$64,500 Calgary Stampede Championship for Kassie Mowry & Famous Ladies Man

By Tanya Randall

Two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier Kassie Mowry might have to alter her regular futurity schedule to make a return trip to Las Vegas in December, thanks to Famous Ladies Man's $64,500 Calgary Stampede Championship.

"I did not think that was going to be in the cards for me and Emmitt (Famous Ladies Man) kind of put it there," said Mowry, who is currently No. 7 in the WPRA World Standings with $78,466 from just 14 rodeos.

Her family, mostly California and Utah residents, were happy to hear the word NFR get thrown around.

"It's such a big deal to my family," she said. "Every year they ask me if I'm going to try to make the NFR. They don't know anything about futurities, and to me, the futurities are my world. I just love running the colts. I feel like a letdown when I'm like, 'No. I'm just trying to get back into the winter rodeos.' I like the winter rodeos because they're close and they pay really well."

Mowry and Emmitt, who is owned by her fiancé Michael Boone, were the reserve champions at Rodeo Houston earlier this year and had enough money won to get into the Calgary Stampede. Now, she may have enough to go to Vegas.

"It was anybody's game," said Mowry. "I just never thought...I know what he can do and is capable of, but I had no expectations. You never know what to expect until you do it. What if he didn't like Calgary? That's been my experience at the NFR the two times that I've went. That makes for a long ten days. I've been on that end

"I still feel like I'm seasoning him. He doesn't get to go as much as a lot do. There's so many variables. What about the altitude? Is it going to rain? I lucked out there. I had a lot of good draws and good luck with the weather. A lot of things worked out for me. It could have been anyone's game. The horsepower up there was just incredible. It wasn't expected and is such a great surprise."

Mowry and Emmitt got their bearings in the first round with a 17.33, good enough for third. They won the second round with a 17.13 but tipped the first on their third run. On their last run in Pool competition, Mowry and Emmitt broke the arena record with a 16.86.

"They told me I'm going in the Hall of Fame they're building," she said. "They showed me a picture and wanted my hat. How cool is that!"

Mowry and Emmitt never crossed the 17-second mark again. The Finals, which takes the top four money earners from each fourround Pool of 12 runners, plus the two fastest from the Wildcard Round, determined the top four competitors who would compete in the high-money Showdown Round. Mowry and Emmitt and Dona Kay Rule and High Valor tied with spectacular 16.95s.

"I felt like when he ran the first run I didn't want to overdo it," she said. "I felt like he did enough to get into the Top 4 and I didn't want to tear him up running out. I just let him cruise out." Having to turn around and make another run, Mowry just kept it light for the next run.

"I don't want to get him all worked up," she said. "I stayed light with the warmup for the second run. It's grueling. Mentally and physically, it's really tough."

a second in hopes of avoiding a tie and an extra run on the horses.

Although she hasn't got to watch it herself yet, the spectators let her know it was a thrilling horse race.

"That was the biggest comment that I heard from so many people was that it was a horse race and it was so fun to watch," she said. "Kudos to the grounds team. I know the first set of girls went to bat to get the ground change. Those guys did it and they maintained it. The fans loved it. They made it so exceptionally fast. For us to be able to run those horses so much faster into the hole...the crowd loved it.

"Look at how strong our horses were to the end. That's another thing about the ground, I felt like my horse felt as good as he did the last run as he did the first. That's saying a lot after six runs in six days. We're drug tested so my horse didn't get a shot of Bute or Banamine. He didn't get anything. That says a lot about the ground that my horse felt that good even by the end."

Mowry herself was in awe of the horse-

"I'm just in awe of what these horses can do and will do," she said. "They try so hard and we ask so much of them."

The leading aged event trainer also had connections to several of the horses that ran at the Stampede. In 2017, she won a round at the Calgary Stampede on VQ Sucker Punch that Cheyenne Wimberly rode. She campaigned Steal Money, Wenda Johnson's mount, to $35,000 in futurity earnings in early 2021. She owned and trained Bayleigh Choate's Hail To Be Famous and made the gelding's competitive debut at the 2018 BFA Juvenile before he was sold—to pay the entry fees for CP He Will Be Epic, Emmitt and that crew of futurity horses. Mowry also trained Epic Two Ks that qualified Lois Ferguson for Calgary.

"You love to see that as a trainer," she said. "You love to see how they've matured and developed. I had a trainer tell me when I was younger that every time you put a halter on a horse, you're training or untraining it. Every time you ride, you're training or untraining. I really believe that. They learn so much after someone else takes the reins from when I've had them or Mike's had them. It's such a cool process. It's fun for me to see how they evolve and change and grow."

Mowry said that's one of the fun things about the rodeo runs, seeing the horses she's trained or had a part in competing. "That's one of the things I love about Cheyenne. We all run on one day and I get to watch them all. It's a fun experience to see them go out there and make other people happy."

Then there is Emmitt, whom Boone purchased from Busby Quarter Horses as a yearling. The 7-year-old gelding is by Dash Ta Fame, out of Dash For Perks mare Lady Perks, who was a Canadian champion barrel horse.

"He's an incredible athlete—the power and speed," she said. "He can go so fast up into a turn and then just shut it down and be so quick out of it."

Having had him in her barn for so long is also a unique experience, one that she says makes her a better rider.

"It helps my riding a lot," Mowry said. "I get in trainer mode, and you get to where, 'Man, I thought that was faster than it was,' because the colts can make you feel a little out of control at times. "With Emmitt, who is so focused, I have to ride him aggressive and that's not my best. I like a free runner. He does challenge me and get me riding more aggressive. You have to trust that they're still going to turn. When you push them that far up into the turn after running that far to the first barrel...It really does help my confidence and helps me to be a more aggressive rider. He does balance me out in that aspect."

The fact that Emmitt was the only horse she competed on for six straight was also a boon.

"I've never got to ride one horse this much," she explained. "Normally when I run him, I'll run five other horses, plus five other colts by the time I run him again. This is great for me to get in better timing with him. To be able to stay on him and just run him, I haven't been able to do that before. I feel like we're growing a lot as a team and where I need to be. I learned a lot at Calgary when I hit that first barrel—what I needed to do next, what I needed to be doing to help him. I feel like I'm getting the most out of him for the first time because I've been able to stay on him.

"I felt like our timing was just perfect together. I knew what he was going to do and he knew what I was going to do. I just knew where to be with him."

Mowry has a few more runs on Emmitt before returning home. She has Cheyenne plus Spanish Fork and Ogden, Utah.

"I'm going home this weekend," she said. "I'm only out for two-and-a-half weeks. I can't be gone that long with Royal Crown around the corner. I was sick after the (May) Royal Crown, so I fell behind. I figured I would get my quota met to try to get back into Houston. That's why I come out here every year. I felt like with those rodeos that Emmitt would have the opportunity to do that."

With the NFR a possibility, she said she'll see if can fit the rodeos she needs around her hectic futurity schedule.

"I will try to finish this out and get in a spot to do so," she said. "It would be stupid not to. Emmitt deserves that recognition to run. He keeps making it happen, keeps making it fun. As long as he wants to go, we'll go."

Cheyenne Allan & RCA Royal Flush Win Inaugural NFR Open, Pockets $16,378

By Tanya Randall

Columbia River Circuit Champion Cheyenne Allan of Mabton, Washington, and her homebred 9-year-old gelding RCA Royal Flush ("Three") turned in the fastest time of the Finals to win the inaugural NFR Open, powered by RAM. Allan pocketed $16,378 at the event, formerly known as the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo, held July 13-16 at Colorado Springs.

"I was really shocked," Allan said. "This was probably as close as I'll get to the NFR!"

The 65-year-old barrel racer and her husband Randy bred and raised the gelding by Not A Bad Deal out of In Honor Of Sandy, by In Honor Of Leo. She started running him at rodeos last year.

"He's come a long way," Allan said. "Last year was his first year going to rodeos and we just stuck to our circuit. He won our circuit and that brought us down here (to Colorado Springs)."

Three ran a little green at this year's spring circuit rodeos, but last year Allan had been riding another homebred RCA Mollys Honor at those. Thankfully, he started putting everything together by the NFR Open.

"Last year this time we were going through a bit and trying to figure things out," she said. "When you ride young horses and they start developing more speed and strength, you've got to start changing things like bits and tiedowns until everything comes together. When you go from training to competing you've got to trust them. You have to put your hand down and see 'what can you give me today.' If they mess up, no big deal, you come back home to the training table and show them again. I was blessed that it materialized here."

Allan and Three were second to last on the ground on their first run on Thursday and were out of the money in the round with a 17.59. With reverse order on the ground for the next round, Allan and Three were third with a 17.30, which also gave them third in the aggregate.

The top eight in the aggregate advanced to the Semifinals Round, where the top four qualified for a sudden death Finals.

Allan and Three were third again in the Semifinals with a 17.40. She decided she needed to let Three's leather curb strap out one notch before the Final.

"The last run, I thought, what the heck, I let the chin strap out a notch," she said. "He has a lot of natural rate, and it's just a leather chinstrap anyway. When I come around with my third barrel I kind of hang on him and he kind of elevates, so I thought, well if I lengthen it out and if I have to hang on him, he'll run through it a little better."

It was a tiny change, but a large gain as they posted their fastest time of the event, a 17.04, to win the title of National Champion. "I was second out in the Top 4, and the ground here is really good," Allan added. "I ran the 17.0 and Jordan ("Briggs") came back with 17.1.

She noted that Shelly Morgan, who had been doing really well on her mare HR FamesKissAndTell ("Kiss"), who shares some Jet Of Honor blood with Three, made a horse change in the Finals so she wouldn't have to run her great mare three times in one day.

"Shelley and I were talking. If you were up in that afternoon performance and come back to the Finals, you've got to make two

Having raised three Pendleton Roundup Champions, the Allans' horses aren't short on stamina.

"What's nice about all of our horses that Randy and I raised and trained, it seems like they just get better and better every time they run in the same arena," she said. "They get it all figured out. This horse really isn't that seasoned as a lot of horses, but he's getting it figured out. I'm really proud of him."

The Allans have worked to cultivate the bloodlines of Jet Of Honor, one of the all-time leading barrel horses sires that was prominent in the 1980s and 1990s. All of the horses that she rides, including her backups that are on the trailer, carry the bloodline.

"I will not riding anything unless it has Jet Of Honor in its pedigree," she said. "Those horses just go to barrels and that takes a lot out a lot of training. I just love their dispositions. They just want to play the game."

The NFR Open win has Allan looking at playing a new game, a possible late season NFR run. She's currently 36th in the WPRA World Standings with $30,091 and the lucrative rodeos are moving closer to her home circuit.

Allan is entered at Cheyenne "because it was so close". She will head back toward home for Joseph, Oregon, pick up some Montana rodeos before running at Hermiston, Oregon, and Jerome, Idaho.

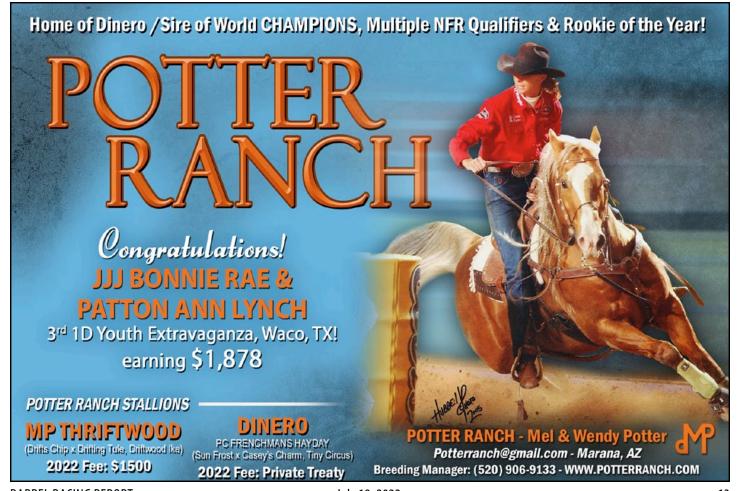

"The ones in our circuit pay pretty good," she said. "We'll see how it goes and go from there.'

At the very least, Allan hopes to make the standings' cutoff for the limited entry winter rodeos.

"Three showed us that he could run with them so we're going to shoot for the NFR," she said, "If that works out, great, if not, my goal this year was trying to get to where I could go to the winter rodeos. If he can just start running low 17s, what you've got to do to win these rodeos, and we pick up some money, we're going to try."

Taylor Hanson and Fame N Sass Come Out On Top Of The 5-States Breeders Futurity and Maturity

By Britany Diaz

Taylor Hanson and Fame N Sass were consistent at the $30,000 added 2D 5-State Futurity in Rapid City on July 14-17. The duo finished second in the first round, behind Mark Bugni and the famous, JL Roc Lost A Sock, with a time of 17.402. In round two, the team got a little faster and clocked a 17.387 to win the round. The duo of Hansen and Fame N Sass blazed through the pattern in the short go, running a 17.072, which put them at the top of the futurity average with a total time of 51.861 on three runs. The next closest time to Hanson in the short go was Ashley Day and Armednfamous with a 17.349. Taylor and Fame N Sass won a total of $8,443.05 for their efforts in the futurity. The team also placed seventh in the NEXUS sidepot, winning an additional $400 and placed ninth in the open for another $236.34.

Fame N Sass is by Myers stallion, Mr. Sassy Frenchman out of Miss Dash Of Fame x Dash Ta Fame. This cross is known to make winners. The 2018 gelding goes by the barn name of 'Famous'. Famous is owned by Adam Joens from Spearfish, SD and was trained by Hanson. The futurity colt was bought in 2020 at the Myers Performance Horse Sale and found his way into training with Taylor in the spring of 2021.

The loveable gelding was spot on all weekend. Hanson said, "He is a big horse and big strided. It was a standard pattern and he really liked all of the room he had to really open up and run. He still had little mistakes in there, but he is so big, fast and strong that he could make up time between the barrels." When Taylor first started running Famous, he was real ratey, but started to get free and wasn't turning very good. She had to slow him back down and instill more rate into him. Hanson laughed while saying, "When coming into this big pen, I really didn't know what to expect. I knew he is so big and fast that I needed to just ride aggressive and leave the barrels up. He ended up being ratey again and this was probably the easiest it has ever been for me to run him. I think he will just keep getting more and more consistent from here on out. He worked his tail off in this 100 degree weather and I couldn't have asked more of him."

Famous acquired an injury a few weeks prior to this past weekends futurity after he slipped at a barrel race. The horse obviously has a lot of try and want to run barrels. Hanson shared, "I was kind of freaked out because I knew the 5-State was coming up and he was entered. He ended up pulling some muscles in his hind end and having muscle spasms. My mom has a PEMF machine. She put it on him twice a day for ten straight days, along with keeping him on stall rest. By day ten, I kicked him out to the pasture and he took off running, bucking and squealing. It was definitely a blessing and a relief that's for sure."

This futurity is not the duos first win together. They won the ARP Spring Fling Futurity in Gillette, WY in March. He also competed at the First Out Futurity in November and placed in the first round of the Grid Iron Futurity in Spearfish, SD. He has money won at numerous open races as well.

Taylor Hanson knows a lot about good barrel racing horses and good barrel races. She is the producer of the Grid Iron Futurity held in June at Seven Downs Arena in Spearfish, SD. This win at the 5-State Futurity is her biggest futurity win to date and also her first win at this event. She came close in 2021, being awarded Reserve Champion in the futurity on her horse Harleys Little Cutie.

Hanson won the derby on Harleys Little Cutie at the Grid Iron Futurity this year. "My biggest win overall so far would be winning sixth in the long-go of the American semi-finals last year. To win that against over 300 of the toughest horses from all across the county was an honor," said Hanson. I have no doubt we will be seeing this St. Onge, SD cowgirl in the winners circle for many years to come.

Famous eats the Intensify Omega Force feed from Blue Bonnet. He competes in Top Hand Brand protective boots. Hanson rides him with a 5 Star saddle pad and a Robbie Phillips saddle. Her bit of choice on Famous is a two-piece, square mouthpiece, medium shanked Troy Flaharty bit. Hanson has her own performance horse program called, Circle C Bar Performance Horses. She rides and trains her own horses as well as outside horses.

We can be looking for this duo at more futurities soon. They have plans to attend the Dash & Dance Futurity in Spearfish, SD, The Cornhusker in Broken Bow, NE, The Fizz Bomb in Gillette, WY, The Blitz in Bowman, ND and hope to make it to the Pink Buckle at Guthrie, OK in October. We wish this duo the best as they finish out their futurity year together.

The 5-State Futurity and Maturity is held annually in Rapid City, SD at the Jim Kjerstad Events Center. Lana Ireland Dacar from Li Productins, LLC puts on the event. The event represents stallions from South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Montana and Wyoming. All of the horses that competed at the event must be sired by one of the nominated stallions. This event is a way to showcase the stallions from the upper Midwest and their offspring. It is one of the few arenas up north that is able to accomodate a standard-sized pattern.

ProRodeo Hall of Fame inducts its 2022 Class

The stars of ProRodeo converged when the 2022 ProRodeo Hall of Fame inductees led by Trevor Brazile, the King of PRCA cowboys with 26 world championships, were inducted into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame on July 16.

Brazile is joined in the star-studded 2022 induction class by four-time PRCA World Champion Bareback Rider Bobby Mote (2002, 2007, 2009-2010), World Champion Team Roper Bobby Harris (1991), stock contractor the late Jake Beutler, rodeo clown Rick Young, four-time PRCA Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year Frontier Rodeo's Medicine Woman, rodeo notable Mel Potter, World Champion steer wrestler Roy Duvall's horse Whiskey and late World Champion barrel racer Ardith Bruce and WPRA notable Cindy Rosser.

The rodeo committee from Nebraska's Big Rodeo in Burwell also was also put into the Hall.

The 2022 Ken Stemler Pioneer Award, which recognizes those who have provided groundbreaking, innovative ideas and forward thinking that help the development, advancement, and success of the PRCA and/or the Hall of Fame and their missions is being awarded posthumously to John Van Cronkhite, the first general manager of the National Finals Rodeo in 1959.

Hall opens doors for world champ Ardith Bruce

1964 WPRA World Champion Bruce will be inducted into the WPRA Barrel Racing category, while Rosser will be inducted as a WPRA notable.

A larger-than-life personality Bruce lived life to the fullest and passed away June 27. She was 90.

Bruce, who was tough as nails competing in barrel racing into her 80s, passed away at Memorial Hospital in Colorado Springs. Bruce will be inducted posthumously on July 16 at the ProRodeo Hall of Fame.

"Oh wow," said Bruce upon learning of her induction into the ProRodeo Hall of Fame in the spring. "This is a surprise to me, but I feel deserving of this recognition. I am honored to be joining an elite group of hard-working ladies that have received this honor before me."

Bruce joined the Girls Rodeo Association (GRA) now the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) in 1960 reaching the pinnacle of the sport in 1964 when she won the world title aboard a horse known as Red, registered as Shaws Kingwood Snip. That same year, Red was the AQHA Reserve World Champion Barrel Horse and in 1965 was the first GRA/WPRA barrel horse to ever be featured in color on the cover of the Ouarter Horse Journal.

"Of course, like everybody it's a great honor," said Amber West, Bruce's granddaughter. "It's something she looked forward to for a long time and it's kind of like being immortalized for her. Immortalized among the best of the best and to be included with that level of cowboy and cowgirl and recognized as some of the best there ever was, it's huge."

Deb Thompson, Bruce's daughter, concurred with West.

"Ardith was mentally really strong and expected the most out of their horses. She was really a thinker. She could really out smart a lot of people and a lot of horses. She rode with authority there's no doubt about that. She also had a thing with animals. I don't care if it was a horse, a dog, or any animal she could train them in short order. All animals had a fondness for Ardith, there's was always a connection between them."

"It means the world to our family. It's an accomplishment we feel is very deserved and one that she will always have."

It's going to be hard, but hard does not mean impossible.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

"Classic" by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

ince we aren't hermits and don't live by ourselves on the top of a mountain somewhere, this week let's talk about playing well with others! Groan...I know...there are just some people that rub us the wrong way! Why is that? After all, to know us is to love us, right? The number ONE reason is because God made each and every one of us unique. Romans 11:29. Romans 12:6. And somehow that has become politically incorrect.

But if we can look at that 'difficult' person like God does, and really look at the gifts in them, we will find that chances are we don't have that gift.

I believe it's a grand design to cause us to have to rely on each other. (Most people shudder here, especially us 'self-sufficient' thinkers.) Think about it.

Why are we attracted to someone? And then marry them. And then 6 months later find out the very thing that attracted us to them is now driving you up the wall, YOU NEED THAT GIFT, THAT'S WHY!!

This week, let's look for the good in everyone. Romans 12:10. Let's talk to someone who has seemed unapproachable to us. We may find that they may be our new best friend! And better yet, we get to use OUR GIFT to be a blessing to someone
