Wall & TKW Bullys Famous Fox defend Farm City Pro Rodeo Title in Hermiston

By Tanya Randall

Kimmie Wall of Roosevelt, Utah, kept her Wrangler National Finals Rodeo hopes alive with a $4,568 victory at the Farm City Pro Rodeo in Hermiston, Ore. She and her great mare TKW Bullys-Famous Fox picked up checks at three out of the four rodeos they entered on the weekend.

The Roosevelt, Utah, barrel racer started her week at the Jerome County Fair & Rodeo in Idaho, where she finished tied for fourth $596. Although she did win money on her run, Wall left Jerome hoping to fix a third-barrel issue at Hermiston.

"I had won Hermiston last year and I was praying that it would be worth the drive to go back," she said. "It was a new arena, so I didn't know what it was going to be like when we got there. The facility was beautiful. It was kind of cool because they had kept a lot of the same features, like the wooden fence, so it looked a lot like the old arena.

"Foxy just smoked a run. I was fourth or fifth out on the ground there. She got her third barrel. It was just beautiful. I prayed all week that it would hold."

After Hermiston, Wall headed back to Utah for two Wilderness Circuit Rodeos—the Cache County Fair & Rodeo in Logan and the Summit County Fair & Rodeo in Coalville—to help get in her required number of rodeos to be eligible to compete at the Circuit Finals Rodeo. A late draw at Logan kept her place there, but Foxy powered through another bottom draw to pick up $217 for ninth at Coalville.

At this point in the game, every penny of the $5,381 she won the weekend is necessary. Wall currently sits 14th in the WPRA World Standings with $58,551, just $267 ahead of Ivy Conrado, and $10,491 behind of 13th-place Emily Miller. To further complicate matters, less than $7,000 separates 14th from 19th in the standings. "I'm not quite in the same position that I was last year," said the 2016 NFR qualifier. "I'm fighting the good fight right now. I'm just chasing it."

Wall made both of her runs at the Caldwell Night Rodeo in Idaho on Tuesday. She's out at the Gooding Pro Rodeo in Idaho, on Wednesday, the Cassia County Fair & Rodeo in Burley, Idaho, on Thursday, and has the Moses Lake Round-Up and Canby Rodeo in Washington on Friday. Hopefully, she'll be back in Caldwell for the short go on Saturday.

She did get to spend 24 hours at her home before heading out again on Monday.

"I needed to get Foxy reset and I have had my daughter with me the past few weeks, and she had to go back for school. It's kind of disappointing that she's not with me anymore. But I got my kids registered for school and now I'm back out in Caldwell," she explained.

In the upcoming weeks, Wall and Foxy have the Horse Heaven Round-Up in Kennewick, Wash., the Kitsap Stampede in Bremerton, Wash., a circuit rodeo in the Gem State Stampede in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, the Ellensburg Rodeo in Washington, and of course, the Pendleton Round-Up in Oregon.

"Pendleton has always been good to me, so hopefully, it will be good to me again," said the past champion.

She also has the lucrative Wrangler Champions Challenge Finale in Sioux Falls, S.D., at the end of September. The two-day rodeo will have $11,600 up for grabs with first-place paying $3,944 each day.

"I'm on Team Coors," Wall said. "The Champions Challenges have also been really good to me. I'm really excited to have that opportunity. It's going to make or break a lot of people. It's going to change a lot of people's plans, when generally they would go South (to the September Texas rodeos)."

For Wall, having only one horse in the trailer has been the biggest obstacle. The homebred 9-year-old daughter of Bully Bullion out of the Dash Ta Fame mare Gateway Ta Love has won every dime this year, while the majority of the Top 15 have multiple horses on which to rely.

"She's the only one that I've won money on and the only one that gets to go," she said. "We'll just do what we can. Hopefully we get enough money to go back to the NFR. We'd love to be there again."

Crunch Time

Lisa Lockhart, who was filling out her commitments to the rodeos she entered when she was still unsure of her position in the WPRFA World Standings, was the big money winner over the week with $6,949.

She won the Lawton Rangers Rodeo in Okla., with a record-setting run aboard Alan Woodbury's Rosas Cantina CC (Corona Cartel x Dash Ta Vanila x Dash Ta Fame) for $3,860. She second at the Larimer County Fair and Rodeo in Loveland, Colo., for $2,295 aboard the incomparable An Oakie With Cash (Biebers Oakie x Lady Kaweah Cash x Judge Cash). The old man Fast An Gold (El Roco x Romanna Glass x Raise Your Glass (TB)) picked up $152 at the Yuma County Fair & Rodeo in Colorado and her youngster (Prime Diamond) won the Kimball-Banner Rodeo in Nebraska. Lockhart's plan is to focus on her circuit rodeos now and spell her two burners Rosa and Louie.

Much as Lockhart had done the week before, Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi drew a sigh of relief after winning $5,362 on the weekend after placing at five rodeos out of seven rodeos.

She started off with Loveland, Colo., then went to the Jerome up $104 for finishing 10th at Jerome, Idaho, on her second run ever in a rodeo performance.

"I've been rotating them through," she said of her horses. "I don't run them twice in the same day. I'm just trying to keep them as fresh as possible."

Pozzi-Tonozzi described her upcoming week as "pretty big." She'll run at Caldwell, Idaho, Canby, Ore., Moses Lake, Wash., Gooding, Idaho, and Burley, Idaho. While it's a lot of driving she laughed that her husband Garrett is "a master at entering."

"Next week, we slow down," she said. "It's just Bremerton and Kennewick (in Washington State) and then Ellensburg and Walla Walla the week after that. Then I think I'm going to go home after the Ellensburg week. I don't think I'm going to enter Puyallup or Pendleton."

With $80,306 won, the NFR veteran feels comfortable with her 10th-place position in the World Standings. "After this week, I feel comfortable with where I'm at as far as making the NFR," she said. "I just don't see it taking more than $80,000 but you never know."

Pozzi Tonozzi also pointed out that this is the first year for the WPR to count all events toward the WPR World Standings. Earnings at such events as the Ram National Circuit Finals, All American Finals and each circuit finals weren't counted in previous years.

"I'm just happy to be where I'm at," said Pozzi Tonozzi, who missed the lucrative winter run while incubating her daughter Tinkle. "I'm excited that it worked out the way it did."

Kellie Collier, who currently sits 12th in the World Standings with $70,954 is getting closer to the comfort zone. She added $3,649 last week, placing at three out of the four rodeos she entered.

Collier ran at Hermiston, Ore., on Wednesday, Jerome, Idaho, on Thursday, Logan, Utah, on Friday and Coalville, Utah, on Saturday. The 13-year-old mare Jig French Truckle ("Muffin") picked up her biggest check--$2,627—at Hermiston in a tie for third and added a $444, seventh-place finish at Logan.

"I got to bring her down from Canada," Collier said of the daughter of RNJ Heckofafrenchman out of the Whose Dat Bunny mare Dat Fur Bunny. Muffin was trained by Toni Dixon, who qualified for Canadian National Finals Rodeo a couple of times on the mare. "She's helped me out a lot. She's been awesome. I think I have the Canadian Finals made on her. That's been fun up there and it's helped me out a bunch (money-wise) down here, too."

Streakin Easy April (A Streak Of Fling x Easy April Lena x Doc O Dynamite), who had been on break since the second round at the Cheyenne Frontier Days on July 26, picked up a $578, sixth-place check at Coalville on her first run back.

"I have a run every day until the 20th and one twice in one day, so far," said Collier.

Collier will make her first run at the famed Caldwell Night Rodeo on Tuesday morning before driving to Gooding, Idaho, for a run on Wednesday. Thursday, she runs in Kalispell, Mont. She has two runs on Friday with Moses Lake, Wash., in the morning and Burley, Idaho, that night. Depending how it goes in Caldwell, she'll either run at Baker, Mont., or head back to Caldwell for her second over the weekend.

"We're going to have to do a lot more planning because I am going to have two trailers going so I can fly to some since it's crunch time," she explained. "We're trying to figure out how to split them up so I don't put so much on Lolo."

Collier is entered up solid through the month of August. "I'm going to continue to enter after Filer, Idaho, but I'll wait to see where I'm at before I decide which ones I need to go to. We'll just see how it all goes—if I need to go Pendleton and that kind of stuff. We're trying not to get too excited or too lacks either."

As Collier stated earlier, it's crunch time for those looking to lock in an NFR qualification. It's going to take more than $20,000 for 15th-place to reach 10th and 11th place in the current WPRA World Standings.

Although not impossible, Amber Moore did it last year after a stellar fall run, few of the ladies on the bubble have the low rodeo count that Moore did at the same time last year.

For the ladies on the bubble, now is the time to win rodeos. As many in the past well know, merely placing along at the point of the year yields little beyond broken dreams.

For those staying in the Northwest, there's about $55,000 to be won—IF you've entered all the top paying rodeos and IF you win them all across the board.

Unfortunately, many of the wolves at the top of the standings, like Nellie Miller, Kathy Grimes and Amber Moore, have a traditionally strong success rate in the Northwest. If Ivy Conrado can have the Northwest run that she had a year ago, winning about $13,000, she could be breathing easier at cut-off time.

So too could Jana Bean, who sits in 20th. Last year, Bean won about $10,000 in the Northwest. She's currently $8,754 out of 15th. The first of the game changers will be the Caldwell Night Rodeo this weekend, which has the potential to pay $8,600 for a win across the board as based on 2016's payout. A victory at the Green Mile in Pendleton, Ore., is the biggest game-changer. An across the board win at the Pendleton Roundup pays nearly $12,000, per last year's payout. The Ellensburg Rodeo offers the second richest payout in the Northwest, where a 40 percent victory was nearly $10,000. A sweep of Puyallup paid $5,827.

Kennewick and Walla Walla, along with Lewiston, Idaho, were the best paying one-headers, paying $3,378, $3,555 and $3,325 respectively.

Now, throw in two Wrangler Champions Challenges in Sioux Falls at the end of September and it makes the race for the last few spots even more entertaining. Wall, Conrado and Jackie Ganter all are scheduled to compete.

Alexis Raye Lynch & Jackie Joe Wells Triumph at Ogden 8 & Under World Championship

By Tanya Randall

Consistency netted Alexis Raye Lynch and Jackie Joe Wells (“JJ”) their first major title at the 33rd Annual Ogden 8-&-Under World Championships.

The 8-year-old daughter of Dusty and Jennifer Lynch from Crawford, Texas, and her 16-year-old mare got tapped off right, winning the first round in 16.289, and stayed consistent, placing second in the second round and short go with runs of 16.292 and 16.318, respectively, to claim the historic title.

“She knew she did well,” said Alexis’ dad Dusty of her first run. “On Saturday, she was listening to the times and knew what was going on. I told her just go make a clean run. You’re in good shape; just make you a clean run.’ She got past her first. We were worried that she wasn’t going to get her back over (for the second), but she managed to do it. She came out and said ‘Daddy, I’m sorry. I didn’t have a good first barrel.’ I said, ‘You were clean. That was all we wanted.’”

Lynch said he doesn’t know why the little mare went past the first barrel, but that Alexis did a great job riding her.

“She went to the saddle horn like she was supposed to, but when the mare when past the barrel, she put two hands on the reins and got her back around. She was jockeying. She did ride particularly well at this race.”

Going into the short go, Alexis knew she had the average lead on two runs and her dad could tell she was getting a little more nervous than normal.

“I told her just to make another clean run,” he said. “JJ’s ready. You just make a clean, solid run. I was trying to take the pressure off of her. I know she was nervous. When I got her to me to check her saddle, she asked if she could go walk. She just wanted to get away from it all.”

Daddy was a little nervous too.

“I think it’s harder on us than it is them, I think,” he laughed. “Going in I knew if we left the barrels standings we would have a shot. I was very confident in that.”

Lynch, who rodeoed when he was younger, likes to say that Alexis was the reason they got into horses. When she was born, Patton, now 11, went to stay with his sister, who had a pony for his nephews. They next thing he knew he was leading Patton through the pattern on the pony at a Central Texas Barrel Racing Association jackpot—only to find out that Patton was upset that he didn’t let her do it herself.

“The next CTBRA was at Hamilton and I let her do it herself and he went on the wrong side of the third barrel,” he laughed. “I guess he got tired of running because that’s a pretty big pen. She came back crying again. I said, ‘That’s okay.’ She said, ‘Daddy, he didn’t do me right!’”

Lynch doesn’t regret getting his daughter involved with horses. “I could do a lot of other things if it weren’t for horses, but we enjoy it. It keeps them active. You meet good people,” he said. As the girl’s showed their dedication, they stepped up in horsepower.

“We’ve just been fortunate enough to provide them with good horses and also good people to work with us,” Lynch said.

The first “real” barrel horse they purchased was the 1998 gelding Tari Joe Rein (“Boots”). The next horse Patton moved up to was JJ, whom they purchased through Sharin Hall about five years ago.

RIDER: ALEXIS LYNCH; OWNER: LYNCH FAMILY; BREEDER: LOUIE WELLS

“We were blessed to be able to work with Jordon (Briggs), and we’ve gotten two horses through her,” said Lynch, who wanted to thank Briggs and her husband for all their help. “That’s when JJ dropped down to Alexis.”

Alexis started out riding Boots, but last year, she stepped-up a level to JJ. They made their debut, ironically, at last year’s Ogden 8 & Under. Although they didn’t have their timing together for that event, they improved through the year and won the barrel racing year-end championship in their age group for the Central Texas Youth Rodeo Association.

Lynch wanted to thank the Ogden family for hosting the event, and even though his daughters have aged out of the competition, he plans on continue to support the race.

“I can’t say enough good things about that race,” he said. “We’ve been going for six years. It’s laid back and family oriented. It runs well. It’s fun atmosphere for the kids. I just appreciate what they continue to do.”

Lynch said winning Ogden’s is a benchmark victory for any kid.

“It’s something you strive for,” he said. “It’s like winning Josey’s or the All-American Youth; you win it and you’ve done something.”

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Have you recently caught yourself having a fit?? I mean, a HAPPY fit. Where you laugh and jump up and down and cheer? No? Me either. Most likely I would recognize the other kind of fit. The kind where I would just like to smack something because of all the little annoyances of life.

We are learning about praising God at The Barn. I think that we all believe that if we are thankful, that we are praising God. Well we should be thankful in ALL things. But praising God is about God. Did you know that "Hallelujah" means a 'loud, clamorous cheer for God'? So right there at church, when Mike asked us to praise God, it was very subdued. It was kinda funny to see a bunch of adults that I know and love, look so uncomfortable. ....me included.

Lots of ranchers and oil field workers and professionals and rodeo people looking around in embarrassment. Why? Culture maybe. In Wyoming, it's very important to look and act cool, calm, steady, and tough. You know the type. Because you ARE the type!!

Psalm 34:1-4 says, "I will bless the Lord at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth. My soul shall make its boast in the Lord; the humble shall hear of it and be glad. Oh magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together. I sought the Lord, and He heard me, and delivered me from all my fears."

I'm going to practice praise. God deserves it. He delivered me from hell and I sure am grateful for that. He's given me everything good that I have. Without Him, I am nothing. If I can raise my voice cheering my friends on at a barrel race, I can raise my voice and praise God!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
