Bucket List Victory -- Jamie Hodges & KN Panellapie Win Old Fort Days Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Jamie Hodges of Patterson, Ga., scratched an Old Fort Days Futurity Championship off his barrel racing bucket list, thanks to the efforts of the 4-year-old mare KN Panellapie ("Penelope"). Their 16.645 was worth $46,629.

After making his run, Hodges, 34, tried to stay busy and didn't find out he had won until his wife Erika called.

"I knew that was a good time," he said, "but never thought I was going to win it. I was just hoping I could make the Top 5. So I washed her and went up to the stands on the backside of the second barrel and I watched until there were 10 left and I was still winning it. I said, 'I might have a chance at winning this!' That's when I left! I couldn't watch no more and I started getting nervous. I started putting things up in the truck and trailer and then I got the phone call from my wife, 'Jamie you won it.' I'm like 'No, I didn't.' It was just too much at the time."

The victory boosted Penelope's earnings to more than $80,000. The daughter of Firewater Ta Fame out of Kimi Nichol's top futurity mare KN Letta Girl Do It, by Letta Hank Do It, is one of several top horses he's had by the stallion.

"I've had a lot of Firewater Ta Fames," said the second-generation futurity competitor. "I think $15,000 is the least amount that I won on the ones that I've trained and rode. I've got two of them this year. Now she's at about $80,000. My palomino, Firewater N Roses, has won about $25,000 this year. So I've had a great year. These two make five and they've all made barrel horses. You always have one that stands out above the rest and that's Penelope. I've had some good ones, but she's above the rest of them."

Ironically, Hodges picked up Penelope for a mere $5,000 as a 3-year-old prospect at the LG Pro Classic Sale in Kinder, La.

"The horse that sold before her sold for $130,000 and I guess with the 'ooing and ahing' over that horse selling for that, she was just one that happened to come behind her. I really think it was destiny that I got her. It was meant for me to have this horse," he said.

While he had ridden several futurity horses owned by his father and mentor Kenny Hodges or his father-in-law Shayne Beck, Penelope was his first big personal winner.

"Penelope is the first one that my wife and I have bought that has made a really nice horse," said Hodges, who works fulltime for his family's plumbing business. "I told my wife going into this weekend that I might would sell her. I knew she was nice enough that I could thinks she's more than a horse sometimes."

Hodges wanted to thank his family for their support as well as Kimi Nichols, who raised Penelope, and Shelly Martin, who owns Firewater Ta Fame. He also wanted to ask that people keep praying for his longtime family friends, the Thomas family, whose daughter Jacee was critically injured in a train crossing accident last Tuesday. "I want to thank my wife and my dad and my father-in-law for the opportunity and believing in me enough to let me ride their horses," he said. "Most important, I've got to give all the glory to God."

Knock Out -- Brandon Cullins & VQ Sucker Punch Win Old Fort Days Derby

By Tanya Randall

Brandon Cullins got the biggest win of his career winning the Old Fort Days Derby with Robin Weaver's VQ Sucker Punch. Cullins and Rocko had the fastest time of the entire event, a 16.543, in the Finals to win $24,414.

"His finals run, to be honest, was probably the best run I've ever made on him," said Cullins, a 27-year-old trainer from Clements, Md. "He maybe took a half-step by and when he came back he hesitated a hair, but other than that he was pretty darn good."

Bred by Randy Husley, Ocilla, Ga., Rocko, a 5-year-old gelding, is by all-time leading barrel horse sire Dash Ta Fame out of Honor This Nonstop, by Mr Honor Bound.

Former National Finals Rodeo qualifier Lindsay Hayes Banks had run Honor This Nonstop, a daughter of the late barrel horse and sire Mr Honor Bound out of a daughter of the great Nonstop Jet. After lameness shortened her rodeo career, Honor This Nonstop was bred to Dash Ta Fame and then sold to Jeff Varner of Sedalia, Colo.

Weaver, who had won the 2012 Old Fort Days Futurity with KN Fabs Mist Of Fame, ridden by Jolene Montgomery, picked up Rocko from Varner as a 2-year-old.

"She had sold Varner some open horses and she got Rocko in the deal," said Cullins. "She sent him her colt breaker to put 60-90 days on him, and then I got him to start on barrels."

Rocko was a "decent" futurity horse, Cullins said. He had some tough luck early on but later won the Panty Raid Futurity and Indiana Futurity.

"He's been doing really good," Cullins said. "Probably the last for you when you walk out the door. He's a big pet.

After a little break, Rocko will probably go to a few rodeos with Weaver, who competes in the Great Lakes Circuit, before returning to Cullins for the bigger races and derbies in the fall.

Cullins, who lists Craig Brooks, Kelly Conrado and Cody Bauserman as mentors, started training horses in 2008. He met Weaver at a horse show in Pennsylvania and he's been riding for her ever since. He also placed ninth on Weaver's Eddie Stinson mare Foxie Stinson, earning an additional $2,686.

"I want to thank Robin," he said. "She's the best owner that I've ever had. She's stuck with me from the start. She's kind of made me."

Pay It Forward with Jill Moody

By Jill Moody

As I was recounting an adventure to a friend the other day I realized how long it was taking me to tell the tale; an incident that had taken place in about five seconds.

The story goes something like this: I was riding a young horse and somehow the reins managed to flip over her head and out of my hand. My first idea was to reach for the headstall and offset the impending wreck. As my ear shy horse was spinning away from my hand my next thought was that my first thought was a bad idea.

As my horse quickly began gaining the upper hand, bits and pieces of thoughts went through my head in the next couple of seconds; please don't buck, don't hit the fence; I'd better get off, this is going to hurt. A flying goat tying dismount became my chosen escape plan. Second bad idea.

As I was in midair I remembered that I wasn't a very good goat tier and again I questioned how bad it was going to hurt. I got to my feet, took a deep breath, and assessed the situation. When the dust settled human and horse came out relatively unscathed.

I am sharing this story because it amazes me how many different thoughts I remember having in such a brief period of time. Shift out of survival mode and into competition mode; I find myself "thinking" myself through a run in much the same fashion but instead of being attacked without a plan I have a plan of attack.

Can I execute the plan? I guess that depends on what I'm thinking. I try to keep my game plan as simple as possible. If I complicate it with too many things on my "to do" list: lift your hand 2.5 inches at the exact point where you think your tracks will cross at the first barrel, shift your weight onto your right seat bone three seconds before you get to the second barrel, yell "whoa" two strides or 15 feet before the third barrel, I won't get to the important thoughts: I'm going way too fast, get over, don't fall off, stop yelling, I'm trying, where are you going, that took all day.

I've heard people say and I've said it myself, "I can't think that fast." Yes you can and do think that fast. Survival, focus, determination, the will to win, the power of positive thinking, sports psychology, call it what you may.

We all have a thought process that gets us through life, from point A to point B and all of the stops along the way. It's amazing how our minds work and how quickly they are capable of working. A little food for thought for the week as you contemplate, "What was I thinking?"

Smith Steals the Show at Kohr Quarter Horses Futurity

By Hope Sickler

Blackfoot, Idaho veteran barrel horse trainer, multiple futurity champion and NFR Qualifier Sue Smith stole the show this past weekend at the Kohr Quarter Horses Futurity held at the CamPlex in Gillette, Wyoming.

Smith jockeyed a couple very nice horses in the futurity but caught the attention of many aboard the 5-year-old sorrel mare Dashes Centerfold. Dashes Centerfold is by Dash Ta Fame and out of Diamonds Tiny Effort by Proudest Effort. Diamonds Tiny Effort was an exceptional race mare who set three track records and still holds the 330 yard record at Wyoming Downs in Evanston, Wyoming.

"Some friends of mine had her and told me that I should take her. I never really need another horse but I am the definition of a 'horse-aholic' so I took her. When I first got her, I right away noticed how exceptional she felt. She moved so fluid and smoothly. She was raced on the track some but then got sick and didn't run again," explained Smith.

With such strong paternal and maternal lines, Smith knew the filly would be able to run. She soon noticed that in addition to having a lot of run, the mare had very confident and gritty disposition.

"When I first started riding her, I clashed with her some. I had been riding a bunch of geldings as of lately so she was the first mare I had ridden in a while. She also was the kind of mare that knew she was special and had the attitude of a champion."

Smith prepared Dashes Centerfold for the futurities as a 4-year-old but after getting down to Arizona, she made the decision to hold her back until she was 5

"She was very close to being ready her 4-year-old year but I decided that she needed a little more time so I sent her home and pulled an embryo from her bred to A Smooth Guy. The day I won 2nd in the slot race at Diamonds & Dirt this spring, she had a buckskin colt by A Smooth Guy. It was pretty neat," Smith said.

In the first round of the Kohr Quarter Horses Futurity Smith had a solid run of 16.000 which put her fourth in the first round.

"We had a good run but I hadn't tightened my cinch before we ran and when we turned the first barrel, I noticed my saddle was slipping so I focused on chasing my saddle the rest of the run besides riding my horse. She still took care of us and finished the job but I was basically just along for the ride!”

Making sure her cinch was extra tight going into the second round of the futurity Sunday morning, Smith and the gritty, ear-pinning mare posted the fastest time of the entire weekend of 15.584-seconds which put her at 31.584-seconds on two and in the driver's seat for the average.

“She was dialed in and I was able to actually pilot her instead of just sitting there in the second round. I was very impressed with the futurity and the event as a whole. There was some very tough competition and some very nice horses so I was very pleased that we were able to leave there with the championship. Also a huge shout-out to Lynn (Kohr) and her crew for running such a great event.”

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Mike and I were at a barrel race this last weekend and ran to get some breakfast. I really like small towns with little diners. You meet neat people and they have great food! And like most little diners, they have their regular customers that either sit at the counter or at the round table. World affairs are discussed... and settled. Politicians are cremated. Rain, or lack of, almost always comes up. SO FAR, I haven't heard anyone talk about Jesus.

Well, at this counter, there were about 8 men. And if I was guessing, I'd say the youngest was about 75. Just young men hanging out. Mr. A started choking on his food. Mr. B was up and around that counter and administering the Heimlech maneuver so fast I was shocked! Successfully dislodging the food, he calmly went back to his seat. The rest of us were quiet there for a minute. Mr. A said, "Well thanks, that was pretty scary." Mr. B said, "I can't be losing my fishing buddy." And added with a laugh, "Bob, I think you should just take the rest of the day off!" Mr. B just put a light spin on what could have been a very different result.

As I sat there thanking God for that good outcome, He spoke to me. In my heart I heard, "A friend sticketh closer than a brother. I am like that!"

So often when something like that happens, we think God is lost somewhere in space and doesn't have a clue what's going on. But He knows. And He was warning us. But sometimes we aren't listening. Mr. B was alert and watching. He did what needed to be done and went on happily with His day. Let's open our eyes and heart this week. Let's listen to God and be alert. Maybe we can be a life saver for someone. Just listening or gently guiding someone in the right direction. Being a Christian is just all in a days' work....but it's really not work at all!
