Opportunity Knocks for Winters & Crickets Peppy Zan at Calgary

By Tanya Randall

Who is Jean Winters? The question was bantered about a lot after the 45-year-old barrel racer from tiny Texline, Texas, and her cow-bred gelding Crickets Peppy Zan slew giants on Championship Sunday to take home $105,000 from the famed Calgary Stampede, held July 5-14.

With the way her luck had been going, Winters almost didn't make the trip north of the border. She described her season as hit-and-miss and had only won $6,246 prior to Calgary.

"Had I not already told them back in February that I would go to Calgary I probably wouldn't have, with the way we were running," said Winters, who earned an invitation to the storied rodeo when Kaley Bass double qualified and she was able to move up in the WPRC Qualifying Tour Standings. "These last two months I was pretty discouraged about it. But my husband had said, 'We set the money aside for it and knew it was coming. We're going to go. If you don't win anything, we're not going to be any worse off than we are now.'"

With her husband and youngest son Brazos, 14, in tow—her eldest Pecos, 17, stayed home—Winters headed north and hit Greeley, Colo., Red Lodge, Mont., and Cody, Wyo., along the way. Those rodeos did nothing to help her fraying confidence.

After she was able to school her horse Crickets Peppy Zan in the arena at Calgary, Winters felt a little more confident. They finished just out of the money with their fastest run of their first four runs, an 18.12. With rain eliminating any chances to further school Zan, Winters continued to struggle.

"I was just getting farther off and farther off," said the 2009 Reserve Rookie of the Year, "and I was really getting discouraged because my times were getting longer and longer instead of getting better. I knew he was running because he was getting by his first barrel and we still weren't that far out of the money. I told my husband that I just wanted to go home and he said, 'No, we still have the Wildcard. We're going to stay.'"

Staying turned out to be just the medicine Winters needed to change her fortune. Not only did she get to spend the extra days schooling Zan, her son got to spend the rodeo with his idols.

"He'll actually start high school rodeo in the fall, riding bareback," she explained. "He got to hang out with Bobby Mote, Will Lowe, Justin McDaniel—all those 20 bareback riders—and go down in the locker room with them. He needed a new bareback rigging and he was able to buy one from Clint Laye, who had an extra one.

"Through the second set, I told my husband if I don't win any money I know I came up here for a good reason and that was to get Brazos some really good help and information. Guy said, 'Hey Brazos, did you ever think you would have Bobby Mote's number in your phone?' He said, 'No sir, I didn't.' Bobby has always been one of his heroes."

Meanwhile, Winters was schooling her "hard-headed" gelding. Bred by Linda Karr, Claude, Texas, Zan is by Zan Parr Cricket and out of Georges Bay Miss, by Ceaser Reed.

"I worked him pretty hard," she said. "I came back in the Wildcard and ended up second. I had to sweat through quite a few girls, so it was pretty nerve-wracking in that one."

Nancy Ann Smith Laid To Rest

On July 11, 2013 the barrel racing world lost one of its great blue hen broodmares. Nancy Ann Smith, left us from natural causes from the Jud Little Ranch where she has lived for the last 13 years.

Best known for her amazing son, Dial A Red Rooster who went on to win over $280,000 not counting his WPRA rodeo earnings. With Nancy Powell on board, Dial A Red Rooster was a multiple Prairie Circuit Qualifier & Average Winner. He then went on to many barrel racing championships under Tanya Steinhoff.

After the mare was acquired by Jud Little, she was crossed with Cash Not Credit that resulted in a magic cross so to speak. Out of that crossing, Nancy Ann Smith produced Dialaroosterforcash, that Kelsey Deal-Boozer bought out of the Jud Little Ranch Production Sale and has since piloted to over $120,000 in earnings. Kelsey, managed to get her hands on most of the mares offspring championing Vegas Or Bust, Hezanuther Rooster, Roosters Cashin In, and most recently Less Cash More Dash to over $75,000 in earnings.

Nancy Ann Smith, who was 28 at the time of her passing, has been producing a few horses over the last few years via Embryo Transfer. Jud Little has three mares out of the great broodmare, one by Cash Not Credit and the other two by FDD Dynasty that will carry on the champion lineage. Look for the latter in the next few years at the futurities.

Nancy Ann Smith, through her offspring, has touched the lives of many; even causing people to come running to the fence to watch them run. She will join the likes of other great producers and winners like Dynas Plain Special, Brownie Jones, Doc O Mister Hawk, Flyin Hi Babe, & Star Eyed Money in the Jud Little Ranch Champions Cemetery.

ProRodeoLive & Rural Radio Kick Off Coverage

ProRodeoLive and RURAL RADIO will kick-off their broadcast coverage with the California Rodeo in Salinas on Sunday, July 21st

ProRodeoLive and RURAL RADIO have partnered for the first time to provide unprecedented broadcast coverage of major national rodeos, including the Cheyenne Frontier Days, the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo, the San Antonio Stock Show and the Ram National Circuit Finals. Since 2008, ProRodeoLive has exclusively owned the radio and Internet rights to produce the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo and World Series of Professional Rodeo. These events will now be available to a greatly expanded audience via the partnership with RURAL RADIO, the recently launched Agribusiness and Western Lifestyle channel 80 on SiriusXM satellite radio.

ProRodeoLive and RURAL RADIO will kick-off their broadcast coverage with the California Rodeo in Salinas on Sunday, July 21st at 4:00 p.m. (Eastern). This coverage will feature the talents of ProRodeoLive owner and veteran PRCA Rodeo Announcer, Steve Kenyon. Kenyon, a native of Pendleton, OR, is also a six-time Wrangler NFR team roping qualifier and former reserve World Champion Wade Wheatley from Hughson, CA. RURAL RADIO will provide joint and lead in coverage with its own signature program, Western Sports Round Up, which is broadcast Monday-Friday at 6:00 p.m. (Eastern).

On Sunday, July 28th ProRodeoLive and RURAL RADIO will present live coverage of the championship round of the legendary Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo, beginning at 2:00 p.m. (Eastern). The legendary 100+ year-old Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo is widely recognized in the western world as one of the premier events in the Professional Rodeo circuit. RURAL RADIO's Cheyenne Frontier Days coverage from ProRodeoLive.com will again be anchored by Steve Kenyon and will feature the insights of veteran television analyst Butch Knowles and interviews from former Miss Rodeo Idaho and Miss Rodeo America Runner Up Freya Walton.

"This is truly a new day in broadcast coverage for Professional Rodeo and western sports events," stated Randy Bernard, President and CEO of Rural Media Group. "Our capacity to build on RURAL RADIO's power and momentum is limitless. We have assembled the best broadcast teams and total media assets needed to drive rodeo and western sports forward in big ways. We're thrilled to be working with ProRodeoLive to get this going in a big way."

"Rural Media Group is spearheading a new direction for rodeo and western sports and I'm proud to say that ProRodeoLive is part of this amazing tidal wave of progress," added Steve Kenyon. "This is a big deal for our industry and we can't wait to get started with the first broadcast on RURAL RADIO of the California Rodeo in Salinas on July 21st."

These events are part of a schedule of roughly 600 rodeos each year sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboy's Association (PRCA), the oldest and largest rodeo sanctioning body in the world, and are part of the year long countdown to Professional Rodeo's World Championships, the 10 Day Wrangler National Finals Rodeo December 5-14 in Las Vegas.

Her second place in the Wildcard Round gave Winters her only check from Calgary thus far--$5,000.

The morning of Championship Sunday, her husband went to the arena with her to work Zan. He also made a change that he hoped would help prevent Zan from throwing Winters forward in the turns.

"We're walking along and my husband says 'You're fixing to have a real heart attack but I'm going to drop your stirrups down another hole. You're going to go work your horse and then we're going to put him up.' When I came back, he asked me 'Well how does it feel?' I said I don't feel like I can reach my stirrups. He said, 'Well, I think you need to make one run like that.'"

Their first run with the longer stirrups qualified them for the Championship. Winters would run second after former National Finals Rodeo qualifier Fallon Taylor and Flos Heiress ("Baby Flo"), and before defending World Champion Mary Walker and Perculatin ("Latte") and Sherry Cervi and MP Meter My Hay ("Stingray").

"When Fallon hit a barrel I thought, 'Well, I have at least $15,000 won.' I made my run (a 17.40) and I thought, 'I'll be good with $15,000.' Mary went in and made smoking nice run. Latte worked really nice and she ran a .45. I thought 'Ok, I've got at least $25,000 won.' Sherry went in and she had a nice run. Stingray just ate that first barrel—it was nice. She was running home and I was thinking, 'I'm so thankful for $25,000 after this whole week. The clock stopped and Fallon Taylor, who was standing probably 15-20 feet away from me, made it to me in one jump and had picked me up and was shaking me and screaming. She was so excited for me.'"

"It didn't really sink in. I got a chance to sneak over and give my husband a hug before they were taking me away (to the stage). Really, all I wanted to do was stop and ask 'Guy, did this really just happen? I just ran the fastest time, right?' That's all I really wanted to do and I didn't get to see him for an hour and a half."

World Standings all of the pool money counts, so the $55,000 from Calgary jumped Winters all the way to sixth with $61,246.

Winters plans to haul conservatively the rest of the year and use a portion of her earnings to pay off bills that piled up when her husband broke his neck riding a colt in 2010.

"When the major bread winner in your family gets hurt to the degree that he did, bills rack up," she said. "When I won we decided that we'd pay off the people that had been so patient with us. We're not going to buy a new truck or trailer, but we are going to redo the interior of our trailer. I like my old 96 Ford; it runs good."

She'll also tith 10 percent to her church New Life Fellowship in Dalhart, Texas. Incidentally, Championship Sunday was the Church's 12th birthday.

"We give God all the Glory, because there is no way we would have come through all of this without Him," she said. "He will bless you. He will take care of you through thick and thin."

She said looking back she can see how God had a hand in everything as she was learning to barrel race.

"When I look back," she said "I can see where God had His hand on it; where He was teaching me things through all those horses that I thought 'Oh, this is a pig, I don't want it anymore,' or 'this horse has potential, what's wrong?' It's amazing to look back and see where he took me to be able to compete at this level."

Winters said she was in her 30s before she really started to have some success.

"I remember when I started running Zan and won money at a few little jackpots, I had a friend call me," she laughed. "She said, you wouldn't believe what people are saying. I heard some people say, 'Where did Jean Winters get a horse like that? Who did she buy that horse from?' It was really funny."

When she started riding Zan in 2007 she initially thought he would make a good junior horse because of his small stature, under 14.2 and less than 1,000 pounds. Then she ended up buying her card when the gelding made faster than she expected.

"I didn't think I was that good of a hand at training a barrel horse," she said. "For the longest time when people asked me who trained my horse I'd say, 'God did, because I sure don't know what I'm doing.' I still don't know what I'm doing. If it weren't for all three boys in my family, I would never figure out what I did wrong and be able to fix it. They can see things that I don't feel or see."

Winters said there wasn't enough space to list all the people who deserve her thanks for helping her make this dream come true.

"Linda Spurgeon, Lynn McKenzie, Jill Moody and Kappy Allen and I don't know how many others that have said 'you can do it' or given me a kick in the pants," she acknowledged. "I would take four or five pages to thank everyone."

Luedemann Toasts With Champagne at Tri State

By Julie Mankin

Maren Luedemann heated things up in Winona, Minn., over the weekend with two babies and two older horses at the Cowgirl Tuff Tri State Barrel Race. She won the futurity, won a round of the derby and placed deep twice in the Open to take a cool $4,476 back home to Buffalo, Minn.

The long-time trainer topped 42 other horses to win the $2,000-added futurity aboard a 4-year-old bay mare named A Dash Of Champagne (just edging two horses ridden by Hallie Melvin Hanssen). They placed third in the first round and won the second round with the fastest time of the futurity – a 14.8 – to earn $1,775.

“She’s an own daughter of Dash Ta Fame out of a Dash For Perks mare,” said Luedemann, whose first name is pronounced ‘Marr-in.’ “My husband found her racing in Florida and I did a little research on her and found her owners in Oklahoma. We ended up getting her bought.”

In addition, Luedemann also won the first round of the derby on DR Runaway Bride to earn $304. Then, on the latter horse as well as Champagne and Jus Getting It Done, she cleaned up in the Open Saturday and Sunday to earn another $2,397.

Maren and her husband, Paul, own a painting company called Brush Masters Inc., in Buffalo and race Quarter horses on the track, doing some claiming, as well. Their 14-year-old daughter, Kady, is also joining forces with Maren in taking horses off the track to start and train on the barrels.

“Paul’s the racehorse guy,” said Maren. “His passion is racehorses, but lately I’ve been able to find some prospects with proven barrel racing bloodlines, too. In fact, it’s been nice to see more race blood in the barrel racing arena, because a lot of times I wasn’t eligible for stallion incentive money because I was riding offspring of racehorse sires.”

“Champagne” is out of Perky Pink Champagne – a granddaughter of both Special Effort (crossed on a Pie In The Sky mare) and Dash For Perks. With Dash Ta Fame as a sire, the combination alone makes her special. But she has already made people sit up and take notice – back in March she won a round at the Diamonds and Dirt Futurity in Texas under Hanssen.

“I had the mare entered and our weather was so bad this spring that I couldn’t get anybody to go with me,” said Luedemann. “So I asked Hallie if she’d run her for me.”

Champagne took to the sport like a duck to water, and the faster

Luedemann took her at the cans, the easier she became to ride.

“She’s the happiest horse I’ve ever owned or ridden,” Luedemann said. “Her ears are forward 24/7. And she’s so darn pretty. She’s as classy as they come.”

The duo will make their way to the Fizz Bomb Classic and Cornhuskers Futurity, among other futurities coming up sanctioned by the Northern Region Futurity Tour.

“The NRF Tour is great up here,” said Luedemann. “Some of these riders don’t go all the way down south, but they’re still tough. You can’t come in here and steal one. There are a lot of tough people running up here that just don’t make those trips south.”

Luedemann says the NRF Tour is getting bigger and better every year, with new faces coming on board to train and take horses to futurities. In fact, Kady, Luedemann is going the futurity route instead of the high-school rodeo route because that way, she and her mother can haul together, said Maren, who also has three step-daughters and 10 grandchildren.

Maren and Kady will be hoping to get back in the winner’s

WY Pro Rodeo Run Works for Sabrina & Swivel Ta Fame

By Tanya Randall

While the WPRA World Standings were getting a firm shaking up at the Calgary Stampede, Sabrina Ketchem was working doing some moving and shaking on her own, trying to earn her first berth to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo.

"I had to take advantage of those 20 girls being in Canada," she laughed.

The Yeso, N.M., barrel racer was the high-money earning professional barrel racer in the United States, picking up $13,841 at four rodeos held last week. She currently sits fourth in the WPRA World Standings with $62,252.

Ketchem started out with the first round of the $13,125-added Central Wyoming Fair & Rodeo in Casper, Wyo., before heading to Vernal, Utah, for the $10,000-added Dinosaur Roundup. It was back to Sheridan, Wyo., for their $11,000-added rodeo, then the short go in Casper before wrapping the week up at the $3,000-added Laramie, Wyo., Jubilee Days Rodeo.

Unlike many ladies, Ketchem chose not to drop down and work Colorado Springs.

"It's a good rodeo," she noted, "but it's never been a good rodeo for me, so I don't try to go down there. It makes that whole week a lot easier if you don't try to work that one."

With Swivel Ta Fame, a 2002 Dash Ta Fame gelding out of Swivel Hips Bar, by Pivot Point, Ketchem nearly swept Casper, winning the long go and average and tying for the short go victory with Michele McLeod, for total earnings of $7,026. Swivel also won Sheridan for another $4,835 and placed eighth at Vernal for $768.

She climbed aboard Write It Thelma ("Uno") at Laramie for a $1,414 fourth-place check.

"Swivel's been running so good that I'm just letting her take the places that he's not going to like," she said, noting that she climbed aboard Uno at Reno after Swivel decided he didn't like Reno in the first round. "I just wanted him to have a break yesterday because we've been quite a few miles the last few days."

Ketchem caught a lucky break with Swivel, who went through the mixed horse sale in Roswell, N.M.

"We saw him in the catalog," she explained. "I was going to be gone to some rodeos, so I told my mom she ought to go look at that colt. If he's sound we can make money on him if we get him going around the barrels. She called me that night and said, 'I think he's probably sound enough, but he's not very pretty.' She paid $1,200 for him so we thought how bad can we get hurt on him?"

Bred by MJ Farms, Swivel had run on the track with disappointing results.

"He has a super embarrassing speed index," she laughed.

"Apparently he didn't like being a race horse. My mom just ranched and cowboied on him for a while. She started him on the barrels and took him to the jackpots and did really well on him at the 4Ds." When her mom, Deane Murphy, had her knees replaced, she asked if Ketchem wanted to take Swivel.

"I don't think my mom or Swivel knew how fast he was until we started hauling him," she laughed. "He's really made one, for sure. The last couple of years, I took him slow, just to a few. I went to more last year. This year he's been so phenomenal, he's been my No. 1."

Uno, the second half of her one-two punch has an even more unusual story. Earlier this year she had surgery to remove an abscess in her head that was giving her respiratory problems and neurologic symptoms.

"They think it was a piece of hay or sticker or something that worked its way up through her throat into her head, essentially," she explained. "It sealed off and just went to rotting in there. The MRIs are absolutely amazing. You can see her brain and her pharynx and then there's this huge abscess in there. It was the weirdest thing. We had vets all over the country that had never seen anything like it."

Although several vets couldn't figure it out, she knew something wasn't right with Uno, a 1998 daughter of Write It Down out of Thelma Thistle, by Stromin Norman, that she got as a 3-year-old from her breeders Dave and Beth Bashor, Grover, Colo.

"It started with real subtle things," she said. "I kept telling people that there was something wrong with my mare. I just don't know what it is. It was something weird. Her one eye was blinking a little bit slow and her one ear was just a little bit not up."

After she came out of the run at the Fort Worth Stock Show fighting for air, Uno had an MRI that told the story. Her vet Chris Morrow in Amarillo sent Uno to Chris Ray at Equine Sports Medicine and Surgery in Weatherford, Texas, for surgery.

"They had to turn her upside down and go in between her jaw bones," she said. "Once they got in there, they just had to fish around because no one knew what they were looking for and no one had ever dealt with anything like that. As soon as we got that out, everything came back normal."

Ketchem and her two steeds are currently in Cheyenne. On Monday at the time of this interview, she was anxiously awaiting the arrival of her husband Justin and her two boys Bridger, 8, and Pike, 4.

"They are headed this way," said Ketchem, who is sponsored by ADM Nutrition, Tandem Oral and Polyglycan. "I haven't seen them since Reno and my husband got tired of me sobbing every time I called him. He's like I'll bring them up. Rodeoing hard is difficult for me. I've rodeoed before but not where I'm gone like this all the time."

After Cheyenne, Ketchem will head to Utah for Spanish Fork, Nampa and Salt Lake City before heading back toward Cheyenne (hopefully) and catching Rocksprings, Wyo., and Deadwood, S.D. She's hopeful that she won't have to go to the Northwest to solidify her NFR qualification.

"I'm going to go to Kansas and Lawton and Lovington," she said. "Lovington is close to home. Then I'll see where everyone's at. Bridger starts school that second week of August and that's going to make it hard for me. It will make hard for all of us to go. If I don't have to go to the Northwest, I dang sure wouldn't, or at least not the whole time. There are a lot of good rodeos around here, but I don't want to get backed into a corner."

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

You know how important your bridle reins are and you've probably got your preference depending on what event you're in and even which horse you're riding. Your reins are just one means of directing your horse. Likewise, God has handed us the reins to our lives but He has given us lots of instruction in how to make right choices and triumph in life. God wants us to have dominion in this world.

First Peter 2:9 calls us a "chosen generation, a royal priesthood... special people who have been called out of darkness into His marvelous light." That promise is still for us today. Galatians 3:29 says that if we are Christ's, then we are Abraham's seed and heir to the promise. So the first thing you have to do is make sure you're in God's royal family. Take a minute to make Jesus your Lord and Savior right now if you've never done so before. Romans 10:9-10 tells you how to get born into the ruling class.

We've got God's Word to guide us. Don't let "the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things to enter in and choke out the Word making it unfruitful". Read Mark 4:14-20.

Keep a tight rein on the earthly distractions that pull you away from God. Give your spiritual life free rein to worship and serve God. Go for it!
