Rowdy carries Taylor & Rickie Engesser to CNFR, SDHSRA Championships

By Tanya Randall

For some horses, the more runs the merrier. Cool Rowdy is definitely one of those horses. On the week of June 15 to 22, the 19-year-old sorrel gelding made seven runs and earned two championship titles—the coveted College National Finals Rodeo Barrel Racing Championship with Taylor Engesser and the South Dakota High School Finals Rodeo Barrel Racing Championship with her younger sister Rickie Engesser.

While the titles are glorious, getting ratey Rowdy around the barrels clean seven times is a more impressive benchmark.

“I didn’t think I would get two clean runs in that little pen, let alone four,” said Taylor Engesser of competing in the small confines of the Casper Event Center, the Wyoming home of the 66th CNFR.

Even more exciting was how great he clocked. After placing 10th in the first go with a 14.34, they came back with a 13.83 to win the second go and turned in a 14.03 to take fifth in the third round and take the average lead.

“When I won the second round with a 13.83, I thought he couldn’t get any faster than that,” she said. “He just got freer and ran harder.”

Engesser, a freshman nursing student at Gillette College, credits Rowdy’s double duty at the state high school finals on a 17-second pattern with keeping him free.

After Taylor and Rowdy made their third run on Thursday, Rowdy made the three hour trip to Belle Fourche, S.D., for the first round of the SDHSFR with Rickie. After Rickie and Rowdy made their second run Saturday morning, it was back in the trailer for Rowdy—who was aided by Silver Lining Herbs and a little Previcox—to make the trip back to Gillette for the short round of the CNFR.

“We got there in plenty of time,” said Taylor, who hails from Spearfish, S.D. “We just left him alone for a little while so he could relax.”

Even with the average lead going into the short round, Engesser knew she couldn’t rest on her laurels.

“They were running some really fast times,” she said. “I knew with Rowdy being so ratey I had to ride hard anyway. I couldn’t believe he ran a 13.58 (the fastest time of the week)!”

Engesser wanted to thank her coach Will LaDuke for his support. “He told his wife earlier in the week he had a feeling that I would win the championship. Of course, he didn’t tell me. He said he had the same feeling when Jordan Thurston (-Miller, on the greatest collegiate goat tiers of all time) won her last national championship.”

1st Annual Megan's Memorial Scholarship

The first annual Megan's Memory Scholarships were given away to one cowboy and cowgirl at the All American Youth finals Saturday in Jackson, Mississippi.

There were 59 applicants from all over the United States, who sent in their essays defining a true champion, but two stood out among the rest.

Nineteen year old Ben Corder from Louisville, Kentucky and Brandi Korbe from Sumrall, Mississippi were the first to receive $7,500 scholarship in the memory of Megan Danielle Stockstill.

The two recipients were presented a big check, a halter, and a 5Star saddle pad by Mrs. Debra Stockstill, Megan's mother.

Corder and Korbe both share a love for the sport of barrel racing and horses.

Corder plans on pursuing a degree in pharmacy, and Korbe would like to get her degree in veterinary technology.

The scholarship will help lighten the financial burden that college can be on a family.

It was very important to the recipients that they use these scholarships to make a difference and to pay it forward.

"I hope that I will be able to donate or pay back some of the money that was given to me through the scholarship," Corder said.

Also, to live each day as if it were your last.

"I believe everyone deserves to be a champion and to realize their dream," Korbe said. "The Megan's Memory Scholarship is helping me realize my dream and I want to do that for others in honor of Megan."

The Megan's Memory Scholarship was created after the untimely death of barrel racer Megan Stockstill. Megan passed away a week after giving birth to her and her fiance, Talmadge Green's son, Sterling.

The death of Megan hit the barrel racing community hard, and a special group of ladies wanted to do something to keep Megan's memory alive.

Carol Ann Coffey, barrel racer and wife of futurity jockey Chris Coffey, and futurity jockey Leslie Willis came up with the idea of a scholarship fund.

"This scholarship will not only keep Megan's legacy alive but will give back to youth involved in the equine industry which is something that is unique because there isn't a whole lot in scholarships available for kids who love rodeo or timed events," Coffey said.

If you are interested in applying for the scholarship the deadline is March 30th of each year. You must be a high school senior in good standing with a time event, barrel racing or rodeo association and plan to attend an accredited trade school, community, or university college.

All of the funding for the Megan's Memory Scholarship comes from kind donors and grants. If you are interested in making a donation you can visit megansmemory.org and click the donation button.

Barrel Racers shine at Reno Rodeo

There was definitely a fast track in the barrel racing Monday night at the 95th Reno Rodeo.

Wrangler National Finals Rodeo qualifier Michele McLeod from Whitesboro, Texas, set the arena on fire when she took Slick By Design, known as Slick, around the cloverleaf pattern in a blazing 16.89 seconds. That is the fastest time of the rodeo this year. It put her in first place in the second round and in the lead in the overall standings with a total time of 34.41 seconds on two runs. She is over a tenth of a second ahead of Shelley Morgan who also ran on Monday.

Morgan, from Canton, Texas, had a 17.08 time in the second round and has a total of 34.59 on two runs. Also having great runs were Fallon Taylor from Whitesboro, Texas, Samantha Lyne from Cotulla, Texas, and Jody Sheffield from Ogden, Utah.

Morgan moved into second in the overall standings here, Lyne is in fourth and Sheffield is in fifth. Taylor is tied for sixth place. Taylor is highest in the Women's Professional Rodeo Association at third place. McLeod is in fifth, and Morgan is in ninth. All of these women could use the Reno Rodeo as a springboard for the busy summer rodeo season.

The Reno Rodeo is doubly important to all of the contestants as a Gold stop on the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association's Wrangler Million Dollar Tour. Nearly 700 contestants will be here through nine performances hoping to get big paychecks, tour points and ultimately be at the top of the leaderboard on Saturday night and leave with the coveted championship spurs.

second in the second round and short go to punch their ticket to Rock Springs.

Ironically, Rowdy became the designated barrel horse by default. The Engessers purchased the horse as 4-year-old and quickly switched to roping on the gelding.

"He was so rough and so ratey we couldn't get him around the barrels," Engesser said. "it wasn't until we lost three other horses in a week's time that we had to start running him."

Miraculously, Rowdy was the lone survivor of a tragic accident. The Engessers neighbors had accidentally put mole poisoning in their horse pasture. While their two good competition horses ate the tainted oats, Rowdy didn't. Then shortly afterwards, they lost another horse to colic.

"We didn't have any choice but to ride him," she said. They also continued to rope and tie goats off of the gelding, who traces back to a lot of old school speedsters through his sire Mr Haggard and dam Cool Deep Margie, by Leos Lotsa Luck.

Next up for Rowdy is the National High School Finals Rodeo in Rock Springs, Wyo., and the International Finals Youth Rodeo in Shawne, Okla. As for the elder Engesser, she'll try to go to some of the open, amateur rodeos and maybe pick up some professional rodeos here and there.

"It's going to be a lot of fun," said Engesser. "I'm going to enjoy watching my sister run him. It's always fun to go when you have a good barrel horse."

Q&A with Sarah McDonald

BRR: Take us through your arena record run in the Finals.

McDonald: In the finals, I qualified 3 back and was 186, 189, and 204. It was pretty humid and hot so I was out of breath after the first 2! My dad and friend Mike helped me hold the others and I quickly saddled Bling. I didn't have much time to warm her up but I don't warm her up much anyways. Usually I walk her and then when I go to lope a few circles, she lunges and is ready to go. She knows her job. I had to stay in the holding pen while they finished the big drag. I was glad there was one (big drag) because I took some deep breaths and tried to imagine every step Bling was going to take in our run. I knew she would show up and run hard because she always does the more she runs in a pen. My Dad came up to the pen and said try to get your first barrel. We usually go past it here and I knew he was right. The crowd was cheering for the people ahead of me and Bling perked up when she heard everyone. I think she loves the crowd and feeds off of it. I try to tune everything out and act like it is just me and her and focus on her moves and sit down deep in the saddle before she takes off. When we were walking in the gate I told myself, "Okay get it together and ride hard." Bling took off and when we got to the first we were close going into it. I saw it rock and she really ran hard after that. The second was very tight and the third was even tighter. I just tried to think kick, kick, kick after we left the first barrel. I had ear infections so I couldn't hear my time but I knew it was good when I heard the screaming. I was so proud of Bling for again bringing her A game to the finals when I needed her the most. I just wanted to get my first barrel and keep them up; I never thought she would run a 13.9!

BRR: It seems like Fame Fling N Bling always gets better with more runs, what about her makes her thrive with more runs?

McDonald: Bling does seem to run better the more runs she gets in a pen. I think she has gotten smarter with age and feels the ground out. The first run is usually not as smooth as the others but I know that she is so fast she can make some mistakes. The first run I just want a clean run to make it back and then after that I try to clean up her turns. She usually cleans it up the second run and by the 3rd she is all business.

BRR: You have started going to rodeos too now, what differences have you seen between the big barrel races and rodeos?

McDonald: Rodeos are a lot different. You have one run, no exhibition, and there are so many other obstacles to deal with. There may be no where to warm up and so many different pens with different dirt. I have learned a lot more about Bling since I have (started rodeoing). I have found out more about what set ups she likes and what kind of ground. Also, Bling seems to love to be in the stall so I try to make her as happy as possible so she can rest.

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for a big run?

McDonald: Before a big run I don't really like to sit in the stands and watch. I walk up there and see the set up and the ground and watch some horses run in it to see how it holds. Some places I'm like this is Bling's kind of pen and then others I may have to make some changes. I mentally prepare by enjoying my time with the horses. I'm usually either at the trailer resting or at my stalls with the horses. I really enjoy cleaning their stalls, water buckets, washing them, feeding them, and being around them. I love their energy and personalities. I know they know my voice and they are smart animals. Before I run I like to have a pep talk with Bling and let her know we need to step it up. I know it's more for me than her but I have a certain way I like to get ready every time. I put my boots on a certain way, my saddle and everything. I don't like anyone else to do it. I like to picture my run in my head over and over and think about what I am going to do if certain things happen. Usually with Bling it is try to get my first barrel then kick really hard after that. I am blessed with a once in a lifetime horse and people in my life and I want to try my best to always show up just like Bling does.

Ganter & Bobbie Gene set blistering pace at All American Youth

By Tanya Randall

Teenage barrel racing phenom Jackie Ganter added another prestigious title to her ever-growing list of wins with a 2014 All American Youth 1D Championship aboard her gorgeous gray gelding Bobbie Gene.

Ganter, the 2014 Better Barrel Races Finals 1D Champion from Abilene, Texas, ran seven horses at the 13th Annual All American Youth, held June 18-21 in Jackson, Miss. She qualified all but one horse back to the finals and drew checks on four of them. All totaled, she collected $15,227.

Having qualified her superstars Cartels Fame, Blazin Baby J and Guys French Jet in the first round, Ganter let the trio sit out the second round due to the sweltering heat. Moon Hankin Momma was scratched completely from the event due to health issues. Her newest and youngest charge Born Ta Pack Fame qualified by placing fifth in the 3D in the first go, but the greenest of her herd needed the extra runs. That left her trying to qualify Bob and Paris Firewater, owned by Jennifer Arnold, in the second round.

"The first day I caught the first barrel on him and I just pulled him up because it was so hot," said Ganter, who is sponsored by Double J Saddlery, Equidite, RES Sport Boots, 5-Star Equine Products, K9s4COPs, Key City Veterinary Clinic, Hi-Pro Feeds, Dufur Quarter Horses and Back On Track. "The second day I just flew in there—I mean we were doing 90 to nothing going to the first barrel—so he actually ran by it, but smoked the second and third. I was almost dead on for the 2D."

All American Youth From Page 19

After warming up Bob, Ganter commented to her mother Angela that “he warmed up really. He had his head down and was bending really well.” Her mother advised her to calm down on her approach to the first barrel for her last run.

“I just rode him,” she said. “I didn’t hustle him in there. I just let him run. He just dropped and turned it—which he hasn’t really done in a couple of months. I thought, ‘Oh man, this is a Bob kinda run. He smoked the second, smoked third. It was just one of those runs that only Bobbie Gene can make. I’ve ridden him for so long now that I know what kind of runs he can make. Coming home I knew it was going to be fast. He gave it all he had.”

Their 13.885 was the fastest run of the event.

“Baby J and Cartel have been winning so much, it was time for Bob to catch a break in there,” she said. “He can run right with him.”

At nearly 16 hands, Bob takes a little more ground than Ganter’s other horse.

“He drops so hard,” Ganter explained. “If you look at most of my barrel pictures, my saddle horn is even with the top of the barrel. My foot will almost touch the ground. He has more ground trouble than my others do. Sometimes he’ll even have ground trouble on good ground just because he turns so hard with his whole body.”

Ganter said that as he has gotten older Bob has learned to handle the varying ground conditions better, but it’s just taken him longer. Now 6, Bobbie Gene is by all-time leading barrel horse sire Dash Ta Fame out of Flick Can Disco, one of Jeff Switzer and Bo Hill’s great mares by Disco Jerry (TB). Hill started Bob before selling him to Lee Hansen, who in turn sold him to Kristi Schiller. The Ganters purchased Bob after the BFA World Futurity in 2012.

The plan with all her horses is to hit the WPRA trail in early October right after she turns 18. She’s been spending the summer seasoning her arsenal of horses at the Texas Cowboys Rodeo and United Professional Rodeo associations’ amateur rodeos. Bob hasn’t made his rodeo debut yet, but it’s coming soon.

“He’s your typical Dash Ta Fame,” laughed Ganter. “It will take a little more getting used to for him—not the run part of it, but all the other. He’s not a big fan of cows, so he’ll have to look at the calves, steers and the ropes. I’m just going to try to keep him away from everything! Once we’re running, I’m sure we’ll be fine, but everything before... I’m sure will be interesting.”

Hardin lights a fire at Colorado Classic Futurity

By Julie Mankin

Full-time barrel-horse trainer Toni Hardin is thrilled to see a stand-alone futurity come back to Colorado, and she took full advantage of the opportunity to make some money at the inaugural Colorado Classic, held over the weekend of June 20-22 at the Penrose Stadium in Colorado Springs.

"Kayla Tisdall produced the futurity and derby in conjunction with a Mile Hi Barrel Horse open race and slot race," said Hardin. "The futurity had 64 horses, which is good for their first year." Riding a 4-year-old mare named Goddess Fire, Hardin won the second round and claimed the average title on two runs to earn $2,529. The filly is by Walk Thru Fire and out of Royal Classic Goddess by A Classic Dash.

"She belongs to some good friends of ours – Dr. Casey Potter and his wife," said Hardin of Wetmore, Colo. "They moved here from California to Canyon City, which is about 20 miles from our place."

Dr. Potter had been a racetrack veterinarian at Los Alamitos when he ran across Goddess Fire ("Sissy") while she was injured.

He bought her as a 2-year-old and had Hardin start her on the barrels last fall.

"The second time I entered her was indoors in Colorado Springs this winter and she ran the fastest time of the weekend," Hardin said. "But then when we got outside, she wanted to use her race-horse speed. So we did a little backtracking and she just has been coming around."

Hardin said Sissy isn't overly spooky but tends to really look around and see everything, to where she'd lose a little bit of focus. "She's a very busy girl," said Hardin. "We put blinkers on her, which was my husband's idea, because she was used to them on the track. It really calms her to have those on. She doesn't see so much and is more focused on the barrels than everything else in the arena. So that's helped a lot, too."

Hardin also ran Michelle Messenger's stallion Open Ta Fame in the derby and placed third to earn another $805. Kathy Grimes won the derby on KG Justiceweexpected, earning $1,553 plus another $836 on the horse in the Open. Hardin, however, didn't enter the open jackpots because she was up in rodeos in Alamosa and North Platte the same weekend on her aged gelding, Spartalite.

"I have a barn full of outside horses, including ones that are going in a bunch of different directions," she said. "Some are really young and some are older and I just have a lot of variety." She plans to pick up competition again on Sissy at the fall futurities.

"We're going to take it easy this year and maybe go to a couple more fall futurities and just bring her along so she has confidence and gets more solid," Hardin said. "And then we'll take her to some derbies next year and hopefully rodeo on her in the future."

Hardin said the Potters enjoy fast horses and that Dr. Potter is an excellent mobile vet (his practice is Elite Equine Veterinary Services in southern Colorado).

"We're lucky he came here," she said. "He's definitely a part of the team with all the horses – not just his, but mine and everything else around here."

Also over the weekend, Kelly Conrado also jumped on Deb's Sporty Win ("Bubba") – the horse in recent years ridden by Paige Conrado at circuit rodeos and now Ivy Conrado – and won the slot race by a full two-tenths of a second to earn $1,993.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Believing only what He has promised. That should be our motto! We are believing for the uninterrupted flow of the Blessing on your lives! That and that only!

Our grandchildren were here the other day, and as usual we went down to the arena to ride the pony. Cylee, the three year old, has been coming here for a long time and she tries really hard to remember all the names of our horses. Since we sell horses and get new ones, sometimes it gets a little confusing. But it was really interesting to me when she looked at O'Malley and said, "Grandma, why does that horse have a tattoo?" Tattoo?! She can't see in his mouth! So I looked where she was looking and laughed when I saw she was looking at his brand. Perspective. It's all about our perspective and our perception and our experience.

It got me to mulling over some of the things that we perceive. With words, you can slant a situation, or soften a blow. You can sugar coat some things that should be just laid out and dealt with.

For instance, why don't we just call sin...sin? It's not, "my little problem". It's not somebody else's fault. No one can make you do the wrong thing. You have a chooser and you get to pick what you do and how you do it. I was relieved years ago when I learned that I answer to God for what I do, not what you do. Was pretty freeing in a way. But I had to look at that real close because the buck stopped right at my doorstep. "Oh, then I guess when I threw a fit at Wal-Mart, that my best friend doesn't have to answer to God for my sorely lacking love walk."

The Holy Spirit on the inside of us is our teacher, helper, advocate and strengthener. He leads us and guides us. We only need to yield to Him. If He shows you something you need to change, just do it! Sir, yes sir! Call a spade a spade and don't be easy on yourself. Don't judge others on what they do and yourself on your good intentions! We are the army of God and we are fierce in battle against the devil and all he wants to destroy. We are winners, empowered in Jesus! Let's not go soft in our walk, let's become more Christlike every day! God is love...we should be, too.

Mike Morrison and his wife Sherry are ordained ministers in their own nondenominational church in Gillette, WY. They also travel widely as circuit riders ministering over a large area of the western states.
