Paint The Town Red – Michelle Alley & Lipstick N Stiletto's Triumph at Ruby Buckle

By Tanya Randall

A jaw-dropping, record-breaking run of 16.476 on a WPRA Standard Pattern set Michelle Alley and her homebred mare Lipstick N Stiletto's up for a $55,688 haul from the $1.1 million Ruby Buckle, held April 20-28 at the Lazy E in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

"This whole thing has been surreal," said Alley, a South Dakota native who lives and trains in Madisonville, Texas. "I've watched that run a million times and I still can't believe it was that fast! It gives me goosebumps! It was just really cool!"

Stiletto, now owned by Blake and Heather Moeller, won $31,500 for winning the Futurity. Of that total, $25,400 was the owner's share and $3,050 each went to Alley, who bred the mare, and $3,050 to Robin Weaver on behalf of her stallion RR Mistakelly, Stiletto's sire.

She also won the Open aggregate title by a mere .001 over Derby Champion Return Of The Mac. The Open victory was worth $24,188 with a $19,350 owner's share and $2,419 each to Alley and Weaver.

Lipstick N Stiletto's, 16-16.1 "She's racy looking."

BIT: Flaharty O-Ring with a two-piece Rebar mouth; won Golden Buckle with a Carolina short shank mullen. "After I caught that first barrel at Kinder, I put her back in Flaharty O-Ring to keep her more round. I'll probably keep her in that unless she gets a little strong, but at this point, I'm pretty sure I could run her in a halter."

SADDLE: Trophy saddle Saucy won made by Green Custom Saddles of Greenville, Texas

SADDLE PAD: EcoGold Western Fortech

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine fronts this weekend, but also uses ACE Tack

SHOEING: SafeGrip Steel Rims on front, barefoot behind; shod by Alley

FEED: Nutrena Triumph 12-8 pellet

HAY: Alfalfa and coastal; pasture 24/7

SUPPLEMENTS: Simply Equine Structural Boost and respiratory support, Succeed Equine daily, Equine HempFlavin, and Zesterra when on the road

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Chiropractic care from Kim Gillespie.

CONDITIONING/TRAINING: "I did exercise her yesterday (Sunday). I did my making her take an extra step on the backside. I loped through once and walked her through twice. That was it. She's going to get today (Monday), tomorrow and Wednesday off, and I won't get back on her until I make my run Thursday at Guymon."

SPONSORS: Nutrena Feed, Succeed Equine, Bill Fick Ford, RenoVo Amnion-Solutions, Simply Equine & K9, Kim Gillespie-KG Equine, D Bar D Equine Dentistry, Zesterra by Pro Earth Animal Health, Silver Horse Care, Equine Hemp Solutions, Lone Star Equine Sports Medicine, ACE Tack and Tee's, Performance Stall Mats, EcoGold – Equestrian Textile Engineering.

ress, by Tres Seis, now has career earnings of more than $141,000. Alley said Stiletto's record breaking run in the first round of the futurity could be described in just one word, "smooth."

"It was the smoothest, most perfect run I've ever made on any horse," she said. "Her style is so similar to her mom's. They just never slow down. They have speed but they don't slow down for their turns. They keep that one smooth motion."

To further explain, Alley referenced her Split Timing analysis from the Diamond Classic Futurity a week earlier.

"Even though I smoked everyone in the first round, I was not in the fastest turns or in the top five fastest straights," she explained. "I think she keeps that even speed and doesn't make mistakes, so it ends up stopping the clock super-fast."

Alley said she knew her first run at Ruby was fast, but she expected a .7 or an .8, not a .4.

"I was smiling from ear to ear," she laughed. "As most people know, I don't smile real big, but I was then! I couldn't believe it! "She didn't even realize what she had done. She wasn't even breathing hard. It was just another day at work for her."

With such an exceptional first run, the pressure was on Alley. The week prior at the Diamond Classic, Alley and Stiletto lost their lead on their second run after a rein mishap at the first barrel. To keep Stiletto moving forward through the turn on a barrel that has cost her in the past, Alley had her reins up the mare's neck. While normally not a problem, Stiletto bobbed her head unexpectedly low, and the reins flipped in front of her head.

"Going into the second barrel, the rein is between her ears, across the bridge of her nose and crossed over her left eye," Alley explained. "She couldn't see. I blundered around second. (The reins) were still on the same side, but I was able to get them under her jaw. She turned the third without any help at all. Still placed in the average and got a good check.”

While others were quick to joke about another rein incident or even falling off, Alley kept her focus on getting Stiletto past her barrels.

“I told myself, ‘Just go have fun,’” she said. “She knows her job. The only thing I focus on is getting her past the barrels. I know she’s so fast...even if we go a stride long or step past, she can make a mistake and still clock. I don’t think in my mind ‘Safety up.’ Just like with her mom, there’s no safety-ing up. You’ve got to go for it. I don’t get nervous. I don’t make a big deal about it. It’s just another run.”

Another run almost turned into a nightmare at the second barrel. When Stiletto dropped for the second barrel—much like her mother Saucy did—she jammed Alley’s back.

“I have degenerative joint disease with two huge bone spurs,” she explained. “It doesn’t happen very often, but when those bone spurs catch just right. I’m kind of screwed. I can’t move. That’s when I got whiplashed down on her neck. I was just hanging on the rest of the run. I don’t know really how to explain it, but when that happens, it’s like the rest of your body goes numb for a minute. The only horses that I’ve ever had that happen in a run are Saucy and her. No other horses are strong enough for that to affect me, but I know it scared the crowd and the people watching on the webcast probably thought I was coming off, but she waited for me to get back in the saddle and cruised on out. We still ran a (17).1, which is pretty amazing. She’s special, that’s for sure.”

Stiletto was the product of a spur of the moment breeding. Alley had tipped a barrel at Rodeo Austin, and knowing the mare was in heat, had her checked at Brazos Valley Equine in Salado, Texas, where RR Mistakelly was standing. Born right at the start of the COVID shutdown, Alley sold due to the economic uncertainty of the time. Luckily, her good friend Heather Moeller was the buyer and Stiletto has never left her, except to be started under saddle by Robbie Sharp.

AIRWAY EQ

"Air-Way EQ is the first product I have seen work in aiding airway/lung health and help clear up a cough. I use Breathe'O2 paste for pre-run support, it also helps clear the airway, allowing him to breathe easier and work harder."

Return Of The Mac & Danyelle Campbell Claim Ruby Buckle Derby

By Tanya Randall

The Lazy E Arena has been good to Return Of The Mac (“Creed”). The 7-year-old gelding has won in that pen whether it’s a low 15-second pattern or a WPRA Standard. At the $1.1 million Ruby Buckle, held April 20-28, Creed and his trainer, jockey Danyelle Campbell put together two sub-17 runs on the WPRA Standard to take the Derby Championship.

“He’s run nine 16’s on a Standard Pattern in three different arenas,” Campbell proudly stated. “He’s proven he can do it in any setup. He is one of those horses that can win first place.”

Creed added $37,090 to his lifetime earnings from the event. He won $20,402 for the Derby title with $16,320 in owner money and $2,041 in breeder money going to FC Ranch. Creed also finished second in the Open 1D aggregate by the slimmest of margins, .001, to Futurity Champion Lipstick N Stiletto. The reserve championship paid $16,688 with $13,350 and $1,669 going to FC Ranch. Bill and Deb Myers collected $2,041 and $1,669, respectively, in stallion owner money on behalf of the late A Smooth Guy.

The 7-year-old gelding, out of Felicia Taylor’s Dash Ta Fame mare Mackilts, had anything but a smooth path back to the winner’s circle.

Creed’s ordeal started as a 4-year-old when he suffered a condylar fracture after a run at the Old Fort Days Futurity in May 2021. The gelding galloped back from the surgical repair to place third at the Pink Buckle with his first runs back and win both the BFA World Championship and OKC Futurity.

Unfortunately, early in this fifth year the intermittent soreness was back.

“We thought we were home free,” said Campbell, a multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier and aged event champion from Weatherford, Texas. “He was doing well—he ran a 16.8 at the Royal Crown in Buckeye (in February)—but he just didn’t feel right to me.”

Radiographs of his front leg showed some ugly calcification around the top screw from the condylar fracture repair. After visiting with several veterinarians familiar with condylar fractures and their repair—it’s extremely common in the Thoroughbred racing world—the decision was made to remove the top screw.

“We didn’t know that taking the screws out was an option or even a necessity,” Campbell said. “It was a tough decision because we weren’t really sure if the screw was really causing the pain. The only thing we could see is that around the head of the screw it did look different. It was a little messier looking than the bottom screw.”

While removing the screw should have been straight forward, it broke during removal. A specialized tool to aid in removal had to be ordered and another procedure was needed to completely remove the screw.

“What should have been a quick and easy ordeal turned into seven months of waiting for the bone to fill back in where the screw was removed,” she said. “Other than that he’s had no form of maintenance. He’s been completely fine since then.”

Campbell noted the gelding has been completely sound and had zero maintenance for that injury or the traditional physical hazards of barrel racing.

While Creed had five months off during his futurity year and seven during his first derby year, he still managed to win $291,193 before the Ruby Buckle.

“He’s probably one of the greenest 7-year-olds running,” Campbell laughed. “He’s only been to one jackpot and everything that he’s run at has been major or big.”

THE RUNDOWN w/ Danyelle Campbell

Return Of The Mac (“Creed”) 15.1 h., 1,050 lbs.

BIT: Special made Kerry Kelley super-short, locked lifter with a mullen mouthpiece. “He’d never been in that bit until I put it on him for the second run at Diamond Classic.”

SADDLE: Martin BTR

SADDLE PAD: 3S Custom

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine Legacy Flexion on front

SHOEING: Victory Racing Plates on front, barefoot behind

FEED: Red Chain Horseman’s Choice

HAY: Private farm alfalfa cubes from Utah; Manzanola on the road

SUPPLEMENTS: Amino acid—Equinety or MVP’s Amino 15x

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: BEMER system and BOT sheet

CONDITIONING/TRAINING: “He’s very lazy at home. I try to make sure I’m not exercising him on a loose rein, letting him be lazy and sloppy. I make sure he’s sharp and accountable. I don’t do much barrel work. If I do, I might go to the left barrel first. I’ll do stuff to work on how he’s moving in a turn more so than the pattern. I do a lot of off pattern stuff like that, just keeping him sharp.”

SPONSORS: Kerry Kelley Bits & Spurs, RodeoRigs.com

The only downside to the limited runs is Campbell’s timing with the gelding. Creed has a tendency to give himself a bigger pocket, and Campbell sometimes gets into trouble when she “clamps down” rather than pushing him to maintain momentum through it.

“I told Felicia that maybe someone else needs to ride him,” she said. “He needs someone that can stay hooked and keep kicking when he jumps out. With me, I want to clamp down. We just needed the forward motion.”

Campbell made a few changes, like riding one-handed and wearing only the right spur, to help keep herself and Creed in position.

“When I do my job, he steps up and does his,” she said. “He’s one of those horses that the more you run him the better he gets, the more aggressive he gets. Honestly, he’s happier too. His attitude gets better the more he runs. He enjoys it. He loves it.”

Fired Up -- Marne Loosenort & PT Love TaBea Blazin Top BBR World Finals

By Tanya Randall

Oklahoma City's Jim Norick Coliseum has been really good to Marne Loosenort. The 1995 International Finals Rodeo Barrel Racing Champion and multiple aged event winner from Hazel, Kentucky, added another Oklahoma City-born championship to her lengthy resume with an $13,607 Better Barrel Races World Finals 1D Championship aboard PT Love TaBea Blazin ("Chrome").

"I'm going to hate it when they tear that building down," Loosenort said. "I don't know what it is about that place, but I've been very fortunate there. It's been really good to me."

Loosenort had a particularly busy week between the BBR World Finals and the Ruby Buckle, 40 minutes away at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma. She hauled seven horses to Oklahoma, ran them all at the BBR Finals in the open races and ran five at the Ruby Buckle—three in the futurity and two in the derby.

"We've done that the last two years," she said. "Ross (Wright) at the BBR has been really good, putting us up on Thursday and Saturday (at the BBR) so we can run the Ruby Buckle Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday."

Loosenort believes the trailer miles wear on the colts more than the actual runs, so she'd rather make more runs while she's in Oklahoma than make several long hauls to bigger events spaced out in the month.

"It's a hard week," she admitted. "We kind of prepare for it by not running them so much coming up to that date. We take it a little easier on them where they can go in there fresh. Good, bad or ugly we kind of like it so we don't have to make another trip out there."

Loosenort said most of her horses got better with each run, especially Chrome. She said the 5-year-old gelding felt "a little rusty" on his first derby run at Ruby but qualified for the short round at the BBR after running a 15.452 in the coliseum on Thursday. Chrome continued to build, running a 16.733 on a standard pattern at the Lazy E to take second in the second round of the Derby and fourth in the Open at Ruby.

"I think he was just getting a little sharper," she said. In his defense with me riding so many the more runs you get to make on them your timing gets a little better. I really think he got sharper as the week wore on."

Loosenort said the difference maker on his short go run was his first barrel.

"He got way by the first barrel a couple of times," Loosenort said. "In the Finals (short go), he had a nice first barrel. The second and third, 90 percent of the time, are really easy on him. He'll just hook them. The first barrel, though, you've got to get him a little dialed in. He climbs a little bit coming down the alleyway because he wants to run so hard. Getting him on the ground and paying attention really zeroed him in on that last day.”

Loosenort co-owns Chrome with longtime friend and client Danny Kingins. They raised the Blazin Jetolena gelding out of Lovin Fame, a Dash Ta Fame mare that Loosenort talked Kingins into buying sight unseen off the Internet. Lovin Fame won over six figures and carried Loosenort to the Great Lakes Circuit Finals Rodeo before her retirement. Chrome is her first foal.

Lovin’s second foal, PT Epic Love, a 4-year-old by Epic Leader, also picked up a futurity check at Ruby Buckle.

“I think he’s going to be like his brother, a late bloomer.” Loosenort said. “Lovin’s babies seem to come on a little bit later in the year. He’s starting to figure things out too.”

Loosenort qualified for the short go at the BBR Finals on Edies Flaming Fire, a futurity horse that belongs to Brian Stover, and Vanilas Whiskey Fling (“Mariah”), that belongs to Heather Wilson. Mariah was the fastest qualifier at the BBR with a 15.2 to win Race 2 in Barn 6. Unfortunately, the mare fell at the first barrel while making a run at Ruby and got sore as the week wore on. She still picked up $5,966 for her Barn 6 win.

All totaled, Loosenort picked up $30,855 between the two events--$20,133 at BRR and $10,752 at Ruby. Chrome was the big winner with $13,607 at BBR and $7,812 at Ruby for total earnings of $21,419.

Loosenort said she’s grateful for the opportunity to compete at both events.

“I know some people hate that they have them at the same time but we’re not going to complain,” she said. “I think we’re very fortunate to have two large events where we can run at so much money. The producers are doing a great job at both places.”

Wenda Johnson and Steal Money Continue to Climb to the Top with a Clovis Win

By Britany Diaz

Wenda Johnson and Steal Money, better known as ‘Mo’, continue their winning ways by securing the championship title at the Clovis, CA Rodeo on April 25-28. In Round 1, Johnson and Mo stopped the clock in 16.860 seconds, winning the round and $2,720.74. The duo did not place in Round 2, but still managed to be fast enough to make it to the short go. In the final round of competition, Johnson and Mo clocked a 16.850, finishing 2nd in the round behind, Sissy Winn, who ran the fastest time of the rodeo, running a blazing 16.560. Johnson won an additional $1,511 in the finals. Johnson’s run was what she needed to secure another average championship title, winning a $4,081, earning a total of $8,313!

The team of Wenda Johnson and Mo is on a winning streak. Just last weekend, the duo won the San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo, held in a coliseum. This week, they win the Playoff Series rodeo in a large outdoor arena across the country in Clovis, CA. Johnson shared, “Mo has always been able to adapt to any arena. It’s always more important to me to make sure my horsemanship skills are sharp and that I am helping him to get to his spots. He loves to run, he wants to go wide-open, so I never have to add any impulsion going into any run. He is just so solid and consistent.”

Johnson is a back-to-back Clovis Champion. In 2023, she won the title on Macgyver Moonflash, aka Mac. This year’s the title came on Steal Money, both horses owned by Highpoint Performance Horses. “It is very special that both horses abilities shined through at Clovis. Mac had also won San Angelo. It meant a lot for Mo to come in behind Mac, especially after losing Mac last summer, and get the win in Clovis as well,” shared Johnson. One of Highpoint Performance Horses owner, Jason Martin, who is co-owner with Charlie Cole, is originally from Clovis and his family still resides there. “It is absolutely exciting to have the local support from Jason and his family, along with all the connections from the people and the place we stayed all being there, it made it an extra special day.”

Clovis Rodeo has been special to Johnson for many reasons. It has been a milestone rodeo. In 2023, when Mac won Clovis, it put him over $500,000 in career earnings according to equistat. Exactly one year later, Mo has now surpassed the $500,000 mark at the same rodeo. Both geldings are sired by First Moonflash. Johnson said, “It is special to have had both horses cross the half-million mark in career earnings by winning the same rodeo. That is pretty amazing.”

The big win in Clovis has catapulted Johnson into the number one spot in the WPRC World Standings ($72,599 for 2024 at 16 rodeos). Johnson shared, “It helps having a lead coming out of the winter run, so we are not in such a rush at the end of the season. The main goal each month is to focus on which rodeos will set the horses up for their most success. Mac had put me in this position in the past. I am grateful for how this helps set up our season.”

Johnson is so humble and always thankful for her sponsors: Highpoint Barrel Horses, Mid-South Equine and Sports Medicine, Purina, Kimes Ranch Jeans, Ultimate PEMF Sales, Silver Horse Care and OE Nutraceuticals.

Circle Y Saddles Partners With WRWC for 2024

The Women's Rodeo World Championship (WRWC) and Circle Y Saddles have partnered for the 2024 event, which will take place May 13-18. The event will award $750,000 in prize money and has earned the title of the world's richest women's rodeo.

Circle Y Saddles will manufacture all WRWC event championship saddles when they are crowned inside AT&T Stadium on May 18. Since 1660, Circle Y has carried on with traditions of excellence, always striving to make the best saddles possible. Each saddle is constructed by a team of expert craftsmen who combine decades of knowledge and new technology to meet riders' needs.

"Circle Y is thrilled to honor the WRWC champions with a custom saddle," said Dara Loudon, senior marketing manager. The WRWC embodies an amazing group of women. We sincerely hope that the saddle awarded will always bring back memories of her incredible achievement. Each saddle carries its own unique story, and we are beyond excited to be a part of this one."

The WRWC is the biggest annual purse for a women's rodeo event. It is a joint effort between the PBR (Professional Bull Riders) and the WCRA (World Champions Rodeo Alliance). The event is set to crown World Champions in the Women's Rodeo disciplines such as Team Roping, Breakaway Roping, and Barrel Racing, while also crowning an all-around world champion. The competition is set to pay out more than $750,000 in 2024.

"Circle Y's strong sense of community and pride reflects the values of the WRWC and this partnership will enable us to continue striving for greatness," said Linsay Rosser-Sumpter, Commissioner of WRWC. "Our athletes strive hard to earn the champion saddle at our event, and we take immense pride in Circle Y crafting each of these saddles with excellence, making them a cherished possession that can be passed on for generations."

In 2024, after four days of competition inside Cowtown Coliseum from May 13-16, 2024, the Championship Round of the Women's Rodeo World Championship will conclude inside the home of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys alongside the 2024 PBR World Finals Championship on May 18, 2024, where each WRWC event champion will be crowned, earning the lion's share of the massive $750,000 purse.

Since launching in May 2020, the WRWC has awarded more than $3 million in new money to women's rodeo athletes. For more information about the WRWC visit wrwc.rodeo.

Number 1 Seed Leaderboard Athletes Announce for 2024 Womens Rodeo World Championships

Marking the richest, all-women's Western sports event, set to payout $750,000, the 2024 Women's Rodeo World Championship will conclude on May 18 inside AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas

Ahead of the 2024 Women's Rodeo World Championship (WRWC), the athletes advancing directly to the Showdown Round on May 16 in Fort Worth, Texas, at Cowtown Coliseum, and Championship Round on May 18 at AT&T Stadium in nearby Arlington, courtesy of their No. 1 standing on the 2024 leaderboard were today announced.

The WRWC is the largest event purse in the history of women's rodeo. The event will crown World Champions in both the pro and challenger classifications in the following disciplines: team roping (heading and heeling), breakaway roping, and barrel racing.

The first four days of the 2024 Women's Rodeo World Championship will be held inside the historic Cowtown Coliseum in Fort Worth from May 13-16, with the Championship Round to be held on May 18 inside the home of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys. The Championship Round, taking place alongside the 2024 PBR World Finals -Championship will crown a WRWC event champion in each discipline, with the victor's earning the lion's share of the historic $750,000 purse.

Qualifying rounds of competition will be held May 13-16 inside Cowtown Coliseum. The Top 12 in each roping event (Team Roping and Breakaway Roping) will advance to the May 16 Showdown Round to meet the leaderboard No. 1 athlete. The Top 3 from the Showdown Round will then progress to the Championship Round at AT&T Stadium to duke it out for the $60,000 prize.

Barrel racers will be exempt from the Showdown Round, and 12 athletes will advance directly to the Championship Round. The detailed advancement and event schedule can be found here.

Those athletes that earned an automatic berth to the Showdown Round and Championship Round are:

Team Roping Pro: Kayelen Helton (Header | Stephenville, Texas) and Jimmi Jo Montero (Heeler | Greeley, Colorado)

These athletes secured their berths by achieving the No. 1 position on the 2024 Women's Rodeo World Championship Leaderboard, including nominated competition efforts at events from April 2023 to April 2024.

Of these No. 1-seeded athletes, Angelone is the lone contender to have previously been crowned a Women's Rodeo World Champion.

In 2023, after an electric record-setting season, Angelone emerged as the supreme competitor, delivering a clutch performance for the all-around race in to be crowned the 2023 WRWC All-Around World Champion, earning the accompanying $20,000 bonus and Coats saddle. On top of her All-Around win in 2023, she locked in the heading event title and Heading World Championship, taking more nearly $90,000 in earnings.

The Virginia-native cowgirl will compete in three disciplines at the 2024 iteration of the event: team roping (heading), team roping (heeling), and breakaway roping.

Fans will be able to watch the action daily on Cowgirl Channel, Cowboy Channel, Cowboy Channel + App and PBR RidePass on Pluto TV. The landmark event's Championship Round on May 18 from AT&T Stadium will then be featured LIVE on CBS Sports Network during the telecast for the PBR World Finals: Unleash The Beast – Championship.

The 2024 Women's Rodeo World Championship event is part of the second Women's Rodeo World Championship Week, the richest women's-only week of competition in Western sports, held during the 2024 PBR World Finals. The more than week-long schedule of events is slated to pay out $1.145 million in prize money, affording more than 800 women's competitors the chance to compete for life-changing payouts.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Mike and I just made a flying trip to Texas last week! What an adventure! Besides the traffic in Dallas that was horrifying to me, two things stuck out. One. There was a US flag and a Texas flag, great big ones, everywhere I looked! It made me swell with pride. Two. Although I know it to my core, there were signs on billboards and buildings reminding me that Jesus loves me! It was comforting, even while in that traffic. Or more because of it! LOL!

One morning we had breakfast in this little diner and, right by the cash register, was an OPEN Bible. A picture of Jesus was on the wall with the country décor. That is remarkable to me!

Now, do all these things mean that the other 49 states don't love Jesus? No. And since I'm not a world traveler, other states east of the Mississippi may be doing the same thing. It was just a wonderful, in your face, declaration of how valuable Jesus is in their land of Goshen.

Matthew 10:32 tells us, "Therefore, whoever confesses Me before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven."

Texas, and possibly other states, are declaring Jesus! Awesome!
