Four-pete—Nancy Hunter & Flit N Fizz win Caldwell

By Tanya Randall

With the exception of a fallen barrel in last year's short go, Nancy Hunter and her great gelding Flit N Fizz ("Fuzz") have been pretty tough to beat at the annual Caldwell Night Rodeo in Idaho. The duo have won the rodeo four times, from 2010-2012 and again this year.

"He's always done well there," says Nancy Hunter, a nurse, mother and grandmother from Neola, Utah. She and Fuzz, her 14-year-old gelding by Dr Nick Bar out of Sting It, by Power Train, also won Gooding, Idaho, over the weekend for a total haul of $9,324.

Despite having won the rodeo three times before, Hunter said Caldwell always makes her nervous—even more nervous than Rodeo Houston or the Calgary Stampede. The ground, as well as the setup with its walk in start is tricky. In fact, after her first appearance there, Hunter said she would never go back, but three years later, with a little help from her husband Fred, she had the setup figured out and claimed the first of her four Caldwell championships.

"I tried to walk him over (to the middle of the arena) and he cleared the bucking chutes," she said, recalling Fuzz's first Caldwell rodeo. "He reared and whirled. He finally took off and he shook his head the whole way to the first barrel. It's a hard thing on those horses to walk across like that (to the center of the arena). I thought, 'I'm never coming here again!' I did go again the second year. The third year, Fred said, 'Let's try running from the gate.' I don't get a lot of run from the gate. I get about two or three strides before I'm breaking to the arena. I'm not blowing in there, but I do get a couple of more jumps than the girls that walk across. With him, that helps because it does take him a minute to get rolling because he is a big horse."

By starting from the side gate, Hunter actually starts her run on the wrong side of her first barrel and swoops into the arena to set up her approach to the first barrel. "When you come through there you're on the wrong side of the first barrel," she explained, "and if they're not broke and won't lift, you're going to be in trouble. When he runs in there, he spots the third, so I'll give him a whoa a long way out so he'll spot the first." Hunter, who is sponsored by A.A. Callister's, a Western wear and tack store in Salt Lake City, also wanted to thank all of the flag girls who served as crowd control to allow her to run through the side gate. "People walk through there where Fuzz likes to take off," she said. "The flag girls and their group made sure the way is clear for me. They even moved one of the cameramen out of the way. I feel bad that I never got back up there to thank them, but Fred sure did. It was very nice of them."

The ground at Caldwell also presents problems despite the best efforts of the committee.

Congressional Rodeo Caucus to address needs of rodeo industry

Representatives Rick Crawford (R-AR) and Jim Costa (D-CA) have created a Congressional Rodeo Caucus which will address issues facing the rodeo industry and help to facilitate a constructive dialogue in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"Rodeos are a true American tradition enjoyed by people throughout our country. They are both a window into our past and a snapshot of our current culture," said Rep. Costa. "As such, I am honored to be Co-Chair of the Congressional Rodeo Caucus. I look forward to working with my colleague Rep. Crawford in providing a platform on which issues pertaining to the rodeo industry can be openly discussed."

The caucus will seek members from congressional districts who have active rodeo events of any size or scale as well as members who have a desire to work on issues of concern to the rodeo industry. Costa not only has one of the top PRCA Silver Tour Rodeos, the Clovis Rodeo, serving his district, but also one of the nation's oldest rodeos, having just celebrated its 100th anniversary.

Costa has seen first-hand how rodeo plays a vital role in the cultural identity of those who participate in and attend rodeos. Crawford was a long-time participant in rodeo, beginning with his time as a saddle bronc rider and later, transitioning into announcing rodeos across the country.

"I am honored to be a Co-Chair of the Congressional Rodeo Caucus with my friend and colleague on the Agriculture Committee Jim Costa," said Crawford. "I have spent the last three and a half years getting to know Jim and have found we have a shared interest and dedication to the rodeo industry and to issues surrounding animal welfare."

"We are looking forward to growing our caucus membership and working on behalf of so many people who are active and involved in the rodeo industry," said Crawford and Costa in a joint statement. "For generations, rodeo has been a part of the fabric of our American culture."

"Ensuring that they have a voice in Washington was important to us. We will be working on their behalf in ways that will preserve this important part of our history and will ensue that many more generations to come will be able to enjoy one of America's greatest pastimes."

"Jim Browser really cares about the ground for us girls," said Hunter. "They did the best with what they had."

In the first round, Hunter drew up early, an unfavorable position at Caldwell because the ground gets better as it packs. She described the arena as "blow sand" that gets really slick and shifty when wet.

"It just moves and doesn't hold them," she said. "It's usually better toward the middle or end, because they keep packing it and the water squishes out."

She said Fuzz struggled on his first run in slack, even though her husband added nails with bigger heads to Fuzz's shoes to give him more traction.

"He struggled; he really did. I was surprised he ran a .4. In the first, 40-some-odd girls, there was a .5 and my .4 all the other girls were long 17s or 18s. Then the bottom 40 girls were where all the placings were from," she noted.

Hunter Won the average by 2 tenths over Taylor Jacob and Honor Thy Frenchman. Jacob won the first round but Hunter came back with a pair of 17.0's to win round 2, the finals and the average.

Even though Fuzz is running great right now, this was his last weekend of rodeos for the summer. He'll sit out until the Wilderness Circuit Finals at the end of October.

"He's running great and is at the top of his game, but I'd like him to go (to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo) really fresh," she said. "He performs better when he's really fresh. I'll run him once at our circuit finals before (the NFR)."

Right now, her plan is to continue to get her daughter-in-law Amy's horse Chickasha Blue ("Big Papa") in shape to spell Fuzz at the WNFR. Big Papa and Hunter captured national attention during the Calgary Stampede when she chose to ride the gelding to spell Fuzz and give Amy, who is awaiting a heart transplant, something to smile about.

"He's a short score horse," said Hunter, noting that the Mecom Blue gelding is out of Ote Darlin, a Hickoryote mare that has produced several nice rodeo horses for her family. "I don't know how Fuzz will do in 10 rounds. Fred and I are always trying to make sure that he's fresh and feels good. Our theory is we'll run Fuzz four times and then run the bay horse twice and give Fuzz 48 hours and then come back for four more runs. I think the bay horse will do fine. I don't think he'll go in there and embarrass me. He's not a barrel hitter if I'm sitting for the average. This might be the only time that I get to go so I want to be as business smart about the whole thing as I can. I've thought about it a lot."

Crumrine & LC Packin Heat Sweep Cornhusker Futurity

By Tanya Randall

All-time leading futurity rider Troy Crumrine has always had good luck at Marlene McGaughey's Cornhusker Futurity in Broken Bow, Neb. This year was no exception.

"I always enjoy coming out here," said Crumrine, Waynesfield, Ohio. "Marlene does a great job running this futurity. We always have a good time and the ground is fair for everybody. I've always had pretty good luck here, so I don't mind driving the 16 hours to come out. It pays really good, too.

Crumrine swept the $12,000-added Breeders' and $4,000-added Open futurities with LC Packin Heat ("Elvis"), a 5-year-old gelding co-owned by Michael Boone and Matt and Bendi Dunn.

"He was pretty consistent," said Crumrine. The duo turned in runs of 15.445 and 15.656 to win the averages. "I broke an arena record with him a few weeks before I came here, and I knew I just needed to be smooth on him. So, I just stayed out of his way."

Bred by Kelly Carr, Elvis is by the late leading barrel horse sire Dashin Elvis out of one of Crumrine's former superstars Packin Sassy, by Packin Sixes. Crumrine said the gelding can "really run" and has the same four-wheel drive turning style that Packin Sassy had. Elvis just had some bad luck that kept him from winning big.

"I've just been struggling with little things with him," he explained. "Every time it seemed like a big one would come around he'd get hurt or something. I knew he was a nice colt, but I just never had any luck with him. It just took a lot of patience, waiting until it was his time. Sometimes it's really frustrating when you know you have a nice one and you can't get anything done at the big ones. Sometimes you've just to wait it out."

The Cornhusker victories were worth $9,019, not including the money the two won carrying over their time to the two Opens. Elvis's owner Bendi Dunn is excited that things are starting to really turn around for the gelding and is excited about her future rodeo horse.

"We bought him in a partnership with Michael Boone as a 2-year-old," she related. "Michael put the start on him and rode him until the middle of his 3-year-old year then Troy got him. We were going to run him last year as a 4-year-old but when we got to Oklahoma City for the Juvenile he had an abscess and kind got sick, so we decided to hold him (until he was 5). I think he's going to make a nice horse. It was disappointing because you want to run them early but it's worked out."

On Sunday, the Dunns bought Boone's share of the horse and now own him outright.

"Troy thinks he'll make a rodeo horse," said Dunn. "We've been trying to find me a horse to go rodeo on. I had sold my little Dash For Perks mare back in the spring, so we've been searching for something for me to ride. So we approached him Sunday and as of today he is ours in full."

Elvis will remain with Crumrine until the BFA World Championships when he'll go home with Dunn. In the meanwhile it's full steam ahead to finish out the 2014 futurity season. Crumrine has the Roper Apparel & Footwear Futurity in McCook, Neb., this weekend before heading back for the Indiana Futurity, The American Qualifier in Springfield, Ohio, where the Dunn's will have him mounted on Elvis and their powerhouse Mulberry Canyon Moon, and then Jud Little's Bar Nothin Barrel Bash.

"This is the hardest time of the year for me, just for fact that you're trying to get your 3-year-olds ready and you're trying to finish up showing your 4- and 5-year-olds," said Crumrine. "It either seems that there is not enough time or not enough room in the trailer. It's hectic, but I don't mind."

"Anytime I notice one of my horses starting to cycle, I immediately give them a dose of Oxy-Mare and follow through to the end of their cycle. Oxy-Mare keeps them relaxed and focused for their runs! I also feed PMP every day to She's Free to Flame and would never leave home without it!"

—Brittany Pozzi

"PMP has helped make my mares more comfortable to train than when without it, and it's drastically reduced the time they are in heat. They've been able to hold their form without getting distracted, and when I use both PMP and Oxy Mare, my mares are on the top of their game when I need them to be!"

Wargo & Smoke fire for first at Summer Shootout

By Tanya Randall

Joy Wargo has known for a long time that Smokin Koa Lena was something special. The only thing missing was a big win. At the 16th Annual Summer Shootout in Oklahoma City, Wargo and Smoke got their big win.

"I'm really excited to have won this on him," said Wargo, a barrel horse trainer from Gainesville, Texas. "We joked as a futurity horse he was like the king of second place. I never won a single thing on him as a 4-year-old, not even a jackpot. I feel like he's been a really nice horse for a long time and for him to finally get some credit is really nice. He's not just okay. He's big time."

Smoke placed in the 1D in both qualifying rounds with 15.5s and then turned up the heat in the Schiller Ranch 1D Shootout with a victorious 15.217. Her total earnings were $3,348.

"He's a really consistent horse," Wargo said. "My husband jokes about watching my videos. I'll come home and ask if he wants to watch and he's like 'Why? They all look the same.'"

"He worked great in the first two rounds. He may be struggled a little with the ground on the backside of the first in the first round, but other than that I thought he was good. The second round I don't think I could find a spot that I could really pick on him."

After running with a Charmayne James Lifter with the twisted wire Pretzel mouthpiece in the first two rounds, Wargo switch to a Connie Combs Stabilizer for the Shootout.

"I thought I better put the go fast bridle on him today," she said. "He was really good at the first barrel. The second barrel—he'll kind of 'v' it sometimes and he did that little bit in the first two rounds—he really stayed moving around it and he probably saved himself a bit of time there. It was pretty nice."

Wargo and her husband Trent bought Smoke, a 2006 gelding by Rocky Heir, a son of Sticks An Stones, out of That's Parr For Lena, by Jacks Doc Olena, to train and sell at the BFA World Championship Select Sale as a 2-year-old. They wanted $7,500 for the gelding but he was passed out of the sale. Wargo spent most of the next year trying to sell him until she went and rode with LaTricia Duke that August.

"She helped me with him," Wargo explained. "I went back a few weeks later and she helped me with him again. J.O. (Duke) had made the comment that 'he looks like a bulldogging horse; I've got this buddy...' We priced him and J.O. left a message for his buddy, and when he came back out, LaTricia was like I think we need to run barrels on this horse because he worked really well that day. She said that I need to keep him and at least run him through the Juvenile."

Duke also talked Wargo into running in the Run For The Bucks Slot Futurity in Ardmore.

"Talk about nervous," laughed Wargo. "He won third for his first run out and won $18,000. He was just good from that point on. He did great in the World Show in the amateur and at the end of the year at the Futurity. We sold him right after the futurity."

Jeremy and Sheryl Gamboa had purchased Smoke, and Sheryl had been seasoning him to rodeo competition when he got hurt in a fall. Wargo was able to get Smoke back, but it took a long time to get him back to top form.

Smoke would work beautifully but wouldn't clock on his second or third runs. Although the gelding was never lame, Wargo knew that something was wrong. They were eventually able to determine that Smoke had a muscle problem. After extensive therapy at Selway Equine and acupuncture treatments by Dale Schneider, DVM, Smoke came back strong after over a year off.

"He's been pretty good ever since," she said. "I haven't run him a whole lot. I pretty much stick to the bigger barrel races. He got hurt rodeoing, and honestly I think it happened in a slip or fall somewhere, so I'm not real anxious to put him back in that situation."

Wargo said RFD-TV's The American is probably the only rodeo she'll consider for Smoke.

"He's just a fun horse, and he's not going anywhere," she said. "In our business, you have to sell horses, but he's not for sale. He'll stay here forever."

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

In the last 30 days, we have been ministering in Canada, South Dakota and Montana. This week we go to North Dakota. We also did the funeral for my uncle this last week. God has given us the privilege to bring His word in all sorts of venues and it is truly a humbling experience and honor to be able to do so.

Mike embraces each opportunity! He thrives on meeting new people and sharing the gospel! I, on the other hand, am always so glad to be home. I pet and smell my horses, pet the dogs and cats, check on the chickens and sit in my chair! It's home and there is great peace for me here.

I had been praying about what to share with you and it became so clear to me just this morning. As thankful as I am to be at my address here on earth, we will all be with Jesus in our heavenly home pretty soon and it will be AWESOME! Mansions He has prepared for each of us! John 14:2. No pain, no tears, no toiling, no strife, no fear, NO DEATH! Just think of your very best day here on earth and it won't compare to the great joy in heaven! Now don't get too excited and try to go now! We have a job to do. As God's children, we need to tell those around us about Him so they can come to heaven with us. I am soooo glad that someone loved me enough to tell me about Jesus when I was a mess! Just show them Romans 10:9-13! And let your love and light show people around you just who you are and who you serve!

So, the next trip I'll throw my suitcase in the truck and enjoy the trip! You never know. I may be meeting my heavenly next door neighbor!

Mike Morrison and his wife Sherry are ordained ministers in their own nondenominational church in Gillette, WY. They also travel widely as circuit riders ministering over a large area of the western states.
