Aged Event Stars Carry Anita Ellis to Calgary Stampede Championship

By Tanya Randall

Blackfoot, Idaho's Anita Ellis and her two aged event stars, RV Two Dash Ta Vegas ("Axe") and SGL Rico, took barrel racing and rodeo fans on a thrilling ride on her way to a $71,000 Calgary Stampede Championships. Improved footing made for one of the fastest barrel racing contests in the history of the event, held July 4-13 in Alberta.

"Both of my horses did phenomenal," said Ellis, who returned to barrel racing just over five years ago after a 20-year hiatus from riding due to an auto accident-related back injury. "Getting them out in front of everybody like that, to show people what they're made of, just made me so happy."

Ellis is the first competitor to win the Stampede after coming through a qualifying event. Although the WPRAs Western Regional in Salina, Utah, was close to home, Ellis had to miss it for The American in Arlington, Texas. Her only chance was through the qualifier hosted by the Calgary Stampede in Calgary in early June. "I wanted to make it to Calgary really badly, so we took a gamble and went all the way up to Calgary," she explained. She opted to ride Rico because it was a two-run event with the top three in the aggregate moving on to the rodeo. "It's an inside arena, the Nutrien building where we ran the qualifier. Rico just performed awesome inside that building. He's the reason I got there."

Axe got his turn as the very first barrel horse through the gate for the Calgary Stampede.

"I was excited to run Axe, because that's just his arena, the openness of it," she said. "It's big and he loves the crowd and the loudness."

He clocked a 16.88, just .02 shy of Kassie Mowry and Famous Ladies Man's arena record of 16.86 from 2022.

"I think everyone was shocked after my run on Axe," she said. "It took the announcers a second to announce the time. The announcers were like, 'Oh, wait a second. That was a really fast run for this arena!' People who knew Axe—they weren't surprised, but the announcers were a little shocked."

Running on the bottom of the ground the next day, Ellis and Axe set the pace again with a 16.96.

Even though Axe was winning, Ellis knew she had a horse change coming.

"His struggle is the more he runs in one arena, the more he anticipates the turns," she explained. "He's phenomenal, but he really does think he knows everything, so he's harder to move over if he's coming in too close for me."

Running Rico on the third day had given her three morning practice sessions to prepare the young gelding for the "Greatest Show on Dirt."

"We had three days of working the pattern before I decided to run him, which was great," said Ellis. "I knew that Rico was going to do well in there because he just felt so good during the practice. He just was hunting the first barrel, which is usually his problem area, so I was excited to run him."

With the change many thought that Ellis was giving the rest of contestants in her pool a chance at winning first. For those that follow the aged event world and had seen Rico win the Royal Crown Futurity and more recently the Royal Crown Canada Derby had a

Grounding

Good footing made for a very fast and tight race at the Calgary Stampede. Several competitors complimented the Calgary Stampede for their extraordinary efforts to improve ground conditions. They also gave shout outs to their fellow competitor and spokeswoman Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi.

"I was so thankful she was in my (pool)," said Calgary Stampede Champion Anita Ellis. "She took care of us barrel racers. I've got to hand it to the committee. They really cared and took the time to listen to her. Everybody respects her and listens to her because they know she's been around for so long that she knows what she's talking about."

Tonozzi, a three-time World Champion and the 2023 Calgary Stampede Champion, chuckled.

"I know just enough to be dangerous," Tonozzi said.

Although she hoped that ground guru Randy Spraggins would be able to attend, he had a prior commitment to the pro rodeo in Killdeer, North Dakota. She did, however, encourage the committee to obtain a Black Widow drag, which they did.

"Having the right equipment is so imperative," she said. "Whether you like the Black Widow or not, they wouldn't have been able to do what they did without it."

Tonozzi spent every morning in Calgary with the ground crew.

"They were all fantastic," she said. "They were all concerned with making it good for the barrel horses and that was their No. 1 priority.

Without having that No. 1 priority, it never would have gotten done."

The ground stayed consistent throughout the rodeo, although mother nature made the times slower in a few of the rounds. Toward the end of the final pool, the ground started getting tight again. When Tonozzi got back from the NFR Open, she requested another rip.

"It might not be as fast," she said, "but it's going to be safe."

The arena record was broken three times during this year's Calgary Stampede, and it took a sub-17 to make the Showdown Round.

"I was maybe prouder of myself on the ground than I was of the barrel racing aspect of it," said Tonozzi, who finished third at the Stampede, "just because we worked so hard on it and it went really well."

Tonozzi noted that the ground overall is getting better. Even at the NFR Open, Randy Spraggins and the Black Widow drags had the ground at Colorado Springs the best she'd seen in a long, long time.

"The WPRA is working very hard to try to make the ground better," she said. "There are so many rodeos that we can't cover every single one, but we have been trying so hard. For the most part the ground has gotten exponentially better everywhere. You can see that by the times we're running."

RAISING YOUR FUTURE

Emily Biesel needing to make up money from a fallen barrel in the first round unleashed Namgis D 33 (“Chongo”). They took the arena record down by .02 to 16.84 but only held it for mere minutes as Ellis and Rico shattered it with a 16.79 on the very next run.

“One of the officials for the Calgary Stampede came over where I was sitting on Rico before the barrels were about to start,” recalled Ellis. “One guy said, ‘I just want to come over and thank you for giving everyone else a shot here to get the win by switching horses. I just kind of laughed. We were just joking around, but my husband’s like ‘Well, they’ll have to watch out when she wins it on her colt!’ When I came out of the arena after I ran Rico, that guy is shaking his head and laughing!”

“We had so much fun with those guys at the gate. Everyone was so nice and welcoming. It was a good time. We had a fantastic week in Canada.”

After running her pool for $21,000—this year all the money won at the Stampede counts toward the WPRA World Standings—Ellis headed back to stateside for the Sheridan WYO Rodeo, where she placed second on Axe to win $6,766.

Back in Calgary, Ellis faced the most nerve-wracking Finals—the round of nine contestants that determined the top three that would run again in the Showdown Round for the Championship. For that high-pressure situation, she chose Rico.

“It was nerve wracking,” she said. “It was such a big build up to the round of nine. I couldn’t have been happier with Rico. He even went wide at the first a little during the semifinals. He still ran a 16.98 and tied with Kassie Mowry (who had retaken the Stampede arena record with Force The Goodbye with a 16.76 earlier that week). That was fun. Me and Kassie were giving high fives—‘Here’s to The Goodbye Lane’ (the sire of both of their horses). It was fun.”

In the Showdown, which ran slowest to fastest, Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi and Cashin In On Fame, who were .01 ahead of Ellis and Mowry in the Finals, tipped a barrel. Ellis and Rico clocked a 16.96 and had to await Mowry and Jarvis’s final run. A stumble at the first was enough to hold the defending World Champions two-tenths back and yield the Calgary Stampede Championship to the Cinderella story from Idaho.

“It was a race,” Ellis said of the entire rodeo. “It was intense. I heard the times but when I actually looked at them I thought, ‘Oh my gosh! That couldn’t be any closer!’ That was just amazing to me. I loved that!”

About Axe

The 2020 EquiStat Leading Futurity Horse, Axe was bred and raised by Ellis’ stepfather and mother, Randy and Vauna Walker. He is by the late leading sire French Streaktovegas and out of Vauna’s multiple futurity winning mare Two Dash To Fame, by Dash Ta Fame.

When Ellis was making her return to barrel racing after her spinal fusion surgery, her mother hand picked Axe to be Ellis’ first futurity horse. At the time, Vauna thought she was picking out a calm prospect for her daughter, but Axe was intense and has remained so throughout his career.

The now 9-year-old gelding ran out $175,824 in futurity earnings during the COVID shutdown. He has since won $322,912 (QData) and is the second richest offspring of French Streaktovegas behind NFR qualifier DM High Roller.

About Rico

Bred by Gregg and Shana Gibson, Rico bears the initials of Shana Gibson and her son Logan. The 5-year-old gelding is by 14.5 million dollar sire The Goodbye Lane out of the Winners Version mare Version Blue.

Ellis purchased Rico as a yearling. Gibson had sent Ellis pictures of two colts, and much to her chagrin, Ellis picked Rico because he was Winners Version on the bottom.

Rico caught on to barrel racing very quickly, although it took Ellis a little time to adjust her timing to his monstrous size. They ran out $151,346 last year to sit amongst EquiStat’s 2024 Top 10 Futurity Horses in the country.

This year, Rico carried Anita all the way to the finals of The American and qualified her for the Calgary Stampede. His career earnings before his Stampede haul were $234,443 (QData).

Plugging Away

With $76,766 won last week, Ellis is anxiously awaiting the WPRA World Standings update. She went into the Calgary Stampede

Customized Health Care
www.horsehairanalysis.com

pede No. 32 in the standings with $34,651. Now she's unofficially No. 5 with about $112,000.

"I'm so excited," she said. "I've been waiting for the standings to update all day. I've been getting so many messages about it today, like everybody else has been overloading the WPRA page, trying to see if it's updated yet. I should be sitting pretty good after it does update."

Ellis will run Rico in the qualifying round of the Cheyenne Frontier Days in Wyoming on Wednesday. Axe will likely get the call at the Utah rodeos in Spanish Fork and Ogden this weekend.

"I love the Utah rodeos. They're so fun. They're only a few hours from my house and that's just fantastic," she said.

Like Mowry, Ellis has a relatively low rodeo count because she had a busy winter and spring at home outside of aged events and rodeos.

She has four children, three of which are grown and the youngest, Quincy, 9, was the photobomber at the Stampede during the first three rounds. Ellis' oldest daughter made her a grandmother this spring. Her youngest son, who will wrestle for Eastern Oregon this fall, graduated high school at the start of her summer run.

She also plans on making her favorite aged events later this summer too.

"I'll just keep plugging away," Ellis said. "I'm going to keep rolling but I am going to go to the Royal Crown with Rico and Jessie (her derby horse A Dash of Flingnfame). I'll run in Logan and Coalville (both Utah rodeos in the Wilderness Circuit) that week too, but I'll probably run Axe so we're not running Rico so many times that week."

Ellis has come a long way from the days before her spinal fusion surgery, where she wondered if she'd ever not hurt again, to living her dream.

"Those were some hard days," she said. "I was so frustrated. You don't feel like it's every going to end. That you're going to feel like that for the rest of your life. It just took a long time to start feeling better. It took a full year for me to feel good enough and not be nervous just to get on a horse because it hurt."

Through those dark days, and even now, Ellis continues to work on her mindset.

"Something that I've focused really hard on this year is to not let the disappointments get me so low because there's other stuff coming my way and things are going to be OK. If you let the lows get you so disappointed and you can't pick yourself back up—that's really hard. I've been there lots of times, but this is something I've worked on really hard this year. Like I tipped a barrel at Reno this year and it was really disappointing, but I did not let that get to me as badly as I would have in previous years. You let yourself feel that disappointment and then you move on to the next thing really quickly and be happy. I've felt so thankful that I can do this physically. It's just a huge blessing."

Calling The Qualified

The Calgary Stampede, held July 4-13 in Alberta, gave 30 contestants a chance at the $620,500 purse.

Those eligible to compete included the top 4 in the 2024 Canadian Pro Rodeo Standings, the top 15 in the 2024 WPRA World Standings, the top five in the 2025 WPRA World Standings as of April 1, the top two in the aggregate in the qualifier at the WPRA's Western Regional in Salina, Utah, and the top three in the aggregate at the Calgary Stampede-hosted qualifier plus the fastest run from one last chance shootout round.

This year the Stampede also altered its format to make the rodeo run faster. The 30 contestants were split into three 10 man pools with the top 3 on money won advancing to the Finals. The top three in the Finals advanced to the Showdown Round.

Also new this year was the WPRA's approval of counting all money won at the Calgary Stampede toward World Standings. Last year, only 70 percent of money won in pool competition counted toward the standings.

$40,320 Week For Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi, Wins NFR Open at Pikes Peak Or Bust

By Tanya Randall

Three-time World Champion Barrel Racer Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi picked up $40,320 the second week of July.

The Lampasas, Texas, based barrel racer won her third national circuit title with a $19,000 sweep victory at the $86,000 NFR Open at Pikes Peak Or Bust, held July 8-12 in Colorado Springs. She also picked up $21,000 for taking third at the Calgary Stampede in Canada.

Tonozzi had an extremely busy week, starting with the first pool of competition at Calgary Stampede on July 4, which cut her Fourth of July run incredibly short. (She still managed to pick up $12,425 at Greeley, Colorado, and Killdeer, North Dakota.) She and Cashin In The Fame (“Bobby”), the Australian-bred 11-year-old gelding that belongs to Tamara Walker and Molly Harper, were second in the first two rounds of Pool A to move on to the following week’s Championship Sunday with $11,000.

Back stateside, Tonozzi hit Sheridan and Casper, Wyoming, and Estes Park, Colorado, where she “didn’t have any luck,” before her set at the NFR Open in Colorado Springs. Tonozzi swept her two-run bracket at the NFR Open on Bobby, before sending the gelding back to Calgary with Rana Koopmans and Rylan Heller.

Meanwhile, Tonozzi added more circuit money by placing at the Cattlemen’s Days Rodeo in Gunnison, Colorado, on her homebred Babe On The Prowl, a 6-year-old full sister to her late, great mare Ima Famous Babe (Dash Ta Fame x Streakin Six Babe x Streakin Six).

Come Saturday, Tonozzi had a lot of irons in the fire. First, she had to tune on Sir, who was getting the call that night at Colorado Springs.

“I was pretty discouraged after Casper and Estes (Park),” she said. An aggressive mid-performance drag took away their chances of placing at Estes and then Sir slammed on the parking brake at Casper’s arena walls and caught the first barrel. “These are just seasoning things. It’s what happens when you introduce a young horse to the rodeo trail. I know that as well as anybody. He just hadn’t shown what he’s capable of out here, and I was getting a little bit discouraged.”

At her summer home in nearby Monument, Colorado, Tonozzi said she “pressed the reset button” on the JL Sirocco gelding raised by Karma Loftin out of the Epic Leader mare So Very Epic.

“I put a Schoenberg bit on him,” she explained. “It was a prototype that he had sent me with some pretty long shanks. I hadn’t really ridden in it other than to work horses. It doesn’t even have a name. It was just something he put together and said, ‘See if you like it.’ And it worked!”

They turned in the fastest time of the rodeo, a 16.98 to win the sudden-death finals and take home Tonozzi’s third national circuit finals championship. She won back-to-back titles in 2012 and 2013 on the great horse Yeah Hes Firen (“Duke”).

“I was praying for a Hail Mary, and he ran like he’s done it 100 times,” she said. “I knew that I couldn’t start from the alley. I knew I had to get him up into the arena and I knew I had to get him focused, listening to me. The plan came together.”

The other “little” problem Tonozzi worked on all day was finding a flight back to Calgary.

“We had a charter all lined up and Saturday morning, Megan (McLeod) Sprague calls and tells me our flight has been cancelled,” said Tonozzi. “How do you cancel a charter? We’ve already paid for this! We were freaking out a little bit because we didn’t have a way back to Calgary. So I called around and I couldn’t find a plane.” She took a chance and called fellow Pink Buckle stallion owner Keith Nellesen in Utah.

“I’m like, ‘I hate to ask you this, but is there anyway you have a plane?’ He threw me and Megan and six other people on his plane and flew us up to Calgary, so I can’t thank him enough. He saved the day.”

Back in Calgary, the Finals to determine the top three advancing to the high-dollar Showdown Round was immensely tight. Anita Ellis and SGL Rico and Kassie Mowry and Force the Goodbye had tied with runs of 16.98 and Tonozzi and Bobby had them beat by .01 with a 16.97.

The finish gave them top of the ground for the Showdown Round, but they caught the first barrel.

“It was just the weirdest thing yesterday,” she said. “I was in the right spot. Everything was fine and then, ‘Boom!’ I hit that barrel. I was like, ‘What just happened?’ It wasn’t like he was fading (into the turn) or out of position. I don’t know! It was just the strangest thing. I couldn’t believe that happened!”

Bred by Calla Matthews, Bobby is by Seconds Ta Fame out of the Australian barrel mare Savas Miss Kayotoe, by Sava Dee. He was trained by Montana O’Donoghue-Kent, who imported him to the United States. Tonozzi borrowed the gelding for Rodeo Houston since he had placed there previously with Lakken Bice. He turned out to be the perfect counter punch to Sir. The pair of horses have Tonozzi second in the World Standings with nearly $150,000.

“This is a total surprise,” she said. “When we pulled out of Calgary, Rylan goes, ‘Welp, who knows what will happen next year. We never thought that we’d have these horses this year. It’s just funny how things have a way of working themselves out, just like with the plane. Everything happens for a reason.”

Who gets to play?

The NFR Open at Pikes Peak Or Bust in Colorado Springs serves as the national circuit finals rodeo—formerly known as both the Dodge, and later RAM, National Circuit Finals Rodeo.

Each of the 13 regional pro rodeo circuits send their year-end champion as well as the winner of their circuit finals rodeo. Those 26 contestants are joined by the Mexican Federation of Rodeo event champions.

The 27-entry field is split into three, nine-contestant brackets, consisting of two back-to-back rounds. The top three in the aggregate advance to a clean-slate Finals to compete for the NFR Open Championship.

Makenna Shook & XV Mario Cash In At Casper

By Tanya Randall

The WPRR Resistol Rookie Race is heating up. Needville, Texas, barrel racer Makenna Shook and her precocious star XV Mario are rapidly rising in the standings. Earlier this summer they got their first pro rodeo win at Santa Ynez. Now they've won the $24,000-added Casper Wyoming Fair & Rodeo for $12,354.

They also placed at the Sheridan WYO Rodeo for an additional $1,480.

"I told myself if we placed at Sheridan and Casper that I was going to take the rest of the week off," laughed Shook. "I feel like I've been going 90 miles an hour!"

Shook and Mario won the first round with a 17-flat from the afternoon slack in Casper on Tuesday.

"I didn't even know what I had ran," she said. "You couldn't hear because you run back down the track, and it was super windy in Casper. I called someone and said, 'I have no idea what I was, but my horse made a really good run.' Then, someone called and said, 'Good work!' and I was like, 'What?' They were like, 'You were a 17.0 and you're winning it.'"

After their run, Shook made the two-hour trek north to Sheridan for their 6:30 p.m. slack.

"I was a mean mom and made him run at both," she said. "I probably shouldn't have run him twice in the same day, but he's been so resilient out here."

They had their second run at Casper in the short go on Saturday night. They clocked a 17.12 to take second in the round and win the aggregate.

"He made another good run," she said. "I had a two-tenth lead going in. He actually ran a little bit harder, but the ground was a little bit deeper, so it wasn't as fast."

Shook is fourth in the WPRR Rookie standings but is tightening the gap on those ahead of her. Ironically, she never imagined she would be chasing the title on an inexperienced futurity horse.

Last summer, Shook purchased Rockin The Guns from Jennifer Kalafatic. She had planned on chasing the rookie title with the proven gelding when he injured a suspensory in February and would be out of commission until October.

"I have other very nice horses, but not necessarily of that caliber," she said. Amanda Lyne, London Gorham's mother, said her sister Samantha Mauney had a nice gelding. "She said Samantha has a horse and if I can convince her to sell him, do you want him? He was a futurity horse and had never been run anywhere. I had nothing to do, so I said, 'Yeah!'"

Mario, 5, is by leading junior sire RR Mistakelly and out of XV Watch Me Rock, a futurity finalist daughter of Famous Bugs out of Samantha's National Finals Rodeo qualifier LK Watch Me Rock ("Pistoletta"), by Firewaterontherocks.

"I had him two weeks and took him to a barrel race and he won the barrel race. There were probably 100 entries, but anywhere in Texas that's really good. We went to the Diamond Classic, and he placed ninth in the average and that was his first ever futurity and only his fourth time to be entered.

"He's just super naturally talented, does the same thing every time. He hasn't gone in there one time and done something where I'm like, 'What just happened?' ever."

Shook purchased two other horses and brought him along to season.

"I was just planning on running him where the ground and conditions were good," she said. "I took him to Union (Oregon), and he didn't make a very good run. It was his first perf and he was a little bit scared. He ended up one or two (spots) out of placing. It was the same thing at Sisters (Oregon). After that I thought I really have to give him a chance, and I haven't really run much else out here.

"If I had to guess, Casper was his 12th rodeo ever," she said. "He had not been to a rodeo until we came out west. Samantha's

THANKS: Parents Scott and Vicki Shook for taking care of things at home, and her boyfriend Quade Hiatt's mom, Tygh, who is taking care of Rockin The Guns. "When he gets back to running, it will be all thanks to her," she said. And Samantha Mauney, "for selling me a unicorn."

mare (Pistoletta) was the same way. She was 5 when she rodeoed on her. He likes the crowd and is super pleasing. He's been awesome."

Mauney had told her that Mario was his grandmother's clone.

"They're so much alike," added Shook. "He looks like her. He runs like her. His demeanor is the same. You know those horses that are built and bred to be out here and rodeo? That's him."

Mario even placed at the Ponoka Stampede in Canada after placing in the top four at the Ruby Buckle West Futurity. The gelding won $8,962 over the Fourth of July and has lifetime earnings more than $57,000 from just five months of competition—three futurities and mostly pro rodeos.

"He's just so simple," she said. "He's so effortless. It never feels like he's hauling butt, but he is so fast!"

Shook, who grew up in a rodeo family, has slack in Cheyenne,

Wyoming, on Wednesday but plans on turning out of two rodeos so she can meet up with her veterinarian Marty Tanner before the lucrative one-run rodeos in Spanish Fork and Ogden, Utah.

"I just want him to go over him and put his hands on him and make sure things are OK before the rest of the summer," she said.

"I wasn't planning on staying out here all summer, but I'm going to now. I didn't know how it was going to go. I had planned on staying out through the Ruby Buckle (in Salina) and making a plan from there. I'm going to try for Rookie of the Year. We're just going to play it by ear, but I plan on staying out here, God willing."

Finding the Unicorn

Makenna Shook's rookie sensation XV Mario was bred and raised by National Finals Rodeo qualifier Samantha (Lyne) Mauney. The 5-year-old gelding is by rising sire RR Mistakelly, who has offspring earnings of more than $750,000 from his first two crops to run, out of XV Watch Me Rock ("Desi"), by Famous Bugs out of Mauney's NFR qualifier LK Watch Me Rock ("Pistoletta"), by Firewaterontherocks.

Brandon Cullins had futuritied XV Watch Me Rock, who shares the same breeder as Pistoletta, LeAnn Kay Rafferty.

"Brandon futuritied her and Mistakelly at the same time," said Mauney. "They won first and second at Kinder together. There's a picture of him holding Mister and (his wife) Emily holding her. I told Robin (Weaver, Mister's owner) that we were going to breed them."

Mario and his sister XV Alta were born alongside Adios Pantalones at Leslie Bailey's in Oklahoma.

"I just didn't want to have them in North Carolina," said Mauney "So she raised them for me."

Both Mario and his sister were sent off to be broke and later had additional riding under the direction of Roger Daly before going to the Cullins. Since Mauney didn't want to have two running in the same year, she decided they'd focus on running Alta first and Mario could develop slower and run as a 5-year-old.

Unfortunately, Alta was hurt right as her career started, and Mauney ultimately brought Mario home to ride herself with no definite plans for the gelding. She spent every day riding the gelding while her son Jagger rode his pony.

"He would see Jagger and I coming and turn his neck and trot around, like 'Oh, come ride me!' He wanted attention. He has the cutest personality. We just have a small bucking arena, and we would ride him there and we'd go to the college arena. We rode with Kyle (Leleux), but I never took him to a barrel race."

Mauney knew she had a talented horse but competing herself wasn't in the cards as she spent most of her weekends at bull ridings with her husband and son. Although she didn't have to sell Mario, it was the only way she would know if he was the horse she thought he was.

"I had so much fun riding him," she said. "I didn't realize how much joy they can bring you just riding them when you like them so much. He wanted to be a good horse. That's what Jagger and I looked forward to everyday was riding. I mostly just rode him. I'd cruise him through the barrels, but if I felt like he needed to be tuned I'd let Kyle. He's so pretty and so sweet."

When she agreed to let Shook try the gelding, Mauney had her niece London Gorham show him for her because she was sad at just the thought of doing it herself.

"She was like, 'MiMi, if she doesn't want him, I do! I love him,'" laughed Mauney. She recalled Gorham telling Shook, "'I'm not pressuring you to buy him at all because I you don't, I'll get him, and I love him,' Then she cruised him through, and said, 'Oh my God, No! Don't buy him!'"

Selling him, she said, was the right decision.

"I feel like it was the right decision because with me he just would have wasted," she said.

It wasn't long after Shook purchased Mario that she called Mauney to tell her that he had won his very first barrel race. Now, they're taking on the rodeo world with ease. Mauney's husband J.B. likes to take credit for that, saying it was living around the bucking bulls that had him seasoned to the rodeo environment.

"He's like 'You're welcome for seasoning him,' she chuckled. "They'd run bulls by them when they were feeding. They're always blaring music when they're bucking them. There's always a lot of stuff going on. Makenna said he likes being by the bulls (at the rodeos). It's like his Zen place."

Mauney is happy to see Mario keeping Pistoletta's legacy alive.

"He is like Pistoletta made over," said Mauney. "He was just like her. He never puts you in a bad mood. He just wanted to be good. He's the only horse I've ridden since her that made me as happy as her and I didn't even have to go to a barrel race or rodeo!"

Nichols, Blissful Version Sweep Glacier Chaser for $12K

By Julie Mankin

Veteran Wyoming barrel racer Lora (Jones) Nichols took her futurity horse Blissful Version (“Buddy”) up to the Glacier Chaser Classic on July 10-13 in Joliet, Montana, to sweep every round of both the Futurity and big Open races (with more than 350 horses) for a cool haul of $11,831.

“It’s kind of surreal,” said Nichols. “People have been putting him in a class with some great horses, and it gives me goose bumps. I’m just taken aback by it. He’s placed at every single futurity since December and that’s a pretty special feat. I’ve quit treating him like a colt now. I’m asking him and going for it, and he’s obviously just a machine.”

Similar to the Colorado Classic Futurity last month, they won the average on two runs over Kathy Grimes and KG Just Money. Nichols actually won the first round by a whopping three-tenths of a second with a 14.384.

“He stumbled at the second barrel and was still three-hundredths off the arena record,” said Nichols. “The owner of the arena came up to me afterward and said his phone was blowing up with people wondering about the record. He told me Maggie Poloncic holds the record, and he said, ‘She rimmed every barrel in her run, and you were miles from the barrels!’ There have only been about five 14.3s ever run in that arena, and never by a futurity horse.”

Nichols’ 5-year-old superstar then edged Grimes in Round Two with a 14.508, despite another slip, to earn $7,296 total in the Futurity. Nichols’ two runs also won first, each, in Friday’s Open and Saturday’s High Stakes 1D for another $3,845. Nichols, who just turned 50, and Grimes easily dominated the Senior sidepots, as well. “To do this against NFR qualifiers like Kathy and Amberleigh Moore is cool,” said Nichols. “There are darn sure some young girls like Jordan Bailey who are amazing hands, but older girls being in the winner’s circle just shows you what years of experience can do. Plus, people can realize that nobody’s too old for this.”

In fact, Nichols remembers telling her kids that “somebody’s always watching.” And she said the comments she’s gotten from people her age or older are amazing.

“They tell me how much they regret quitting barrel racing, or how I’ve inspired them so much to keep going,” she said. “Because how many times have we wanted to throw our suckers in the dirt? We’ve got to keep pushing on.”

The Glacier Chaser marks the third barrel futurity Nichols has won on Buddy this season – in fact the pair have won top-10 money at all eight futurities they’ve entered, including the Colorado Classic (for a $39,608 total payday), the Glen Wood Memorial in Utah, the Greg Olson, Royal Crown, and MVP Futurities in Arizona, and the Sand Cup and Valley Girls Barrel Daze futurities in the Northwest.

“I’ve just been tuning barrel horses for my girls for the last gazillion years, and in colt mode,” said Nichols from the grandstand in Rock Springs where she was about to watch her youngest daughter make her first run at the NHSFR. “It’s crazy to go this fast.”

In the 1990s, Nichols had a phenomenal mare and won everything as a teenager before raising two daughters and a son with her husband, Nick (they already have one grandbaby and another on the way). The family has an oilfield business and farm and ranchland in western Wyoming, and have wintered for years outside Wickenburg, Arizona. Nick spent years there producing team roping jackpots and lately has turned to announcing roping futurities. He loves to make it clear on social media – and during Lora’s phone interviews – that Buddy is actually his horse.

The brown bomber is by racing sire Winner’s Version (speed index 103), and out of the Utah-based Richard family’s mare Blissful Bay. She was by their late, great stud Brookstone Bay (speed index 101) and out of a daughter of Heza Fast Man (speed index 111). Chad Richard had told Lora she needed to try a Winner’s Version, so she and Nick bought Buddy as a 2-year-old. She had him sold

THE RUNDOWN w/Lora Nichols

Blissful Version

BIT: Ported Dave Elliott reverse gag with a cricket

SADDLE: Martin Stingray

SADDLE PAD: Weaver Equine Synergy

LEG GEAR: Whatever my girls haven’t gotten away with

SHOEING: Steel rims on front, plates on rear

FEED: Unbeatable with Purina Ultium

HAY: homegrown grass/alfalfa mix

SUPPLEMENTS: Forco, Thunder Mountain Equine

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: PEMF, BEMER

TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: I do some long-trotting outside and some squares (using cones), but I never really set the barrels up. I think horses are patterned in five to 10 times, anyway. I stick to straight lines and ride colts up into the fence.

SPONSORS: Definitely my family – they’re with me 100 percent. It’s amazing. And God, for everything. It’s a blessing in itself to be able to do this and have a horse like this.

late last summer, but backed out when he showed promise last fall. Nicholsons are next-door neighbors in Arizona with Shali Lord’s parents, through which NFR header Rhen Richard began camping at Nichols’ place when he needed to be near Wickenburg. Since then, the Richard family bought 20 acres from Nick and Lora and built a rope-horse training facility.

Lora uses a training philosophy she likes to call “the shopping cart turn.” She likens riding a barrel horse to pushing a shopping cart – if you slow down and start to turn out of an aisle too soon, you’ll knock the can of peas off the shelf. You’ve got to go clear to the end of the aisle before starting that turn, she said.

“I’m more about arcs and straight lines than circles or pockets,” Nichols said. “And more about speed transitions. I don’t ever want my colts sliding to a stop. I want them melting down and driving up underneath themselves and being round in the back. More dressage-type stuff.”

As a result of her training and his athleticism, Buddy could be the free-runningest 5-year-old in the country.

“He runs really free and just forgiving, and he can make some moves that are just unbelievable,” said Nichols. “Never has hitting a barrel even crossed my mind, and he never quits running.”

Nichols said she’s picked up pointers from cowhorse gurus like Al Dunning who also lives around Phoenix, plus she gained a lot last winter riding with veteran trainer Sue Smith, who focuses on bringing a horse “back to center” and shortening strides rather than slowing down.

“Also, between the Sand Cup and Valley Girls last spring, Dave Elliott came down and gave an amazing bit clinic,” Nichols said. “I bet there were only six or eight of us there, and three of us placed at the top of that futurity.”

On Buddy, she uses an Elliott with a port to help elevate his front end, and it has a small metal bar as a curb with the gag at the front of the bit so the action is a bit slower.

Lora has two super colts for next year – one by The Kandyman out of a Smoke N Sparks mare and one by Dash Ta Fame out of a Fire Water Flit mare. Plus, she has a 3-year-old by Epic Leader out of the former Jordon Briggs winner Shake It Frenchie and one getting broke right now by Ain’t Seen Nothin Yet out of a mare she raised by The Goodbye Lane out of the great winner Barb’s Illusion.

In the meantime, she’ll take Buddy soon to the Red Rocket in South Jordan, Utah, and the Royal Crown in Rock Springs next month.

“I told Nick I just want to ride the wave and I hope it’s a tsunami building,” said Lora, who looks forward to some big money over Buddy’s next three derby years, as well.

“The kids supporting me is one of the coolest things in the world,” she added. “We’ve poured our whole lives into those kids and it’s come full circle now. They’re my biggest cheerleaders. They want it for me as bad as I wanted it for them. It brings me to tears.”

If you are fond of a horse and wish to do him a real favor - train him well. Teach him good manners, good habits, both in the stable and under the saddle. You need never worry about the future of such horse if for any reason, you may have to part with him. You assure him of friends wherever he goes. Perhaps the greatest kindness you can do any horse is to educate him well.

ProRodeo Hall of Fame Class of 2025 inducted Saturday

The latest batch of cowboys and cowgirls who left their mark on PRORODEO was inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame Saturday.

The induction ceremony featured a trio of PRCA World Champions – tie-down roper Stran Smith (2008), team roping header Steve Purcella (1996) and bareback rider Jeff Collins (2000) – that headline a star-studded 2025 ProRodeo Hall of Fame class of 11 members.

"I'm thrilled to welcome another star-studded class of individuals into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame," PRCA CEO Tom Gause said. "This class includes a trio of world champions and other stars in the world of rodeo who will forever be immortalized in the storied ProRodeo Hall of Fame."

The three are joined by multiple NFR qualifiers and fellow contestants, including notable saddle bronc rider Tom Miller, who is a three-time NFR average champion (1975, 1979, 1981) and six-time qualifier for the NFR (1975-77, and 1979-81) and took a unique approach to success in PRORODEO.

Tom Miller was a constant championship contender in the arena and in 1979 he lost a world championship by a mere $5.28 to Bobby Berger. That was the second closest world championship race in PRCA history behind only Scott Snedecor's 2005 Steer Roping World Championship by $1.67 over Guy Allen.

Miller came into the 1979 NFR trailing season leader Monte Henson and second place Berger by $13,000 and $12,000, respectively. He clicked at the NFR, placing in seven of the 10 rounds and won the average by 19 points to claim $15,000 to make the world championship race a heartstopper.

Miller, who also finished second in the 1975 world standings, was a PRCA judge for more than 20 years and served on the PRCA Rules Committee for four years and the PRCA Humane Committee for two years.

"I said, 'You've got to be kidding me,'" Miller said of learning about his induction. "I was happy about it but I was so surprised that they would ever pick me. It's something that maybe you thought in the back of your mind where you'd like to be. But you never thought you would actually be there."

Stran Smith is a 10-time NFR qualifier (1995, 1997-2001, 2004-2005, 2007-2008, and 2010) and 2008 NFR average winner.

His road to the ProRodeo Hall of Fame has had many obstacles. He made a comeback from a stroke in 2003, missed the gold buckle by $1,778 in 2004 to Monty Lewis and his prized horse Topper was killed by a hit-and-run driver in 2007.

He seized the moment in Round 10 in 2008, finishing second in the round with a 7.2-second run on his aptly named mare, Destiny – his best run of the rodeo by six tenths of a second. That run allowed him to clinch the average and the coveted world championship.

"The Hall of Fame is somewhere legends go," Smith said. "For me, it wasn't even a goal because I didn't think it was a possibility. To have that honor, I truly do believe it was more about the people that were around me ... I didn't rodeo to be put in the Hall of Fame. I did it because I loved it."

Steve Purcella qualified for the National Finals Rodeo 12 times – 1995-2005, and 2009 – and was invited twice in 1992 and 1994 – and he also won the NFR average in 1996.

Purcella partnered with Steve Northcott in 1996 and Northcott won the PRCA Team Roping Heeler World Championship that year. The two also teamed up in 1998 to capture the title at the Dodge National Circuit Finals Rodeo.

"We won a lot. We were right there in the hunt for three years," Purcella said of Northcott. "That was undoubtedly the most success (I've had). That has to be the highlight (of my career) ... Roping shaped my whole life."

Jeff Collins is a six-time NFR qualifier (1994-95, 1997, 1999, 2000 and 2002), and he won the 2000 NFR average title with a then-record of 816 points on 10 head.

His accomplishments also include winning the Dodge National Circuit Finals Rodeo (1993), Reno (Nev.) Rodeo (1999, 2000) and California Rodeo Salinas (1998, 2000).

"You can be blessed more than you deserve," Collins said of the significance of joining the hall. "Rodeo has blessed me way more than I deserve."

"I'm a rodeo coach now in college and my rodeo coach, John Luthi at Fort Scott, he's my hero to this day. I can't believe the good Lord lets me be a rodeo coach ... I've gotten way more out of rodeo than I've put into it."

Joining the 2025 Hall of Fame class is innovative rodeo producer Mack Altizer, who was the owner of Bad Company Rodeo stock contracting firm.

Altizer was a pioneer in the rodeo world who revitalized bull riding almost single-handedly. He introduced high-energy and modern marketing techniques into rodeo events beginning in the early 1980s.

Today, no rodeo is without rock-and-roll music excitement, lighting and announcing during the bull riding go-rounds.

To Altizer, rodeo was all about the fan experience, and he saw traditional rodeos back then as in need of more "show business." Altizer was known for pushing for higher payouts for performing cowboy contestants.

Altizer joins his father, the late Jim Bob Altizer in the PRORODEO Hall of Fame. Jim Bob, a PRCA Tie-Down Roping (1959) and Steer Roping World Champion (1967), was inducted in the inaugural ProRodeo Hall of Fame class in 1979.

"From the very start, we saw that it was a hit and it always pushed us to get bigger and better," Altizer said. "Then when the rodeo was over, we were always looking at the following year . . . It's a formula that works and keeps your career interesting and exciting. The music was always an asset."

Joining Altizer is the late Harley Tucker, a past northwest rodeo producer and stock contractor from Joseph, Ore., who helped found Chief Joseph Days in 1946.

At the time of his death in 1960 at the age of 52 of a heart attack, he was one of the nation's largest stock contractors, providing stock and producing over 25 rodeos in the Northwest each year.

Tucker also was posthumously inducted into the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City in 1997, the St. Paul (Ore.) Rodeo Hall of Fame in 1999, and the Pendleton Round-Up Hall of Fame in 1980.

"We feel that today, dad has reached the golden gate of cowboy history," said Darlene Turner, Tucker's daughter. "Dad lived rodeo to the fullest . . . Harley ate, drank and slept with rodeo on his mind. Some people called him a legend and we just call him dad."

Other inductees include Skipper Voss, the 1982 Wrangler World Champion Bull-fighter who also worked the NFR in 1974 and 1978.

Voss' techniques and style in the arena have carried over into the bullfighters of today.

"I'm truly honored and grateful for this recognition," Voss said.

Standout steer wrestling horse Willy, ridden by Curtis Cassidy, guided Rope Myers (2001), Lee Graves (2005), Jason Miller (2007) and Luke Branquinho (2008) to world championships and was the 2008 PRCA | AQHA Horse of the Year.

"The average person can't appreciate how much we care about these animals," Greg Cassidy said. "I was telling Tom (Glause) this morning you know a horse is famous when . . . and we've won quite a bit over our careers . . . somebody would introduce us and they would say, 'Oh, you're the people who own Willy.' He was more famous than us."

Rounding out the inductees are the rodeo committee from Livermore, Calif., barrel racer Joyce (Burk) Loomis Kernek (1970 WPRA World Champion) and WPRA notable Pam Minick, the 1982 WPRA Breakaway Roping World Champion and rodeo and Western-lifestyle television personality.

"This is a culmination of the past 107 years of hard work," Livermore Rodeo treasurer Mark Cardoza said.

"It's not only us that it means the world to, but the community as well," Dave Finster, President of the Livermore Stockmen's Rodeo Association, said. "We're such a tight-knit community. As soon as we found out, I informed the mayor (John Marchand). And he said, 'This is going to be perfect. I have the city address and this is what I'm going to open with.'"

Kernek made headlines throughout the 1970 season, beginning the season ranked No. 1 and 12 months and countless miles and runs later, ending in that same spot. She did so aboard a horse named War Leo Dude.

Prior to 1970, Kernek had already made a name for herself, winning GRA/WPRA world titles in 1968 and 1969 in the flag race and ribbon roping. Dude showed his versatility as well, serving as her then husband Barry's (Burk) steer wrestling horse. Dude helped Kernek claim the All-Around champion title at the Duncan Girls Rodeo. She served on the WPRA Board of Directors from 1969-1972.

"I couldn't imagine being part of a group like this and being recognized with them," Kernek said. "A lot of my mentors and people who helped me are here (the ProRodeo Hall of Fame). I give them a lot of credit for helping me get here. It's an accumulation of a lifetime of always seeking to learn more."

Minick was a 16-time qualifier for the WPRA World Finals where she also competed in team roping. She was also the first woman to be granted a PRCA Announcer card.

She is a natural with a microphone and has hosted more than 1,000 television shows on ESPN, TNN, NBC, CBS, The Outdoor Network, RFD-TV and The Cowboy Channel.

"Nineteen-year-old Pam (Minick) from Las Vegas, Nev., never dreamed she'd be standing here in the ProRodeo Hall of Fame," Minick said. "People ask me all the time, 'What's your favorite memory?' How do you pick one when you have a lifetime of competing in rodeos, going to rodeos, seeing great champions be crowned . . . that's what rodeo has given me."

The 2025 Ken Stemler Pioneer Award, which recognizes those who have provided groundbreaking, innovative ideas and forward thinking that help the development, advancement, and success of the PRCA and or the Hall of Fame and their missions is being awarded to Red Steagall, who has had a 45-plus year entertainment career that has spanned the globe from Cow Camps to the White House. He was also the 2023 Legend of PRORODEO.

"Rodeo was such an important part of my life for so many years," Steagall said. "It was our whole world. We were part of the family. And that was my goal. I wanted to be a part of rodeo."

Johnson Having Fun Cashing Checks Over Fourth of July

By Ann Bleiker for the WPRA

When you have been roping as long as WPRA breakaway roper Erin Johnson has sometimes it pays to "just have fun" and not add pressure to hit certain markers that can be easy to consume yourself with in the sport of professional rodeo.

That was the key to success for the three-time WPRA world champion breakaway roper during the Fourth of July run in 2025 and it landed her atop the earnings leaderboard for what is known in the rodeo world as Cowboy Christmas.

"Less pressure," stated Johnson of Fowler, Colorado, when asked what made this year different than past years. "I am having fun. I took a break last year as I felt I needed it and since coming back it has just been a lot more fun. I rode a young horse for the most part of this year but got back on Chico at the Calgary Stampede qualifier and it reminded me how easy it is to ride one that does all the right things."

While she didn't pick up a check at all the rodeos she competed in, she did enough to outdistance herself from fellow roper Suzanne Williams of California that was right on her heels. Johnson finished with a total of $16,541, while Williams finished with $16,120. Prior to the Fourth of July, Johnson was ranked 28th and moved to 19th in the world standings as of July 8, while Williams went from 14th to 6th.

"I used Chico at all the Fourth of July rodeos," noted Johnson. "I didn't even haul another horse. He is feeling great, and I think the break was good for him as well. I feel like we are both fresh right now and a little luck played into the week. I always feel a little luck is needed in this sport."

"I tried to focus on doing my job versus winning and that seemed to work for me this week."

Johnson's biggest check ($6,200) came with the average win in Prescott, Arizona but she also added good checks at Mandan, North Dakota for a second-place finish ($6,065), Greeley, Colorado, and Oakley, Utah.

"Oakley, I felt like that was my very best run of the week and I won seventh/eighth with a 2.2," noted Johnson. "I love that rodeo but never had a lot of luck there, so I was excited to make a good run there."

"You never know when just making your run is going to win something."

Johnson is now in position to make another run at the National Finals Breakaway Roping at season's end and with a good Fourth of July, it makes it easier to leave home for the next section of rodeos in her circuit.

"It was refreshing to have some good luck as the last few years felt like more of a struggle," stated Johnson, a mother of three. "Refreshing to be able to remember what it is like to win some checks and easier to leave home with a little momentum for the next few weeks."

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

This week, let's all respond to those worried thoughts with the Word of God. "And the peace of God which surpasses all understanding, will guard your thoughts and minds through Christ Jesus." Phil. 4:7. God bless you!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies. Check out our schedule online. You can also download all Bible studies by visiting our website: m-m-m.org or contact us at: PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY 82717, 307/685-2272.

Would it be accurate to say that most of us worry? Or maybe we just call it 'deeply concerned'. Ya. It's a real challenge for us. After all, if you really care, you worry. Sigh.

Take a minute and read Phil. 4:6-7. But, WHY is it so hard to do what that scripture says? Pride and fear. It's thinking WE can fix something that is way too big for us and being too fearful to give it to someone who CAN fix it! Jesus.

Pride would say, "Well, if you want something done right, you have to do it yourself." Except Jesus doesn't worry. He speaks the Word. When He was taken into the desert, He responded to each of the devil's challenges by saying, "It is written. . . .", and then He quoted the Word. Matthew 4:3-10.
