Fast and Furious Fourth of July Underway

By Tanya Randall

Multiple World Champion Barrel Racer Sherry Cervi got off on the right “hoof” for the fast and furious Fourth of July run, better known as Cowboy Christmas for all the lucrative rodeos held over our nation’s Independence Day. She won her first set of Silver Spurs at the Reno Rodeo with Reality Go (“Easy”), a gelding owned by Trip duPerier and his daughter Callie, and won the Airdrie Pro Rodeo in Canada aboard MP Meter My Hay (“Stingray”).

The Reno Rodeo was once the premier opener to the summer run, but in recent years top barrel racers with only one bullet in the gun have been forced to choose between it and the lucrative rodeos in Canada, like the Ponoka Stampede. Normally, Cervi could have split her two home-breds Stingray and her half-brother MP A Man With Roses (“George”), but George has been out since after Tucson.

“After Tucson, he just wasn’t right so he’s getting some time off,” explained Cervi. “We’re not really sure what it is; he’s just not sound. We’re not giving up hope. I rode him this winter and he worked really good.”

After visiting with Jana Bean, who rides Dash Ta Freedom, also owned by the duPeriers, Cervi made the call.

“I wanted a second horse to rodeo on in July,” Cervi said. “She put me in contact with Trip duPerier and I got Easy. I borrowed him for about six weeks. My first rodeo I rode him at was Silver City, NM and placed sixth.”

Cervi said the gelding is as his name implies—Easy.

“Easy is the horse that Callie rode quite a bit,” she said. “I’m very grateful for them letting me take him. He’s a really cool horse. I really wanted to go to Reno and knew I couldn’t do it without a second horse. I had never won Reno before. He’s a lot of fun and his name fits him because he is Easy. He likes to run barrels and he’s easy to ride.”

Cervi will split her Fourth of July runs between the two.

“I rode Easy this morning at Red Lodge and I’m riding Stingray tonight at Cody,” Cervi stated between run on the evening of July 2. “Depending on how everything goes, I probably ride Easy a couple more times. I’m not sure where.”

From Cody, Cervi heads to Greeley,

Wyo., (445 miles) then to Oakley, Utah, (464 miles) on her way to the Northwest (824 miles) for St. Paul and Mollala, Ore. From there she heads to Belle Fourche (1,184 miles). She ends her Fourth run 556 miles later in Drummond, Mont.

“I have a day after that and then I’m headed to Calgary,” she laughed, noting that Easy will probably go to Belle Fourche, while she and Stingray go to the Northwest.

Typically, the Fourth of July run leader collects about $25,000, which sounds like a lot until you figure in entry fees (they’re not cheap) and fuel. For reference, diesel is averaging $3.73 in Montana right now.

According to the PRCA, there are more than 32 sanctioned rodeos over the Fourth, from Manawa, Wis., to one of the oldest rodeos in the country—Prescott, Ariz. More than $3.3 million in earnings is up for grabs.

Thanks to her pre-Fourth haul, Cervi jumped to third in the WPRA Standing with $45,910, and it’s very possible for her to nearly double

Signal-Health Develops Easy Checklist to Identify Possible Sweating Issues in Horses

Summertime – and the livin' is NOT always easy for horse owners and trainers. With the hottest temperatures of the year just around the corner, it's more important than ever to know if a horse is sweating adequately and, if not, to correct the problem.

Like humans, horses need to sweat in order to regulate their body temperature and keep them cool. This natural cooling system not only needs to operate, it needs to operate at peak efficiency whether in temperature extremes or after the exertion of exercise or work.

When a horse doesn't sweat at all after a workout, not even under the tack, something is seriously wrong. This condition is called anhidrosis or non-sweating. Not all sweating problems are obvious, though.

According to Signal-Health, it's easy to miss the signs. Owners and trainers sometimes don't notice indications of inefficient sweating. They may not know how to check for them. Or they may treat the horse for other problems such as respiratory or skin issues without realizing that inefficient sweating could well be the underlying cause of those conditions.

Left untreated, inefficient sweating can cause the horse to overheat and will affect performance immediately. It can also compromise a horse's long-term level of health. Like heat stroke in humans, at its most severe, it can be fatal.

As a result, and in consultation with researchers and veterinarians, Signal-Health has compiled a simple, 3-point checklist to help horse owners and trainers identify sweating problems so they may be caught early and treated promptly.

1) Take the horse's temperature at rest, after exercise and again at intervals after exercise.

This is the first thing to check because the relationship between sweat and body temperature can help determine whether or not the horse is sweating efficiently.

To take the temperature, place a lubricated thermometer into the anus and gently press it against the wall of the rectum. Then follow the thermometer instructions.

Normal temperature for a resting horse is 99.5° to 100.5° F (37.5° to 38°C). During a workout, the temperature may rise to 103.3°F (39.6°C) but should not exceed 104.9°F (40.5°C). The temperature should fall quickly when exercise has stopped. If the temperature remains elevated for too long, the horse may not be sweating properly. A rectal temperature of greater than 104.9°F (40.5°C) is serious and steps should be taken to cool the horse quickly. Keep in mind that every horse can overheat when it's too hot and humid or conditions are unsafe to work a horse.

When in doubt about sweating, check the horse's temperature again, especially if it has been shipped to a new climate or as the seasons change. A horse that sweats well in winter can become a non-sweater in summer.

2) Look for signs of sweat over the horse's entire body, even the lower legs

After a good workout, a horse should sweat everywhere, even on its lower legs. If you don't see sweat there, the horse isn't sweating as well as he should. If you're not sure, exercise with horse boots or wraps so sweat can accumulate and be easier to see.

Horses in arid climates may sweat well but the evidence evaporates so quickly, it's harder to see. After a good workout, however, a properly sweating horse in an arid climate will accumulate sweat under the tack and even under boots on the lower legs.

3) Be alert to other conditions. They may indicate that sweating is the real problem

Labored breathing is a natural response to overheating and can be misdiagnosed as a respiratory issue or the result of poor fitness. Always check for signs of poor sweating and treat that first.

Sweat contains salts that have an antimicrobial effect on a horse's skin. If a horse's coat is dull or the skin is scaly, it may be because the horse isn't sweating or is a patchy sweater so those salts aren't being delivered to the skin to protect against microbial attack. Again, check for signs of poor sweating and treat that first.

Bass and Mays Sweep Ponoka Stampede

By Julie Mankin

Wonders Cowboy Dan loves Canada.

Kaley Bass' 14-year-old gray gelding out of Florida has been tearing up the pattern north of the border after a well-deserved vacation this spring.

In the first round of the 77th Annual Ponoka (Alberta) Stampede, June 25 – July 1, Bass and Cowboy Dan clocked a 17.4 behind a pair of smoking 17.0-second runs turned in by Michele McLeod and Jane Melby.

Then in the finals, Bass' 17.5 was enough to give her the Stampede average title and a cool $7,343. The check pushed the 2012 NFR qualifier back into the top 25 in the world standings for the first time this season.

Bass had won the rodeo by just five-hundredths of a second over Brenda Mays, who was wrapping up one of the most lucrative weekends of her life after being without Jethro all spring.

A few years ago, the Ponoka Stampede began inviting the top four contestants from the afternoon short round into an evening "Showdown." One more run allows them to compete for $10,000 in bonus money.

The second time through the pattern, Mays was unbeatable. Her 17.380 in the Showdown edged Kim Schulze by almost a tenth of a second, giving Mays the $5,000 first-place bonus. Bass wound up third to earn another $1,500. Fourth in the Showdown (and the rodeo) went to Jane Melby, who banked $1,000. That brought Melby's total on the week (including a check from Williams Lake) to $9,315. Schulze was able to add her $2,500 Showdown bonus to the $5,366 she earned in the regular Stampede.

Sherry Cervi placed fifth at Ponoka on Stingray for $3,651 and left no doubters by also screaming to a win over at the 46th Annual Airdrie (Alberta) Pro Rodeo. In an impossibly tight race where less than two-tenths of a second separated the top 10, Cervi finished No. 1 and Mays finished second yet again. The win paid Cervi $3,581 and Mays banked another $2,865.

Cervi, who won the Reno Rodeo on a horse she borrowed out of Texas, has made a big jump in the standings of late, while her traveling partner Brittany Pozzi is maintaining. Pozzi placed (but was four-tenths off first) at Williams Lake and also finished two-tenths off Cervi to place at Airdrie. Cervi now sits third and Pozzi seventh in the world standings.

Easily the most dominating force at all three Canadian rodeos over the weekend was Mays, who earned $9,768 in official points, plus that little $5,000 bonus for spending money. Her windfall pushed her to 10th in the standings.

As for Fallon Taylor, she just won't go away. From the moment she learned last fall that she lost an NFR berth by $930, she has aimed for No. 1. Remarkably, her death grip on that first-place ranking has barely slipped at all in the nine months of the 2013 season.

In fact, nobody's unseated Taylor from her throne since Jane Melby did it in early March. More lately, Mary Walker has been the one breathing down Taylor's neck. But Taylor clutches that No. 1 spot still, thanks to a big win at Williams Lake, British Columbia.

The 87th Annual Williams Lake Stampede wrapped up on July 1 as one of the closest races all summer next to Airdrie. Over the four-day one-header, just .169 seconds separated first through sixth places, with Taylor coming out on top to earn $4,174.

The money keeps Taylor ahead of Walker in the world standings for a 15th straight week. More importantly, her $57,286 exceeds the $53,932 it took to make last year's NFR – so at this point Taylor can start shifting her focus from making her first NFR in 15 years to possibly winning a gold buckle.

"After testing almost 900 horses with Horse Hair Analysis, I'm shocked to see how many horses have heavy metal toxicities. I believe there is a correlation between this and problems such as tying-up, anxiety and allergies."

Mark DePaso, DVM

HHA
HorseHairAnalysis.com

Treated wood, contaminated drinking water and pesticides are common sources of heavy metal toxicity. It is important to recognize that toxins can be transported for miles through water and air. The location of where your feed (hays and grains) is grown could be downstream from a mining, manufacturing or waste management facility. Without ridding toxicities from the body, the horse will never be healthy. The detoxification therapy in the HHA Personal Supplement will eliminate these harmful elements.

FOR SALE: 3yr old Bay Roan Filly, out of Jet Lynn JetSI-104, daughter of Jet Of Honor. By Hayes Blue Valentine. This filly has had 25 rides. Phone 250-497-8452, or email wildwoodranches@telus.net

SAKEMS PERK - 7-year-old granddaughter of Dash for Perks and out of foundation Doc Bar and Sak Em San. Consistently taken to the roping pen in the calf roping. Hauled to several amateur rodeo events and has brought home money. Her dam is proven in the calf roping, used in the PRCA and a Badlands qualifier. Well patterned in the barrels and has been hauled to several jackpots. Has been used in the pasture, sorting and roping cattle. Would make a great all-around horse for high school or Jr rodeo. Broke to drive! Looks to boot, with a mane to die for. Would throw color on any colt. No buck and is willing to try anything you ask of her. Stands for trimming or shoeing. Current on all of her vaccinations. Don't miss out on a great opportunity to own one that will go any direction. $8500. FMI: (605) 770-5720; bodie@siouxvalley.net.

Headin' For Home

by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

It's amusing to watch the horses when you first turn them out to exercise. Some will roll but most of them will run, buck and jump for the sheer joy of being free.

Maybe we should be filled with joy like that because we, too, have been set free. When Jesus took our place to pay for the sins of mankind, we were freed from the sentence of spending eternity in hell.

Galatians 5:1 says, "Stand fast therefore in the liberty by which Christ has made us free..." John 8:36 states, "Therefore if the Son makes you free, you shall be free indeed."

The 4th of July, also known as Independence Day, is observed as a legal holiday in the U.S. in commemoration of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. That's good but let's not forget every day to be thankful to our Creator for the good plan He has for our lives. We live in the best country in the world with endless benefits and opportunities as we have the freedom to worship God as we please.

So amidst the parades, rodeos and picnics remember to say, Thank you, Lord for giving us Jesus to be our Savior. And, don't go to Heaven alone. Share the Good News wherever you can and give the gift of joyous eternal life to all your family and friends. Now that's something to buck and jump about!!!

Mike & Sherry Morrison are ordained ministers and pastors of "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, Wyoming. They also travel widely, ministering by invitation, at ranches, futurities, churches, community halls and rodeos. You can contact them at: Mike Morrison Ministries, PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY 82717 or call 307.685.2272.
