Meka Farr & DD Dee Cee Collect $9,718 at Spanish Fork Fiesta Days

By Tanya Randall

2018 Wilderness Circuit Champion Meka Farr and her 11-year-old gelding DD Dee Cee ("Woody") topped the richest one-run rodeo of the year, winning $9,718 at the $22,500-added Spanish Fork Fiesta Days, held July 22-24.

Farr and Woody topped the rodeo with a 16.85, just .02 faster than Stevi Hillman and Cuatro Fame's 16.87.

"It really surprised me!" said Farr. "Spanish Fork has always had a great rodeo and great payout. You just can't thank them enough for putting it on. It was just phenomenal. There were a lot of fast runs. Stevi Hillman had an amazing run, and she was at the first of the rodeo. That goes to show how safe and consistent they have the ground throughout the whole rodeo. Huge kudos to them for that!"

The Spanish Fork committee hand rakes after each barrel racer, and even though Farr has competed there for years, she didn't realize it until her husband pointed it out to her.

She laughed and recalled, "I said to my husband when we got there, 'Oh, they hand rake?' My husband says, 'Yeah...they've hand raked every year.'

Well, you don't notice when you're in the back of the long alleyway making your way up! They're really fast at that! I just had to giggle! They do a good job!"

Spanish Fork is not two hours south of Farr's Honeyville, Utah, home and it's typically be a good one for her and Woody, even though its one of the toughest one-run rodeos of the summer.

"It's a great rodeo in my backyard, so I enter every year," said Farr. "Usually the (Ogden) Pioneer Days is during the same week, so it's usually a really busy week with competitors from all over."

This year with few other options due to COVID, the rodeo open to all WPRA card and permit holders had it's largest payout ever in the barrel racing. The close to $10,000 will help Farr in her quest for yet another Wilderness Circuit Championship.

Her faithful mount Woody, by DD Striker out of DD Gambling Suzy, by Gambling Plan, had taken her four Wilderness Circuit Finals. She got the gelding, bred by Richard and Patsy York, as a weanling for less than $1,000 through a horse sale.

At first Woody seemed to lack the fire to be a barrel horse, but he quickly got the idea as speed was added. At times, Woody still doesn't show the fire of the arena record holder that he is. He's so laid back and slow at times that Farr has to plan extra time to get him to arenas and warmup pens.

"Once you get on from the trailer to the arena, it's Woody's time; it's not mine," she laughed. "I have to be prepared if I'm parked really far out, I'll need five to 10 minutes just to get to the arena. He'll just mosey on up. We're always planning where to park because it's Woody's time and it's a slow walk!"

Farr, a quality engineer for the airbag manufacture Autoliv, had a great 2019, having stepped out of her circuit a little more. She had hoped to do the same thing in 2020 until COVID made its appearance.

"My plan this year was to start at the California rodeos and then hit our normal rodeos around here and hit the Oregon rodeos," she said. "I had big plans. Obviously, they got changed.

"When they started cancelling things, I started putting in a lot time on my colts, and that's a good thing because they always get put on the back burner when the rodeos start going. I'm not so sure they were thankful for that!"

With manufacturing scaled back, Farr was furloughed for 12 weeks. While there weren't any rodeos to take up that time, she's grateful for the time she got to spend riding with her 8-year-old daughter Maycie.

"I'm so thankful for the time I got to spend with my little girl," Farr said through joyful tears. "The best thing about that is I picked up a cute little horse for my little girl and she started riding with me pretty much every day."

Farr, who had grown up riding with her sisters, had always dreamed to have her daughter riding with her, but it wasn't until recently that Maycie started showing a passion for it.

"She just hasn't had that drive," said Farr. "Now, she's getting it. She's always gone with us to the rodeos and enjoyed it, but now she's asking if she can take her horse!"

She's also eyeing her mother's horse, too. It started when Farr asked her husband Derek, stepson Boston and Maycie to make her a set of poles.

"I'm looking for anything and everything to keep us all occupied," she explained, "and with the horses, you can only do so many circles. We've tried trail riding. We've tried everything." Woody got started on the poles too.

"He digs it," Farr said. "It almost scares me to death! I can barely keep three barrels up much less try to keep six poles up weaving! He loves them suckers! I told Maycie, 'I think he'll be your high school rodeo horse,' and she was like, 'Yeah, mom, he could be

FIREWATER EVENING

2018 Brown Mare
out of EVENING TRAFFIC, by Dash Thru Traffic
Great mares either have or make great pedigrees.
This filly's top and bottom should be a great performer in the arena and in the breeding shed.
She is a maternal half-sister to Traffic Guy and Morning Traffic, "Martini".

FIRED ON PAY DAY

2017 Bay Gelding out of MF PAYDAYS MONEY, by Pay Days Andy
He is a really nice horse! Super light, quick and feely!
He is really nice to be around and wants to please.
His mother was a 1D barrel horse herself and he feel and looks the part. I look forward to what the future holds for this talented gelding!

Jade Rindlisbacher & Manny Dot Com Com Crowned NHSRF Champions

By Tanya Randall

For the third straight year, the National High School Rodeo Finals Barrel Racing Championship has gone home to Utah. Jade Rindlisbacher of Lake Shore, Utah, and her 11-year-old gelding, Manny Dot Com (Viper), claimed the 2020 title at the NHSRF, held July 17-23 at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma.

Previous winners from Utah were Amanda Butler and TS Cinch Ta Fame in 2018 and Macee McAllister and TW Lane Ta Fame in 2019.

"I'm just so glad they had it," said Rindlisbacher of the rescheduled and relocated NHSRF. "It was a really cool Finals. It's definitely one to remember too with everything going on!"

A decorated pole bender, having won three Utah State Championships in Junior High and one in high school, Rindlisbacher qualified for Nationals in the event three of her four years of high school. This was her first appearance in the barrel racing.

Her Achilles' Heel was the short round of the state high school finals, which were moved from Heber City to Hurricane, Utah, due to COVID 19.

"Things always fell apart for me in the short go so I ended up one out of (making it to Nationals in the barrel racing) three years in a row," she admitted. "This year I was like, 'I'm not letting it happen anymore. This is senior year! I'm not doing it!'" Rindlisbacher finished second in the barrels at state behind the defending national champion.

Although originally scheduled for July 19-25 in Lincoln, Nebraska, COVID 19 forced the NHSRF to find a new home. The Lazy E

THE RUNDOWN w/Jade Rindlisbacher

Manny Dot Com "Viper"

BIT: Shanked snaffle

HEADGEAR: Very loose tiedown

SADDLE: Circle Y

SADDLE PAD: Relentless

LEG GEAR: Fast Back, Iconoclast or Classic. "I don't care as long as they're white!"

SHOEING: Regular steel. "The same as my rope horses, really," she says.

FEED: Purina Omolene 200

HAY: Alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: HorseLogic Professional, Equine Perform Noni

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: "I rope on him once a week—nothing crazy, just a few steers. I exercise him but I hardly work him on barrels," she says.

SPONSORS: Rock & Roll Denim/Panhandle Western Wear, Resistol, HorseLogic Professional, Fast Back Ropes.

Arena stepped in to provide the venue in an already stacked event schedule.

Luckily for Rindlisbacher, she was very familiar with the venue as she has two Pink Buckle horses and had competed at the Lazy twice before. She missed the recent Ruby Buckle race there due to the UHSRA Finals.

"I wanted to come, but State was kind of important," she laughed.

Rindlisbacher and Viper got off to a great start, winning the first round with their Saturday morning run of 15.250. A nervous rider error cost them a little time on their second run on Tuesday night, but their 15.657 was 15th in the round and earned them a spot in Thursday night's short round.

“I was a little nervous, because I knew if I made another good run I would be sitting really good in the average,” she said. “I had some rider error problems on the first barrel. I check him a little too early. It was all rider error. It was still a good run and it was clean. That’s what I was shooting for. Then going into the short go, I told myself ‘I’m not safety-ing up; I’m going for it!’”

They turned in a 15.269 to top the short round and win the aggregate for the championship.

Rindlisbacher says her barrel racing really started to come together for her over the past year. She’s been partnered with Viper since he was 5 and she was just 12. She picked up the gelding, out of the Sixarun, Dash For Cash mare Speed Dot Com, from Lance Robinson to train and ride, who owns Viper and his sire PC Redwood Manny.

“He was broke but he didn’t know how to go in a straight line,” she recalled. “My parents couldn’t afford a finished barrel horse so I had to train him on my own. I had never trained a barrel horse before so we were learning together. It took me a lot of years and was really frustrating. It was a lot of blood, sweat and tears.” She says she got a lot of help from Marcie Wilson, whose family owns The Goodbye Lane.

She was a big help,” said Rindlisbacher. “My dad’s a roper and he didn’t know the little things I needed for barrels. She helped me a lot and Lance Robinson helped me a lot, too.”

Rindlisbacher grew up in a rodeo family. Her father still team ropes and often competes with her. She often practices her heading on Viper to keep him shape.

An all-around hand, Rindlisbacher is a past Rookie of the Year in both junior high and high school. She finished as the reserve all-around champion at this year’s NHSFR after finishing seventh in the nation in the pole bending as well.

“The poles were so tough this year!” she noted. “It was crazy! Everyone came fighting and you could see it!”

A recent high school graduate, Rindlisbacher is in the process of finishing up her online course work to be a certified nursing assistant. She’ll attend Utah Valley University this fall on a rodeo scholarship while she completes her nursing degree. She also hopes to rodeo professionally on completion of course work.

Rindlisbacher wanted to thank her sponsors, Robinson and her parents, Jason and Natalie, for all their help and support.

Two Futurity Titles for Lanita Peirce & Famous Wahini in Guthrie

By Tanya Randall

Kinder Cup Slot Race Champions Lanita Peirce and Mary Watkins' Famous Wahini ("Lexi") picked up two titles last weekend at the Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, Oklahoma. They topped the $30,000-added Select Stallion Stakes Futurity and the $5,000-added Open Futurity at the event hosted by Barrel Bash.

"I'm so excited!" said Peirce, who wanted to thank Watkins, her farrier, and her husband Joe for their support. "My owner was so excited! She couldn't hardly believe it!"

Peirce wanted to commend the Barrel Bash crew and Lazy E staff for their efforts to have the event, which had been rescheduled due to COVID. The event, held July 25-26, was just one day removed from the National High School Finals Rodeo.

"They had to work their tails off," said Peirce. "They made a huge effort and had everything as ready as they could. I thought the ground was really good. They ran it off really fast. It was pretty dang good!"

Peirce collected $12,782 between the two futurities and the open races on the 4-year-old daughter of Dash Ta Fame out of Take The Cash Bug, by Takin On The Cash. Take The Cash Bug is a full sister to Peirce's great derby and rodeo horse Wahini Cash. Both horses are out of the great producer Ms Wahini Bug, by Bugs Alive In 75, who belonged to Watkins' father.

The victory in the Select Stallion Stakes Futurity, which was close to the offspring of enrolled stallions that had paid into the program, was worth $6,712. The Open Futurity, sponsored by Ryann Pedone, paid $3,871. Carryover times to the Open races on Saturday and Sunday were worth $2,199.

Peirce says Lexi was well rested for Guthrie and had only made a handful of runs since their last futurity in March. They placed in at the 1D at Glen Rose, won their first open rodeo together in Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, and took fourth in the second at Chickasha, Oklahoma.

"I had been riding her at home every two or three days," she said. "I hadn't been riding her a whole lot just because it's been so hot. She had a good rest and I guess it did her good!"

After working "outstanding" in her exhibition, Peirce and Lexi won the first go of both futurities with a 16.418, which ultimately won the open as well. They followed it up with a 16.61 that placed fifth in each futurity and eighth in the open.

"The first run, she was spot on and I couldn't ask her to work any better," she said.

On her second run, Peirce says she mistakenly thought Lexi would be like most of the other horses she's ridden out of that maternal line and would run freer on her second run.

"Most of those darn horses like Boogie (Hewani Bug, Ms Wahini Bug's full brother) and them, got a little racy their second run and got faster," she explained. "I think this mare is going to be one of those that knows where the barrels are and you'd better sit down because she's not going to step by. I was going to help her a little and all at once she setback a little and I tipped forward. My second run wasn't as good, but it was still a .61. I just need to trust her and stop treating her like a colt. She's got the pattern down!"

Peirce says less has always been more with the mare, even when it came to her training. Although she needed riding, she didn't need a lot of work on the pattern even early on.

"I think what made her stay together was not very much work on the barrels," she explained. "I lived out there in the (Texas) Panhandle and there was over 100 acres. I would just go to the pasture and ride. That boy that broke her did a good enough job putting a handle on her that she just didn't require very much. As long as you kept her flexing and reverse arcing, that mare was fine. She had a great stop. You did not have to lean on her. She just picked it up and went with it.

Rider: Lanita Peirce; Owner/Breeder: Vaughan & Mary Watkins

THE RUNDOWN w/Lanita Peirce

Famous Wahini "Lexi", 15.2 hands, 1,250 lbs.

BIT: Twisted-wire Loomis. "I ride her in draw reins during the week and run her in her Loomis."

SADDLE: Piland

SADDLE PAD: CSI

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine bell boots and polo wraps, fronts only

SHOEING: Rim shoe on front, keg shoe with a trailer on rear

FEED: Purina Ultium

HAY: Alfalfa and coastal

SUPPLEMENTS: Oxy-Gen Relax and XT-10

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Back On Track blanket and leg wraps

TRAINING/CONDITIONING: Ridden two to three times a week. "She hardly gets any pattern work. I may lope around one barrel. I have a 5-10 acre pasture and I ride her out in it. I just think she doesn't seem to need it and I don't want to make her mad."

SPONSORS: Oxy-Gen

"I do think having the opportunity to stay out of the arena has kept her mind better. Her mind right now is great. I couldn't ask her to be any quieter in the back or in the alley. She's good as gold. I haven't run her a whole lot either."

Peirce, who spent three weeks during the month of June relocating to Comanche, Oklahoma—she and her husband Joe purchased Janae Massey's place, will run Lexi at the Old Fort Days Futurity in Fort Smith, Arkansas, this week. Then, Lexi will get a few weeks off before the BBR Finals. If all continues to go well, she may make the trek to Salina, Utah, for the Southwest Desert Classic and Glen Wood Memorial.

"As long as she's sound and happy," she says, "we'll try to find something that pays good."

BARREL RACING DRILLS: Station Work with Mark Bugni's Fan Pattern

By Tanya Randall

Rather than working the barrel racing pattern over and over, Mark Bugni likes to incorporate specific spot work that he calls stations. The multiple aged event champion is particularly fond of the Fan Pattern Station, so called for the three cones fanned out from a single barrel.

"I have several stations that I do, but that's one of my favorites," he says. "The whole purpose of it is to teach a horse how to approach a barrel, make a turn and leave a barrel, repetitively. We use exactly the same structure for every barrel turn we're ever going to make."

The premise relatively easy—work a bigger circle and then come in for a barrel turn within the cones.

"When I get to my rate spot, I break them down one pace, pick up my inside hand and ask for shape, track forward and spiral down to a nice tight finish, pick them up one pace and I just do it over and over," he says. "It's extremely easy."

The Basics

The cones are placed nine steps, made toe to heel, from the barrel in a fan pattern. (See diagram.)

From a larger circle, Bugni will setup an approach to the barrel, giving himself a four-to-five foot pocket going into the barrel. Bugni will transition down to a slower speed at his rate spot to reinforce gathering for the turn.

"I break them down one pace at my rate spot," he says. "If I'm trotting, I'm going to break down to a walk. If I'm loping, I'm going to break down to a trot. That just sets in their mind that any time they're in that spot approaching the barrel they need to get gathered up and slow their pace."

After rate is shape.

"I pick up my inside rein and get some shape and then we track forward (not stepping toward the barrel) just to the inside of the cones," he explains. "Then I'll spiral down with forward motion in arc sharp and finish close. I don't let them roll over the hocks or anything like that. I keep them tracking forward with shape and I come to a nice tight finish."

At the finish, he starts to teach the horse the process of powering away from a turn.

"As I track forward and spiral down to a nice, tight finish, when I feel their hind end come in behind them straight, I pick them up once pace, slide my hands forward and step up in my stirrups," he says. "That way they understand that now we're finished with the turn, start putting power to head to the next. So, we'll go from a walk to a trot or a lope as we leave the turn."

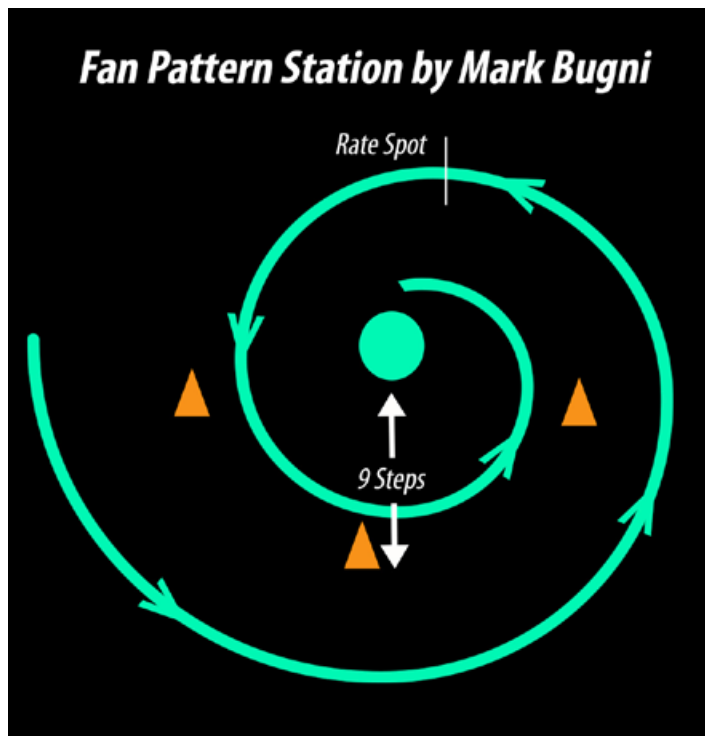

Bugni while continue on around to his bigger circle outside his cones back to his approach and rate spot. While in the bigger circle, he doesn't micromanage the horse's shape.

"I consider it their time outside the cones," he says, "but when I come back to my rate spot, that's when they have to come back to me and listen to what I'm telling them to do. I don't shape them out in the back circle, I just kind of hold them in the general direction of coming back to that barrel."

He'll repeat the station four to six times each direction until the horse feels correct. As a horse advances, he'll change up the speeds and add more elements of speed control by speeding up in the in the bigger circle coming into the rate spot.

"When they start out everything I do is very mechanical, you can see the rate, the shape. . ." he says. "You work your way up to where everything is really fluid, where you can't even see where anyone is asking anything. You can't tell where someone has asked for rate, shape or finish, it just like one fluid motion. It flows in and flows out." The most important thing is to do the same thing over and over in the same spots.

"It doesn't matter what you're doing, if you're working the pattern or working a station, you do everything the same every time," he says. "Anytime you're approaching something you're going to turn, break them down at their rate spot, shape them by picking up the shoulder and ribcage, enter with a pocket and finish nice and tight. If you do that every single time that horse has no doubts where to be on a turn. You can train one with stations and then when you put them on the pattern all they have to do learn straight lines, because they know how to execute a turn."

Benefits

By doing the station work, Bugni takes stress out of the overall training process and makes it easier to go to the actual pattern. His colts just learning to turn do the Fan Pattern Station a lot.

"A lot of people want to jump up and ride and handle them more when they go to another barrel, especially from barrel one to barrel two, where you have to switch leads," he says. "That can create anxiety. When you do one the same direction, they don't have to do anything but come back to you and hold their frame at a little slower pace and pick back up the pace. It's soft. It's quiet. It flows and they don't get upset or anxious about it. It's just a way better way to do all of it than on the pattern."

The Fan Pattern Station will also point out potential issues in a horse's pattern, "If you have one that wants to stiffen in the face or in the ribcage, you can feel it really easily," he says. "If they want to disrespect an inside rein or leg, you can feel that too. You can teach them how to hold their position, hold their frame and where to be in position on that barrel as well as where to rate with the station work." While Bugni says you can do similar maneuvers on the actual barrel pattern, he still prefers to work his stations away from it.

"You can do all of that on that pattern, but if you create a little hot spot, that hot spot tends to follow you through the pattern," he adds. "I like to do the stations away from the actual barrel pattern so they don't correlate the two together."

He'll also use this station to correct problems that arise in his finished horses.

"When they get to the point to where they're more finished I use it for a brush up or if I feel like they've failed in some structure after a jackpot," he says. "I'll take them back to their stations."

Bugni typically will put his finished horse back in a ring snaffle when using this station as a brush up because it will show more the horse's issues.

"A lot of times, I'll take those more finished horses and put them back in a ring snaffle because I can't compensate with it," he explains. "They will show you all their faults—where they want to lean, if fall into their turns or if they're heavy in their mouth. If I can clean them up in a ring snaffle on that station, I can take them back to a jackpot. I'll just do that with the competition horses every once in a while, but I don't do it very often."

RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo Moving to Greeley for 2020

The RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo, one of the biggest rodeos of the PRORODEO season and one that will have a total distribution of $500,000, will take place in Greeley, Colo., in September.

Because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the RAM NCFR, originally scheduled to take place in Kissimmee, Fla., in April, will instead move to Greeley for the 2020 season and is scheduled for Sept. 10-13.

"The RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo is one of the most significant PRORODEOS of the year," PRCA CEO George Taylor said. "It was imperative we have this event, and the committee in Greeley is going to help that by stepping up to host it."

The RAM NCFR is the most prestigious rodeo under the PRCA circuit system and will crown the circuit champions. The RAM NCFR is also one of the highest-paying events in PRORODEO. While the Greeley Stampede was canceled this season, hosting the RAM NCFR in September will have a substantial economic impact.

"The Greeley Stampede is thrilled to host the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo," said Chad P. Sanger, Chair of the Greeley Stampede. "We will take strict precautions to offer the event as safely as possible while bringing an economic benefit to our city."

The RAM NCFR will feature contestants from each of the 12 U.S. circuits plus Canada and Mexico, bringing more than 200 contestants to Island Grove Regional Park for five competition rounds over the four days. The event will culminate with a semifinals and finals on Sunday, Sept. 13, when the national circuit champions will be crowned.

The RAM NCFR will return to Kissimmee in 2021. It is scheduled for April 9-11 and will again be a key ingredient for cowboys shooting to qualify for the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas.

"We were disappointed that issues related to COVID-19 prohibited Osceola County from hosting the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo this year," Osceola County Chairwoman Viviana Janer said. "We're glad to see the circuit finals will take place in Greeley, and plans are already in process to again host this fantastic event in 2021."

WCRA Releases Stampede At The E Competition Schedule & Highlights Barrel Racing Format

World Champions Rodeo Alliance (WCRA) today released the competition schedule for the mid-august Stampede at the E in addition to important details regarding the barrel racing format and progression model.

The five-day event (August 11-15) held in Guthrie, Oklahoma at the Lazy E Arena will begin competition each day at 8 a.m. CT and run two arenas- Lazy E Main Arena and the Reliance Arena.

All qualifying rounds (Open to The World Pools, WCRA Leaderboard Pools, DY pool) will be held prior to the August 15 WCRA Stampede at The E one-day $300,000 rodeo held in conjunction with the August 14-15 PBR Unleash The Beast Bullnanza.

All barrel racing rounds will be held in the main arena August 11-13 while all team roping rounds will be hosted in the Reliance Arena on August 11.

All "Open to the World Pool" and "WCRA Pool" breakaway roping qualifiers will take place on August 12 and the "DY (Youth) Pool" will be run on August 13 with all steer wrestling competition rounds being on held on August 13 in the Reliance Arena.

The Stampede at The E qualifying rounds will close out on Friday, Aug. 14 with tie-down roping.

A total of 10 positions in timed events and rough stock will be available in the August 15 Main Event with multiple combinations of pay-outs available throughout all stages of qualification. All information regarding format and progression can be found here.

The tentative schedule of events is listed below, please refer to the event webpage for the official schedule and updates:

Saturday - 15-Aug

PBR Unleash The Beast Bullnanza at 12:45 p.m./Main Arena

Stampede at The E $300,000 Rodeo at 7 p.m./Main Arena

WCRA also announced that all timed event athletes positioned numbers 1-9 on the leaderboard as of July 26 will be directly seeded into the progressive round, with no entry fees. Up to 33 athletes in each timed event discipline will compete in the progressive round (eight from the WCRA Pool Qualifier Round, nine from the WCRA Leaderboard, and 8 - 16 of the overall fastest times from the open pool- based on entries.

Advancement in the barrel racing from round 1 and 2 into the Progressive Round will be based off of the overall fastest times from both rounds.

Barrel racing athletes that choose to enter in both the "WCRA Pool" and the "Open to the World Pool" will have the option to declare a rollover time. This means that their round one and round two time from the WCRA Pool qualifier round will rollover and count as their round one and round two times for the open pool.

Last week, WCRA revealed that the Stampede at The E will serve as a side pot for THE AMERICAN and THE Jr. AMERICAN on top of being a qualifier for the Junior World Finals. The WCRA event will be sanctioned by the IPRA (International Pro Rodeo Association). Entries are now open at entrytool.com. Details regarding the unprecedented qualifying opportunities can be found here.

All rodeo athletes interested in learning more about the VRQ should be directed to wcrarodeo.com or contact support@wcrarodeo.com

Since launching in May of 2018, the WCRA and its partners have awarded more than $7,300,000 in new money to rodeo athletes.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

If you've been a Christian for any time at all, chances are you have argued with God. And questioned His wisdom. And tried to get Him to change His mind about how we are to do things. It's embarrassing really. Flesh and blood people arguing with God, our creator, the creator of the universe we live in.

So. Let's recap. Has there ever been an argument with God that you won? Of course not. His ways are best. I am learning, fast, that if I will just do what He says, how He says it, my life will be richly blessed and I will avert a whole lot of trouble. And yes, sometimes it seems hard because my pride, my flesh, my life experiences (the choices I made), can get in the way.

What's the best way to get over this? Read the Bible for yourself. And since Jesus has gone to the cross and we are in the New Covenant, start in Matthew and read through Revelation... many times. Challenge yourself, that if you hear it preached/said, you will verify those scriptures.

You will KNOW for sure, that the Word you heard is accurate and in context. This week, practice the Word you KNOW. Don't argue with God. You'll find out, quickly, that the Blessing will run to overtake you because you are doing things God's way!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
