Bridesmaid No More—Emily Beisel & Teasin Dat Guy Top Reno Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Multiple National Finals Rodeo qualifier Emily Beisel and Teasin Dat Guy (“Chewy”) set a new three-run aggregate record of 50.74 en route to their first pair of trophy spurs at the $75,000-added Reno Rodeo, held June 19-27 in Nevada’s “Biggest Little City in the World.” The pair finished second in 2024 and 2025.

The Weatherford, Oklahoma, barrel racer was doing her best not to cry in her victory interview on the Cowboy Channel.

“I’m a little embarrassed that I didn’t keep it together better,” said Beisel, who rode Chewy to second place finishes in 2024 and 2025 “If anything that probably tells everyone how much that one meant to me.”

It meant a lot for her to win aboard 4M Equine’s Chewy, the Molly Otto-trained, 10-year-old Frenchmans Guy mare raised by Katie Lindahl out of her Blazin Jetolena mare Teasin Jetolena.

“I wanted it really bad for her,” said Beisel, who noted the three-run aggregate showcases the mare’s consistency. “Reno is just amazing. The environment there just lights her fire, but the format there is good for her too. We can try to be solid across the board and that average pays great. The mare is the epitome of consistency. She doesn’t make mistakes. I truly think she’s the best horse that I’ve ever got to ride.”

Beisel and Chewy were the only team to make three runs under 17-seconds. They won the opening round in 16.97 after a Hyer boot kick kept the second barrel upright.

“I hardly ever run Chewy in slack, except for Reno,” Beisel explained. “She will tolerate slack at Reno, but I really have to ask her for momentum to the first barrel. Otherwise, she doesn’t run. “It goes back to her personality. When she goes up to the arena, she likes to size it up. She makes sure that there are people in the stands to cheer for her. She runs for the crowd. She loves the chaos. She eats that up.

“So when it’s slack and there’s nobody in the stands, I struggle to get 110 percent out of her because that’s not her jam. That’s not her environment.”

Beisel did get Chewy rolling to her first barrel this year and they got a smidge past the first barrel.

“In order to not hit the backside of the first, we had to float off of it, which sent us in a diagonal for the second. It wasn’t like she was trying to hit the barrel. She was just inside out running across the pen. With her style and the way she skims a barrel, there was nothing I could do but drop the rein and let her try to turn and hope we got around it.”

Chewy got deep enough on the back corner that Beisel couldn’t stable the barrel with her hand but was able to kick it back upright with her foot.

“I literally saw it coming to my boot, so I stuck my leg out,” she chuckled. “I’ve never done that before in my life, and I hope I never have to do it again, because there’s no way that works twice!”

Beisel took the saved barrel as an omen that it was finally going to be her turn to win Reno this year.

“When that barrel stood back up I knew I had absolutely nothing to lose,” she said. “I had already been given a gift, so I might as well go for it.”

In the performance that night, Beisel and Chewy clocked a 16.94 to tie for fourth in the second round. They were second in the Finals with a 16.83.

“She’s such a gamer in the perfs,” Beisel added. “She’s a slam dunk. I don’t ever have to worry about her in those situations. It’s very evident that she loves to run for the crowd. Each horse has some things that they’re really good at. Showing off is something Chewy is really good at.”

Chewy, who has three NFR qualifications on her resume—one with Otto in 2021 and two with Beisel in 2024 and 2025, is Frenchman’s Guy richest earner, according to QData. The Reno victory puts her over $716,000.

This season Chewy has made 11 runs—all money winners—for Beisel. She won five checks at Rodeo Houston, won Claremore, Oklahoma, placed at Woodward, Oklahoma, and placed at Pleasant Grove, Utah, before winning Reno.

“She’s just so intelligent, and honestly, she’s fierce, a fierce competitor. She just figures out a way to win. Every day I get to swing a leg over her is a blessing. She’s such an incredible horse.”

Chewy is one of six pro rodeo money earners that Beisel is currently running. Four of those horses—Chewy, Vanilla Gorilla, Ivory On Fire and Namgis D 35—have each won a pro rodeo this year. That horsepower, along with Namgis D 33 and Dashing Olie, has Beisel second in the WPRA World Standings with $111,499 unofficially.

“I have a lot more confidence this year,” Beisel said. “I’m trying to stay the course and do what I know works for me and my horses and not wear myself out. I have a great set of horses, and they’re going to take care of me. I just need to go where I can and make it work and not stress about it. Maybe that’s maturity and experience, but I am having a little more fun doing it that way.”

BLAZIN THROUGH RENO

Blazin Jetolena bloodlines took the top two spots at the Reno Rodeo in Nevada.

Emily Beisel got the win aboard Teasin Dat Guy, a Frenchmans Guy mare out of Teasin Jetolena, by Blazin Jetolena. Carlee Otero took second on Blingolena, who is by Blazin Jetolena out of Dash Of Bling, by Dash Ta Fame. They took home $18,843 and $16,326, respectively.

Jet, who passed in 2023, was no stranger to success at Reno. He won the 2003 American West 4D Finals Futurity held at the Reno Sparks Livestock Events Center. The following year, Jet, ridden by Ryan Lovendahl for the stallion’s breeders Randy and Sue Rist, topped the Open 1D Average at the American West 4D Finals as a 5-year-old.

The richest race of its time, the American West 4D Finals featured four open races—two inside the events center and two outside in the same arena as the Reno Rodeo. On cultivated jackpot ground and a reported WPRA Standard pattern at the time, Jet clocked a 17.164 and a 17.346 on his two outdoor runs and a 17.164 and 17.315 on his two indoor passes to win the aggregate.

In 2005, Jet helped Melanie Southard qualify for the National Finals Rodeo. He later sired multiple NFR qualifiers and under the ownership of Jeff and Andrea of Busby Quarter Horses became one of the all-time leading barrel horse sires.

According to QData, Jet has sired barrel racing earners of $12.8 million, and his daughters have produced earners of $3.9 million.

Back For More – DaCota Monk & CT Delight Top Ruby Buckle West Futurity & Open

By Tanya Randall

Multiple futurity champion DaCota Monk of Emory, Texas, claimed his second straight Ruby Buckle West Futurity Championship. He piloted CT Delight (“Fancy”), owned by Carlee Otero, to dual wins in the $280,000 Futurity and $600,000 Open at the $1.2 million dollar event, held June 23/27 in South Jordan, Utah, for total earnings of $53,900.

“It’s just really neat to win it again,” said Monk, who won the 2025 Ruby Buckle West Futurity on Seis Martinis.

Pink and Ruby Buckle founder Chad Beus purchased Fancy as an embryo from her breeder Keith Nellesen of McColee Land & Livestock. Fancy is by Traffic Guy, who Beus owned before selling to 4M Equine, and out of the dual-event champion producing Dash Ta Fame mare, Our Genuine Delight, who has produced pro rodeo winners and aged event champions as well as Grade 1 stakes placed runners.

Beus sent Fancy to Monk as a 2-year-old after she was started under saddle by Logan Jenson. Monk and his sister Brittainy Hill tag-teamed trained the mare at first before Monk transitioned her to competition readiness for the 5-year-old futurities.

“She didn’t have many rides when we got her, so we went to the roundpen with her,” Monk elaborated. “She’s always been really sensitive, maybe a tick flighty, but so smart. She took to everything really good.”

Fancy didn’t make her futurity debut until the Ashley Brooks Memorial in Memphis, Tennessee, over New Year’s but by mid to late spring was proving to be a contender.

“She started winning some jackpots late winter,” Monk explained. “She just couldn’t put it together at the futurities until she got confident. She started getting really confident later in the spring.”

During that time, Fancy caught Otero’s eye and she purchased the mare from Beus in March. Under Otero’s ownership, Fancy earned reserve championships at the BBR World Finals Futurity and Old Fort Days Senior (5YO) Futurity.

Fancy got off to a rough start at the June futurities after she took a tumble in the slot race at the Run At The Rose Futurity in Colorado.

“She smoked her first and second like normal,” recalled Monk. “She went to turn the third and slipped a little bit and landed on her nose and face. It didn’t look that bad, but it felt worse. I just put my hand down and let her run out. She still clocked, and I was like, ‘Oh! Wow!’ She ended up third.”

Unfortunately, Fancy didn’t work well in either round of the Run At The Rose Futurity the next two days.

“She was super sore on the right side of her neck,” Monk said. “I had some chiropractors work on her. We did red light therapy and acupuncture. We did all that while waiting for the Colorado Classic.”

When Fancy won the first round of the Colorado Classic, Monk thought he had his horse back.

“She had gotten sore again,” he said. “She warmed up all kind of nervous again. She missed her first barrel and was kind of doing what she did at Run At The Rose after she fell.”

With almost two weeks between the Colorado Classic and Ruby Buckle West, Monk took Fancy to Jared Sharp, DVM, to get her lined out. After a little time off and some more treatment, Fancy was back to normal by her Ruby Buckle exhibitions.

“She felt really good again in exhibitions for Ruby,” Monk said. “The first round, I really didn’t know what to expect. She was feeling really good warming up, but I was still kind of in defensive mode. Was I going to have to help her at the first barrel because that’s where she was struggling.

“When she went to smoke it, like she had in the past, I kind of

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Cold water spa, red light therapy, chiropractic care, acupuncture

TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: “I rode her quite a bit at my clinic (at Timi Lickley’s) just to keep her mind slowed down because she’s always on the go. I rode her in the pasture a lot at Timi’s. She gets a bunch of slow work, walking and trotting, at the house.”

SPONSORS: Beus Quarter Horses, Steel Horse Formulations, CSI Saddle Pads, Caliber Equine, LLC, Classic Equine, Equinety, Equilume, How-Di, JW Brooks Custom Hats, L&W Bits, Med-Vet Pharmaceuticals, Get Back In Motion, Wild Gold Omega 3 Camelina Oil.

overrode her and messed her up actually. She almost overturned it and that set her up weird for the second.”

To keep Fancy free running up into her second barrel, Monk typically rides with the right hand on the rein until three or four strides out before switching to the left. In the first round at Ruby, he was three quarters of the way around the turn before he changed hands.

“We were like on our way to the third barrel before I switched,” he chuckled, but she did run freer over there. The third barrel was gorgeous on that run.”

They ended up placing third in the round with a 16.056.

Before the second round, Monk made sure that Fancy had all her therapies to make sure she was still feeling well.

“She warmed up really good again, so I was feeling confident,” he said.

His daughter Alisa was doing a good job distracting him from worrying too much about Fancy’s potential second run relapse by keeping up with the mare’s chances of winning the average.

“Alisa was like, ‘a 14.9 is winning it,’” he laughed. “I was like, ‘Alisa, I don’t care! She was asking me the day before if (Fancy) could win the average. I said, ‘I don’t know, but I know she can run an .8. Alisa was like, ‘OK’ So the next day, she was keeping me updated and I was like, ‘Alisa, stop! I don’t want to know! I just have to go in there and do my job then she will, and then we’ll see what happens.’”

They clocked the fastest time of the event, a 15.762, to best the fastest time from last year too—Monk’s 15.8 on Seis Martinis.

“The little mistakes we had in the first round cost us quite a bit of time at the first and second,” he explained. “I rode her better and she flew in there and smoked the first barrel. I still feel like I didn’t ride her great going to the second. I stayed with the right hand (on the reins) a little long again because she really likes to rim that barrel. With the walls being really tall in there and me needing to stay clean, I really wanted her to stay free up into the second bar-

MOTHER’S BROTHER

Brother from another mother? Sister from another mister? It’s a complicated relationship but DaCota Monk’s two back-to-back Ruby Buckle West Futurity Champions have a lot of the same blood running through their veins.

The 2025 Champion Seis Martinis is by Tres Seis (Sixarun x Our Third Delight x Reb’s Policy (TB)) and out of Morning Traffic (Frenchmans Guy x Evening Traffic x Dash Thru Traffic).

The 2026 Champion CT Delight (“Fancy”) is by Traffic Guy (Frenchmans Guy x Evening Traffic x Dash Thru Traffic) and out of Our Genuine Delight (Dash Ta Fame x Fortune Of Delight x Six Fortunes).

A stakes winner and racing champion broodmare, Fortune Of Delight is a three-quarter sister to Tres Seis as their sires are both by Streakin Six and they’re out of the same dam, Our Third Delight.

rel so she could get around it.”

Monk also noticed the mare was really powering through all her turns harder.

“I’ve always made sure that I was really holding the saddle horn, leaving the second because she jets out of there so hard,” he said. “She did that to me on all three barrels. She felt like a jet.”

Mowry and Jarvis Back at It - Winning $29K at the Ruby Buckle West Derby

By Julie Mankin

After a full three months off, 8-year-old Force The Goodbye (“Jarvis”) came back stronger than ever at the Ruby Buckle West, June 23-27 in South Jordan, Utah, to add to his lifetime tally of $2.2 million-plus.

Placing in both rounds for a total time of 31.980 seconds, he carried defending WPRM World Champion Kassie Mowry to the Derby win by just eight-hundredths of a second. The Derby paid $18,625, plus Jarvis’s two runs placed seventh in each Open race and third in that average for another $10,088 in Open monies. Jarvis’ Ruby Buckle haul was $28,713.

“He’s such a good boy,” Mowry said. “I want him fresh and happy, and never feeling like it’s a job or a chore for him. I was happy to give him the past three months off.”

He also had a three-month break from November to February, because Mowry left him home during the NFR to keep him safe from EHV-1. Instead, she wrapped up her second-straight gold buckle – thanks to more than $400,000 earned at 29 rodeos (compared to the reserve world champ’s 88) – riding CP He Will Be Epic (“Will”) because he’d already had EHV-1. Plus, she borrowed Mindy Holloway’s Heaven’s Got Credit (“Cornbread”).

“That was a big moment for me as a jockey,” said Mowry. “I never ride anything I didn’t train, so it was hard for me to get on something else and run for the first time in front of everybody at the Thomas and Mack! I was proud I was able to step out of trainer mode, and it was really cool to team up with Mindy. My biggest goal was not to make Cornbread look bad!”

Check.

This year, Jarvis is growing up. He used to need a handful of runs to get “back in the groove” after a long break. Not anymore. After the first 2026 break, he set an arena record at Fort Worth, winning that rodeo plus Houston and Austin. After this last break, he went to South Jordan and won the Derby against the likes of first-round champ Lipstick N Stilletos and second-round champ Dashing Olie. That’s right, Michelle Alley, Emily Beisel and Mowry all juggled the Reno Rodeo around the Ruby Buckle.

“It’s really hard to drive by a Derby like this, because we can’t win that much at a rodeo,” Mowry pointed out. “A derby horse can make a ton of money now. When your trailer’s full, it’s almost worth keeping a Jarvis or a Sophie in there over a futurity horse that you’re not quite sure about.”

Mowry had tipped a barrel at South Jordan to win the first round on Goodbye Sophie. She thinks derbies like the Ruby Buckle are great for the industry because they incentivize trainers to keep good horses long enough to actually finish them out in the same program. Plus, she said, it’s good to get a young rodeo horse back on good ground for some confidence.

Somehow, it’s still an unfamiliar sight to see Mowry winning Owner/Rider Sidepot money. Things have been different since keeping Will, Famous Ladies Man (“Emmitt”) and Jarvis.

“My horses always got sold as soon as they were done with futurities,” she said. “These guys are mine. They aren’t going anywhere.” This summer, Mowry will again earmark certain weeks and various pens for each of the three geldings. They have her on par with last year’s world standings already. Mowry recalls owning $131,000 in championship points last June with a $42,000 lead on Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi. This June, at eight rodeos, she has $139,000 with a $46,000 lead on Emily Beisel.

Mowry is headed to her fifth straight NFR with a chance to be the first three-peat world champ since Hailey Kinsel did it in 2020. So, what, in the GOAT’s opinion, gives Jarvis such an edge?

“I’ve ridden about every kind of horse at this point,” she said.

THANK YOUS: The Ruby Buckle for having such a great derby for our good horses.

“Some horses this caliber are so aggressive, they can maybe work against you a little bit and take over a little control. But Jarvis is the opposite – he’s not super aggressive. He truly just tries to please and really listen to me in the run. It never feels like he’s just taking me for a ride; I have a lot of control.”

When it really comes down to it, she said, his style is conducive to her style. They mesh as a team. And on rodeo ground, a horse that lets you help him is crucial. It’s worth pointing out that Mowry also had Goodbye Sophie in South Jordan, and she’s no slouch, with a half-million dollars in earnings.

Mowry, who now raises all the horses she trains, is also keeping Sophie – on whom a tipped barrel cost her winning the first round of the Derby.

"I have bred Sophie to Tres Seis a few times, and I've bred several times to The Goodbye Lane (other mares) and Epic Leader," she said. "I'm excited for Sophie babies! She gave me three embryos this year."

It may seem strange to hear that Mowry showed up to a Ruby Buckle with only two Derby horses and zero Futurity horses.

"Strangles went through my barn in March," she said. "It came in on a recip mare. It went through all my mares and then it was like dominoes – I had 19 colts get it. It was mortifying. I was terrified my older horses were going to get it. I just shut down. I did not ride a single colt literally from April until September."

Luckily, they all survived. But Mowry is a one-woman show who only trains six per season, so now she has to get her 3-year-olds ready for 2027. She sold all of this year's futurity colts to "amazing places" that could hold them over.

That means that a dozen Mowry trainees will be running at 2027 futurities. But her babies, in particular, will get their customary six-week break this summer while she adds to her lead in the world standings – always staying under 30 rodeos.

"If an NFR qualification happens in 30 rodeos, great," she said. "If not, there's always next year, is kind of how I feel."

Landers & Regally Classic Win National Junior High Finals Barrel Racing Championship

At the National Junior High Finals Rodeo held June 21-27 at the Lazy E Arena near Guthrie, OK; Hadlee Landers swept the barrel racing. Winning both rounds and the Finals; Landers and her speedy mount Regally Classic put 7 tenths of a second on the field. We caught up with the Junior High Champion Landers to find out a little more about her big win!

BRR: Can you walk us through your three winning runs at the National Junior High School Finals Rodeo?

Landers: My goal every run was just to go in, be safe, be clean, and be fast. I like to keep things simple and have fun. I trusted Callie to do her job, and she trusted me to do mine. We stayed consistent all week, and everything came together when it mattered most.

BRR: Can you tell us a little about your horse up to this point in her career?

Landers: Callie is an incredible mare. She and I have done a lot together. This year alone she helped me qualify through three rounds at the American Central Regional Finals and earn a spot at the American Rodeo. She also carried me to a Vegas Tuffest Championship, an Oklahoma State Championship Barrel Racing title, and now a National Junior High School Finals Rodeo Championship. She gives me her whole heart every single run, and I'll always do what's best for her. She's truly one of a kind.

BRR: What did you do this past couple of weeks to have your horse at her best?

Landers: With Callie, I don't try to change anything before a big event. We keep everything the same. We stick to our weekly workouts, trust each other, and enjoy every run we get to make together. Keeping her happy and confident is what works best for us.

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for big runs like this weekend prior to entering the arena?

Landers: I pray, keep it simple, trust my horse, and have fun. We work every day for opportunities like this, so when they come, I try to enjoy them. I believe pressure is a privilege, and no matter where I'm running, I'm just thankful to be there.

BRR: How did you get started barrel racing?

Landers: I've grown up around horses my entire life. I started riding when I was little, and barrel racing quickly became my passion. Every opportunity to compete has made me want to keep getting better.

BRR: Who is your favorite barrel racer?

Landers: There are so many incredible barrel racers. I just love the way Kassie Mowry jockeys. She's always smooth and calm.

BRR: What is the funniest thing your horse does?

Landers: Callie definitely has a personality. She always knows when it's time to eat and isn't shy about reminding everyone.

Harper Wins $40K Slot Race on First Barrel Horse, Im Heavenly Sent

By Julie Mankin

There's likely never been a horse more clearly sent by heaven to a girl than this one.

On June 27 at Aloha Acres Arena in Union, S.C., earning $40,000 cash and bragging rights as the champion of the 4th Annual Money Talks High Stakes Slot Race was a 22-year-old North Carolina girl named Olivia Harper. She has no arena, and was riding her first-ever barrel horse – a 5-year-old named I'm Heavenly Sent.

"I was aiming for the 2D!" said Harper. "I had no clue he could do that. I've never won this much money in my entire life! It felt crazy to hold that check. It's literally life-changing money."

Harper clocked a 14.450 to outpace Lyra Honaker's 14.467 on 12-year-old Royal Tully Frost, while former NFR barrel racer Margo Crowther rounded out third on HP Epic Fame. Harper's time also won Saturday's Open, giving her $41,107 total on the run.

"I was in total shock," said Harper. "Margo gave me a hug. I told her, 'I grew up watching you for years! I've dreamed of watching the NFR and just wish I could be there one day!'"

Her winning gelding is by Heavenly Firewater, a son of JL Dash Ta Heaven out of the Fire Water Flit daughter Fire Water Fanny (she's out of a granddaughter of The Ole Man). On the bottom side, he's out of Clear Boggy, by the First Down Dash son Sweet First Down out of a daughter of Streakin La Jolla.

Harper said the only thing her horse ever does wrong is turn a barrel too close because she's in his way. But she rode picture-perfect in Union and each turn reflected it. Her greatest coaches have been a pair of Danielles – both Danielle Myers and Danyelle Church have helped her a ton.

"They gave me lessons when I needed lessons and let me haul to their arenas when I needed help or confidence-building," said Harper, who was offered the slot by her "barrel racing mom" Myers – who also split the entry fee with her.

"I was really nervous about going," said Harper, who in turn will split the $40,000 windfall with Danielle and Travis Myers. "I haven't had much luck at races or I fall in the cracks, and I couldn't afford the $1,500 fee. So, I paid Danielle $750 and she gave me a pep talk. She said, 'I don't care what happens. But I know your horse is a superstar and I want you to full-send it!'"

The horse's name alone – I'm Heavenly Sent – was part of the reason she decided two years ago to buy the long-legged 3-year-old. His nickname is "Rip" (after the Yellowstone TV character).

Olivia had grown up in Statesville, N.C., and loved to ride horses as much as her brother loved dirt bikes and motorcross. Four years ago, she was also about to earn her pilot's license. Her parents had been together decades as a pilot and flight attendant for American Airlines. Her dad, Capt. Mark Harper, aside from more than 30 years with American, had a few small airplanes and ran a flight school.

But early on the morning of May 21, 2021, Capt. Harper had gone alone to pick up one of his planes in Myrtle Beach after some maintenance work. Tragically, his Piper PA-31P wasn't operating correctly and crashed as he tried to return to the runway. Harper, 60, didn't survive. He was lauded, however, for guiding the plane to the only open land for miles around, avoiding houses and powerlines as it went down.

Im Heavenly Sent

BIT: L&W combo with chain mouthpiece

SADDLE: Robbie Phillips

SADDLE PAD: 5 Star

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine

SHOEING: Taylor's Farrier Service; steel with toe clips

FEED: Tribute's Kalm 'N EZ

HAY: Alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: Vitamin E oil, electrolytes, Purina's Amplify

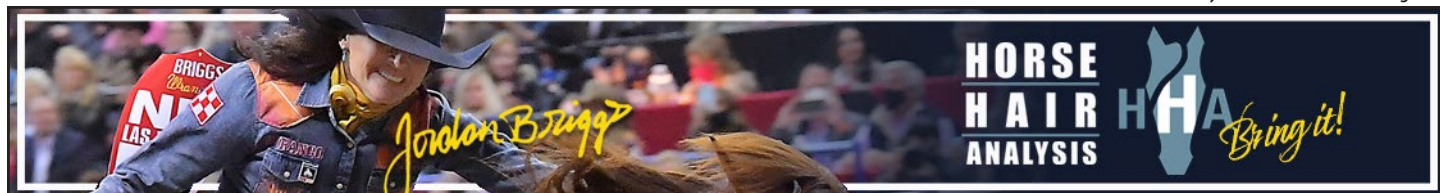

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Bemer treatments before and after runs; weekly Aquatread and cold salt-water sessions

TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: I long-trot him on our trails and haul weekly to my friend's arena and just trot him around the barrels.

SPONSOR: Mr Scrub Rodeo

THANK YOUS: Travis and Danielle for pushing me to run in their slot; Danielle Church of Dream Catcher Farms for letting me ride at her place; Megan Lyerly with Triple M Barrel Horses for letting me use her arena and for coaching; and, of course, my mom – my No. 1 support system.

"It was definitely one of the hardest things I've been through in my life," said Olivia. "Afterward, I had a lot of anxiety about being a Aloha Acres Money Talks Continued on Page 52 pilot. I still haven't flown since he passed."

Instead, she quit horses and moved to Charlotte to work as a hair stylist. But barrel racing had always called to her. So, she began to play around and learn.

"I sold my house in Charlotte and moved back home with my mom so I could barrel race," explained Harper, who still cuts hair a few days a week.

When Church told her about Rip being for sale, his $30,000 price tag was more than Harper wanted to spend.

"But Dad passed in 2021, and Rip was born in 2021," she said.

"I wanted to make something of barrel racing because I'd always dreamed of doing it. I felt like his name – I'm Heavenly Sent – was a sign to buy this horse. I felt like my dad sent him to me."

Harper said she had "no clue at all" how to ride a barrel horse when she bought him.

"I actually fell off him in the alleyway at one of the first races," she said. "But I learned from him and he learned from me, and now my friends say we were made for each other. We've literally grown together."

Harper jumped in with both feet. Last year, she hauled Rip to all the BBR races and futurities she could enter.

"If someone really good had taken him to futurities, I'm sure he'd be further along," said Harper. "But I wouldn't have traded the past two years for anything; just us slowly progressing and learning together. It's been so cool."

Harper has also been hitting IPRA rodeos on a quest to qualify for her first IFR this year. She just won Jackson, Miss., and Perry,

Ga., and is currently in the top 10 of the standings (both Danielles are in the top five). Harper said young Rip loves his job even at rodeos, and never gets nervous despite his age. Plus, he makes the same run every time, somehow knowing on rodeo ground whether he should play it safe or let it rip.

"I told my friends that slot race Saturday night is going feel like a rodeo to him," she said. "He has such a goofy personality. He's the funniest horse I have ever seen. He likes to do this thing with his teeth where he flips his lip up and smiles. And he doesn't walk – he has to trot to every destination in his pasture."

Olivia and her mom, Sally Harper, have eight acres. But Sally recently bought an 18-acre parcel and is building a barn near Claremont with an apartment for Olivia, who is excited to start living "upstairs from Rip."

By now, Olivia has collected more than a half-dozen barrel horses or prospects, including two other Heavenly Firewater yearlings she bought from Leslie Willis and a rodeo horse she bought out of Texas to back up Rip. Her next goal, aside from making her first IFR and winning the IPRA's Rookie of the Year, is to qualify for next year's American Rodeo. And this fall, she plans to buy her WPRA permit and try to fill it.

In the meantime, she truly believes her horse was Heavenly Sent. "I always say a prayer before I go in the alleyway," said Harper, who makes every run wearing one of her Dad's American pins on her rodeo shirt. "It's just, "Thank you God for allowing me to be here and be alive and be on such a fantastic horse."

Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo™ to Build New Agricultural Complex

The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo announced on June 24, plans for a landmark livestock and agricultural complex on its property along Highway 288. This represents one of the most significant private investments ever made for agriculture and education as well as the largest single facilities investment in the organization's more than 90-year history.

The multiyear project represents a significant investment in Texas youth and agriculture, expanding the Rodeo's footprint while advancing its mission to promote education and Western heritage statewide.

"For nearly a century, this organization has existed to support the students, exhibitors, and families who make this event possible," said Chris Boleman, president and CEO of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. "This represents the largest investment in Rodeo history and a profound commitment to the future of our event, educational opportunities and agriculture. It's about honoring the trust families place in us when they bring their animals, their students and their dreams to this show. We are investing in a facility that reflects the importance of that responsibility."

The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo will remain at Reliant Park, where it has proudly called home for more than 65 years. The new complex is designed to complement, not replace, existing operations and to ensure continuity of year-round mission-driven events. The 2027 RODEOHOUSTON, sanctioned by the PRCA, is scheduled for March 2-21.

"For more than two decades Reliant Arena has been at the heart of our horse and livestock show operations," said Wesley Sinor, chairman of the board of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. "But as the facility where we host many of these events has reached the end of its useful life, it's been clear that we need to act. This investment is a commitment to our students, our exhibitors and the future of agriculture. It's required us to look ahead to our centennial and beyond to ensure we are meeting that responsibility for generations to come."

During the annual Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, this new complex will host all horse show competitions, some livestock shows, junior and open breeding shows, archery competitions, agricultural mechanics, commercial auctions and educational contests, including 4-H and intercollegiate programming. While many livestock events will move, some will continue to be held at Reliant Center. In the offseason, the facility will support year-round use for educational programming, committee meetings, fundraisers, auctions and galas. The project will also create a dedicated year-round space for agricultural, youth and Western heritage programming that supports exhibitors, volunteers and partnerships with agricultural education organizations. The flexible building design allows for seamless adaptability and a wide range of unique event experiences throughout the year.

Designed first and foremost with animal exhibitors in mind, it will significantly enhance the overall experience by reducing travel distances and wait times during move-in and move-out, expanding gathering areas for families and friends, and providing modern, climate-controlled facilities that support both livestock and equine events year-round.

"None of this would be possible without the extraordinary dedication of our volunteers, the generosity of our sponsors and donors, and the support of our community partners," said Pat Mann Phillips, former chairman of the board of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. "Together, we are building more than a facility – we are building a legacy that will serve our community and advance our mission for the next 100 years."

While this facility is designed to meet today's needs, it is built for the next generation. This project has been years in the making, as the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo and its more than 36,000 dedicated volunteers prepare for the Rodeo's centennial in 2032. It represents the first step in a bold, long-term vision for the future.

"This investment is another strong example of Houston standing as a premier destination for agriculture, education and world-class events," said Houston Mayor John Whitmire. "It expands educational opportunities for young people, strengthens our city's reputation, and does so without placing any burden on taxpayers. The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo continues to be a great partner to the Houston community."

"For nearly a century, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo has demonstrated what's possible when an organization invests in its community. This new agricultural complex along Highway 288 will enhance Houston's position as a leader in agriculture and education while creating year-round opportunities for the families and young people of Harris County," Harris County Commissioner Rodney Ellis said. "A facility of this scale will expand access to opportunities that change lives. It's a bold step forward, and one our community can be proud of."

Together, this investment reinforces the Rodeo's long-term commitment to serving Texas youth and preserving its role as a leader in agriculture, education and community impact. Construction will span several years, with the goal of welcoming guests in time for the 2029 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. More information will be shared this fall, including plans for a groundbreaking ceremony slated for late 2026.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

I hope that last week you continued on with the last qualifier, love, in our goal of never stumbling. 2 Pet. 5:1-9. Since I was assisting in building fence, you were on your own. How'd you do?

While measuring, nailing, loading wood and keeping track of the charged battery packs, I had some time to think. I come from a long, long line of hard working, beer drinking, hunters, gardeners and fishermen. I love the hard working part. Never wanted to drink beer, hunt, garden or fish. Which, I think I mentioned in one of these articles, caused me to ask my mom if I was adopted. Her reply of, "Sher, if we would have had our choice, we NEVER would have picked you", should have comforted me. My mom was really witty and quick. I knew she was kidding???

Maybe, you have wondered that, too. "I am so different, no one would pick me."

JESUS DID! Jesus chose death on the cross for you and I. He took all our sins on Himself, paid the price, so we would not have to go to hell! HE. PICKED. US.

I am ever so thankful. . . .

Have a safe and wonderful 4th of July!
