Michelle Alley & Lipstick N Stilletos Reign at Ruby Buckle, Win Derby & Open

By Tanya Randall

Michelle Alley and Lipstick N Stilletos claimed their second set of championships at the Ruby Buckle, held April 26 through May 4 in the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

The Madisonville, Texas, barrel racer and 5-year-old mare topped the 331-entry, $125,000 Derby and the 1,028-entry, $600,000 Open. The Derby Championship was worth $21,888, while the Open paid $24,000.

Of their $45,888 earnings, $36,710 was awarded to Stilleto's owner Heather Moeller and $4,589 each went to Alley as the mare's breeder and Robin Weaver, who owns her sire RR Mistakelly.

"She did pretty awesome again," said Alley, who won the Ruby Buckle Futurity and Open in 2025. They also hold the Lazy E record for a WPRA Standard Pattern (90' x 105' measured from the center of the barrels) at 16.476 set at last year's event.

"She dang sure likes it there," Alley continued. "I had to laugh when I posted that Reel with the Flo Rida song, 'Welcome to my house.' I joked that they needed to play that song when she ran

This week we don't have anything, so I'll probably ride her twice. She runs quite a bit out in her pasture, so I feel like she keeps herself pretty fit. I like to rest her as much as I can."

because she does like that place. Even at BFA, she won a round (in the derby) and ended up third this past fall. She definitely likes that arena no matter what the set up is."

Alley and Stilleto were third in the first round of the Derby with a 16.818 after running third on the ground and pulling shoe at the second barrel.

"There was just a slight hesitation that maybe cost her a tenth," said Alley. "I've always Gorilla taped her feet, like I did with Saucy (her dam), and I've never had her pull a shoe. That was the first time."

The posted a 16.593, the second fastest time of the event, to win the second round from the top of the ground in spite of losing the tape around her shoes again.

"In the second round, the shoe stayed on, but the tape came off," Alley chuckled. "She's pretty antsy once I get on, so I have to tape her feet at the trailer when I saddle. Well, walking through all the mud, the tape came undone."

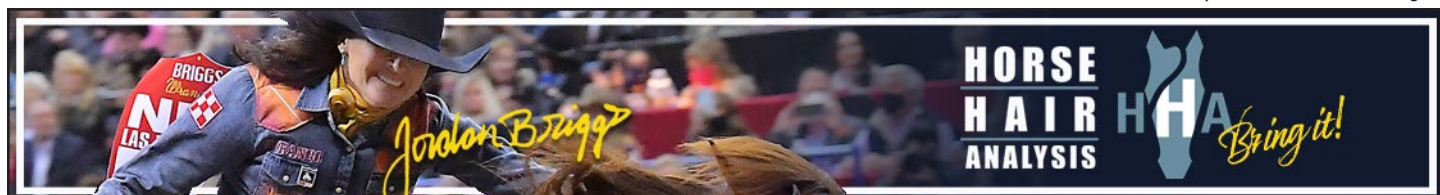

I was shocked when I watched my video. It came undone at the first barrel and flopped the whole time. I didn't even know it happened until I got off of her and saw six inches of tape hanging there."

Alley raised Stilleto by chance. Six years ago, her good Tres Seis mare Seis Caress ("Saucy") just happened to be cycling when she had the opportunity to breed to RR Mistakelly, the all-time leading futurity earning stallion at the time. After Stilleto was born, Alley sold her as a yearling to her good friend Heather Moeller.

Stilleto was on the leading futurity horses in 2024, and she finished the year No. 31 in the WPRA World Standings with more than $60,000 won at the pro rodeo as a 4-year-old.

Alley and Stilleto won $12,183 at the winter building rodeos and will head out again this summer.

"I do plan on heading up north in June," she said, "for sure for Reno. If I could get out of her sooner for Sisters (Oregon) that would be great, but if not it's not a big deal. We'll go to the rodeos, but I'm not going to say rodeo hard. I'll just do what I did last year. I think she ran at 34 something rodeos all last summer. I'll just go to the big ones that pay good and that I like.

"June won't be super busy for me with her. I don't want to overdo it. She's tough. The more runs you make on her, the better she gets. Rodeoing is my vacation time. I'm not driving all night long, making five runs a week, busting my butt to get rodeo to rodeo. It's not fun for me.

"I know the end goal is to get to the NFR, but I feel like if it's God's plan, He'll make it happen."

In the meantime, Alley is going to try to get Stilleto bred and flushed to DM High Roller, which may impact their ability to attend the Royal Crown event also at the Lazy E later this month.

While Alley doesn't have any riding age siblings to Stilleto yet, she had a full sibling born this year and she is working on more for next year.

"I sold two flushes to Eric Edwards for Repeat Offender," she said. "She double ovulated on the last flush, so he's actually got three babies in utero with heartbeats. Last Sunday, we flushed her for me. We went back to Mister for myself. She double ovulated again, but we're not far enough along to get a heartbeat on them. They short cycled her again and she'll get bred to Good Things Comin. That will be it for this year. It will look like she got bred more than she did with the double ovulations."

If you have a chance to accomplish something that will make things better for people coming behind you, and you don't do that, you are wasting your time on this Earth.

Come From Behind Victory for Ashley Schafer and HP Hotrod at Ruby Buckle

By Tanya Randall

Come from behind victories are common in the Thoroughbred racing world. That's not the case with barrel racing. On Kentucky Derby weekend, Ashley Schafer and Highpoint Performance Horses' HP Hotrod ("Boomer") pulled off an incredible come from behind victory, erasing a nearly .4 deficit to win a Ruby Buckle Futurity in a photo finish—by .002 in the aggregate.

"I was super disappointed in how I rode him in the first round, but I thought he could still get in there to place in the average," said Schafer, who resides in Comanche, Texas, with her husband Seth and their son Payson. "To win the average really blew my doors off!"

The victory in the 314-entry, $280,000 Futurity, held April 26 to May 4 in the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma, paid $30,000 with all of the sire and breeder earnings going to Charlie Cole and Jason Martin's Highpoint Performance Horses since Boomer is a Ruby Buckle stallion himself.

The 4-year-old stallion, by Dash Ta Fame out of the million dollar producer Rods Last Ladybug, by Sharp Rodney, also finished sixth in the Open 1D aggregate for an additional $13,740 for total event earnings of $43,740. His lifetime earnings are now more than $247,000.

In the opening round of the futurity, Schafer and Boomer were two holes out of the money with a 17.251.

Schafer took fault with herself, saying she rode defensively.

"Instead of going to the horn and using my legs to drive him up into the second barrel, I got a little defensive," she explained. "I got a little forward and pulled on my outside rein. I got him loaded on that inside front leg. When that happens everything is coming down, and when he goes to leave (the turn), he has to take off differently, and it pops him out to the middle of the pen. Then he's wide going down to the third barrel and he doesn't finish well either. Thankfully, he's really fast and still ran a .2."

Two days later, everything came together, and the duo posted the fastest time of the event, a 16.573 on the WPRA Standard Pattern (90' x 105' as marked from the center of the barrel).

"That was crazy!" exclaimed Schafer, who is rapidly approaching the 3 million mark in career earnings. "He's something else! The fastest time I had ever run on a Standard Pattern was Mitch's (Fiesta By Design) .7 from the Pink Buckle last year."

Schafer also placed seventh on Ace Of Spades Ranch's Wayde, eighth on her own horse, The Coffee Guy, and 12th on Joe and Carla Spitz's FTF Last Can Offling for total earnings of $31,810.

Much to tack stores delight and to Clinton Anderson's viral point about barrel racers there was serious buzz about the bits used by Schafer at the Ruby Buckle. She won the first round on The Coffee Guy using a copy of a John Isreal Bit and used a rubber mullen mouth Pelham on Boomer and FTF Last Can Offling. She got both bits through fellow barrel racer Kelly Conrado.

"I got in a little bit of a funk, where I was riding my horses a little bit defensive," said Schafer, referring to her overuse of her outside rein.

"We see people do it all the time," she continued. "We want to stay two handed all the way up into the hole. That works really great if you're going to stay really square and keep your hands really square."

When not done correctly, it can cause horses to get droppy and slice their turns.

"I was creating a little bit of cheat right there," she admitted. To improve her riding, she contacted Conrado.

"He's very good at doing things one-handed," she said. "It was a good reminder for me. One thing that I really took away from it more is using my legs more than my hands. I get in that habit of using my hands to stabilize everything, like using the outside rein to stand them up instead of using my feet to drive them into the inside rein. That was very beneficial and instrumental."

The Pelham he suggested she used helped as well.

Although she said it was hard to put into words the feel of the bit, she and others that have tried it all concluded that it "feels different than it looks."

"It looks like they would be stiff in it," she said, "and it looks like it would make a bendy horse square. I can't really explain it.

"When I just ride around, I have my hand toward the middle of the rein and really use my legs to drive my horse up into the bridle. It really helps them pick their back up and gather up into it, pick their shoulders up and reach with their front foot.

"I want my hand just to inside of center and when I pull back toward my hip, belly button and squeeze my legs to drive my horse into that bridle and everything just picks up—the back and shoulders pick up, the rib cage rounds up, everything comes up and they reach with that inside front leg because the shoulder is picked up. I feel like my horses are so much more open coming into their turns and they respect that inside rein more, so I don't feel like I need to pick up my outside rein to keep them honest up into the turn. I can go to the horn and keep my hand right here and they're respecting that inside rein more because of that."

Schafer stressed the most important thing was riding correctly with the bit rather than the bit itself.

"The main thing isn't the bit," she said. "The main thing is changing how I'm riding. When I didn't ride him correctly in the first round, I still had the same issues. It's a combination. The bit helps, but you still have to ride right."

The first place Schafer ran Boomer with the Pelham was the Barrel Bash Select Stallion Stakes in Chickasha at the end of March. They were second in both rounds and the average. The next futurity was Diamond Classic, where they were second in the first round and pulled the second barrel leaving the turn to win the round and aggregate.

"That's the first barrel that he's drug over," she noted. "Before, if I caught a barrel, it was coming into it, because I was creating it. At Diamond Classic, he ran as honest as he could. He just caught it coming around it. I was just tickled with the change."

Palmore and JL Jamaican Me Rich Bank $25K, Split Money & Beaches Win with Themselves

By Julie Mankin

We don't know how this happened, but 25-year-old Sophie Palmore clocked the exact same time – to the thousandth of a second – on two consecutive days of the Money and Beaches Barrel Race in Hamilton, Texas, aboard her standout 13-year-old phenom JL Jamaican Me Rich (“Richie”).

What's more? The time was 15.078 seconds – the fastest time clocked all weekend at the 5th annual edition of the big Open 4D race in Hamilton, Texas, on May 1-4. That means, since Palmore did it twice in the enter-three-times Open 4D, she tied herself for first in... everything.

Palmore doubled her paychecks of first in the Open ($4,618); first in the Sweepstakes ($5,349); first in the High Stakes sidepot ($1,779); and first in the Adult sidepot ($483). That brought her Hamilton total to with JL Jamaican Me Rich to exactly $24,458. She won another $166 on Be A Jetolena to bring her event total to $24,624.

“I feel like on the Friday run, I kind of missed my first and he blew out of the backside of it,” said Palmore, of Weatherford, Texas. “But honestly, second and third were the exact same barrel both days. We just know each other so well; I know him like the back of my hand.”

Palmore and Richie were the Better Barrel Races World Finals champs in 2022. They've been a team for about seven years now. Richie was trained by Jolene Montgomery, who piloted him to the BFA Reserve World Championship in 2016.

He's by one of the industry's top sires, $10 million sire JL Dash Ta Heaven, who's by Dash Ta Fame and out of 2003 WPRA World Champion barrel mare Dee Dee (Dynas Plain Special). And he's out of Frenchmans Lana, by Frenchmans Guy out of Willys Rockin – a race-bred mare that went back to Jet Deck and Laughing Boy. That makes Frenchmans Lana a full sister to All Time Great Barrel Futurity Mare & Producer Sx Frenchmans Vanilla.

“He has major personality,” said Palmore. “You can tell all of his emotions by the look on his face. He's just odd – like, if he has stall mats, he chews them up into little bits and pieces. He was doing that at the BBR World Finals and my mom tapped him on the butt to stop, and you should have seen the look on his face.”

Sophie hopes to be able to haul Richie to the Thomas and Mack Center this December. She loves Richie's sire. She actually has three other horses by JL Dash Ta Heaven (plus a daughter of Blazin Jetolena).

“Their talent is unreal,” she said. “I've never swung a leg over a JL Dash Ta Heaven that I didn't like. Just their talent and their work ethic and their mentality... I actually want to go see him sometime in person. I truly love those horses.”

 According to QStallions.com JL Jamaican Me Rich had LTE of $328,847 prior to this event; so with this added in his LTE will now be $353,305. Richie picked up his first checks as a 4 yr old in 2016 and now 9 years later is still running at the highest level!*

Wenda Johnson & Steal Money Win Guymon & Kansas City Pro Rodeos

This past weekend a familiar pair rose to the top of the rodeo results; Steal Money & Wenda Johnson! They won the biggest rodeo of the weekend, Guymon, OK, and then went on to win Kansas City, MO as well for a weekend haul of $8,456.

Johnson is a 5 time NFR Qualifier and Steal Money has helped her for 4 of those NFR Qualifications. The pair is looking for another trip to the bright lights of Las Vegas in December! Johnson sat #14 in the standings before this week; the WPRA standings haven't been updated after the weekend as this goes out but our math puts her in the Top 10 after their weekend of winning.

Through 2024 Johnson had already amassed WPRA Career Earnings of $727,142 (per WPRA) and with her 2025 earnings added in she is at $768,090. Steal Money had lifetime earnings $595,338 (per QStallions) prior to this weekend; so he has now crosses the $600k mark to $603,794. This pair is always a threat to win 1st so we thought it would be fun to catch up for a little more info after a weekend where they won two 1sts!

BRR: Can you walk us through both your winning runs at the Guymon & Kansas City?

Johnson: Guymon is a big outdoor pen with sandy ground. Towards the start of the slack, the race was stopped to re-work the ground for safety concerns. The ground had quite a bit of slide, more than previous years. Therefore, I really focused on keeping Mo as square as possible into the turns. His next run at Kansas City was indoor with the barrels closer to the walls. The ground felt great during the performance, and Mo ran really hard, felt in tune and listened well. It was a fun run, and we worked great as a team to make a beautiful run.

Rider: Wenda Johnson; Owner: Highpoint Performance Horses; Breeder: J Santos Espinoza

BRR: You have ran Mo for several years now; how has he changed and how has he stayed the same?

Johnson: Mo is still his confident and sassy self, but has definitely matured and softened up quite a bit. He is letting me handle him more at the gate, and we are able to inch closer to the start line if needed. He is so much fun to be around, and sometimes we just do and go where Mo wants to go, because he loves to explore.

BRR: What did you do this past couple weeks to have Mo at his best?

Johnson: With Highpoint's help we keep Mo in top shape, by focusing on a great exercise plan along with a nutritional program developed by Purina.

BRR: What are your summer rodeo plans?

Johnson: The summer run has so many options and directions to explore. Typically, I strive to pick arenas with good ground, and make a loop that is manageable for the horses and I to strategically make, while trying not to over run or crowd in too many rodeos.

BRR: What are three things that you can't travel without?

Johnson: Good food, plenty of great water (for me and the horses), and a phone.

BRR: What is the funniest thing your horse does?

Johnson: Where to start, because he has a big personality! He is really smart and very tuned in, so I feel like I can give him a lot of freedom. When he is in-hand on the ground, one thing I love is when I verbally ask him to do something he responds very well. It is so fun to see how he listens, and loves to go and see things.

Barrel Racers Unite to Help Cancer Patients

Kicking up a cloud of dust, a horse thunders into the arena, skillfully guided by its rider. The horse and rider act as one as they make tight turns around pink barrels. They finish their race, and in the stands, families, friends and strangers cheer.

They have all come together for more than just a weekend of barrel racing. They've come for something bigger. Much bigger.

Under the bright lights of Gordyville USA, an indoor arena in Gifford located on Eastern Illini Electric Cooperative lines, is an annual weekend-long spectacle of speed, precision and fundraising for cancer patients.

The event, Race for a Cure — Barrel Race, is a labor of love created by Leslie Holcomb, her husband Bayne and a tight-knit horse-riding community that believes in doing good from the saddle. Originally created to raise breast cancer awareness, it has expanded to directly help cancer patients.

The reason behind the Holcombs' decision to start the annual event was deeply personal. "My husband and I have both suffered losses in our families from this disease," Leslie shares.

Race for a Cure — Barrel Race is an annual fundraising event that aims to help cancer patients. Hundreds of horses and riders competed in the 2024 event.

It is a reality many people face. In fact, the American Cancer Society estimates that there will be nearly 317,000 newly diagnosed cases of invasive breast cancer in the U.S. in 2025. It also estimates approximately 2 million new cancer cases are diagnosed annually.

The Race for a Cure — Barrel Race event started about nine years ago as a Thursday night warm-up show before the Illinois National Barrel Horse Association State Championships, which is held at Gordyville USA every year.

"The first year, we ran 100 horses, and we were ecstatic," Leslie recalls. Proceeds raised were then donated to a mobile mammogram unit out of Evansville, Ind. In the years that followed, the event grew.

"It got to where the Thursday night show was bigger than the state show, so we decided to break it off and make it its own thing," Leslie explains.

That was three years ago, and that "thing" has turned into a massive event with hundreds of horses, hundreds more people and thousands of dollars raised — all for individuals fighting for their lives.

Prior to their first reinvented Race for a Cure event three years ago, held at King City Saddle Club in Mount Vernon, they discovered that their good friend Rikki, who Leslie describes as a single mom, a nurse and a hard worker, was diagnosed with breast cancer.

"My husband looked at me and said, 'We need to help her.' And that was it," Leslie says. Help, they did. The event that year raised $15,000, which went to Rikki to help with expenses in hopes of giving her one less thing to worry about.

The turnout from the event that year exceeded the Holcombs' expectations. They knew Race for a Cure had already outgrown the facility and contacted Gordyville USA to host their future events.

The 2024 event was Lisa Banga-Graham's first big show as general manager of Gordyville USA after the facility was sold in May 2024.

"It was just so emotional," Lisa recalls. "I think I cried more that weekend than I had my whole life, because the stories that you heard, the hope that you saw and just the family feeling that came together. . . . It was just very emotional, and we are extremely honored to host it."

Funds raised from last year's event went to a woman named Tori — another cancer fighter, who showed up to the arena despite losing her hair and the heavy toll of treatment. At the time, she wasn't aware the event was being held in her honor.

"When she turned the corner and saw everything, she just cried. We all did," Leslie remembers. "She just couldn't believe everybody was doing that for her."

For many, just being around their horse family is spiritually healing. Rikki couldn't ride, but her son did. Tori couldn't ride, but a friend rode her horse on her behalf.

"People in the horse world, especially Illinois barrel racers, are close," Leslie says. "They're kind. They're generous. They're quick to help. They're very tight-knit. If you beat them, they cheer for you. It's like a big family."

Lisa emphasizes that point, saying that in the horse industry, everyone knows each other, their horses and their backgrounds. She notes that people are "one call away" from potentially facing a health challenge, which makes supporting each other all the more important. "Maybe this will help take their mind off of what they're facing for just a little bit," she adds.

Race for a Cure — Barrel Race returns to Gordyville USA May 23-25. The event has grown beyond anything Leslie or Bayne imagined. This year, they're helping not one, but two women.

Leslie and Lisa describe the event for the casual observer as a "super show," meaning it is an elite-level, multi-day event featuring barrel racing that caters to different skill levels and ages. Sanctioned by multiple barrel racing associations, including the International Barrel Racing Association and Better Barrel Races, it draws competitors from across the region. "People are going to see top-notch horses and riders," says Lisa.

In addition to the horses, there will be silent auctions, vendor booths, pink T-shirts with sponsor logos, raffles with buckets of gear — and often a grand prize, like a custom saddle.

In a powerful new addition, this year's race will also include two $1,000 college scholarships, provided with funds raised by last year's recipient, Tori, and her father.

On Saturday night, the dust will settle just long enough for a dance with a band, where people will pass the hat — or cowboy boot — to raise a little more money for the cause. It's intended to be a fun, social event that also does some good. Then, there will be an informal church service on Sunday morning.

"We keep zero dollars [from] this show, and all the help is volunteer," Leslie says. "Nobody makes a dime. It's just something that we all do, and we're all proud to do it."

The annual event isn't just about barrel racing — it's about lifting someone up with support that goes way beyond the arena. It's about giving someone the fuel — emotional, spiritual, and yes, financial — to keep going. For one weekend a year, despite the obstacles life throws, people show up for each other in a barn full of horses, dust and hope.

Womens Rodeo World Championship Announces Roster

The $802,000 Women's Rodeo World Championship (WRWC)—the richest women's-only rodeo in history—is set to return to Fort Worth and Arlington, Texas, from May 12–14 and May 17, 2025. The organization has released the official roster and position draw, featuring more than 300 of the most elite cowgirls in the world. Athletes will compete across breakaway roping, team roping, barrel racing, and goat tying for a shot at the coveted All-Around World Championship title and life-changing payouts. The full roster and draw can be found HERE.

All eyes are once again on Martha Angelone (Cross Junction, Virginia), who delivered a stunning, record-breaking performance last year to clinch her second consecutive WRWC All-Around World Championship. Finishing 8,845 points ahead her closest competitor, Jackie Crawford (Stephenville, Texas), Angelone earned the all-around title and a $20,000 bonus. A true rodeo powerhouse, Angelone returns in 2025 as a multi-event competitor, entered in team roping heading and heeling, and breakaway roping, all at the Pro level. She currently leads the 2025 All-Around race by more than 13,000 points.

Angelone is joined by fellow multi-event athletes including Crawford, her sister Sarah Angelone (Lipan, Texas), and Kelsie Domer (Dublin, Texas)—all competing in both breakaway and team roping.

The roster also boasts strong family representation. Katelyn Perkins (Morristown, Arizona) is entered in both barrel racing (Challenger) and team roping heading (Pro), while her mother Shanna Perkins (Geneva, Idaho) will also compete in both disciplines at the Challenger level. Shanna's daughter and Katelyn's sister, Kayla Perkins (Morristown, Arizona), joins them in team roping heeling (Challenger)—making them one of the WRWC's standout family trios.

Katelyn Perkins is the lone athlete competing in four disciplines at this year's event—Pro Heading, Challenger Heeling, Challenger Breakaway Roping, and Limited Barrel Racing. She leads a dynamic field of multi-event competitors, including eight athletes entered in three disciplines and an impressive 32 athletes competing in two.

The breakaway roping field has the most depth WRWC has seen to date, headlined by reigning Pro World Champion Martha Angelone and Challenger Division Champion Kiely Walz (Ainsworth, Nebraska). Martha Angelone returns following her ferocious 2024 campaign, which included a 1.96-second run that vaulted her to the top of the leaderboard, edging past Jordan Jo Hollabaugh (Springtown, Texas). But it was Amy Ohrt (Victoria, Texas) —then just 18— who delivered the fastest time of the week, a blistering 1.76-second run that earned her more than $61,900 during a breakout event winning performance.

The 2025 breakaway roster blends youth and experience, with familiar names like Crawford, Jimmi Jo Montera (Greely, Colorado), and Katelyn Perkins (Morristown, Arizona) chasing Angelone's title. The Challenger division is equally competitive, featuring dual-discipline athletes like Makenzie Mayes (Scroggins, Texas), returners Remi Wells (Central City, Nebraska), and rising stars Karrigan Cagley (Kentwood, Louisiana) and Catherine Clayton (Dublin, Texas).

Barrel racing at the 2025 WRWC is stacked with seasoned veterans and explosive rookies. The roster includes household names like Cheyenne Wimberley (Stephenville, Texas), Stephanie Fryar (Waco, Texas), Jordan Driver (Garden City, Texas) and breakout talent Mayes, who is riding the momentum of a historic 2024 season.

In 2024, 20-year-old Mayes surged to the top of the barrel racing Challenger leaderboard following wins in Round Two and the Semi-Finals, setting a new arena record aboard Chicado Moon (Rousey). Her blazing run beat the previous record of 12.967 set by Laura Mote (Llano, Texas) on Reliance Ranches Redbull in 2023. Despite an outstanding average time of 39.914 from Madison McCafferty (Omaha, Texas), it was Ryann Pedone (Sunset, Texas) who ultimately captured the Pro World Championship cash bonus.

The WRWC Smarty Rodeo Goat Tying Showcase, set for May 13, adds a fast-paced and technical layer to the competition. Promising athletes like Haiden Thompson (Yoder, Wyoming) and Jacée Graff (St. George, Utah) are expected to be top podium contenders in this explosive specialty event.

Competition begins May 12–14 at Cowtown Coliseum with Rounds One and Two, followed by Semifinals across all disciplines: Breakaway Roping, Barrel Racing, and Team Roping. Each day features a full slate of Pro, Challenger, and Limited Division heats, followed by buckle ceremonies at Tannahill's celebrating daily winners.

The excitement peaks on May 17, when the Championship Round takes place at AT&T Stadium in Arlington during the PBR World Finals: Unleash The Beast – Championship. The Top 7 barrel racers and breakaway ropers, along with the Top 6 team roping pairs, will go head-to-head in a winner-take-all showdown that crowns champions in all four disciplines.

All rounds at Cowtown Coliseum are open to the public with free entry, offering fans a rare chance to witness the world's top cowgirls in action up close. Fans can also watch the action exclusively on The Cowboy Channel and the Cowboy Channel + app.

Tickets for the May 17 Championship Round at AT&T Stadium are on sale now at PBRWorldFinals.com, SeatGeek.com, or by calling (800) 732-1727.

PRCA Mourns passing of PRORODEO Hall of Famer Roy Cooper

ProRodeo Hall of Famer Roy Cooper passed away in a house fire April 29 in Decatur, Texas. He was 69.

Over the course of three-plus decades, Cooper amassed a legendary rodeo resume.

The PRORODEO Hall of Famer was Rookie of the Year in 1976 and won seven individual event world championships — six in tie-down roping and one in steer roping — and one all-around crown while dominating the competition, particularly throughout the 1980s.

Cooper's prowess with a rope landed him the nickname "Super Looper" and into the inaugural class of the PRORODEO Hall of Fame in 1979 in Colorado Springs, Colo.

"In Oklahoma City at the Finals a guy from Sports Illustrated hung it on me," Cooper said on Ty Harris' Lets Freakin' Rodeo podcast on Feb. 4, 2025, about how he got his nickname. "I don't know if I'm Super Looper. I'm just Roy. I'm not one to brag on myself and there are so many good ropers today. You can't compare me to Toots Mansfield or Dean Oliver because we were in different eras. I had my time for 10 years there."

Even with all that success, there is one moment that stands out — winning the PRCA All-Around World Championship in 1983, along with capturing the tie-down roping and steer roping championships. That made him one of 10 cowboys to ever secure rodeo's elusive triple crown — three world titles in the same year.

Just two years ago, that All-Around buckle remained proudly on display.

"It's the only one I wear. Since I won it, I've never taken it off," said Cooper in a March 31, 2023, story in the PRORODEO Sports News.

There is a caveat though — Cooper would remove the buckle, but only to loan it to another legendary cowboy.

"Actually, I would give it to George Strait if he would wear it. I would because he's one of my very best friends," he said.

Cooper and Strait met just before Cooper's triple crown run in 1983.

"All I can say is I got lucky," Cooper said. "It was an accident winning the steer roping (in 1983). I ain't supposed to beat Guy Allen. He's the greatest in the world. He and Trevor Brazile are the greatest steer ropers that ever walked. You ain't supposed to beat them."

Cooper's trifecta of world championships put him in rare air. Only nine other cowboys have been able to win triple crown honors in PRORODEO history — Clay Carr, Leonard Ward, Everett Bowman, Louis Brooks, Bill Linderman, Casey Tibbs, Harry Tompkins, Jim Shoulders and Brazile.

"That was very special and a hard act to follow," Cooper said.

Cooper is only one of seven cowboys to qualify for the Finals in three events. He accomplished that feat in 1981 when he competed in tie-down roping, steer roping and team roping.

Cooper had some incredible horsepower during his illustrious career, including Topper, the PRCA | AQHA Horse of the Year in 2003 and 2005.

"I bought Topper for $5,000 and it took me a year or two, but once he came around, baby he was unbelievable," Cooper said. "I made a living off that horse. He fed my family. I won the NFR average on that horse when I was 40 and I won Calgary on that horse."

After he was done competing in PRORODEO, Cooper stayed close to the sport he loved. For the last 40-plus years, Cooper hosted a junior world roping championship during the July 4 weekend. In 2022, the event drew in more than 500 competitors from 20 different states.

He burst onto the scene in 1976 with a PRCA Tie-Down Roping World Championship in his first full year in PRORODEO, while also nabbing the Resistol Rookie of the Year honor.

"I went with Ernie Taylor, he was the world champion (tie-down roper in 1973) and he took me under his wing and took me everywhere," Cooper said.

Cooper was the first cowboy to win a Tie-Down Roping World Championship and Resistol Rookie of the Year award in the same year.

He followed that up with five tie-down roping titles in a row from 1980-84. Cooper and Dean Oliver share the record for most consecutive Tie-Down Roping World Championships with five. Oliver initially set the record winning his titles from 1960-64.

"I had a good run," Cooper said. "I had good horses and good guys around me, and I worked hard at it. It was my life. It was fun and I didn't think they could have a rodeo without me."

Cooper continued to excel in the latter part of his career qualifying for his last NFR — in tie-down roping — in 2000 at age 45.

"I have several good memories in the arena and the greatest part about rodeo is winning," Cooper said.

Roy was born on Nov. 13, 1955, to Betty and Tuffy Dale Cooper in Hobbs, N.M. He, along with his brother, Clay Tom, and sister, Betty Gale, grew up on the family ranch.

From an early age, Roy was coached by his father in the proper techniques of roping, leading him to win at youth rodeos across the Southwest. His winning ways continued through high school, where in 1973 he won the National High School Champion Calf Roping title, and in college at Cisco (Texas) Junior College, and Southeastern Oklahoma State University in Durant, where in 1975 he won the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Calf Roping title.

"Rodeoing is fun and it is more fun when you're winning and it is more fun with your family," Cooper said.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

"Classic" by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

We have 'a' roundabout here in Gillette. It's located a block off the main highway behind a popular restaurant. I've watched people run smooth over the top and middle of it.

If you want to experience what a real roundabout is though, you drive 3 hours to Billings, MT. It's exciting! Some people stop when they need to go. Some people keep going no matter what the sign says. And some just plant themselves and watch the action. They are afraid to move forward.

We were just through there on our way to do a meeting further north and I observed these things first hand. It brought to my mind the saying, "Lead. Follow. Or get out of the way!" Mike hates them for all the reasons I just listed.

Maybe, just maybe, if we read the drivers manual, the confusion would be gone. We'd know when to yield and when to go forward.

Friends, it's the same thing with our Bible. If we read it, we'd have the direction/ instructions on how to proceed. The Holy Spirit would lead us through while some get stuck and others are leaping ahead right into a wreck!

Our God is sooo good. Put His Word first place and let him help you navigate safely through this time we're living in!
