#1 TRAINING OR RIDING TIP TO SHARE: Make sure you get the right start going to your first barrel. The approach and angle from the gate, set it up where you can keep a little bit of arch going into the barrel.

HORSE'S GREATEST QUALITY: Not one thing stands out, just good overall and no problem to get along with.

HOW DID YOU BALANCE RUNNING TWO HORSES IN THE

SAME DRAG? I got off the first one and got a 2-3 minute break and caught my wind and refocused and took my time so I could concentrate on which horse I was on.

CSR Equine Sport Medicine Team New Addition to CNFR

Human athletes competing at the College National Finals Rodeo (CNFR) have benefitted from and depended on medical care provided by Orthopaedic and Spine Center of the Rockies.

This year, for the first time, the equine athletes will have a similar opportunity. The Copper Spring Ranch Equine Sports Medicine Team will be available throughout the competition. Their 48-foot custom designed trailer will be at the fairgrounds where contestant's horses are housed with emergency care available at the Casper Events Center.

The trailer contains the latest and greatest diagnostic and treatment tools that technology has to offer. And, all of that technology can be transmitted back to an owner's vet for consultation. Diagnostic tools include X-rays, high-definition ultrasound, endoscopy and complete blood analysis.

Dr. Ellis Farstvedt, managing veterinarian for Copper Spring Ranch's Equine Medical Center in Bozeman, Mont., along with two nurses will staff the mobile unit at the CNFR. Dr. Farstvedt graduated from the College of Veterinary Medicine at Oregon State University and completed a three-year residency in Equine Surgery at Colorado State University.

"Injuries that any basketball or football player can get are similar to the type of injuries we see in horses," Dr. Farstvedt said. "They can have pulmonary problems that are similar to humans like asthma. To perform at their best, they have to be as healthy as they can be, and that's where we can help."

Taking a horse to the CSR Equine Sports Medicine Team's mobile unit would be similar to taking it to a referral clinic. The closest one to Casper is 150 miles away in Sheridan. Pricing at clinics has been studied and compared and set in accordance with other specialized clinics.

The Equine Sports Medicine Team will work closely with Dr. Donald Cobb, from Casper who has been the official veterinarian of the CNFR since it moved to Casper in 1999.

"This is probably the single most positive addition that we could make to the CNFR," Dr. Cobb said. "The horses that these kids are going to be competing on are pretty hard to find and even harder to replace.

You've got to take good care of them and having access to this kind of technology and specialists will be great. I'm really excited about it being here."

The technology on the trailer rivals that of any other clinic in the state of Wyoming. Having it at the CNFR will enable competitors to give their horses' quality medical attention without ever having to put them in a trailer. Having a board certified surgeon with the talent and expertise of Dr. Farstvedt is a bonus. His knowledge and experience have helped many horses when there is trauma and with the technology available, horse owners will know what all of their options are.

"The best thing about my job is being able to help horses," Dr. Farstvedt said. "It's very satisfying when there is a horse with a problem and be able to fix it. That's fun."

Rasmussen Returns for Pendleton Round-Up Centennial

Flint Rasmussen, an eight-time PRCA Clown of the Year and seven-time Coors Man in the Can, is coming back to work the centennial Pendleton (Ore.) Round-Up for the first time in five years, sharing the Sept. 15 barrelman duties with Keith Isley.

"Since Flint retired from doing the Round-Up in 2005, we've always talked about him returning in some capacity for 2010," Round-Up Vice President Dennis Hunt said. "Flint has made a lot of friends in Pendleton over the years."

Brazile Sidelined With Torn Elbow Tendon

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. – Seven-time World Champion All-Around Cowboy Trevor Brazile is undergoing treatment for a partially torn tendon in his right elbow and does not expect to return to competition any sooner than the June 18-26 Reno (Nev.) Rodeo.

Brazile has experienced pain in the elbow for about two years, but was able to work through it until the occupational stress turned into a partial tear while practicing at his Decatur, Texas, home shortly after he competed at Vernon, Texas, May 11-14.

He shut down all practice sessions after that and had an injection of platelet rich plasma (PRP) on May 28 at the North Central Texas Orthopaedics & Sports Medicine clinic in Decatur. He is scheduled for a second treatment on June 8.

A report in The New York Times earlier this year describes PRP as "a new procedure, based on an idea that once seemed revolutionary: Inject people with their own blood, concentrated so it is mostly platelets, the tiny colorless bodies that release substances that help repair tissues."

PRP's appeal has grown in recent years once professional athletes like Tiger Woods and Pittsburgh Steelers teammates Troy Polamalu and Hines Ward reported that it cured them.

"The doctors are not saying how long it will take to heal," Brazile said, "but I know it feels a little better every day. We'll see how it goes. I'm hoping that a return at Reno is just about right.

"If it had been a complete tear, I would obviously need to have surgery. This should heal itself. It just needs rest because it gets overused."

He withdrew from the Windy Ryon Memorial Roping in Fort Worth, Texas, over the weekend and will doctor release this week from PRCA rodeos in Strong City, Kan., and Clovis, N.M.

Brazile says he is using his time away from the arena to take care of some business with his Relentless Collection at Cactus Ropes and spend more time with his wife Shada and their children, Treston and Stella.

Brazile, who earlier this season broke his own all-around record for surpassing the $100,000 earnings milestone at the earliest point in the season, remains atop the PRCA World Standings in both the all-around ($110,274) and tie-down roping ($71,793). He is also in the top 10 in both steer roping and team roping (heading).

If he wins his eighth all-around gold buckle this season, it will break the record he currently shares with Ty Murray. --Courtesy of www.prorodeo.com

HORSE: JL Dash Ta Heaven

DAILY TRAINING REGIMENT PRE RACE: It changes quite a bit depending on how he is doing leading up to the race. Before a race like this I to really tune him at home on poles and barrels and ride him in draw reins and do everything I can to get him light and responding really well so that when I get to the event I can just let him be and relax.

WARM UP ROUTINE: I give myself 20-30 minutes to warm him up. I soften him both ways, lope him around on a loose rein, flex his head both ways to make sure he softens, pivot him around both ways and cross his feet over and counterarc him both ways just to make sure that he is soft and ready when I ask him for something. Then I will ask him to collect at a lope and slow his lope. After that I just keep him quiet before the run.

HOW OFTEN DO YOU RUN YOUR HORSE? No more than once or twice a week until they get older and more used to the runs.

DO YOU ADJUSTMENT YOUR RUN BASED ON THE GROUND? I just let him run his race unless I think the ground is too dangerous to run and then I just won't run him. I can't really adjust how fast he is going to run, once he is running he goes as fast as he can go!

#1 TRAINING OR RIDING TIP TO SHARE:

If you get in a slump don't let it get to
 you. Don't let bad runs keep you down.
 Keep your horse in the best shape possible. Be open minded, you can always learn from somebody!

HORSE'S GREATEST QUALITY: Everything
 I love him! He's so kind and big hearted.

Toni Martin McCoy, Jetolenas Lotta Cash, Sired by: Blazin Jetolena, $1,000 & Master Saddle

Good Fortune for Martin McCoy in Fort Smith

By Tanya Randall, Special for Future Fortunes Inc.

If it weren't for bad luck, Toni Martin McCoy didn't have any luck at all. Thankfully, good fortune was waiting for her in Fort Smith, Ark., at the Old Fort Days Futurity, one of the toughest and most prestigious barrel races in the country held annually over Memorial Weekend.

A blown engine in one truck, a busted oil line in another, the sudden death of a 48-hour-old foal and the devastating loss of her husband's job last November were just a few of the obstacles that Martin McCoy overcame en route to the Future Fortunes Amateur Championship, that netted her $1,000 and a beautiful Master's saddle.

"I just kept getting these obstacles thrown at me, but I didn't give up," said the 42-year-old registered nurse from Longview, Texas. "I just said, 'I, myself - I am going to do this.'"

Never mind that she had only one more year of barrel racing experience than her horse, Jetolenas Lotta Cash, 4, had years on this earth.

No vacancy

Affectionately known as "Lena," the talented daughter of former leading futurity horse and National Finals Rodeo qualifier Blazin Jetolena originally had a spot in trainer Jana Beam's futurity string until she came up sore after a futurity in February.

"Because of the financial situation, I brought her home to rehab," said Martin McCoy. "She was going to have to be off three to four weeks. When I started riding her again, I called Jana, but she had to fill that spot in her barn and no longer had room for her."

After talking to her husband, Flynn, and daughter, Danielle Garrett, who co-owns Lena, Martin McCoy decided to run the mare herself.

"I was already paid up," she said, "so they thought I at least ought to try. So I had five weeks to learn how to ride her."

Lena, a 14.2 hand, catty-quick horse, was a different beast entirely from Martin McCoy's comfortable 16-hand free-running open horse.

"She's really quick and I'm not used to that," laughed Martin McCoy, who caught the barrel-racing bug from her daughter. "If you drop your hand, you'd better be at your pocket and not looking at it!"

Cowgirl Up

The qualifying round at Old Fort Days, held May 27, determined the distribution of the $25,000 Future Fortunes Bonus and Amateur Championship. It would be the biggest race of Martin McCoy's life.

"I was barrel racing so much in my dreams that I didn't sleep very well," she quipped. "It's in the alley way where I tend to get really nervous, where I feel like I'm going to throw up."

The first barrel at Kay Rodger's Park is difficult because a fence splitting the alleyway prevents the tradition up-the-middle approach. "I hugged the inside fence and walked half-way up the alley before I started trotting," she explained. "I started loping when her head cross the mouth of the alley. I was so focused on getting a perfect first barrel. Everyone had told me it was so important. She turned the nicest first barrel I'd ever made. I sat down a little too soon at the second barrel and I bumped it with my leg. She came back really smooth and you couldn't really tell I bumped it all at all. She turned a nice third. My whip had got tangled up and I spent the whole run home trying to get it out. Looking back if I had just leaned forward and not done anything, she would have been faster.

"When they announce a 17.360, I almost fell off in the alley. I did a flying dismount and just hugged her. I was so excited; you would have thought I had won the Kentucky Derby!"

Her time qualified her for the Futurity Finals and placed seventh in the $25,000 Future Fortunes pot, earning an additional $1,050 for her and Garrett as well as $300 for Emily Lawson, who bred Lena, and $150 for Sue Rist, who owns Blazin Jetolena.

Danita Design, owned and bred by Charles and Nita Brock, was the highest-placing Future Fortunes horse. The daughter of AQHA World Champion Designer Red was ridden by Kay Young. The win paid $3,656.25 ($2,843.75 as owners and $812.50 as breeders) for the Brocks and $406.25 for Danny Ray, who owned Designer Red. Unforeseen future

Martin McCoy had purchased Lena, sight-unseen at her dam's side from David Lawson and his daughter Emily. She initially wanted the breeding to now-deceased Future Fortunes stallion Perks Master that Lawson held and ended up with the mare and foal in a package deal.

Lena's dam is Roys Cash Toy, a single race winner by Cash Yawl, a stakes-placed full brother to By Yawl that shares much of the same lineage as leading barrel horse sire and former Future Fortunes stallion Dash For Perks. She is out of Tina Denise, by the legendary Merridoc.

"She was a little bitty, dainty thing," remembers Martin McCoy. "She didn't want to be touched. We had to corner her to get her caught. I always liked her attitude and the fire she had in her."

Lena got her start under saddle with Mike Wiedemeyer, a cutting and reining trainer. After piddling with Lena on the barrels some at a walk and trot, Martin McCoy sought the help of friend and trainer Paula Owens.

"She had her 45 days," recalled Martin McCoy. "She told me I needed to take her home and turn her out and then pick back up in the fall. She had about 65-70 days off and then I started hauling her to exhibition. The first of November she was running 7/10ths to a second off of Jud Little's horses that Jolene Stewart was riding."

Martin McCoy called Owens' daughter Janna Beam and told her she wanted to know if she would ride Lena and see if she thought she was doing well enough to enter the BFA Juvenile Futurity in December. Beam ended up taking Lena and placing in the second round at the Oklahoma City event.

Ironically, it was at Oklahoma City where Martin McCoy sat in her first Master's saddle.

"I told my husband, when the financial situation gets a little better next year, I'll get one. Now, I've won one!" she laughed.

The saddle and $1,000 Future Fortunes Amateur bonus played a big part in her decision to ride Lena herself at Old Fort Days. "I'm really thankful that no one else rode her now!" she exclaimed. "I'm just a novice. I haven't been running barrels but five-and-a-half years. Amateurs like me wouldn't have a chance against the pros if it weren't for things like this. I'm so thankful they have the Future Fortunes program, especially for the Amateurs. People need to look really hard at the Future Fortune stallions and colts. They have so many benefits."

Good Fortune

In addition to her $2,050 Future Fortunes bonus, Martin McCoy and Lena finished 29th in the Futurity Finals for $2,175.

"My nerves got the better of me," she said. "The contractor had brought in some stock and she got very nervous. She really hasn't been hauled much, except when Jana had her. When she got nervous, I got nervous."

The weekend still seems surreal to her.

"I never saw it coming," she said. "I didn't figure I had a snowball's chance. She was behind. I was trying to learn how to ride her in five weeks.

"Honestly, I have to thank the Lord. We've had such a horrible year. I cried when I won it. I've never won anything like that. I'll never forget that . . . ever.

...THIS JUST IN....event info.....Event Announcements...Attention Barrel Racers....

Attention all WBRC Team USA members, producers, qualifiers, nominees and invitees:

The WBRC committee is proud to announce that the WBRC 2010 finals, has moved from Manitoba, Canada to Kansas City, Missouri. The inaugural event will be held at the beautiful American Royal Facility. Date for the finals will be Nov. 4-7, 2010.

We are also proud to announce we have changed the competitive team to TEAM International, Which will consist of all teams with exception of Team USA?

This allows all of our international friends to compete in this exciting event rather than limiting the competition to those from Canada.

The WBRC committee is working diligently to host this "one of a kind event" in a location that is convenient for all involved. Please go to www.northamericanbarrelracingchallenge.com, for all updates and qualifying race locations, across the country. Any barrel race will be considered for a qualification race (USA or INT). The event must have a minim of 5 paid qualifiers to host a qualifying race. 1 per 5 entries advance to team.

Good luck in your qualifying race and the WRRRC Finals. If you cannot make the qualifying race that you entered, you may qualify at any Qualifying race. You must contact us in advance. Your fastest time of the qualifying race will be your qualifying time. 1 per 5 will advance to Team.

Please contact us at jgd@barrelhorseworld.com with any questions or concerns.

WBRC Finals

Open - 25 Team USA and 25 Team International will compete in the NABRC semi-finals.

Brittany Pozzi will serve as Team USA Captain Youth-A total of 50 youth (USA and International combined) teams will be drawn at semi-finals.

Martha Josey is the WBRC Youth Team Captain

Open Finals Format

Headin' For Home

By Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Chinese tradition says that if someone saves your life you owe the rest of your life to that person, so I've been told. Think about it! That's dealing with a short span of earthly years. Look what Jesus did for us. He saved us for all eternity-- forever! And not only that but He'll help us through our trials and messes in this earthly life as well if we only surrender our lives to Him and ask Him to guide and direct us in all our ways. Jesus said He'd never leave us or forsake us (Hebrews 13:5)

Yet so many people go through their lives never giving a thought to what Jesus went through for us. It's sad how many live only for the moment and try to find happiness and contentment in their earthly pursuits. Some of the richest are the most miserable people and many of the famous end up committing suicide or destroying their lives with drugs and alcohol.

Only true peace comes from having a relationship with Almighty God. He's the only one who can make a way when you can't see one. He's the Creator of life and all good things. He's the one thing in this world that you can count on. There's a country Gospel song that says: "What a privilege to know the Son of God. He lives inside of me and He walks beside me. He's my best friend, He's the precious Son of God." You are truly blessed if you have Jesus for a best friend. The Bible tells us He said many times not to have fear and also that it would be done for us according to our faith.

So if you've never made Jesus the Lord of your life, don't wait another minute. Just say out loud, "Jesus, I repent of all my sins. I ask you to come into my heart and direct my life. Wash me in your blood. I make you my Lord and Savior. Amen." Read Romans 10:9-10. Receive the peace that God promises!
