year-old buckskin mare Bringin The Bling daylighted the field by nearly two-tenths of a second for the $30,000 first-place paycheck in the 1D.

The event's long round brings the fastest times from each D back into a collective short round. From there, it also paid the 2D champion $20,000, on down to the 4D winner's $10,000. Manning had also blazed her way into the short round on her other two horses. That was hectic, considering she drew up 69, 79 and 81 on the three.

"It was kind of crazy," recalled Manning, whose mother and friend helped her manage. "I had to be ready to hop on and get my reins switched over."

That's right, she uses the same set of reins on all three horses, despite their different conformations and running styles. Manning also tapes the snaps on her reins, so there was a moment of panic making the switch.

"They're nylon and I like the width – they're not too thick," she said. "But I need to get another pair!"

Bringin The Bling is named for her famous paternal granddam, Fame Fling N Bling – a little roan mare that took Sarah Rose McDonald to two straight NFRs. She was bred to A Smooth Guy to get Bling. And Manning's mare on the bottom is out of Six Moons For Nick, by Dr. Nick Bar out of a Martha's Six Moons daughter that also went back to The Ole Man. The Mannings bought Bling in 2020 as a 3-year-old from Twisted J Ranch, after Whitney Godinez had started her.

"She's pretty amazing," said Manning, who bumped the first pretty hard. "Sometimes I struggle because she snaps back pretty hard – I thought I knocked the first barrel down. I must have been pretty lucky!"

NFR ties run deep in Manning's other two Open horses, as well. Her 8-year-old mare Peach Vanila (campaigning at futurities by Ryann Pedone) also has a famous granddam in Alan Woodbury's NFR mare Rosa, while 6-year-old Designed By The King is by NFR stallion Slick By Design. Bling, though, is special.

"When she was 5, Mom and I were talking and I told her Bling is the one horse that I'm always going to keep," recalled Manning. The young trainer was just 18 when she campaigned the hard-charging mare at futurities in Canada. And even then, they were clocking 17.0s on standard patterns. The duo went on to win the 2022 Canadian Finals Rodeo. Bling has qualified Manning for the CFR four different times, and ran there twice. She rubs the paint off all the cans, every time.

Manning said Bling's advantage is that she's so aggressive and turns so hard. And after watching the video of the Shakedown run, it just confirmed the mare actually flew to the second barrel.

"I feel like I can always count on her," said Manning. "She always tries to do the same thing."

Manning got home about two weeks ago after spending the winter in Texas, with her mom helping her. She didn't enter many rodeos, because she was busy training about 13 young horses.

Lazy E Arena to Host National High School Finals Rodeo Beginning in 2030

Lazy E Arena and the National High School Rodeo Association (NHSRA) today announced a landmark agreement that will bring the National High School Finals Rodeo (NHSFR) to Guthrie, Oklahoma, beginning in 2030 for a 10-year run. The partnership marks a significant milestone for both organizations, securing a long-term home for the world's largest youth rodeo event.

"We are incredibly excited to finalize this long-term partnership with Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma, establishing it as the home of the National High School Finals Rodeo for at least the next decade beginning in 2030," said NHSRA Executive Director James Higginbotham. "This builds on the strong foundation we established in 2023 with our agreement to host the National Junior High Finals Rodeo at Lazy E starting in June 2026."

The NHSFR has a rich history of host cities across the United States. Over the years, the event has been held in numerous locations, including Kansas City, Missouri; Dallas, Texas; Tulsa, Oklahoma; Albuquerque and Farmington, New Mexico; Douglas, Rock Springs, and Gillette, Wyoming; and Springfield, Illinois, among others.

"We're honored to welcome the National High School Finals Rodeo to Lazy E Arena and to serve as its home for the next decade," said Lazy E Arena General Manager Dan Wall. "With the continued growth and improvements at our facility, we're confident Lazy E will provide an unmatched experience for contestants, families, and fans from across the country. An event of this magnitude isn't made possible by a venue alone—it requires a statewide coalition of partners, and we're proud to stand alongside those who helped bring it to Oklahoma."

As part of its long-term vision, Lazy E Arena has made significant expansions and modernizations to enhance its campus with the construction of the new 30,000-square-foot multi-purpose event center, The Equinety Center. This state-of-the-art facility will provide additional space for events, vendors, and community engagement.

Lazy E will continue to expand its infrastructure over the next four years. The facility has already added five new barns featuring an additional 426 permanent Priefert stalls. A new covered arena has also been constructed, allowing for year-round train-

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Generally, when you go ride your 10 year old horse, do you have to do groundwork to get on? Or is there an expectation that he/she has retained the training/info you have instilled in them over the years? This could be a loaded question.

Guess it depends on our training ability and their reception of it! LOL! But let's just assume we've done a great job and those baby steps are behind us.

Do you ever wonder what God thinks about us and how grown up we are? Or aren't? Let's say you've been a Christian for 20 years.

Do you still have to be babied around so someone doesn't hurt your feelings? I Cor. 13:7.

Do you complain and murmur about stuff? Phil:2:14.

Do you get in strife and then wonder why things aren't going well? James 3:16.

Some of us have been in training for 40 years in the Word of God and we can't get our behinds out of the bleachers!! Say it isn't so!!!! But it is. And it's sad.

I don't want a horse that has to be retrained every time I lay my hands on it. I would have no pleasure in that. And apparently, according to Heb. 10:38, God feels the same way. Let's do better and get into the game!
