The Queen of Diamonds – Kassie Mowry Dominates Diamonds & Dirt Barrel Horse Classic Futurity

By Tanya Randall

No one shined brighter at the Diamonds & Dirt Barrel Horse Classic, held April 2-7 at the Brazos Valley Expo Center in Bryan, Texas, than Kassie Mowry. The two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier and perennial leading aged event riders from Dublin, Texas, swept first through third and placed seventh in the $50,000-added Futurity and won first and fourth in the slot futurity for $77,951.

Making the feat more impressive is that she did it while recovering from six broken spinous processes after she was kicked in the back in late February. She ran at the Elite Extravaganza, placing on two horses—including a reserve championship on Epic Guy—just two weeks after the incident sent her to the emergency room.

“They say that Tony Romo played football just two weeks after breaking just one,” laughed Mowry. “I’m like, ‘Here, hold my beer!’ When you have horses like these, you do whatever you can to do them justice!”

At Diamonds & Dirt, Mowry and Dashing Canelo took top honors in the Futurity, earning $24,307. She won the futurity reserve championship and the slot race championship on Kristen Williams’s homebred Epic Guy for $33,405. Michael Boone’s Famous Ladies Man, bred by Busby Quarter Horses, carried her to third and $9,177. Her fourth horse, CP He Will Be Epic, bred by Claire Powell, was seventh in the futurity and fourth in the slot race, earning $11,062.

Mowry purchased Canelo as a baby from his breeder and her good friend Karma Loflin, with whom she bred the great Epic Leader. Canelo is by all-time leading barrel horse sire Dash Ta Fame out of the great producing mare Streakin Sider, by Streakin Six. Streakin Sider is the dam of pro rodeo winner So Epic, owned by Sidney Forrest, and multiple pro rodeo winner Stitches StreakNFame, owned by Andrea Cline.

After being started under saddle by Justin Arnold—as were all her money earners in Waco—Canelo was patterned by Boone, who had the gelding loping the barrels by the fall of his second year. After Canelo’s break during the winter, Mowry started riding him in the spring of his third year.

“Both of us realized he was very talented,” said Mowry. “Michael really thought he was something special, but I didn’t know if I could ride him. He was different from the very beginning. His natural way of turning was different from everything else that I had ridden. He wanted to turn with his head really low, and unlike most of the Dash Ta Fame’s he didn’t want to bury up at a barrel. He doesn't have a lot of rate. He wants to hammer down, so I spent a lot of time working to back him off."

Since Canelo was "very bold and very forward," Mowry named him as her Super Stakes horse for Oklahoma City. While the gelding worked well, he had some issues with the ground.

"That was a huge setback for his confidence," Mowry added. She ended up changing his back shoes to include a wedge to help him standup better after radiographs showed he needed his angles changed.

Canelo was also the horse that slipped on the concrete and fell into Mowry, breaking her ankle. So, with limited ability and strength to ride, Mowry battled her way through the winter and early spring futurities with little saddle time in between due to her personal injuries.

"I actually had two weeks before Diamonds & Dirt to ride," she said. "I was really happy to have some time to ride at home and go to a couple of jackpots.

I was really beginning to worry. Every time I rode them it was for a futurity or a slot race. I was worried that they wouldn't be able to mentally take it. That's just a testament to how good minded these horses are. It's an awesome feeling that they've held it together. They just love to go do it."

During those two weeks, Mowry was able to find the right bit for Canelo, too.

"I almost didn't enter him," reflected Mowry. "After a couple of jackpots, he got a lot better, really fast. I knew I had the right equipment. I knew his feet were right. It's awesome to have him come back around."

With Canelo's inconsistency prior to Diamonds & Dirt, Mowry had entered her to Epic Leaders in the slot race. The eventual winner Epic Guy ("King") has been solid from day one, said Mowry.

"He's placed everywhere I've taken him," she said. "He just walks in the arena and then go does his thing. He thinks it's the most fun thing ever."

Bred by Williams, King is out of the Frenchmans Guy mare Frenchilicious, who is out of a Rackum On Man daughter. Mowry started riding the gelding in February of his third year after Arnold broke him to ride.

Next up for Mowry is the Kim Landry Benefit Futurity in Abilene, Texas. Mowry, who is still pretty sore, but is no longer in constant pain, plans on riding all her horses there. She's had all-time leading futurity rider Troy Crumrine jump ride for her at both the Elite Futurity and Diamonds & Dirt.

"I'm just falling apart," she chuckled. "Most of the therapy has been on me and not my horses! I really couldn't have done any of this without Michael. He rode them a couple of times for me at the house. He's been going and helping me at the futurities. I still can't

BIT: Chain mouth Wonder Bit

"It was in the bottom of my tack room, and I thought, 'Well, I haven't tried this yet.' With the chain, he can't take a hold of it because it has too many moving parts. It literally hangs in his mouth. I was at a jackpot when I tried it on him and I was running late and that was where the headstall was set, so I just went with it. He worked so well, I just left it like that!" Warmup and trains in a Pretzel bit.

Hallie Hanssen and Mean Cheerleader Win Sand Cup

By Amy Wilson

Hallie Hanssen and a pair of 4 year old grey mares dominated the 2019 Sand Cup Futurity and Slot Race in Moses Lake, Washington. Hanssen, who is from Hermosa, South Dakota, rode Mean Cheerleader to a second place finish in round one with 15.689 and first place in round two with 15.294 for the Futurity Average Championship. They also won the Futurity Slot Race after running the fastest time of the futurity with 15.294. "In the first round she had some mistakes," Hanssen said. "In the second round she really made a solid run and kind of cleaned up some of the mistakes she had in the first run, but I wasn't expecting a .2. I know that mare can really clock because she's really fast and can cover the ground, but I was surprised it was that fast." Because Mean Cheerleader has so much run, Hanssen made a bit change for the weekend, which she doesn't normally do. "She'll get to running to the first pretty hard and kind of go by it once in awhile so I put a bit in her mouth instead of an o-ring to try to help that," she explained.

Hanssen also jockeyed Wicked Little Leader to the Reserve Futurity Average Championship after winning the first round with 15.484 and placing third in the second round with 15.588. They also placed second in the Futurity Slot Race with a time of 15.484. "She had a little bit of ground trouble – the ground was great but she just hung her hind leg a little bit on the second barrel which cost her a little bit of time in the second go," Hanssen explained. And even though the mare is small, Hanssen said she tries hard, "She's super solid and pretty gritty. She's been fun to have."

All totaled, Hanssen earned about $17,000 on those two horses. "You always hope for the best but when you have young horses you never know for sure what's going to happen," Hanssen admitted. "The first round when they won first and second, I was just so pleased with them. When they came back and did what they did in the second round, it couldn't have gotten any better – just the feeling of all the hard work you've put into them shining through. It was a great feeling."

It was cold and rainy during the Sand Cup Futurity which was held April 5 – 7. "That morning when Mean Cheerleader was up, it was pretty cold, and you could see the horse's breath," Hanssen said. "The ground was really consistent and they did a good job of trying to keep the ground nice and consistent throughout the whole thing. It's well ran and on time." She continued, "It has good money – it's a good event to go to."

Thankfully she had her husband, Lee, there to help with "everything". "We had six horses entered last weekend and there were 93 in the futurity so when we have them that close together, he's warming one up and then I come back and get on it," she explained. "Since we ride together everyday, he knows the horses just as well as I do so it's a good partnership." For Hanssen, there is a little adjusting when riding two horses that are built very differently. "Mean Cheerleader is a big mare and more of a free runner than the Wicked Little Leader, who's little and really turny. You do have to ride them a little bit different but I feel like when you train them it gives you an advantage," she said. It's all muscle memory for Hanssen as she tries to always keep their spots the same. In fact, the key element to her training program is repetition and consistency. By training her colts to go to the same spots every time, and riding with her hands and seat the same no matter what speed she's going, Hanssen uses that consistency to build confidence in her horses. "Hopefully if I do my part and ride the same, they'll do their's. When you train that many and are jumping on them, you just have to hope that they rely on your training and what you showed them," she said.

Although Mean Cheerleader and Wicked Little Leader have different styles partially due to their size, they share the same sire, Epic Leader, who Hanssen believes passes on the desire to have that forward motion. Mean Cheerleader, owned by Jennifer Cook, is out of Mean Dorene, who's by Marthas Six Moons. Wicked Little Leader, owned by Isabella Quarter Horses, is out of Miss Diabolique. Hanssen prefers to ride behind a cutting horse trainer who puts a good foundation on a young horse, which was exactly the case for Mean Cheerleader. "Everything is pretty easy for her, even with her size and growing, it never seemed to affect her," Hanssen said about training her on the barrels. "She loves you to pet her and she's a very personable horse. She always loves attention so she's enjoyable to have around because she likes people," she added.

Hanssen believes the most important aspect when selecting a prospect is pedigree. Of course there are some horses that become winners that aren't "name brand", but she says that your odds increase with proven bloodlines, especially when you ride a prospect out of a proven producing mare. Her grandparents brought one of the first own son's of Easy Jet and one of the first own son's of Dash For Cash to South Dakota. "My grandpa and grandma used to raise a lot of horses. I remember going out to their ranch and they'd have a hundred and some horses – the different groups of mares with the studs. They always pasture bred everything," Hanssen said. "I've always enjoyed the breeding part of it, and now we have a stud, The Candy Man, and we also are partners on French Streakin Jess.” She has some two year olds coming up that she has ridden the dam and sire (both The Candy Man and French Streakin Jess). “So that’ll be fun to ride them,” she said. “I was born into it and I love the breeding part of it and raising the babies – everything from halter breaking to starting them on the barrels.”

Hanssen and Lee spend the winter in Texas, and try to get back to South Dakota in February before the mares start foaling, but when they left for the Sand Cup, her parents, who live on the same place as them, take care of everything. “When we’re gone, my parents are back home foaling mares,” Hanssen said with appreciation as she continues her family’s legacy.

Bloodstock Sells Well At Jud Little's Production Sale

By Tanya Randall

The proven genetics of leading breeder Jud Little's storied program were in high demand with 91 of the 95 head offered at his annual production sale changing hands for $751,900, an average of $8,263.

The 26 broodmares sold for an average of $8,277. Proven producer Sierras Cashin In was the highest seller overall, commanding a bid of $26,000.

A 2006 black mare, Sierras Cashin In is by the little's cornerstone stallion, the late Cash Not Credit, out of the legendary producer Nancy Ann Smith, an Equi-Stat all-time leading producer by R Smith (TB).

Sierras Cashin In is a full sister to champion barrel horse DialA-RoosterForCash ($142,920 in Equi-Stat earnings) and half-sister to multiple Prairie Circuit and aged event champion Dial A Red Rooster ($280,438—Equi-Stat without any rodeo earnings). As a producer, Sierras Cashin In produced Heavens Cashin In, by JL Dash Ta Heaven, with earnings of $31,283; Open 1D and rodeo money earner Scamper For Cash (DNA), by Clayton—Scamper's clone, and Open 2D money earner Cashin In My Frosty, by Bug In My Frosty. She sold with a JL Dash Ta Heaven filly at her side and was exposed to JL Dash Ta Heaven on March 28.

Cartel Be Shaken, by Corona Cartel, was the second highest selling broodmare and tied for fifth high-seller overall with a $17,000 price tag. The 2012 sorrel mare is out of the proven barrel producing daughter of Easy Jet, Shake Me Easy. Cartel Be Shakin is a half-sister to futurity champion Shake It Frenchie ($65,094 in Equi-Stat), Shakemup Frenchgirl ($23,660) and futurity champion sire Guys Easy Jet, all by Frenchmans Guy. Her oldest to foals were both 2-year-olds. She sold with a JL Dash Ta Heaven colt at her side and was believed to be back in foal to the leading stallion.

Overall, the 12 3-year-olds sold for an average price of $11,142. The dual high-sellers of the group, and second-highest sellers overall were a pair of JL Dash Ta Heaven daughters, Fast Like Heaven & Return Ta Heaven, going for $20,000.

Fast Like Heaven is out of the Cash Not Credit mare Credit Chicado ($9,848 Equi-Stat), a futurity finalist and full sister to National Finals Rodeo qualifier Chicados Cash, and is a full sister to 2018 futurity standout Heavens Got Credit ($74,237 Equi-Stat). Return Ta Heaven is out of multiple futurity champion Less Return ($92,604 Equi-Stat), by Dashing Investment, and is a half-sister to multiple futurity champion and pro rodeo earner Return Of The Bully ($136,833 Equi-Stat) and multiple futurity finalist ThreeTurnsAndReturn ($37,382 Equi-Stat).

Helping round out the top five high-sellers was the JL Dash Ta Heaven 3-year-old Heavens Perfection at $17,000. Heavens Perfection is out of the multiple aged event champion Bully Bullion mare Flick A Bullion ($81,208 Equi-Stat, not including any rodeo money) and is a half-sister to current year futurity finalist Flamin Flicka ($12,842+ Equi-Stat) and two-time College National Finals Rodeo qualifier and Arkansas Rodeo Association Champion Flick My Cash.

The 20 head of 2-year-olds averaged $9,190 with the sale's fourth high-seller coming from that group. The 2-year-old JL Dash Ta Heaven daughter of high-seller Sierras Cashin In sold for $18,000. The two 4-year-old sold averaged $11,142, while the 31 yearlings averaged $6,387. Not surprisingly the fillies in all of the prospect groups averaged higher than the geldings. The offspring of leading sire JL Dash Ta Heaven averaged $10,172.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

When problems arise in our lives, sometimes it's good to have a course of action! Last week we talked about those prayers we pray that may seem to be a long time coming. So, this week, let's have a 10 step checklist to be sure we aren't scattered in our believing.

- Identify the problem. (This is the easiest step!)
- Make a quality decision to overcome.
- Find the promise in the Bible that you are standing on.
- Hear the Word. At church, on tv or on a CD.
- Mediate the Word. Think about that answer/promise 24/7.
- Talk about your answer.
- Act on what God has told you to do.
- Apply patience.

- Wait for God's timing.
- Expect the answer.

I tend to identify the problem, pray the promise, and wait. I'm missing some steps in there! I'm going to make some changes! I can learn and grow.....or not. God bless you!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies. Check out our schedule online. You can also download all Bible studies by visiting our website: m-m-m.org or contact us at: PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY 82717, 307/685-2272.
